HILL WINS IN CO'Y BY JUST 184 VOTES

Heflin Carries Only Eight Counties In Alabama Tuesday

The incomplete returns from over the State Wednesday morning showed that Heflin carried only eight counties —Chambers, Cherokee, Clarke, Cleburne, Henry, Lee, St. Clair. There were only about 125,000 votes cast in the entire State, whereas 325,000 exercised their franchise in 1936 in the gubernatorial election.

Only about one-third of the qualified voters in Chilton county and the State cared enough about the election to go to the polls in Tuesday's election. Evidently they did not care much for either Mr. Hill or Mr. Heflin.

From the tabulations below it will be noticed that only 1,545 voted in the county; while 4,084 took part in the election in 1936 in Chilton county.

PEOPLES CASH STORE IS NOW UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT

S. M. Devaughn Resigns as Manager; Is Succeeded by J. L. Eason

Beginning the new year, Peoples Cash Store, owned by Taylor Wholesale Grocery Company, went under new management, Mr. J. L. Eason of White City taking charge as manager in the stead of S. M. Devaughn, who tendered his resignation on account of ill health. Mr. Devaughn, however, will assist in the store on Saturdays and on other busy days. Mr. Devaughn is forced to spend more of his time out in the open, and for this reason, he cannot longer be under the confinement that is necessary for one to manage the store.

Mr. Eason, the new manager, comes from White City, where he has been operating a large mercantile business for the past ten years. He is well experienced in the business, and has a number of friends all over the county.

Both Mr. Devaughn and Mr. Eason want their old friends and customers to continue coming to see them, and they invite new ones to come to the Peoples Cash Store and get acquainted right along.

EX-CONGRESSMAN OF ALABAMA DIES

Col. Milford W. Howard Passes In Los Angeles

Fort Payne, Ala.—News of the death of Col. Milford W. Howard, 76, former congressman, in Los Angeles, has been received here by friends.

Col. Howard, who served two terms in Congress during the 1890's, had left here three weeks ago to visit his son in California, where he contracted pneumonia.

In addition to his career in Congress, Col. Howard was a former president of the Lookout Mountain Scenic Highway Association and had founded the Master's School near here which was sold several years ago as a girl's camp. In 1937 he began construction of the Salvey A. Howard Memorial Chapel, dedicated to his first wife. His home was at River Park near here.

Col. Howard is survived by his second wife and two sons, Clyde Howard, of Los Angeles, and Claude Howard, of Miami, Fla.

Following creamation of the body the ashes will be brought here for burial in Howard Chapel.

JANUARY 10TH LAST DAY FOR TENANT APPLICATIONS

Auburn, Ala.—January 10th has been set as the final day for Alabama tenants to file their applications for loans under the Bankhead-Jones Tenant Act, announces Julian Brown, state director, Farm Security Administration, in advising tenants to file their applications with county supervisors.

The necessary information for county agents, committeemen, and supervisors to use in considering applications was furnished at meetings at Birmingham, Selma, Auburn, and Andalusia during the past week. Consideration of the applications will start immediately; however, no application will be finally approved until after January 10th, says Mr. Brown.

Alabama counties in which tenant loans are to be made this year are: Madison, Lawrence, Morgan, DeKalb, Marion, Walker, Blount, Pickens, Talladega, Greene, Hale, Chilton, Tallapoosa, Elmore, Lee, Dallas, Marengo, Montgomery, Wilcox, Monroe, Conecuh, Butler, Pike, Barbour and Geneva.

Babara Ann Wilkerson, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Wilkerson, of Mill Village, was buried Friday afternoon at New Harmony.

MITCHELL DAM CARDINALS PLAY MAXWELL FIELD NEXT THURSDAY NIGHT

The Mitchell Dam Cardinals will play Maxwell Field next Thursday night, January 6, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. Everyone is urged to come out and see the game. It promises to be a most nteresting one.

The Cardinals played a team from Florida on December 27. The Florida team won by a score of 45 to 30. This game was played on the local court.

On December 30 the Cardinals played a team out of Birmingham, the Y. M. H. A. They won over the Cardinals by a score of 59 to 40.

GOVERNOR AIKEN OF VERMONT

In his recent open letter to the Republican National Committee, Governor Aiken of Vermont, shows the lamentable ignorance of the South so often manifested by persons residing in Vermont and similar latitudes. He demands, among other things, that the national committee "be purged of the baneful influence of the Southern committeemen who represent no one except themselves and their allied officeholders. . . . . ."

Governor Aiken is a Republican, the chief executive of one of the two states that remained loyal to the party in the last presidential election. We have the utmost respect and esteem for him and his state, and we believe that he means well. The trouble with him is the same trouble that besets so many Northern people with reference to Southern affairs; the habit of swallowing whatever is submitted to them under the guise of facts, without troubling to verify them. Governor Aiken undoubtedly read somewhere, or was told by somebody, that the Republican party in the South consists of merely a few professional job-holders. He repeats this familiar fable as a fact, and adds to it. We have waited in vain for someone to reply to the Governor, but his statement has been allowed to pass virtually unnoticed, so finally we have decided to make a few observations in the hope of enlightening the eminent Vermonter and others who share his well-meaning ignorance.

What would Governor Aiken say if he knew that in Alabama, often pointed out as the most typically Southern of all the states, there are tens of thousands of substantial citizens who regularly vote the Republican ticket in every election? That in 1920, when the League of Nations gave the Republicans an issue, the party ticket polled nearly one hundred thousand votes in Alabama, or close to 40 per cent of the total vote of all parties? That in 1928 the official count showed that Alabama remained Democratic by a scant 7,000 votes, with it generally conceded today that a fair count would have placed the state in the Republican column by at least that many votes?

Governor Aiken would, no doubt, be greatly surprised to learn that this newspaper, a staunch Republican organ, is admittedly the leading paper, in circulation and prestige, in the county in which it is published. That this county, Chilton County, Alabama, in the heart of the deep South, within 40 miles of Montgomery, the Cradle of the Confederacy, went Republican in every election for over forty years. That Winston County, Alabama, has gone Republican in every election since the Civil War. That the old 7th Alabama District several times in recent years failed to return a Republican Congressman by an eyelash, once in 1920 by only a few hundred votes out of over 40,000, so that the Democratic legislature in redistricting the state had to resort to gerrymandering tactics in order to keep this district in their party fold.

It is a pity also that the Governor of Vermont cannot know, or at least apparently does not know, anything of what it means to be a Republican in Alabama. It requires no particular courage, moral or intellectual, to be a Republican in Vermont. It is easy to go along with the crowd, to march and cheer when the bands are playing and the colors flying. In Alabama, and in other Southern states, the Republican party is composed of men of fortitude and convictions, who have remained true to the party through decades of abuse and villification, going to the polls and voting the ticket in the face of inevitable defeat, so far as contests for state and most local officers are concerned. They have been tried in the fire and found not wanting, to a degree that does not exist in other states and other sections. They are as courageous as ever drew battle blade. Gettysburg, where fell harnessed chivalry of the North and South, looked not upon a braver or better band. If the Republicans of the nation had remained as stable as the Republicans of the South, the conditions of the party and of the nation would have been vastly improved these past five years. With but few sickly exceptions, Southern Republicans have not been stung by the New Deal virus. During all the orgy of waste and squander, Republicans of the South have remained steadfast in the faith of the founding fathers,—"unmoved by influence; unbribed by gain."

The utterances of Governor Aiken are all the more unfortunate because the low estate of the Republican party in the South is directly due to the misdeeds of some of his ancestors, or at least ti the ancestors of the present generation of Vermonters and other Northern states. We do not refer here to the Civil War, but to what happened in the South after the war, when a few camp-followers, in the guise of Republicans, inflicted upon the party a blow from which it has not yet recovered. The Republican party in the South today is judged, not by its merits as a party, or by the qualities of the local Republicans who compose it, but by the acts of a few men from Governor Aiken's own state and other states similarly situated. To patriotic Republicans in the South, doing their best, and with measurable success, to live down the bad name that their party received from the hands of outsiders, the criticism of the Governor of Vermont cannot seem other than untimely.

The Republican party in the South is made up of clear-thinking business men and farmers; men of vision, who have taken a long view of a situation that would have disheartened men of weaker fiber. They have stuck to the Republican praty instead of following the easier course of joining with the dominant party, because they believe that the Republican Party embodies the best traditions of America and holds forth the hope for the perpetuation of our institutions. They have looked ahead to the day when sectional differences will be forgotten, and conservative Americans of all sections will turn to the Republican Party as their bulwark and rallying point. Today, when the course of history brings these hopes nearer than ever before to realization, it is difficult to see how the cause of the party can be helped by such tirades as that of Governor Aiken.

It is true that the South has in recent years produced few Republicans of national note, because in the South it is the minority party, whose members seldom get elected to high office. We may however, point with pardonable pride to Congressman J. Will Taylor of our sister state of Tennessee. Governor Aiken has doubtless heard of this Republican Congressman, known and respected in the councils of the nation, who year after year is returned to Washington by his district. Congressman Taylor is also the Republican national committeeman from Tennessee; one of those whose "baneful influence" according to Governor Aiken, is handicapping the party in the South.

We will not go into a full discussion of all aspects of Governor Aiken's epistle to the committee. We do wish to cite one other disheartening paragraph. He calls on the Republican party to "Accept in general the social aims which the opposing party has had the wisdom to adopt, but has lacked the ability to put into efficient operation."

According to Governor Aiken, Mr. Roosevelt's radical theories are all right, it is only their method of application that is bad. To us who are fighting for the American system, it is the President's plans and theories that are fundamentally wrong, and the matter of their application a relatively minor detail. It is discouraging when a leader, even if only a local obscure leader, of our Party, like Governor Aiken, openly proposes to steal Mr. Roosevelt's thunder, rather than expose it for the empty reverberation that it is.

Since Governor Aiken has leaped into the limelight with his proposals, we venture to make a counter-proposition. We suggest that the Republican National Committee appoint a sub-committee on education and enlightenment, whose duty it shall be to give information about the Republican Party in the South, what it has suffered, endured and stood for, with perhaps some interviews and contacts with the typical hard-working citizens who represent the party in this section. To head the list of prospective students of Southern Republicanism, we venture to respectively nominate Governor Aiken of Vermont. And, Governor, seek the truth, know the truth, and the truth shall make you free.

CARDINALS LOST TO BLUE JACKETS

The Birmingham Y. M. H. A. Blue Jackets defeated the fast Mitchell Dam Cardinals at Birmingham last Thursday night in a free scoring game by the score of 59 to 41.

The game started slow, only two goals being made in the first four minutes, but after this, both teams began dropping them in from all angles.

The Blues forged ahead in the early part of the game, but with J. T. Cobb leading the way the Cardinals tied the count at 12 all.

The Blues put up a tight defense here, and then led by Applebaum and Leet, led 35 to 22 at the half.

The second half found the teams about on a par, with Baker setting the pace for the Cardinals and Gingold for the Blues. Applebaum led the scoring for the Blues with 17 points, with J. T. Cobb leading for the Cards with 12.

READ THESE ARTICLES IN THIS WEEK'S BANNER

There are two articles on the inside pages of this week's Union-Banner which we hope our readers will not overlook. One is "The War In China", by Dr. J. Toy Williams. This article contains lots of information that we Americans should know; and Dr. Williams knows economic China like a book. Be sure and read "The War In China".

The other article, which we think you will be interested in, is the Chronology of Chilton County. Read these items, and then think back for that number of months and see how "time marches on".

FORD OFFICIAL FLAYS NEW DEAL

Cameron Says 'Poor Political and Poor Business Sense' Hurting Recovery

Detroit, Jan. 3.—A combination of "poor political and poor business sense" William J. Cameron of the Ford Motor Company charged last night is interfering with America's business progress.

Terming the New Deal an invention of business men of a certain type, Cameron said in a radio address the "second string" business man to whom business is a "springboard to something more congenial" helped to conceive the new deal.

"Usually in our history" Cameron said "when business has given signs of taking a wrong tack statesmanship has been farsighted enough to guide it wisely back and when legislation took a wrong tack practical business sense could correct the error."

Answer To Icke's Attack

"But when poor political sense and poor business sense combine the result is what we see—a whole flock of unwelcome chickens coming home to roost."

Cameron, whose speech is interpreted as an answer to attacks by Secretary Ickes on Henry Ford's business practices, said statesmanship was not "strong enough to refuse what was asked" by the 'second string" business men but "only shrewd enough to see that those who asked were soft and could be driven, and it has driven them.

The Ford company's spokesman said the new deal was "not political in origin" but was 'concocted in certain business counsels to attain certain business-like ends and business supported the candidate that agreed to accept it."

ANNUAL B. T. U. REPORT

Is the B. T. U. in your church going forward or is it slipping backward? In answer to this question I wish to call to your attention the present condition of the B. T. U. work in the Chilton Association.

Did you know that our 38 Missionary Baptist churches have a total of 5,677 members, which is a larger membership than any other denomination in this country? The sad part is that we are not training them for religious work. The 1937 B. T. U. report shows that the work has been neglected. Following is a comparison of the work done in 1936 and in 1937:

Department 1936, 10, 1937 9; loss of 1.

B. A. U. 1936, 8, 1937 6; loss of 2.

Senior 1936, 22, 1937 20; loss of 2.

Intermediate 1936, 10, 1937 9; loss of 1.

Junior 1936, 14, 1937 13; loss of 1.

Story Hour Class 1936, 1, 1937 1.

In 1937 we had only 919 enrolled in B. T. U. work. Where were the other 4,658? They were in some place where they had no business to be because the place for them was in B. T. U. Why were they not here? Because the last time they attended it was so poorly organized and the program presented in such a manner that they didn't care for another dose.

These difficulties can be overcome only by the churches and pastors cooperating with the asscciational officers.

We urge that each pastor be present with a large delegation from each of his churches on next Sunday afternoon, January 9th, at 2 o'clock at Friendship. We have a program on an association-wide training course that we expect to present and it needs the attention of every pastor.

All secretaries fill out the report in the back of your quarterly and send to Mr. Crester L. Quarles, Montgomery, Ala.

Yours for better service.—Rev. Horace Kendrick, Asso. Sec.-Treas.

YOUNG LADY DIES FROM PNEUMONIA

Miss Dorothy Sessions Died Following Week's Illness Of Malady

Pneumonia claimed as a holiday victim last week one of the most promising and certainly one of the most likable young women of our city —Dorothy Dean Sessions, age 23. Death claimed her Wednesday afternoon, December 29th at 2:30 o'clock, following an illness of about a week. Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from Clanton Baptist church, conducted by Rev. S. J. Ezell. Burial was in Liberty Hill cemetery; Spigener in charge.

Pallbearers: Wm. Arthur Willis, Red Nix, George Parr, Chick Fiquett, Earl Ellis and Bronson Ruffin. Honorary pallbearers were: V. J. Elmore, O. M. Webb, Ira Smith, W. W. Wingard, Raymond Duffey, H. F. Downs, Dr. W. C. Golden and Mr. Zan Golden.

Serving as flower girls were the following close friends of the deceased: Misses Christina Bosworth, Ethel Mae Jones, Edith Hand, Mabel Harris, Margaret Johnson, Elizabeth Yarbrough, Charlie Verne Tinney and Hazel Gray.

Surviving are the father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin J. Sessions of Clanton; two sisters—Misses Ruth Sessions and Sarah Nell Sessions.

The bier was banked with lovely flowers—as long as spot could be found to lay them; and the large auditorium, upstairs and down, was filled to capacity; all of which attested to the esteem in which the young lady was held. It was said to be the largest gahering ever to attend a funeral at the Baptist Church.

Dorothy Sessions, a graduate of Chilton County High School and of Alabama College, had served as a secretary in the general office of V. J. Elmore in Clanton for about two years. She was said to be most proficient in her work and very agreeable to work with.

THE WAR IN CHINA

By J. Toy Williams

Many people in America do not know what the war in China is all about. In fact, many people in China and Japan are wondering the same thing. Since things are as they are, it will not be out of place for me to write a few words about it.

One of the primary instincts of man is to eat. He spends a great portion of his life getting something to eat. Throughout the history of the human race, man has covered the earth looking for something to eat. When too many people inhabit a certain place, some of them move on to where they can have more elbow room and secure food for themselves and families more easily. The great host of people who have come to America during the last one hundred and fifty years, have come from places where there was a surplus population. They came to America where they could obtain food more easily than they could in the crowded countries from which they come.

Why did people leave Alabama, Georgia and other states many years ago and settle in Texas and other western states? It was because they thought they could make a better living out there. This is true all over the world and has been during the history of mankind.

Eating is so necessary to life that men will go to almost any lenght to get food and to protect their food supply. Men will fight to protect their food. When people first came to America the Indians held them under suspicion, but did not fight until they saw trees being cut down and the land being fenced in. They saw that their food supply—game—was being endangered, so they decided to fight those who were destroying their food possibilities.

We have spoken of the Indians as savages because they fought in a way that was more terrible than the Europeans were accustomed to fight.

But you may ask what does all this have to do with the war in China? It is simply this—an economic war. Japan is pushed for food supply and has seen a possibility of getting it in China, and has gone over to take it by military force. All sorts of excuses have been given, but underneath it all is one thing—Japan wants the territory and has gone over to take it by military force.

Japan is a small country. It is said she has only about as much cultivatable land as has Georgia, South Carolina and North Carolina. But she has more than sixty million people to be supported on this land. It cannot be done. They have gone to the sea fishing and catch enormous quantities of fish. I suppose the Japanese eat more fish for her population than any other people in the world. A knowledge of modern medicine and santitation has causd a very rapid increase in the population. They must do something to feed the people.

Japan has very rapidly become a manufacturing country. This makes a way for many of her people to make a living. But, two things are necessary to a manufacturing country— raw materials, and a market for her goods. Japan has very little of the raw materials used in manufacturing,—coal, iron, copper, and other minerals, cotton, Etc. She has no cotton, some coal, but very little iron, copper, manganese, antimony, Etc.

North China has some of the richest coal mines in the world, and is also rich in iron, copper and antimony; is a fine cotton producing country. Not only is there a rich source of raw materials but with about 200,000,000 people there is a vast market for the sale of manufactured goods. The Chinese have been slow to develop her mines and improve her cotton methods and quality.

Japan has seen the possibilities and has sent her armies there to take these things by force. No one would object to Japan's having raw materials from China, but the whole world rises up in righteous indignation at the highway-robbery method she has taken to get these things. Everyone would welcome peaceful trade, but the world is longing for a time when we can trade rather than fight.

The teeming population of Japan cannot immigrate to the uncultivated parts of the world such as America, Canada, Australia and South America, and she must do something. She is fighting one of the most cruel wars known to the modern world, in order to get by force what she needs for her people. Oh! if she could only have done it the way of peace.

How we all long for the rule of the Prince of Peace in China, Japan, and the rest of the world.

MAPLESVILLE JR. 4-H CLUB

The Jr. 4-H club met on December 22, at which time the boys and girls put on a Christmas program. The program was in the form of a play entitled "Mr. Scrooge." This play was presented very good and everyone seemed to enjoy it. Before and after the play Christmas songs were sung by everyone.—George Merchant.

CONCORD 4-H CLUB

Mr. Ivey met with the club on Tuesday, December 14th. We met with the girls and had a joint Christmas program which was enjoyed by all. After the program we went to our own club rooms for separate demonstrations.

Mr. Ivey had some puzzle problems that sure were brain testers. He gave us a nice Christmas card. After this we adjourned until next month.—Shelton Woodfin.

Lesson for January 9

PREPARING FOR A LIFE OF SERVICE

LESSON TEXT—Mark 1:1-13.

GOLDEN TEXT—Prepare ye the way of the Lord.—Mark 1:3.

PRIMARY TOPIC—When Jesus Was Baptized.

JUNIOR TOPIC—When Jesus Was Baptized.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Getting Ready to Serve.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Dedicating Our Lives to Service.

"The beginning of the Gospel of Jesus Christ"—what an interesting expression! Did it not begin back before the foundation of the world? Yes, for the death of Christ was no mere afterthought in God's plan. But now we have the coming into the world of the One who was the Lamb slain from before the world's founding. Jesus Christ is about to appear to begin his ministry which was to culminate at Calvary's cross.

Before Jesus, comes the one sent to proclaim his appearing, to herald the coming of the Servant of God. Mark begins his account with the ministry of John the Baptist and makes no reference to the birth and genealogy of Jesus. How appropriate that is, for after all the important thing about a servant is not that he came from a certain family, or was born in a particular place. The point is that he is here now and able and ready to do his work.

I. The Herald of Christ (vv. 1-8).

The prophets had pointed forward to the coming of Christ. John the Baptist, of whom our Lord said that there was not a greater among the prophets, now appears to proclaim his presence and prepare the way for him. Of him Joseph Parker beautifully says that he "was all but a transparent veil: they could almost see the coming God through him . . . If he stood aside for a moment there was the One who was to come."

John was a unique personality, admirably fitted to proclaim a stern message of repentance to a decadent age. Let us not put aside or ridicule strangely clad and unusual folk who have a word for us from God.

"Repent"—that was his message from the Lord. America needs that message today. The Christian doctrine of repentance has been set aside by some because they dislike its convicting power, and by others through theological readjustment. It needs re-affirmation.

John's greatest message, however, was the coming of the One who was to baptize not with water but with the Holy Ghost. Like every true witness he humbles himself and points to the Saviour. We need the message, "repent," but we need even more to recall to our preaching and our churches the Holy Ghost power of the Son of God.

II. The Baptism of Christ (vv. 9-11).

The account in Mark is brief but it brings before us the fact that the sinless Son of God thus identified his holy self with sinful humanity which he had come to save.

Let us learn the lesson that obedience to the divine will, a willingness to humble ourselves to do the work whereunto God has sent us, are prerequisites to the filling of the Holy Spirit with power and grace for life and service.

III. The Temptation of Christ (vv. 12, 13).

We recall as we consider the temptation of Jesus, that he was without sin, that there was no fallen nature in him to which Satan could appeal. The temptation or testing of Jesus was therefore along Messianic lines, but the principles both of temptation and victory are similar to those of our own experience. Consider the parallel passages in Matthew 4 and Luke 4.

The Devil has only three real temptations to present, "the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life" (I John 2:16). These he used with Jesus as he tempted him to make food for his hungry body, to look at the kingdoms of this earth and attain them by a wrong method, and to presume on God's grace by throwing himself from the pinnacle of the temple.

Victory came through the use of God's Word. We need to learn that lesson and not attempt to defeat Satan with any man-made weapons of will-power, logic, or culture. Jesus was certain of victory. He is our victory. Learn to know him as Saviour and Lord. Study God's Word and learn how to use it in spiritual conflict. Yield to the Holy Spirit. Victory lies that way, and nowhere else.

The Countenance

The countenance may be defined as the title-page which heralds the contents of the human volume, but like other title-pages, it sometimes puzzles, often misleads, and often says nothing to the purpose.—W. Matthews.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

FARMERS SPEND MORE ON CAR THAN CLOTHING

Auburn, Ala.—Average farm families in the United States spend more money on their automobiles than they do on their clothes, show figures compiled by the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

Next to food, the average farm family spends most on the family car and its upkeep. In former years, clothing was the item of expense for farm families next to food, but clothing has dropped to third place.

FARMERS CAN REDUCE FEED COSTS IN 1938

Auburn, Ala.—Alabama farmers can materially reduce their feed cost in 1938 by improving their pastures, advises J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist, in calling attention to the fact that 430 farmers in the Tennessee Valley watershed area reduced their feed cost by 28 per cent through pasture demonstrations in 1937.

"The demonstrators report that on an average their pastures were improved by 61.5 per cent to the land being properly prepared, phosphate applied and seeded with mixtures of grasses and legumes in accordance with recommendations of the Alabama Experiment Station," he says.

"These demonstrations are resulting in hundreds of farmers improving pastures to meet needs of livestock, for home and farm use, and for expansion of the livestock industry. The improved pastures and the increased winter legume plantings are benefiting the individual farmer and the public by protecting the land against erosion and flood damages.

"The pasture demonstrations are being conducted by the county agents and assistant county agents of the various counties and is a part of the pasture program being promoted by the Alabama Extension Service throughout the State," he concludes.

BRIEF FARM FACTS

Nineteen Alabama counties report 104,260 bushels of cotton seed of better staple varieties saved in the fall of 1937 for use in the cotton improvement program in 1938. These seed were saved by one-variety community cotton improvement associations and at special gin days.

The annual meeting of Southeastern Section, Society of American Foresters will be held in Auburn, January 7 and 8. Foresters of Alabama, Georgia, Florida, and other southeastern states will be present.

BEST COTTON VARIETIES FOR PLANTING IN 1938

Auburn, Ala.—In order to realize the greatest returns for the 1938 cotton crop, Alabama farmers should grow varieties that will produce staple 7-8 inch or better in length, say officials of the Alabama Experiment Station in announcing results of cotton variety tests in Alabama for the period 1935-37.

"The Stoneville 5 and D. P. L. 11 and 11-A varieties of cotton have been found to be satisfactory in yield, staple length and lint percentage for any section of Alabama which is not infested with the cotton wilt disease," says the report. "Other satisfactory varieties for sections not infested with the wilt disease are Cook 144, Cook 1627, Delfos 719, and Cleveland.

"The prevalence of cotton wilt disease in central and south Alabama makes it necessary to plant only a wilt-resistant variety of cotton, especially on the sandy soils. The Clevewilt, Cook 144, and Dixie Triumph are good yielding wilt-resistant varieties that produce staple around 15-16 or an inch in length. The Cook 307 is a high-yielding wilt-resistant variety that will produce staple 7-8 to 1 inch in length under favorable moisture conditions but in very dry seasons it will produce staple less than 7-8 of an inch in length.

The cotton variety tests were conducted by H. B. Tisdale and J. B. Dick, Auburn, in cooperation with J. T. Williamson, Auburn, J. P. Wilson, Headland, K. G. Baker, Marion Junction, R. C. Christopher, Crossville, Fred Stewart, Bella Mina, and E. L. Mayton, Auburn, on the experiment station and experiment fields in Alabama.

THOMAS JR. 4-H CLUB

The club met on December 14, 1937. We had with us Mr. B. N. Ivey. We also had two new members. The boys discussed forest fires and how to prevent them. Mr. Ivey discussed our projects with us, and explained the possibilities of a hog show and sale this spring.—Earl Holley.

VERMONT 4-H CLUB NEWS

The Vermont 4-H club boys and girls met together on December 9th for their monthly meeting. At the opening sevaral Christmas carols were sung, then Mr. Ivey entertained us with some good tricks. The boys then went to their regular meeting room to finish their program.

We then adjourned until January when we will have our first meeting of the new year.—E. J. Roseberry.

MARS HILL

Last Sunday our Sunday school was very small. Let's everybody remember to come and make this year's work one among the best.

Misses Leafie and Elizabeth Smith spent Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. A. J. Leach.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Cofer visited Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Crumpton Friday night.

Messrs. Foster and Odis Smith spent Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Leach.

Prices of the better grades of slaughter cattle are expected by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics to decline more than seasonally in the first half of 1938 as a result of increased marketing of such cattle compared with those of a year earlier and some further weakening in consumer demand for meats.

Appointment of Thomas W. Lumkin, county agent for Perry County, as state 4-H club leader for boys was announced today by P. O. Davis, director, Extension Service of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

The world consumption of cotton in the 12 months ending July 31, 1937, was 30,991,000 bales, the largest on record.

MUSIC APPRECIATION CLUB

On December 14, 1937, at the city hall auditorium, the Clanton Music Appreciation Club observed Alabama and Federation Day with an open program, having as guest artist our own Mrs. Florence Golson Bateman, of Wetumpka, in a song recital, accompanied by Mrs. A. C. Ruffin of the same city. A young lady of Montgomery, Miss Louise Rogers, who is a member of Young Musicians Club of that city, appeared on the program in several piano numbers. A large crowd enjoyed this recital. One very familiar number given by Mrs. Bateman was her own composition, "The Bird With A Broken Wing."

Our club president, Mrs. W. M. Polk, Sr., in her most gracious and charming manner, made the opening remarks. Mrs. W. A. Willis gave a short address, and the introduction of the guest artist was by Mrs. Barney Roberts. It is the purpose of the Club to bring to Clanton's music lovers a high type of music and outstanding artists from time to time. At these open meetings the public is cordially invited. We hope you will come and enjoy them.—Mrs. J. T. Searcy.

Registration records at Wilson Dam show that during the period from May 16 to September 16, 50,464 people visited the dam, or an increase of 13,672 over the number who registered during the same period last year. These people came from all parts of the United States and from many foreign countries.

"Ride 'em Cowboy"

Astride a wild bucking bronco, striving to stay on as long as possible, this cowboy is shown in one of the stunts that will be a feature of the Texas Rangers' indoor Rodeo to be held at the giant Birmingham Municipal Auditorium January 12-16. Wild horses, wild steers and plenty of riders to take up where others leave off will be seen in action in the five-day panaramo, feature of "Rodeo Week" in Birmingham.

INDOOR RODEO

Birmingham, Ala., Dec. 31.—Purses totalling more than $7,000 will be offered riders of broncos, straddlers of steers and various other entertainers and participants in the gigantic indoor rodeo to be held at the Birmingham auditorium January 12-16, inclusive.

Milt Hinkle, former world's champion steer wrestler and bodyguard of President Teddy Roosevelt, announces that more than seven grand will be placed as stake for winners in the five-day rodeo.

This is the largest purse ever offered for a rodeo in the South and is only $5,000 short of the record top of $12,000 given for the rodeo at the Chicago Coliceum in 1935.

This money will be distributed to the various winners of men's and girl's bronco riding, men's and girls' steer riding, calf roping contests for men and girls, wild horse races and the like. Contestants from all over the United States will be here for the horse and steer spectacle.

The Birmingham auditorium will be changed into a Wild West rodeo ground over night. While workers are spending a month making preparations for the unusual event, they will have everything ready to put in the moment the Howard-Celtic world's championship basket ball game is over January 11. Hundreds of cattle, wild horses and tamed ones will be on the grounds outside awaiting the chance to perform.

In addition to the regular list of features for the rodeo, Hinkle is trying to arrange an honest-to-goodness bull fight. Bull fights are outlawed in the state, but hinkle hopes to overcome obstacles by agreeng for the matador NOT to kill the bull. Of course, if the bull kills the matador, that's different.

SCHOOL SANITATION WORK REPORTED BY HEALTH DEPT.

Information concerning a county-wide school sanitation project which was initiated by our County Board of Education in October of 1935 was released today by the local county Health Department. A total of 152 toilets seats have been installed in 19 county schools, it was declared by Dr. S. D. Sturkie, local county health officer.

"Of these," he said, "the first 14 were of wooden structure, 10 with concrete floors and cast iron seats and 4 with wood seats. The balance were built with steel superstructures, concrete slabs, and cast iron seats. All construction was under the direct supervision of the health department. The steel superstructures and labor were granted by the WPA and the balance of the material was provided by the County Board of Education.

"This work," he added, "has greatly improved the sanitary conditions of our county schools. There are still, however, approximately ten one-teacher schools which need new toilets. The fact that the supply of steel buildings has been exhausted will make it necessary to build these of wood. Protection of the water supplies is sorely needed in many of the rural schools."

The number of seats installed in the various schools is listed as follows: Jemison 24, Isabella 12, Maplesville 12, Stanton 8, Thomas Jr. 8, Fairview 2, Concord 8, Jackson Chapel 4, Mt. Pleasant 8, Collins Chapel 8, Oak Grove 4, Union Grove 8, Pinedale 4, Clanton (colored) 8, Thorsby 12, Thorsby (colored 4, Lomax (colored) 4, Minooka 4, and County Training School 10.

Total number of seats.—152.

what Irvin S. Cobb thinks about:

The Place of Radio.

SANTA MONICA, CALIF.—"Deke" Aylesworth says radio can never displace newspapers. "Deke" is with Roy Howard's newspapers now and naturally wouldn't care to have his job shot out from under him by a loudspeaker. Most of us feel that way about our jobs, unless we happen to be working in some state institution, such as a penitentiary.

Radio never can displace newspapers any more than milk-tickets can displace milk. The newspaper reader chooses what he pleases from the day's coverage—gratifying obituary notices of people he didn't like; convincing statements from financial wizards explaining why his investments turned sour after he'd bought them on advice of aforesaid wizards; and, about once in so often, exciting special articles about the Hope diamond or the William Desmond Taylor case or the lure of Mr. Robert Taylor. But, the listener-in on radio must accept what somebody else already has predigested, which puts him in the same class with tapeworms.

Irvin S. Cobb

So long as you can't wrap up a picnic lunch in a radio or use short wave sets to line pantry shelves with, we'll have newspapers.

Thanks, "Deke," I'm working for a string of newspapers myself.

The League's New Head.

I TAKE back all I ever said about the League of Nations being as futile as a fly swatter in a saloon brawl.

The league has a new president—the Aga Khan, who has the largest private income on earth because 40,000,000 Mohammedans regard him as divine and pay for the privilege, often going hungry in order to do so. And he certainly is qualified to head a society dedicated to peace—he never parted from any of his wives except with the utmost harmony.

Well, to celebrate his election, the Aga Khan gave the most gorgeous banquet ever staged in Geneva—1,500 bottles of champagne and 300 pounds of caviar.

Thus did the league justify its right to existence. There were but few flies in the ointment. Ethiopia's delegates were either deceased or missing, the league having drawn the color line, so to speak, which was more than Mussolini did when he wiped out their country last year. Spain's delegates likewise were absent, being mostly dead or else fighting one another.

Sick Calls De Luxe.

PAT O'BRIEN, the actor, tells this one about an Irish cop at the crossing who waved a car containing three priests to proceed after the stop signal had gone up and then, with harsh words, checked another driver who sought to follow along, too.

"But you let that other car with those three clergymen in it go through," protested the halted one.

"They was on their way to a sick call," stated the officer.

"Now wait a minute," said the citizen. "I happen to be a Catholic myself and I know about those things. Who ever heard of three priests going on one sick call?"

For a moment only the policeman hesitated. Then he snapped:

"Say, young feller, tell me this, you that knows so much—did you never hear of a solemn high sick call?"

French Slickers.

POLICE are still trying to round up the slickers who, in one day, raided twenty-nine banks scattered all over France. This reminds a fellow of 1931, when the bank examiners were coroners simultaneously sitting on the mortal remains of an even larger number of American banks, the main difference being that these French banks were looted by outside parties.

According to dispatches, this job was accomplished through fraudulent credentials for strangers presenting forged drafts. But I beg leave to doubt that part, remembering when I turned up at various outlying points over there with proper identifications and a perfectly good letter of credit. What excitement then on the part of the cashier (spade beard) and what deep distress for the president (trellis whiskers) and what stifled moans from the board of directors (assorted beavers) when, finally, they had to fork over. Why you can wreck a perfectly good bank here in less time than it takes to get a certified check for $9.75, less exchange, cashed in a French provincial bank.

But should it develop that any of these recently stolen francs were earmarked for payment to us on account of that war debt—brethren, that would indeed be news.

Milt Hinkle Feature

Hunting big game in the wilds of Africa and breaking in thousands of stampeding steeds for Uncle Sam are pretty dangerous feats, but they're not nearly as dangerous as riding in one if these newfangled automobile contraptions of the present age.

At least, that's what Milt Hinkle, who has done all three, thinks.

Hinkle, who is in Birmingham to direct the Texas Rangers Rodeo at the Birmingham Municipal Auditorium January 12-16, accompanied Teddy Roosevelt on his expedition to explore the River of Doubt.

Since 1881, he has broken in more than 20,000 untamed horses, some of which were used in the Spanish American War. He has defied death hundreds of times performing in rodeos all over the world.

But, in all his experiences, Hinkle was "bummed up" worse when his automobile skidded off the road on Shades Mountain coming to Birmingham from New Orleans recently than he received in all his hair-raising big game and bucking bronc risks.

"These newfangled vehicles just ain't safe", Hinkle said after spending more than a week in bed following his automobile mishap. "I've never been layed up like this before, and I guess I've stradled more wild mares than any man who ever walked. But give me a bucking bronc any time to one of these gasoline gulpers. It's safer."

Nicknamed the "South American Kid" following his return to the United States after acting as bodyguard and companion for Teddy Roosevelt in his River of Doubt expedition, Hinkle has lived a life of one thrill after another.

MOTOR VEHICLE REGISTRATION AND GASOLINE CONSUMPTION

The registration of Motor Vehicles in the United States during the past year reached the enormous figure of 30,095,000. The consumption of gasoline was over twenty billion gallons.

The registration figures for 1937 exceed the 1936 registration by six and one-half per cent and the consumption of gasoline was up nine and seven tenths per cent.

South Dakota is the only State that shows a decrease in registration and the decrease is less than one-tenth of one per cent. Mississippi shows the largest gain in registration, a gain of 13.28 per cent while Alabama is a close second with 13.11 per cent.

In the consumption of gasoline South Carolina takes the lead with a gain of 18.62 per cent with New Mexico taking second place with a gain of 18.51 per cent. Alabama takes the third place with 16.89 per cent. The only State showing a decrease in gasoline consumption was Nebraska which shows a decrease of only six one-hundredths of one per cent.

The records show that 218,869,732 gallons of gasoline were consumed in Alabama last year as compared with 187,230,280 gallons in 1936. The taxes collected on this gasoline and petroleum products by the State of Alabama amounted to $13,340,914.18, one half of which went to the Counties for road and bridge construction and maintenance and $1,503,341.50 was used to pay interest on and for the retirement of highway bonds.

CARD OF THANKS

I want to take this opportunity of thanking the people of Center Hill community and the Union-Banner as a whole for the cooperation they have given me for the past year, while I have been serving as reporter for this place and for the past two years that I served as reporter for our singing society.

Mrs. Bernice Lowery has been elected to my place, and I ask that you all give her the help and cooperation that you have given me.—Mrs. John W. Collum, Jemison, Ala.

MORGAN COLLINS WINS PRIZE IN CALIFORNIA C C C CAMP

Mr. Sam Collins of Clanton has recently received the anouncement from Wawana, California, that his son, Morgan C. Collins, was awarded the prize for naming the camp newspaper. The young man named it "The Wabama News." It will be noticed that the word is a combination of Wawana and Alabama. The camp is composed of boys from Alabama.

There were 150 contestants for the prize for naming the paper, but young Collins came out winner. The Union-Banner and his friends in Chilton county extend congratulations.

Curtis Bice, son of Bill Bice, is also at Wawana.

YOUNG CHILD DIED

Little Marvin Payton, three year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Payton, Lomax, died at the home Tuesday, January 4th. The funeral was held Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock at Samaria, Rev. Aaron Parker officiating; Martin & Sons directing.

IN THE WAKE OF FLOOD

This scene was enacted many times in refugee centers established by the Red Cross during the Ohio-Mississippi Valley flood. Inevitably floods bring the danger of disease as drinking sources become contaminated and large groups of people are thrown together. The medical-health service of the Red Cross serves thousands each year, and is maintained by membership funds contributed to the organization at the time of its annual Roll Call from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving.

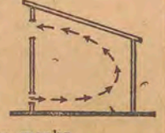
FIRST SIX WEEKS IN EIGHT ACTS

For the first two days after chicks are hatched the temperature should be kept at 90 to 92 degrees, and gradually reduced to 80 or 85 degrees by the end of the second week. The tendency of chicks to pile and crowd is usually due to a too-high or too-low temperature or a variation in temperature.

The brooder house should be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected with a solution of cre-so-fec before chicks are put into it. Peat moss, shavings, or good straw with the chaff removed are excellent for litter. When the chicks are first put down the litter should be covered with burlap or several thicknesses of rough paper.



A circle of wire covered with burlap or cotton sacks should be set up around the hover until chicks learn where the heat is.

The ordinary brooder house will handle from 250 to 300 chicks. A costly mistake is that of trying to raise more chicks than can be properly cared for. If a portable house is used it should be moved to fresh ground and cleaned and aired before chicks are put into it.

Plenty of fresh water is essential. The chill should be removed, and to aid in the prevention of disease and spread of infection, one-quarter level teaspoon of chlorena powder should be added to each gallon. (Or one measuring spoon to every 10 gallons of water.) Drinking troughs should be kept clean. Washing them in a solution of Purina chlorena is a safe method of preventing spread of disease through the fountains.

As chicks grow older they need more air but drafts should never be allowed to blow on them. Chicks chill easily and need plenty of warmth the first few weeks.

One of the best ways to prevent crowding and piling is to provide low slatted roosts in the brooder house early and have chicks begin using them at three weeks. A roosting frame made of 1" by 2" material cut to the full length or width of the brooder house can be hinged to the wall at a height of 8 to 10 inches. It can be folded back against the wall when not in use.

During the first six weeks chicks need the best starting food obtainable. By all means it should be fortified with puratene, that rich pro-vitamin A concentrate that gives extra vigor and vitality to chicks. The starting feed should also contain cod liver oil of proven quality. The soundest method of determining quality in cod liver oil is by feeding it to rats and chicks in actual laboratory tests. Inclusion of high quality oil in the starting feed protects chicks against rickets.

The starting feed should also be made up of ingredients that have been blended scientifically. Almost anyone can put two or more ingredients together to form a mash . . . but it requires years of scientific study to determine which ingredients should be included and in what amounts to get maximum growth, strong and sturdy legs, and deep yellow pigmentation in chicks.

Holidays Over

The holiday season is now over with most every one back in school.

Mid-term examinations are coming, and it won't be long. The examinations come January 12th and 14th; every one work and study hard.

Basket Ball

C. C. H. S. Tigers play Isabella high at the high school here next Wednesday night. The Tigers also play the Coosa County high school here Friday night. All are invited to attend.

The last game before the Christmas holidays was with Jemison. This proved to be a very exciting game. The Tigers were able to pull away to a good lead.

Diversified Occupation

The diversified occupation class is still making progress, and all students seem to enjoy their work to the greatest extent. Most every one worked during the holidays, or at least part of the holidays. This is a great acheivement.

Mr. Hicks stated in chapel that "Old Santa" must have brought quite a few air rifles to Clanton, the C. C. H. S. won the receiving end of all. The front door of the school received a hole and so did the office window, this being caused by air rifles.

PLEASANT HILL

Our Sunday school was very good last Sunday, but we expect more next Sunday. Everybody come and bring someone with you.

Several from here attended the singing at Oak Grove last Sunday evening and reported a good singing.

There will be a singing here next Sunday at 2 p. m. Everybody come.

Everybody come to church next Sunday morning as we are going to elect a preacher.

VERBENA 4-H CLUB

The Verbena girl's 4-H club met November 8, 1937. The program was enjoyed by the majority of the club girls. Miss Grace gave an interesting talk on what should go into a school lunch kit.

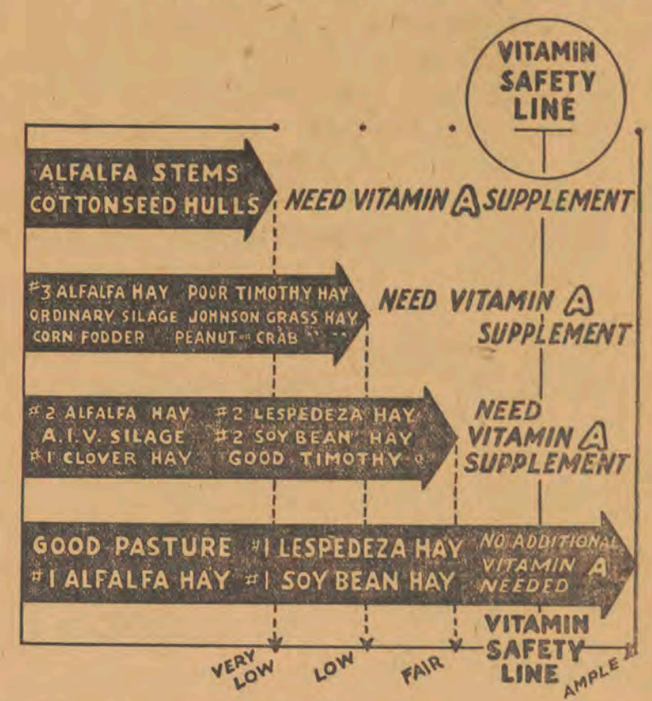
We planned the program for December. The club was adjourned.

The Verbena girls and boys 4-H club met together December 13, 1937, having a joint Christmas program, which gave everybody a Christmas spirit. After the program the boys club were dismissed for their regular meeting. Miss Grace gave everyone new ideas for making Christmas cards at home.

The meeting adjourned until the new year, which we think will be a successful one.

MAPLESVILLE 4-H CLUB

The Maplesville High School girls 4-H club met with Miss Grace on December 22. Miss Grace made an interesting talk and also showed the club some very nice, but inexpensive gifts that could be given at Christmas.



A Christmas program was put on by members of the girls club. After the program the members drew their names and exchanged their gifts with the person who's name they had drawn. Some received nice gifts which the members had made.

Miss Grace gave the club the work they were to do at home, and also some very good recipes. The meeting adjourned wishing everyone a Merry Christmas.

Miss Francine Herron, has returned to her home in Montgomery, after spending several of the Christmas holidays here with Miss Doris Newell.

MANY COW TROUBLES CAUSED BY TOO LITTLE VITAMIN A IN FEED

Gray Summit, Mo.—Just as milady checks on the calories that put on pounds where they interfere with the realization of a perfect figure, so is a cow's menu built to keep her in good form.

Dogs, foxes, and poultry of all kinds, have for a long time enjoyed the benefits of extra vitamin A in their feed. Just recently the dry cow has come into her right to a vitamin-balanced feed, according to Dr. H. J. Smith, director of the Purina Mills Research Laboratory, under whose direction a complete study of the vitamin A content of various roughages and ingredients used in dairy feeds has been made. Results of this study show the need of carotene (vitamin A concentrate) in the dry cow's ration to build stronger calves, develop healthier udders, and to maintain top physical condition. Carotene is an expensive vitamin concentrate, but the by-product of carotene—puratene—is an economical way of supplying to dry cows the vitamin A they need in their ration.

Plenty of Vitamin A Needed

Cows fed on roughage classed as "low" or "very low" in vitamin A (crab grass hay, cottonseed hulls, peanut hay, Johnson grass hay, poor timothy hay, corn fodder, ordinary silage, or Number 3 alfalfa hay) need plenty of vitamin A in their commercial ration.

On a test here at the Purina Experimental Farm, seven Guernsey cows were denied a satisfactory carotene ration for two years and, as a result, three of their calves died shortly after birth, three were saved only with the greatest difficulty, and only one was normal. On another ration containing plenty of carotene (vitamin A) thirteen Guernseys brought twelve normal calves. The only weak calf in the group died at the age of two days.

U. S. Tests in Agreement

Tests on carotene needs of dairy cows conducted at the U. S. Department of Agriculture Experiment Station, Beltsville, Maryland, are in agreement with tests made here at Purina Farm, and indicate that a thousand-pound cow should receive not less than 150 milligrams of carotene per day, to insure normal calving.

Good pasture is a rich source of carotene, but when cows are not on pasture practically all the carotene intake is from the roughage part of the ration. If the roughage cows get is low in carotene, they do not get enough to support normal calving. Many roughages do not supply adequate amounts of vitamin A.

Recognizing the fact that many dairy cows are dropping weak calves or having undue trouble at calving time due to getting roughages deficient in carotene, Purina Mills recently reinforced Dry and Freshening Cow Chow with puratene, a rich vitamin A concentrate that performs the same functions as carotene.

HIGHLIGHTS OF E. J. H. S.

We have resumed our school work, after an enjoyable vacation of a week. We hope that every school in the county started the new year off with as much enthusiasm as we did.

A great deal of interest is being shown in the new science equipment that is beginning to come in. We have hopes of all this equipment and the new library books being in within a very few days. We are looking for its arrival with interest. We expect to use this material in a way that will benefit us most, so far as we know how, as well as enjoy it.

The basket ball boys and girls played a few games before the Christmas holidays that have not been reported in this column. The first game the boys played which was not reported was with the Baker team on our own court. The scores were: Enterprise 32, Baker 21. The Enterprise girls played the Cooper girls at Cooper on the same date, the scores being Enterprise 10, Cooper 5. Both were interesting games.

The boys and girls went to Marbury and played the Marbury seniors there on Wednesday night, December 22. The scores for the girls were Marbury 5, Enterprise 13. Enterprise made the first score, nad led Marbury all during the game. It was an enjoyable game, with good sportsmanship shown. The scores for the boys were Marbury 22, Enterprise 28. This game was very thrilling; it made the enthusiastic spectators wonder near the end of hte game which team was going to win. Marbury was leading at one time, but Enterprise stepped up a bit and the scores were tied for a while. Then Enterprise got in the lead and led Marbury the last few minutes. The victory for Enterprise was well won.

The Enterprise boys and girls will play Thomas at Enterprise January 8. The first game will be played at 1 o'clock. Admission 5c. Don't miss these games.

SOFT SHELLED EGG WITH A NECK

Mr. Arthur Tippett of near Concord and Walnut Creek, found a curious specimen of a hen egg the first of this week in one of his hen's nests. It was a soft shelled egg and had a neck to it like a gourd. It was a funny looking thing, but when it was cooked it tasted just like an ordinary egg.

CARD OF THANKS

I want to take this opportunity to thank each and every one for the many fond remembrances extended me during the holidays, and I trust that each and every one of you have had a Merry Christmas, and that the New Year holds much in store for you. There is no end to the many possibilities that the new year holds for us, if we as individuals do our part both individually and cooperatively in helping to make the new year better than the past has been. In reviewing the events of the past year perhaps many of you are wondering if 1937 was a successful year. Before you have decided definately, pro or con, won't you please read these following lines that have recently come to hand on what success is:

"He has achieved success who has lived well, laughed often, and loved much; who has gained the respect of thinking men and the love of little children; who has filled his niche and accomplished his task; who has left the world better than he found it, whether by a perfect poem, an improved poppy or a ransomed soul; who has looked for the best in others and given the best he had."—Meta E. Grace, Home Demonstration Agent.

P.-T. A. MEETING

On Tuesday, January 11, 1938, the Clanton high P.-T. A. will hold its regular meeting in the high school auditorium and have as guest speaker, Dr. Rosa Lee of Auburn, Ala., the program given by Miss Morton our Librarian. All fathers and mothers who have children in school are urged to support our P.-T. A. We need your membership to show some concern for yuor boy or girl to lend some supprt to our fine group of teachers at our high school this year. Won't you come? This is a S. O. S. call from your publicity chairman.—Mrs. L. C. Ross.

SAVINGS POSSIBLE

With one of Mr. Morgenthau's remarks it is possible to quarrel. He said that it would be difficult to reduce the ordinary expenditures of the federal government. Before the same gathering Senator Byrd of Virginia pointed out that the so-called ordinary expenditures of the federal government had doubled in five years. Such an increase calls for new definitions and for a re-examination of the whole sprawling structure of "ordinary" activities of the government. Welcome as savings of $700,000,000 might be in the fields mentioned by the Secretary of the Treasury, they could be more than matched if a ruthless hand were put upon the ordinary budget.—New York Sun.

THE COST OF FARM RELIEF

The longer Congress debates the new farm bill, the clearer it becomes that nobody knows what its probable cost will be. Nobody knows, because both the House and the Senate versions promise to involve the Government in speculative operations whose outcome cannot be foreseen. How much will be spent in the form of "benefit payments" to growers of cotton, wheat and other crops will depend on special conditions in each particular crop in each particular year. The same sort of uncertainty attaches to the plan for Government lends to the farmer it lends "without recourse"—that is to say, if cotton, for example, goes above the price at which the loan is made, the grower of cotton takes the profit, but if cotton falls below the stated figure the Government foots the bill. It is a clear case of the Government's saying to the farmer, Heads you win and tails I lose, and how large a loss such an offer may involve for the taxpayer depends on a movement of prices which no one can predict—New York Times.

THE SPECIAL SESSION

That the result of the special session of Congress which ended three days before Christmas, was a general disappointment to those who expected it to perform properly for the New Deal, is a generally admitted fact. The session was provided with a pretentious program by the President. None of this program was put into law. The principal achievement of Congress was the appropriation of $225,000 for the mileage expenses of members of the House and Senate, between Washington and their home, on the assumption they would be going home for the holidays.

But there were other achievements. Congress appropriated $12,000 to pay the salary of the House and Senate pages and extended the time for the beginning of the construction of a bridge across the Tennessee river in Alabama.

Fortunately not so many Federal loans were granted as usual, but one got through. It authorized the loan of certain portraits in the capitol to the Corcoran Art Gallery.

Republican Leader Snell of the House of Representatives characterized the session as a national toothache. There are others who think more nearly resembled a headache, although it must be said in all fairness that the headache created was not nearly so general as it might have been. It seems confined principally to New Dealers. From the long term viewpoint the session may not have been so bad, at that.

A self-locating golf ball that whistles is high on the list of needed inventions. Also a Japanese bomb that says, "excuse it, please." Los Angeles Times.

We are on a merry-go-round, but who pays for it? cries a critic of public spending. Could it come from one of the revolving funds?—Detroit News.

Job cursed the day he was born. Imagine a little fellow like that knowing about taxes. —Bangor Commercial.

Remember the violent wet who thought that repealing the National Prohibition Act would usher in the millenium?

A Massachusetts 5-year-old girl was discovered throwing away dollar bills. She was only imitating congressmen she had heard people talking about.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

TAX EXEMPTION

The renewed drive now under way to end the tax exempt status of state and municipal obligations would, if successful, do more than increase tax revenues and encourage wealthy investors to purchase corporate securities more freely. It would also act to discourage unsound pubilc works projects that are now carried out by local governments only because tax exempt bonds can be issued to finance them.

The elimination of tax exemption would affect most oblgations issued by autonomus authorities of state and local governments and revenue bonds, neither of which are backed by the taxing power. Such obligations now enjoy a special status because of their tax exemption. Without such exemption they would be regarded by investors as more nearly akin to corporate obligatons, and would have to compete with the latter in the investment market.—New York Journal of Commerce.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

On account of the worldwide uncertainty of international affairs, there is more interest than usual this year in the annual "year book" on the world's navies recently issued in London under the title, "Jane's fighting ships." The book reveals some significant facts as to the present state and future possibilities of the navies of the leading maritime nations of the world. It shows that Great Britain, as might be expected, is leading the naval race, while the United Sates is lagging when compared with the efforts of other important nations.

John Bull, according to the book, now has five 35,000-ton battleships under construction, which will give him a total of twenty floating fortresses by 1940 and it is intimated that he may start to build five more wihin the next few months.

Japan has nine great batleships now and is preparing to construct four more. Italy is building two capital ships and plans to start two more in the near future, while Germany has started two of her own and expects to lay down another shortly, building her navy up to 35 per cent of the strength of Great Britain's as provided for in her naval agreement with that nation.

France is trying her best to complete two great battleships within the next two years, while Uncle Sam has commenced work only on one and hopes to lay down a second within the next few weeks.

Britain is of course far in the lead of other nations and we, though we can have agreed parity with John Bull, are far behind in naval construction. It is reported, however, that our government will seek in the near future, to get money from Congress to modernize our navy further and bring it to the fighting strength it should have. Some pacifists have intimated that President Roosevelt is emphasizing the present difficulties with Japan to put Congress into a mood for building up the navy. It is not necessary to exaggerate world difficulties, however, to make a case for building up the American navy.

The United States is potentially the richest nation in the world. While we have comparatively few colonies, and depend on our rich domestic trade rather than our foreign commerce, in the long run we would have the most to lose from an attack by a foreign foe. This for the very reason that we have the highest standard of living and the greatest resources for the production of wealth. We want to use these resources to enrich ourselves and not to pay tribute or indemnity to some ohter nation.

There are many among us who would have Uncle Sam accept decided inferiority to the British navy. They say that we can never contemplate war with England, such a conflict would be the end of civilization, and that since we don't intend to fight the British we don't need a navy as big as theirs.

This, however, is arguing beside the point. We all hope that there will never be another war between Uncle Sam and his British cousins. At the same time, accepting inferiority to Great Britain means accepting third place, since Japan undoubtedly will then build ahead of us. We don't want to be put in position of having to depend on John Bull for naval aid if we are attacked by a third power. John Bull may not be ready then to help, just as he is now not ready to assist the Chinese and would like to have us do his work for him.

In any sound and patriotic effort to increase the defensive power of the American navy, the administration at Washington should have the people of the country solidly behind it, regardless of politics.

LIKE NELLIE

Henry Wallace, really is asking a lot when he demands that in return for a few soothing words, business shall put its head confidingly on the shoulder of an Administration which for five years has obstructed it, plotted against it, maligned it and stabbed it in the back; and so far has done nothing which indicates genuine reputenance or a friendly mind.

Where the Roosevelt Administration is concerned, business still is a good deal in the position of Nellie the Beautiful Cloak Model.

For years Nellie had been hotly pursued by the villian. He had tried to shoot her. He had attempted to throw her over the cliff. He had tied her to a railroad track. He had locked her in a burning building. In several other ways he had left the impression that he was neither a friend nor a well wisher.

Finally one day he caught up with the girl on a lonely road, and with an anything but reassuring smile on his lips attempted to take her hand.

As she shrunk back shivering and shaking, and praying desperately for aid, he exclaimed reproachfully, "Nellie, why do you fear me?"—Detroit Free Press.

GOVERNMENT IN BUSINESS

Both congress and the president face the inevitable truth, as noted by the late President Calvin Coolidge, that the business of the United States is business; that the prosperity of this country under present and prospective conditions, for many years at least, will rest upon creation and maintenance of widespread, reasonably well paid, and as continuous as possible employment of its people in the proper processes of private industry. Forced public works, most other public employment, and all doles are but taking from some pockets and putting in others; no new wealth is created by them, no permanent values produced.

The plain solution of our economic difficulties lies in encouragement of private business instead of its harassment, ridicule and derogation.—Portland Oregonian.

Would it not be much better for folks to advocate that every person at least try to establish his own "social security"—to lay aside for old age?—The Better Way.

The Japanese general who is sending his armies further and further into China ought to remember what happened to Napoleon when he got to Moscow.

The amount of lipstick used each year by American women would paint 40,000 barns. But who wants to kiss a barn?—Augusta Gazette.

The president is going into the question of what is causing higher prices. One reason of course is restricting production so that things cost more.

BRITAIN SMILES

While congress struggles with a Roosev recession, and business and industry find the selves no farther advanced than they were year ago, London reports that British busin is the best it has been in eight years, and the first 10 months of this year show a 21 cent improvement over 1936.

Perhaps we, too, would have been far along the road to recovery had recovery b put ahead of reform, had the radical yo brain-trusters been left at home, had the vice of experienced men of affairs been ta sooner rather than so late.

Today the American people would have much more to be thankful for, had the in the White House been less obsessed w power and the perpetuation of his regime, more concerned with cooperating with all ements of the citizenry with the single p pose of pulling the country out of the pression.—Springfield (Mass.) Union.

THE DUTY OF CONGRESS

Douglas Johnson, of the faculty of Col bia University, New York, says that "the t has come for Congress to resume its functi as one of the three coordinate and indep dent bodies which under he American sys are supposed to share equally in the exer of governmental authority."

Congress owes it to the American people cease being a validating machine for President's acts and to answer threats of p tical reprisals by defeating every attempt the President to exercise the powers the C stitution invests in the Senate and House Representatives.

The crisis in America's affairs has deve ed because Congress has been rendering the President the things that were the th of Congress. The duty of Congress is to re der unto the President the things that are President's and unto the people the things are the people's. National wealth is not President's, but the people's. Government not the President's, but the people's.—Cha ton News and Courier.

COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

This is being written in a very lovely modern hotel in Jackson, Mississippi. It is very interesting to go into the different states and note the type of people. Mississipians always remind me of South Carolinians. There is a warmness of greeting which one finds in the two states that is just a little different from that of any other section of the country. I was born and reared in Alabama. Sometimes when in the North East or West I am asked if the South retains its old-time hospitality. I suppose there is a hang-over from the old days, but I have found Christian hospitality not only in all sections of America, but in many foreign lands. I think the most courteous people I have ever known were the Russian Christians I met in Poland. Hospitality blooms more beautifully when it is rooted in the soil of Christian experience. What delightful memories the writer has of his boyhood days in the country when the pastor would come and spend the night in our home. We children would hang on his every word. He was always God's man to us. Out of our poverty we contributed to his support. We gave some money, but we had little money to give . We always loaded his buggy with good things to eat. Until this day I always want to give our guests something to take home with them.

The two most important men in the community when I was a boy were the preacher and the doctor. What confidence we had in them! The doctor was supposed to look out for our bodies and the preacher was to keep a check on the condition of our souls. "I practiced medicine for a number of years. I was converted and God called me to preach and I have been in the ministry about as long as I was a practicing physician. I know a good deal about the men in both professions. The doctors are far more faithful to their jobs than the preachers are to theirs." That is what an outstanding man said to the writer recently. What an indictment! It is wondreful to find a cure for physical ills. But think of knowing and preaching the gospel which is God's power unto salvation. "We have done everything that science knows to do. There is no hope. We are just waiting in our helplessness and watching him die. There is absolutely no hope." These words were spoken by a doctor friend of mine as he walked away from the bed of his patient. How much more wonderful is my work as a Gospel preacher. No soul was ever hopelessly diseased. The Gospel is God's power. Man did not discover the Gospel in his search after truth. God revealed it. "The soul that sinneth it shall die." The unsaved man is not only sinsick. He is actually dead. That is what God's Word says. I salute you physicians who have learned something about how to keep men well. But eventually all your patients die. I have a remedy that actually raises those who are dead in trespasses and sins, and makes them live forever and ever. This remedy I have found is known and given not only by trained ministers, but it is administered successfully by humble and uneducated saints who themselves have tried the remedy and know its power.

UNION GROVE

Well, Christmas has come and gone. Everyone seemed to have a good time.

The good people of this community gathered at the church last Thursday and did some fine work, some setting flowers, others trimming trees, and others cutting wood. There were 25 men and women present who worked all day preparing the church ground.

Well, the New Year has come and got wet, but it will dry off when the sun shines out.

Well, boys it is about time to get your cotton ground ready to plant. But don't expect to plant much, for if you have a 10-acre base, you will be allowed to plant 7 anres in 1938. I was told that if I would vote for Roosevelt we would not have any more cheap cotton. Eight-cent cotton and 40-cent corn, the banker takes the cotton and the merchant takes the corn. What will the old farmer do? All I know is vote for Cotton Tom.

Well, our roads are rough and bumpy and slick and our county is getting in a mighty bad fix, but I am looking and thinking of the great change we will make in the Fall of '38 and the Fall of '40. We have got men who, I think, can bring our county back to life again. Such men as W. A. Reynolds for Judge, Ralph Grant for Superintendent, Joe Cobb and Andrew Davis for commissioners. Well, I will not name any more. I will let Uncle Remus name the rest.

Hoping to hear from someone else on this question, I remain,—Yours truly, P. M. Martin, Beat 12.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to take this opportunity of thanking the Kiwanis Club, and Dr. Ezell for the lovely basket that was given to me and my family for Christmas. It was appreciated more than I can tell.—Ethel Banks.

REFUGE

Sunday school here was somewhat short Sunday, but we hope all who can will come out with a well prepared lesson next Sunday.

On last Friday afternoon, God, in His goodness and wisdom, saw fit to call Mrs. Minnie Adams home. She was 61 years old. She was laid to rest in Refuge cemetery, with Rev. Lockhart conducting the funeral.

Those enjoying the day and delius luncheon were: Misses Thelma ite, Annie Cordelia Smith, Mary nces Atkinson, Lillian Smith and nces Popwell.

Charles Taylor Celebrates Birthday

One of the holiday affairs was the birthday party given by Mr. and Mrs. Grady Taylor on Friday evening, December 24, celebrating the ninth birthday of their son, Charles.

The entire home was decorated with Christmas evergreens, holly wreathes and crimson poinsettias. A lighted Christmas tree adorned the living room. Each child received a favor. Games and contests were enjoyed. Donna Blacketter received the girl's prize and Junior Harris the boy's prize.

Refreshments carrying out the Christmas color scheme were served to the following children:

Bettye Joyce Smith, L. J Stewart, O. K. Welch, Donna Blacketter, Gene Mims, Jr. Watts, Doris Plyler, Jack Roper, Bobby Joe Chancellor, Ann Taylor, Dorothy Snider, Gillie Sims, Louise Higgins, Faye Sims, Pattye Broadhead and others.

Mrs. Sheppard Entertains Sunday School Class

The young ladies who are members of the Sunday School class of the Baptist Church, were guests of their teacher, Miss Ruth Kate Shepherd, at her home here Wednesday afternoon, December 21st, when she entertained at a tea.

Christmas story reading and exchange of gifts occupied most of the afternoon. Those included in the list of guests were Misses Grace Ezell, Mary Frances Atkinson, Aleene Popwell, Annie Cordelia Smith, Ann Ross, Elizabeth Armstrong, Elaine Burdette, Lillian Smith and Frances Bean.

Mrs. Raymond C. Smith Honored At Yuletide Party

Mrs. Raymond C. Smith, a charming new resident of Lakeland, Fla., who was Miss Mary Ellis of Clanton, Ala., before her recent marriage, was honored at a lovely Christmas bridge party given by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Cecil B. Smith, at the Lakeland Yacht and Country Club Friday afternoon.

Mrs. C. V. McClurg greeted the guests and presented them to the receiving line, which was composed of the hostess, honoree and Mrs. Charles Ball, of Montgomery, Ala., sister of Mrs. John C. Dial. Mrs. McClurg wore a dinner gown of black crepe, and her flowers were red roses; Mrs. Cecil B. Smith was gowned in plum velvet with a corsage of gardenias; the honoree chose for the occasion a becoming model of rose moire with which she wore pink roses, and Mrs. Ball wore a black and red crepe dinner dress and a corsage of red roses.

Baskets of poinsettias graced the foyer and ballroom, and a brilliantly illuminated Christmas tree added to the decorative scheme. The tallies, prize wrappings, and other details were in the Yuletide motif.

Mrs. Guy Stotts won the high score prize, a hand-painted picture; Mrs. Norman S. Stone second high, received an Italian cutwork luncheon cloth; Mrs. Charles Ball, third high, was given two linen guest towels; and Mrs. Joe M. Bosworth won the cut prize, a pottery vase. Mrs. Smith presented her sister-in-law with a card table, and Mrs. Ball two Italian cutwork handkerchiefs.

Pecan pie with whipped cream and coffee were served.

Rita Thomas Entertains With Bingo Party

Miss Rita Thomas entertained a number of her friends at a delightful bingo party at the home of her parents on last Friday afternoon.

The home was effectively decorated in holly, mistletoe and other Yuletide decorations.

The prize for high score was awarded to Jean Atkinson. During the afternoon tempting refreshments were served to the following guests:

Misses Martha Green, Jean Atkinson, Jeane Waite, Bess Hayes, Kathryn Bell, Essie White, Jean Mullins and Elizabeth Andrews.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Bell and family were recent visitors in Atlanta, Ga.

The friends of Ralph (Tobe) Johnson regret to know he is ill with flu at his home here.

Miss Jones Entertains with Bridge Luncheon

One of the most enjoyable parties of the Christmas season was the bridge luncheon at which Miss Mary Courtney Jones entertained on December 24 at 1:00 o'clock at her home in Clanton, honoring her charming house guests, Miss Marion Ware and Miss Mary Louise Hyde, of St. Louis, Mo.

After the beautifully appointed luncheon, bridge was enjoyed by the following: Misses Helen Moore, Celia Gerald, Dixie Johnson, Sara Hollis, Ruth Gowan, Eloise Gray and the honorees, Marion Ware and Mary Louise Hyde. Prizes were presented to Mrs. Earl Gray for high score, and to the honorees.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hollis Entertain at Christmas

Ono of the prettiest parties of the Christmas Season was on Tuesday, December 28, when Mr. and Mrs. John Hollis entertained a host of their friends.

The living room and sun parlor were decorated in southern smilax, holly and red candels.

The dining room was lighted with burning tapers. In front of the two french windows a standard with red and green candles entwined with smilax formed a pretty setting for the table which was covered in a red checkered table cloth. The center motif was a bowl of fruit on a Mexican basket, and around this burned yellow and blue. The china was in colors of red, green, blue and yellow. Mrs. Hance Alred and Mrs. Frank Callen presided at the table from which delicious refreshments were served.

Included in this delightful affair were:

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Callen, Mr. and Mrs. Dubb Huddleston, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Claudie Pipes, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Stanley, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Newton, Mrs. J. Hance Alred, Mrs. Auther Johnson, Miss Nell West, of Gadsden; Mr. Charlie Gulledge.

Eric Hart Honors Hayden Lanier—

Eric Hart, who has recently moved to Greenville, Ala., spent the holliays here as the guest of his sister, Mrs. Jimmie Varnell.

On last Friday evening he entertained a number of the Junior high school students at a delightful Christmas party honoring his cousin, Hayden Lanier, who was the guest of Mrs. J. C. Jones for the holidays.

The Yuletide idea was carried out in decorations and refreshments.

Games of all kinds were enjoyed during the evening, and refreshments were served at a late hour to: Essie White, Jean Waite, Bess Hayes, Hayden Lanier, Joe Esco and Raymond Popwell.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Lande and son, Irvin, will return Friday after having spent two weeks with Mrs. Lande's mother, who is ill at her home in Chicago, Ill.

Bill Hodges of the University of Alabama, spent several days here with friends and relatives during the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wood and son, and Mr. Wood's mother, spent several days last week with friends and relatives in Gedsden, Ala.

Miss Mary Courtney Jones returned to St. Louis this week to resume her work at Webster College. She was accompanied by Miss Mary Louise Hyde and Miss Marion Ware, who spent the holidays here as her guests.

Miss Hyde and Miss Ware are both students at Webster College. The former is president of the sophmore class and the latter is a member of the student council.

Dr. S. J. Ezell left last Friday for South Carolina where he visit his father for a few days. He was accompanied by his son John, who will go from there to school in Tennessee.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hayes had as their guest during the week end Miss Kittye Clyde Austin, of Montgomery.

The following college students have returned to their respective schools after spending the holidays here with their families: Joe Hall Johnson, Vanderbilt, Nashville, Tenn.; Grady and Morgan Reynolds, Joe Moore, Bill Hodges, Alex Hayes, Lawrence Gerald Sarah Lawrnce, Helen Roberts, to the University of Ala.; Dorothy Waites, Huntingdon College; Elizabeth McSwean, Mary Newell, Sarah Hollis, Jane Pitts, June Cox, Ruth Gowan, to Alabama College, Montevallo, Al.; Helen Moore, Howard College; Dewey Williams, Auburn, Ala.; Mary Courtney Jones, Webster College, St. Louis; Sam Johnson, Chattanooga, Tenn.; J. Lee Smith, Buddy Jones, Bobby Powers, Gulfport Military Academy; Elaine Burdette, and Lillian Smith, Thorsby Institute.

STATE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The State of Alabama in 1937 experienced one of its best years from the standpoint of industrial development, acording to a statement issued by President Benjamin Russell of the Alabama State Chamber of Commerce based on compilation of data by John M. Ward, Secretary of the State Chamber.

Twenty-five new industries established in Alabama during 1937 represent a total invested capital of $45,000,000 to $50,000,000 with further investments anticipated by some of these companies. These plants on completion will give employment to approximately 5,000 Alabama men and women and add $5,500,000 annually to the industrial payroll of the state.

In most cases the new plants will manufacture products not heretofore made in the state, thus showing that Alabama industry is yearly becoming more diversified and that the state is approaching a better balanced industrial development. Among products that will be manufactured by the new industries are tin plate, ferro silicon, aluminum oxide, insulating board, compound wood veneer, ladies silk underwear, dress shirts, cotton yarns, knitted fabrics, dry ice, woodworking products, naval stores from pine stumps, kraft paper, cooking and salad oil, vinegar.

STATE DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH

Montgomery, Jan. 3—In the State of Alabama at the present time there are more than 750 men, women and children who are alive and presumably healthy but who would have died during the year 1936, had the typhoid death rate for this State remained at the same figure at which it stood in 1915, according to an estimate by the State Department of Health, based upon death rates for the two years and 1936 population estimates.

"Alabama's typhoid fever death rate in 1936 was only slightly over one-tenth of the 1915 rate for this disease," said Dr. J. N. Baker, State Health Officer, in commenting upon these figures. "In 1915, when the State's population was estimated at 2,250,800, typhoid deaths totaled 674. In 1936, when the State's population was estimated at 2,846,485, only 84 deaths were reported as being due to this disease. Had the 1915 typhoid fever death rate prevailed, the 1936 deaths from this cause would have been approximately 855. It is possible, of course, that some of those who would have died of typhoid under the 1915 conditions died from other causes, but it is safe to say that most of them are still alive and active."

ALABAMA MOTORISTS SHOULD BE GIVEN TAX RELIEF BY CONGRESS

After contributing many millions of dollars in special automotive taxes to the federal government since 1932, the motorists of this and other states should be given preference by Congress in any tax relief programs, J. B. Kelley Vice Chairman of the Alabama Petroleum Industries Committee, said in a statement commenting upon the proposals made to eliminate luxury taxes and to retain the federal taxes on gasoline, lubricating oil, motor vehicles, and accessories.

"In 1936 the motorists of this state paid $3,336,000 in automotive taxes to the federal government. Those taxes were additional to the high burden of automotive taxes imposed by this State," said Mr. Kelley.

DR. S. A. BARSON

OPTOMETRIST

IN MEMORY OF ROBERT EDGAR BAILEY

God in His never failing power called to His Heavenly home on Monday morning, December 27, our loving brother, Ed. He was killed in a truck accident at Sylacauga. He was rushed to the hospital, but lived only 15 minutes.

He leaves to mourn his loss—his wife, Mrs. Grace Bailey; four children, Frances, Josephine, Mackie Pearl and Robert Edgar Jr.; his father, Rev. J. G. W. Bailey; a step-mother, Mrs. Lula Bailey; three brothers, Floyd, Lonza and Curtis Bailey, and a great host of other relatives and friends to mourn his loss, but our loss is heaven's gain. God needed just one more angel.

Our hearts are broken with a void that will take long years to heal—that vacant place and empty chair can never be filled, for Ed was a boy that loved his home. He was a loving and kind friend to every one. Ed was loved by every one who knew him. The large crowd and beautiful flowers was but a small way in which they could prove their love for him.

MAPLESVILLE SR. 4-H CLUB

On December 22, the Maplesville Sr. 4-H club met in the High School Chapel, for a joint program. First, the Sr. girls put on a Christmas program, then a poem by Mabel Dennis, "The Night Before Christmas." Then the boys and girls separated, each going to their own meeting place. In their respective meeting places they called the roll. New members signed their project cards. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Lewis Gandy. Each club boy told his part of the reforesting program.

Mr. Ivey explained, "The Ton Litter Show." We discussed the project for the next year. A copy of Alabama 4-H Club News was passed to each member and our meeting was adjourned.—Glenn Latham.

FOOD ON THE FARM

Home grown fruits, vegetables and meats valued at $8,178.97 were canned and stored last year by farm families in Chilton County, who received loans, according to reports just issued by Bertha Dennis, home management supervisor, of the Farm Security Administration, Rural Rehabilitation Division.

Helping farm women to live within their incomes, keep accounts, can store larger amounts of foods raised on the farm, and generally better their families' living standards, is part of the home economics guidance given in this county.

The survey, recently completed, shows that farm security farm women in Chilton County canned 1,224 quarts of meat, 200 quarts of tomatoes, 20,642 quarts of other vegetables, 10,642 quarts of fruits, and put up 2,318 jars of pickles, jams and jellies. In addition to canning, they stored in their pantries 3,725 bushels of potaties, as well as many hundreds of bushels of other vegetables and fruits.

With 147 women reporting, the value of the food canned and stored averaged $56.85 per family. Canned meat was valued at 25c a quart, chicken 25c a quart, potatoes 50c a bushel, tomatoes 10c a quart, other vegetables 15c a quart, canned fruit 10c a suart, jams and jellies 20c a quart, pickles 10c a quart, stored fruit 75c a bushel, and dried vegetables 15c a pound.

The amount of products raised for home consumption by these families was far in excess of previous years, Miss Dennis reports. Gardens have been planned this year which will enable farm families to meet still more adequately the food needs of their families. Canning will be upon an even larger scale, while women will be encouraged also to store and dry foods to a greater extent, eliminating whatever possible of costs and time in canning.

Sixteen farm security women have bought pressure cookers in 1937. With these cookers they are canning vegetables, meats and cooking meals; eight women have bought new stives in 1937, and 21 women have bought additional kitchen equipment in 1937.

By making the farm produce all that it can for home consumption farm families are enabled to have more cash to meet other family needs, thus providing a more adequate farm living.

Whenever a farm security loan is made, the home management supervisor draws up with the farm women a home management plan, in which are estimated the food, clothing and household expenses of the family on an annual basis. This work is very important where in the advancing of a loan it is just as necessary to find out what are the living costs if the family as it is to know the expenses of farm operations.

Home management supervisors, in servicing home plans, give instructions in canning and in the building up of food inventories within the family income. They also give guidance in ither methods of good home management practice, such as help with problems of clothing, furnishings, health, and sanitation. Thirty families are baking yeast bread, making peanut butter, cottage cheese and broiled salad dressing to keep the cost of school lunches low.

With home economics supervision, farm women are already becoming better home managers than they were when they first applied for rehabilitation loans.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

In this column we often stress the work we should do for the church and thereby for our Master and our Lord's Kingdom. We should work. We should work ceaselessly. We should work tirelessly. We don't mean that we can be saved by works, but after a man is saved, he manifests his salvation by wanting to work for Christ, and the testimony to the saving power of Christ goes only a short way unless backed by good deeds and gracious work. There is hardly a moment in anyone's life when there isn't something he or she could do for the promotion of God's work. By that we don't mean constant preaching or constant audible prayer, or constant speeches of persuasion. However, we must have the preaching. We must have the audible prayer. We must have the intimate persuasive and influential heart to heart talk with friends. We mean that we should cooperate with our leaders in every possible way. We have selected leaders who are eager for our church and Sunday school to grow, to thrive. They manifest their eagerness by their efforts, but they can't solve all the problems and make complete success without the backing, the help, the encouragement from each member of the church and Sunday school. Fay each of us put, and keep, our shoulders to the wheel, so to speak, and we shall soon realize that an all-powerful, all-wise, and all merciful Lord will certainly do all things well with those who are His and who trust under the shadow of His wings.

Now, our Sunday school is really a good one and one of which we are happy to be a part. Let's all strive to maintain its growth to an higher degree of efficiency. We can by team work.

Church services last Sunday were a great blessing to those who shared. We trust many more will worship with us next Sunday. Our choir rendered excellent music and we always appreciate its contribution to the worship services. May we depend on each of you who were at church last Sunday at all services to be in your places next Sunday lending the same inspiration to our preacher who deserves it, who appreciates it; and, remember, you are doing yourself an injustice when you don't hear our preacher at 11 o'clock a. m., and 6:30 p. m., and also come to Sunday school at 9:45 a. m. Try to see that others come also.

The young people's organization will meet Sunday at 5:45 p. m. Each member be sure to attend. Bring visitors and new members.

THE NEW HIRED HAND

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church held its first business session for the year Monday afternoon at the parsonage. It was a meeting full of inspiration and pep. There were 27 present—6 from Clara Mullins, 10 from Circle No. 1, 10 from Circle No. 2. The subject of hte program was "Our Gifts For World Missions." Mrs. Truett was leader. Mrs. Gore read the scripture lesson from the 25th chapter of Matthew. Mrs. Deloach gave a leaflet on "The Immortal Dollar". Mrs. Stewart read a letter from the council. Mrs. J. C. Jones, president, outlined the plans for the year. Mrs. Macy Jones presented the auxiliary budget for 1938. Mrs. Davis read the news frim the bulletin. Mrs. Armstrong, Mrs. Lawrence, and Mrs. Gore, accompanied by Mrs. Pitts, beautifully sang "We've a Story to Tell the Nations." Mrs. Joe Mullins gave a reading, "Putting Our Dollars to Work." Then came the pledges, with everyone giving as God had blessed them.

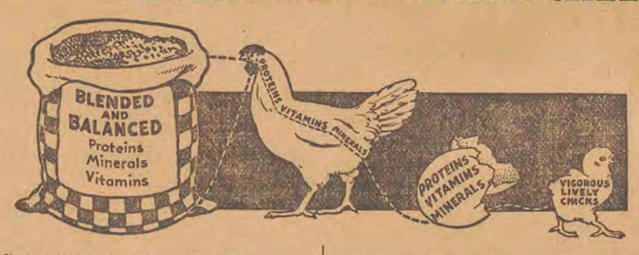
The following new officers were elected: Mrs. Ernest Arant, superintendent of social service; and Mrs. Percy Pitts, superintendent of supplies.

At the close of the program, a chorus was sung by all the members, "God Bless Our Gifts."

REGISTRARS IN SESSION FOR TEN DAYS LAST OF JANUARY

The Board of Registrars of Chilton county will be in session at the courthouse in Clanton on Monday, January 24th, and for ten days thereafter—through February 3rd, 1938.

The Union-Banner takes this opportunity to urge all young voters who are eligible to meet the registrars and get in shape to vote, This will likely be the last chance you will have to register in the near future. Remember the date, January 24th through February 3rd.



ASSOCIATIONAL B. T. U. MEETING

MODERN CHICK FED BALANCED RATION WHILE INSIDE SHELL

Gray Summit, Mo.—What goes on inside a hatching egg from the time it is put into the incubator until the chick pips out 21 days later, has until recently been pretty much of a mystery. So much of a mystery, in fact, that poultrymen in general have been content to use whatever hatching eggs were available and take a chance on having fine, virogous, sturdy chicks three weeks later.

Recent developments in the hatching industry have shed new light on the question of what goes on in an egg during incubation. Cornell University and Purina Mills, cooperating, have made a complete moving picture of the chick embryo from the day the egg goes into the incubator until the chick is hatched. The shell of the egg has been cut away in order to show exactly how the embryo develops. The spotlight has been focused on the unhatched chick. Valuable information on the days when the embryo is most likely to die, the nutritive needs of the embryo, and position and actions of the ebryo during the 21 days in the shell have been gained from this movie.

Experiments Reveal Needs

At the Purina Experimental Farm, practical poultry research has been directed toward finding just exactly how to build into an egg the things a baby chick needs for a good start in life. Realizing that nothing can be put into an egg after it is laid, Purina scientists have attacked the problem from the reverse angle—feeding the breeder on a ration that will put into the hatching egg the essential nutrients embryos need for building husky bodies.

Everything Depends On Feed

Whether or not the chick gets its full quota of essential ingredients depends on how the hen that laid the egg was fed. Incomplete feeds, lacking in vitamins, proteins and minerals, or having them improperly balanced, cannot possibly give the hen what she needs to make eggs that will hatch out strong, vigorous chicks. Improperly fed hens lay eggs that hatch out weak chicks, lacking in vigor and vitality. Weak chicks are handicapped from the start, and if raised to maturity are the birds that mark up the red ink entries in poultry ledgers.

Reserve Also Needed

Long years of research here at the Purina Experimental Farm have shown that the hen takes from the feed the things she puts into the egg. Embryo feeding is one of the most vital factors in the whole poultry industry. All the materials necessary for the embryo while in the shell, plus a reserve supply of food for the baby chick to grow and develope on during the first few days of its life, must be put into the egg through the hen. While such factors as healthy, vigorous breeders, good care of hatching eggs, proper incubation and equipment are still important, the real supporting leg of good hatching is "embryo feeding."

Balanced Ration Important

Untried, untested rations won't do the job. With standards for egg production, hatchability, and livability steadily increasing, an ordinary ration simply doesn't do the job. A ration that is scientifically balanced and blended, a ration that contains every possible nutrient an embryo needs for sturdy development, is required.

Health of the parent flock, B. W. D. testing, close culling for production, and males backed by fine egg records are qualities that poultrymen have been demanding for years in the chicks they buy. But today's question, "How were the embryos fed while in the shell?", is one that up-to-the-minute chick buyers are beginning to ask.

J. H. GORE BACK IN BANANA & FRUIT BUSINESS

Mr. J. H. Gore announces this week that he will be open Saturday with a full line of bananas and fruits. His place of business will be in the old Tom Kemp building near the railroad.

Uncle John Gore is a real fruit dispenser; so, if you don't want to buy some bananas and fruit Saturday you had better stay out of that part of town, and visa versa — if you want bananas and fruits, hunt up Uncle John.

TEACHING IN DALTON, GA.

Prof. W. M. Devaughn left Tuesday morning for Dalton, Ga., where he will be engaged in teaching a normal music school with Prof. W. Lee Higgins for six weeks. The best wishes of his many friends go with Prof. Devaughn; and we know that Dalton has a good singing and music teacher when they have Prof. Devaughn.

WORDS OF APPRECIATION FROM SESSIONS FAMILY

Our most sincere thanks and appreciation are extended to all who assisted us in any way during our recent sad bereavement. Our friends and neighbors were most thoughtful and generous, and we cannot express in words our appreciation for same. May you enjoy the richest and choicest blessings of the Master is our ardent prayer.—B. J. Sessions and family.

AMERICAN LEGION TO HOLD CONFERENCE

Montgomery, Ala., Jan. 5—Plans have been completed for the annual mid-winter conference of the American Legion Department of Alabama, which will be held here Tuesday, January 13. Reports from every section of the State indicate that the attendance at this conference will be the largest of any previous meeting.

National Commander Daniel J. Doherty, of Massachusetts will be the guest of the department and will be the principal speaker of the conferance. The Legion Auxiliary is holding its Presidents' and Secretaries' conference here the same date and will have as their gust speaker National Vice President of the Auxiliary, Mrs. Andrew Lawo, of Tennessee.

The Department Executive Committee will meet at department headquarters 108 North McDonough Street, at 11:30 a.m. that same date.

The general conference will be held in the City Auditorium and will start promptly at 2:00 p.m. A large delegation is expected from each Post in the State. The department officers and committee chairmen will outline their particular program for the year. After the meeting is closed the department officials will meet with their respective workers from the Posts to discuss further their work.

The Montgomery Post is planning an elaborate evening's entertainment for all visiting Legionnaires and their wives who remain after the conference. Legionnaires and Auxiliaries should make their plans now to attend these mid-winter conferences.

BEVELLS, OF ALEXANDER CITY PLAY CARDINALS NEXT TUESDAY

On next Tuesday night, January 11, the Bevell basketball team, from Alexander City, will play the Mitchell Dam Cardinals on the latter's court.

The Bevell team is one of the outstanding teams of the State. The Cardinals have played this team twice before, and lost both games, so you may come next Tuesday night expecting to see the Cardinals out on the court to square up matters with this outstanding team. The Bevells defeated the Cardinals in the former games by 8 and 9 points.

Come on out folks and see this game. It promises to be one of the best ever played at Mitchell Dam. The game will begin about 7:30.

ALABAMA CO-ED STARS in PICTURE

When Dorothy Sebastian, who portrays the faminine lead opposite Captain Frank Hawks in Columbia's thrilling air mystery, "The Mysterious Pilot," currently showing at the Wadsonian Theatre, first looked out on a packed audience from the footlights in "George White's Scandals," she created no mild sensation.

At that time it was most unusual for a pretty debutante, fresh out of the University of Alabama, and with a southern accent to venture into the show world.

Newspaper columnists made much of the event, but evidently Miss Sebastain started something, because hundreds of debutantes have followed her since and she has soared to cinematic heights.

The actress comments that she "let her conscience be her guide," when she deserted Birmingham society for show business.

Dorothy has always been that way. She did the things that pleased her as long as they didn't harm anyone else.

The actress is well liked in Hollywood. She can shoot close to par on any golf course and given a gun, can almost pick the eye out of a needle at fifty yards.

She was born in Birmingham, Ala., has dark brown hair and hazel eyes and tips the scales at 115 pounds measuring five feet three inches in height, and recently made an auspicious return to the stage in "One Happy Family," produced in San Diego. Her favorite motion picture role is Columbia's "Hell's Island."

THE FISCAL YEAR AND TEACHERS SALARIES

Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 31.—If all school boards in Alabama met teacher salary pay rolls on time, thus putting the teachers on the safe basis with all other public employees, such boards would have to pay approximately $100,000 each year in interest charges. Money used for interest on current loans curtails school service by the amount spent.

As a matter of fact, however, at least thirty-eight county boards failed to borrow the needed money last year as shown by a bulletin released Friday by the Alabama Education Association. This bulletin shows that about 6,000 white teachers had to wait for at least one salary check last year. Teachers in five counties failed to receive a single salary payment on time. Others were asked to wait from three to five months for their pay.

This inability of school boards to meet pay rolls promptly is the result of the overlapping of the state fiscal year and the school year. The first extends from October 1 to September 30; the latter from July 1 to June 30.

YOUNG MAN KILLED WHEN HIT BY TRAIN

James Alfred Childress Killed at Crossing In Thorsby by No. 10 Saturday

Just as James Alfred Childress drove his school bus onto the railroad tracks at the middle crossing in Thorsby last Saturday afternoon, north-bound No. 10 plowed into the side of it, throwing the bus over the fence into the town park. The driver was alone in the bus.

The critically injured man was picked up by Spigener's ambulance and brought to Central Alabama hospital, where he died as soon as the operating room was reached.

Funeral services were held at Mt. Carmel Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Nix; Spigener directing.

Besides the widow, Mrs. Glennie Foshee Childress, surviving are three small children; the father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Childress.

James Alfred Childress was a regular school bus driver for the county schools.

KILLED TWO BUCKS BUT NOT SAME DAY

Alex Hayes has won the cake so far as killing deer are concerned—that is among Chilton Countians. One day during the holidays he and his father, Dr. J. P. Hayes, were hunting over in the western part of the State near Bellamy. One day about 11:00 o'clock Alex downed a 180-pound buck; the next day, from the same stand, he killed one weighing 200 pounds.

It is hard to tell which was the proudest of the feat—Alex or his daddy; but we expect Alex was, a little bit.

Dock is a little hacked over it, though. He has been hunting deer every year for the past ten or fifteen and has never got a shot at one. And the first time Alex went he bagged two. Which does look a little bad for Dock.

REV. G. W. STEWART WRITES FROM ADAMSVILLE

The Union-Banner is in receipt of a card from Rev. G. W. Stewart of Adamsville, Ala., which says: "I am still an interested reader of The Union-Banner, and I enjoy it very much. I wish you and staff and my many friends in Chilton county a happy, prosperous year in 1938.—Yours in Christ, G. W. Stewart."

Rev. Stewart will be remembered as the Methodist-Protestant preacher who pastored Antioch and other churches in that vicinity some years ago. The Union-Banner really enjoyed his acquaintance and fellowship while he was in our county.

MAKING GOOD GRADES AT VANDERBILT COLLEGE

Joe Hall Johnson, son of Mrs. Arthur Johnson of Clanton, is making an enviable record at Vanderbilt university. The first semester this year he made all A's in his examinations. Joe Hall is a Sophomore at Vanderbilt this year, and his friends here will be proud of the fine record he is making.

REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE HAD FINE MEETING WEDNESDAY

The Republican Executive Committee of Chilton County met in regular called session Wednesday, January 12, at the courthouse. Every Beat in the county was represented with the exception of three.

It was a most harmonious and successful meeting. Arrangements for the primary election were made. General discussions were heard from most of the committeemen, and the idea of a re-united Republican party, looking only to the future and the problems ahead, prevailed unanimously.

A complete report of the meeting will be published in next week's Union-Banner.

T. M. TAYLOR ANNOUNCES FOR TAX COLLECTOR OF COUNTY

In another column of this issue of The Union-Banner will be found the official announcement of T. M. Taylor of Clanton as a candidate for the Republican nomination for tax collector of Chilton County. The announcement came in just as the paper was going to press, and for this reason not much will be said about the candidate, his platform, etc., but that will come later.

Nevertheless, we will say that Mr. Taylor breaks the ice so far as Republican announcements are concerned. He is of a traditional Republican family and has always remained regular in past elections. He is owner of the Taylor Wholesale Grocery Company, one of the oldest and largest business establishments of the county. Mr. Taylor is a successful business man, in the prime of his life, and is thoroughly competent to fill the bill for that important office.

Mr. Taylor has already prescribed to all the requirements of the Republican Executive Committee and has become a full-fledged candidate. You will no doubt hear more from Tom Taylor later.

MAYOR'S REPORT

Hosea Ray, public drunkenness; fine and cost $8.00.

Samuel Howard, driving while intoxicated; $50 and cost; working on streets.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCE AT WALNUT CREEK NEXT SUNDAY

The first quarterly conference for 1938 will be held all day next Sunday, January 16th, at Walnut Creek. There will be dinner on the ground. Everybody is invited.

W. M. DEVAUGHN HAVING FINE SCHOOL IN GEORGIA

A letter from Prof. W. M. Devaughn, at Dalton, Ga., says: "Am o. k. and in the midst of a real normal. We have 70 pupils and are expecting to reach 80 or more. There are two sessions each day, and those classes can really sing; sounds like a real singing convention every session.

"I am boarding with Mr. W. Lee Higgins. We two attended a singing out 35 miles in the country Sunday; and believe me, these Georgia crackers really sing. I spend the afternoons in the Showalter printing plant assisting in looking over new songs. The new Showalter book will be out February 20th, and we expect Chilton county singers to use lots of them. Sincerely.—W. M. Devaughn, Box 51, Dalton, Ga."

WALTER FIQUETT OPERATED ON IN BIRMINGHAM HOSPITAL

Walter Fiquett was rushed to Norwood hospital in Birmingham last Saturday, and was operated on for appendicitis. Late reports say that he is getting along nicely as we go to press Wednesday.

MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT

There will be a musical entertainment and a debate at Verbena High School Friday night, January 14th, at 7:30 o'clock.

The queston is, resolved: There is more nourishment in the fragrance of Linburger cheese than in the hole of a doughnut.

Admission will be 10 and 15 cents (plus tax).

NOTICE

The Young People's Rally of the Chilton County Association, will be held at Friendship next Sunday, January 16th, 1938, at 2 o'clock.

We have a new young people's leader now, so come back her up. She needs all the corporation she can possibly get.

We are expecting great things of the young people this year. So, come on and get started now.

ARMY SHIP FORCED DOWN AT VERBENA

Pilot And Passenger Safe At Maxwell Field

A United States Army plane, en route to Maxwell Field from Barksdale Field at Shreveport, La., nosed over in a forced landing near Verbena Friday afternoon. The plane landed in a cotton field, muddy from recent rains, slid into a terrace and went over, slightly damaged.

Major Rufus Davidson, pilot, and Private Burd, passenger, were uninjured. After the landing, Major Davidson went to Verbena, called Maxwell Field and a car was sent for them.

The plane, a low-wing monoplane, attack-type, left Barksdale Field at 11:30 yesterday morning and was due at Maxwell Field at 1:50 p. m. Reports from Verbena indicate the plane became lost in a heavy fog and ran out of gas. There is no radio beam between Montgomery and Medidian, Maxwell Field authorities said.

Maxwell Field sent a guard to the scene of the landing and a routine investigation today will determine the cause of the forced landing, the time it occurred and the approximate damage to the ship.

Major Davidson, now located at Barksdale Field, formerly was attached to the old 54th School Squadron here at Maxwell Field. He was transferred to Shreveport about two years ago.

WILLIE MIMS BACK HOME

The many friends of Mr. Willie Mims will be glad to learn that he is back home in Clanton, after having undergone an appendix operation in Birmingham some weeks ago. He is doing fine, reports say.

A CORRECTION

Some weeks ago a "Who's Who" of Jemison High School was published in this paper. We had been receiving like contributions from various schools in the county, and failed to notice that this one was unsigned, other than "Jemison High School."

The authorities, teachers and students were rightfully indignant about the affair, and wisely decided to do something about it. Principal J. A. Peterson asked for the copy, and it was given him. The Union-Banner is informed by Prof. Peterson that the writers of the article have been found, and a signed "confession" is included with his letter. This reads:

"Editor Union-Banner:

"The Who's Who of Jemison that was sent in a few weeks ago was not published by the school, but by Mary Thomas Cost and Helen Ray.—(Signed) Helen Ray and Mary Thomas Cost.

In the above mentioned article several individual students were picked and given titles, some of them quite bad, while those accorded the writers were: "Smartest girl—Mary Thomas Cost; most popular girl—Helen Ray."

The Union-Banner regrets that the article was published, especially so as it was unsigned, and we are very thankful to Prof. Peterson for uncovering the guilty parties.

FRANK TAKES OVER G. O. P. LEADERSHIP

Editor-Lecturer New Head Of Program Committee For Party

Washington.—Glenn Frank, taking over the chairmanship of the Republican party's program committee, asked today for assistance of every group in the nation, "regardless of party lines or of sectional interest."

The 50-year-old editor and lecturer, who formerly was president of the University of Wisconsin, accepted the assignment last night in a telegram to John Hamilton, chairman of the Republican National Committee.

Frank told Hamilton he was free "to accept this post without any prior obligation to any individual or to any group in the party."

"It is not the business of this commission to write platforms for the 1938 and 1940 campaigns," he said in interpreting his duties. "It is not the business of this commission to promote the candidacy of anybody for any office.

"Since office-holders of the party are not in its membership, this commission is a body of laymen asked to devote themselves behind the lines of formal party action to a study of the extraordinarily grave social and economic difficulties that confront the nation.

Chairman Hamilton praised Frank for the "high purpose" with which he began duties.

Republican Meeting At Court House Saturday Morning, 15th

CULLMAN JUDGE FREE OF CHARGE

Montgomery, Ala.—A unanimous decision of the State Supreme Court today freed Probate Judge Homer Mitchell, of Cullman County, of charges of "corruption" in office and "an offense involving moral turpitude."

Mitchell, a Republican, declared the charges grew out of factional "politics." He was specifically charged with "corruptly" issuing a warrant charging Circuit Judge A. A. Griffith with possessing a stolen auto, and with "falsifying" his income tax returns in 1934 and 1935.

Testimony showed Griffith used the automobile in question in his 1934 campaign, but was cleared of charges by a Grand Jury which investigated after his arrest in September, 1936.

The probate judge denied that T. R. Headrick, who signed the warrant for Griffith's arrest, acted at his request. Since he did not sign his income tax returns he could not be guilty of perjury as charged, Mitchell contended, and denied he had falsified the returns.

After a brief conference of justices when the oral arguments had been finished, the unanimous decision for acquittal was delivered.

T. L. McKEE WRITES TAXPAYERS

To the delinquent taxpayers of Chilton County:

I wish to advise you that the law makes it compulsory for you to pay your taxes before March 1, 1938, if you get credit for the Homestead Exemption on the 1937 taxes. This is worth your attention; it saves you 32½c on the dollar of homestead exemption tax. To illustrate the savings, if your taxes were $10.00 you would get credit for $3.25, or epual credits up to $40 tax. I believe you can afford to borrow the money and pay your taxes rather than lose the homestead exemption.

Thanking you for past favors, I am, yours for service,—T. L. McKee, Tax Collector.

DANCE AT BLUE MOON INN NEXT SATURDAY NIGHT, JANUARY 15

There will be dancing at the Blue Moon Inn next Saturday night, January 15.

Mr. R. B. Merrymon, manager, says: "The Dixie Troubadours orchestra is with us every Saturday night. We are asking you again, to please don't come here drunk. My dance hall is open to the public every night in the week. I am cutting the admission in order to see if that is the trouble—admission will be 55 cents (tax included)—ladies free every Saturday night from now on. You can come to the Blue Moon Inn with the assurance that there will be good order."

Roosevelt Renews His Fight On Business

[AN EDITORIAL]

President Roosevelt apparently never heard the fable of the farmer who killed the goose that laid the golden eggs. Otherwise, he would not carry his attacks on business to the extreme of killing business, and thereby killing the source of revenue for feeding his vast patronage machine. He would know that there is a limit beyond which it is not practical to go in taxing and harassing business, even when the question is viewed from the selfish viewpoint of the political boss. It would seem wise to encourage business that the tax harvest may be greater.

Our President shows no sign of appreciating this fact. He and his spokesmen, Jackson and Ickes, continue their demagogic utterances, and the more they talk, the worse business conditions become. Apparently, they are more interested in keeping the Democratic party in power than in restoring the prosperity of the nation. They believe that the best way to stay on top of the political heap is to abuse business, and play for the votes of the discontented element who are ever willing to heed the appeal of the rabble-rouser. They show a disconcerting lack of interest in what the future may hold, in the ultimate outcome of the policy of beating down business and destroying the sources of national revenue. "After us, the deluge" appears to be the philosophy of the moment.

Sooner or later, the average citizen will awake to the fact that taxes on big business are passed on to the consumer in invisible taxes, that are none the less real because they are paid in added cost of commodities rather than in direct taxes to the government. Sooner or later, too, will come the realization that the primary result of the huge tax burden is to support the greatest patronage machine ever imagined in the history of this country.

In reflecting on the causes that have kept Roosevelt in power, we must remember that, in addition to all radical groups and beneficiaries of class legislation, he has the support of professional politicians to a degree never before heard of. Mr. Roosevelt enjoys the enthusiastic support of politicians who may not admire all of his theories, but are with him on the broad fundamental issues of more taxes and bigger expenditures. His policy of throwing the taxpayers' money right and left strikes a responsive chord in the heart of every ward politician in the country. The evil that he has done lies not only in his own actions, but in the example he has set and popularized throughout the land. With the chief executive of the nation setting such an example, every petty local boss finds justification for his own extravagances. Under the inspiration of his leadership, local bosses have abandoned even the pretext of economy in handling public funds. The science of government has degenerated into a gigantic racket, in which the role of the politician is to collect more and more in taxes, provide an easy living for his friends, and distribute the surplus, if any, in the form of benevolent gifts to the people. The Roosevelt system is "hog heaven" to the professional politician, who may now openly parade as a public virtue practices of extravagance formerly kept under cover. Some writers like to depict the New Deal as the creation of crack-brained visionaries who sincerely hope to remake our civilization and assure the happiness of everybody by act of congress. It is a lot worse than that; it is a vast coalition of predatory politicians, plundering the taxpayer under the guise of humanitarian motives. Right here in Alabama, in our local affairs, we have seen the example of Roosevelt followed in ever-mounting taxes, in a multiplication of jobs and sinecures surpassing anything ever known before Roosevelt made legalized plunder fashionable. The question, locally and in the nation, is how long it can last, how long business can stand the burden without crumpling up completely, how long the taxpaying public can be hoodwinked and made to suffer unresistingly.

The senatorial skirmish of January 4 attracted so little interest in the state as to hardly be worthy of being called an election. The total vote was only about 140,000, as compared with over 300,000 in the state primary of 1934. Hill, the winner, received less than 30 per cent of the normal total vote. This apathetic attitude on the part of the voters, coupled with the fact that Mr. Heflin was sricken with illness in the vital closing days of the campaign, leaves the winner with little to exult over. It shows how hard it is to get the public to the polls when not aroused over local contests.

ADDRESSES BY JUDGE L. H. REYNOLDS, JUDGE MIDDLETON AND HON. PERCY M. PITTS

Republicans Of Co. Will Come Together In General Meeting And Hear Leading Issues Discussed

A general meeting of the citizens of Chilton county is announced for Saturday morning of this week, January 15th, beginning at 10 o'clock, sponsored and called by the Republican Executive Committee of Chilton county. The call for the meeting was made in the form of a resolution passed by the committee in regular session at the courthouse Wednesday of this week. The resolution follows:

Resolution

Be it resolved by the Chilton County Republican Executive Committee assembled, that, whereas:

We realize the necessity of a change in the governmental and political affairs of our county, and in view of the apparent mismanagement and waste by the incumbent Democratic administration in Chilton County, and whereas:

The Democratic party has been tried for three years and has been found wanting as to the willingness or ability to manage the county's affairs successfully;

Therefore, be it resolved that a county-wide Republican meeting be and the same is hereby called at the courthouse at Clanton on Saturday of this week, January 15th, at 10 o'clock a.m., for the purpose of discussing these questions and better acquainting our citizens of the actual condition of things and the dire need for adjustments.

Be it further resolved that The Union-Banner be asked to give full notice of said meeting in this week's issue of the paper.

Be it further resolved, that all voters and taxpayers who believe in the principles of the Republican party and are interested in sound and efficient government for our county and in nominating and electing a strong Republican ticket in this year's elections, are invited and requested to be present at this important meeting.

The purpose of the meeting is to give the voters of the county a chance to hear the other side of the leading questions in national, State and county politics—and what we mean by the other side is frank and open discussion of facts and figures which Democrats do not tell the public about through their papers and in public speakings. The citizens of the county have a feast and a treat in store for them here next Saturday morning. Everybody is invited, regardless of past political affiliations, beliefs and alignments.

Judge L. H. Reynolds, Judge J. O. Middleton and Hon. Percy M. Pitts will be the speakers for the meeting, and everybody is invited to hear them; women voters are especially invited. Don't forget the date and hour—Saturday morning of this week, at 10 o'clock.

CLANTON MOTORS OFFERING LOWER PRICES ON USED CARS

Tom Littlejohn at Clanton Motors says: "Tell them that we have slashed our prices on used cars, because they just simply must move. We have a yard full of them—real good ones and some not so hot; so, we will be able to fix you up, whatever you want in a used car." Turn to Clanton Motor's big adv. elsewhere in this issue of The Banner and see what they say about low prices on good used cars.

J. Z. MIMS NOW IN CHARGE OF B'HAM NEWS ROUTES HERE

Beginning the first of January Mr. J. Z. Mims took charge of the Birmingham News routes in Chilton County, working strictly under the circulation departmment of that paper.

Mr. Mims reports that the News now has a total of nine bus routes touching Chilton County, which cover in the county a total of 700 miles every day. Chilton County has more mileage of such routes than any other county in the state. There are five Chilton County boys working as carriers on these routes.

Mr. Mims says that he is attempting to put the Birmingham News in every nook and corner of Chilton County; and the papers are right off the press. They are often delivered to the homes in Chilton County within two hours of the time they come off the big rotary press at the News office in Birmingham.

ALEX CITY DEFEATS CARDINALS AT DAM

In a very heated skirmish Tuesday night at Mitchell Dam, the local boys endured defeat from the swift team from Alexander City, the final score being 40 to 36.

Long took high point for the visitors, making 14 points. Avery from Alex City followed close behind with 13 points. Dock Baker for the Dammers attained 10 points; J. T. Cobb and Gabby Tiffin for the home boys did excellent work too.

Mitchell Dam led in the first half of the game, but the visitors gained momentum in the last half and walked away with the honors.

All fans and prospective fans are asked to make a mark around the "18" on the February calendar, because this is the date when the dammers will have the House of David to play the part of Goliath with. This promises to be the topper for the season, and remember, it comes off on the night of February 18th at the Dam.

DEATH OF C. K. EVANS OCCURRED THIS MORNING

Clarence Knight Evans died this morning, about 8 o'clock, with suddenness, which shocked many of his friends and his relatives in this city.

Mr. Evans was walking near the court square when he suffered a fatal heart attack. He had been afflicted with high blood pressure for some time.

A native of Clanton, Ala., he had made Corinth his home for the past ten years, and for six years had lived here constantly. Until six years ago he had been a representative of Moore & Handley Hardware Company's electrical department.

Surviving him in addition to his wife, Mrs. Louise Reynolds Evans, are his mother, Mrs. G. T. Evans, his sister, Mrs. Evan Parrish, and his brothers—Julian and Robert Evans of Clanton, Ala., Leon Evans of Kansas City, Mo., and J. D. Evans of Winston Salem, N. C.

Funeral services were held at 3:00 o'clock Tuesday afternoin at the First Methodist church, with Rev. E. H. Cunningham, minister of that church, officiating. Interment was in the City cemetery.

Pallbearers were: L. F. Garrett, Jordan Timlake, James Biggers, Jr., Lawrence Donovant, Leon McCullar, I. C. Thompson, C. S. Wigginton, Roy Norman, Jack Knighton, Dr. W. L. Stroup, Dr. W. D. Hamrick, Dr. M. H. McRae.

McPeters, funeral directors, were in charge.—The Daily Corinthian, Corinth, Miss., January 3.

INEZ WYATT BICYCLE FOUND

The bicycle belonging to Inez Wyatt, which was stolen from her home on Saturday, November 27th, was found last Sunday, January 9th, in a pine-top out Lay Dam road about seven miles from Clanton. The wheel apparently had not been touched for several weeks, and was in perfect condition, except a little rusty from the weather and the air had all leaked out of the tires. It was discovered by a negro boy named Robert Jemison.

Inez wishes to thank Robert and all others in that community who assisted her in recovering her bicycle, also the Clanton policemen.

JANUARY 15 IS LAST DAY TO ASSESS TAXES

To the Taxpayers of Chilton County:

The Attorney General ruled last week, which makes it a law that you must assess your taxes, (if you have not already assessed), by next Saturday night, January 15, 1938, or you will not get your Homestead Exemption for 1938 taxes.

After Saturday, January 15, a penalty of 10 per cent will be added for all assessments.

I hope all of you will take advantage of this opportunity to save yurselves some money. Yours truly, Arthur Martin, Tax Assessor.

16½ MILLION SEEKING PART OR WHOLE-TIME JOBS

Government Report Shows 10,870,000 Completely Jobless In Nation

Washington, Jan. 8.—John D. Biggers, administrator of the voluntary unemployment census, reported to President Roosevelt today that 3,209,211 persons registered as partially employed on Nov. 20.

Biggers said the enumertion was only 57 per cent correct, making it possible that 5,630,192 persons may have been partially jobless when the census was taken.

On the basis of this report and a previous one which listed a minimum of 7,822,912 and a maximum of 10,870,000 persons completely jobless, it was possible that 16,500,192 persons were seeking either full or part time jobs in November.

J. N. SCOTT SAYS PEOPLE OVERTAXED

Dear Editor:

Here I go with another message, swim or drown, for your many readers.

The more I think over the conditions of our county, State and Nation, the more I become disgusted with this administration. I wonder how much longer we people can stand up under this heavy burden of taxation that is now on us, and if that farm bill is passed, we farmers are sure to be taxed more this year. I think that all the people in Alabama, let him be laborer, farmer, merchant, lawyer, or what else, should rise up and demand the freedom that belongs to the people of Alabama. As I understand it, when Alabama joined the Union, as well as other States, all were left to be free and independent from each other. They could transact busineess and make such laws as would suit the majority of the people of the State, and when we wanted to change one, the majority of the legal voters of the State at the polls could change it. And the United States officials had nothing to do with it, so long as we did not infringe upon our U. S. Constitution.

We could do business independently and I have noticed that every time we elected a good set of officers, who managed the business well, we prospered as a State, and did well. But when we elected sorry men to manage our business, we always have gone to the bad. As I see conditions just now, everything has gone to the bad.

There is no more free countries, no more free States. Some people say that the government has robbed us of our free rights and privileges as States and countries, but I can't see it in that light. We, the people of the United States, I am told, make up the government, and that must be right. But we, the people, who are the government, have made a mistake and elected some men to offices in our County, State and Nation who have proven to be bad material. They are the ones who have brought us to the bad, especially those sent to Washington. They have taken away from the people our God-given rights and privileges of caring for the poor and old-aged ones, the sick and many other duties that belonged to the churches and local communities, counties and States. They have tried to take all of this responsibility upon their shoulders, and as I see it, they sure have got things in a mess.

They taxed the people for their money causes, and appropriated millions of dollars to care for all the needy. I think that would have worked fine if the money had been spent directly for that purpose alone. But it seems to me the purpose of it was to create good jobs for those who were really not in need, just to look after the money. All of these men and women are paid big salaries, all the way from Washington to the needy. Af- they all received their pay, they divided the rest among the poor and needy. Yes, I am told that the man who hauled around and distributed to the poor and needy all of these rotten apples, oranges, rotten Irish potatoes, spoiled meat, old butter and many other articles not fit to eat, was paid good wages.

Good people, you know these are facts. The bosses get the money and like drones in a bee gum, they won't work, but eat all the honey and the poor and needy have to take whatever they can get, some such things as mentioned above instead of money.

I want to say that the most of these so-called drones scattered all over the County, State and Nation, could have been kept off the pay rolls and we would have been much better off. I want someone to investigate and find out if they can, and tell me how much income we get from the so-called demonstration agent's department. I would like to know how many bales of cotton they raise each year and how much corn and other crops they raise each year. I have never yet seen a statement as to how much they are worth to us farmers of Alabama and Chilton County. A business that does not pay expenses should be cut off the taxpayers' backs. I would like to know if this is a paying proposition for the taxpayers of Chilton County and the State of Alabama.

My opinion is that there are a lot of drones lying around eating of the little bees' honey that ought to be dragged out of the gum and put to work, or allowed to starve. The tax burdens are too great for the working people to carry.

I hear over the radio from Washington often that they want to do away with all sweat shops. It seems to me that is the wrong idea. The Lord told the first man that by the sweat of your face you shall eat bread. The worse thing that worries me is those fellows who are froze to their seats and we can't get them to do anything to sweat. But I hope we can change things some next election time, and get out some of the drones. Good night to all.—J. N. Scott.

A Three Days' Cough Is Your Danger Signal

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm.

Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained from the very first bottle. Creomulsion is one word—not two, and it has no hyphen in it. Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

ALA. MOTORISTS BEING GIVEN RUNAROUND BY CONGRESS

Motorists of this State, most of whom earn less than $30 a week and who are forced to work two or three days a year to pay federal gasoline and other federal automotive taxes. may again be given the runaround, C. E. Anderson, Executive Secretary, of the Automobile Dealers Association of Alabama, said in a statement commenting on the recommendations made to eliminate excise taxes on certain luxuries and to retain the excise taxes on gasoline, lubricating oil, automobiles and accessories.

"Instead of repealing the gasoline and automotive taxes, which duplicate the heavy automotive levies of the states, Congress is now considering the removal of certain luxury taxes.

"Two out of every three families in the United States own automobiles and they are rapidly becoming irked at the burden of taxation being piled unjustly upon them by the State and federal governments. They know that when Congress enacted the federal taxes on gasoline, lubricating oil, motor vehicles and accessories these levies were adopted with the understanding that they would be temporary and that they would be lifted when the federal tax revenue improved."

Lesson for January 16

BEGINNING A LIFE OF SERVICE

LESSON TEXT—Mark 1:14-28.

GOLDEN TEXT—The time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God is at hand: repent ye, and believe the gospel.—Mark 1:15.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus' First Helpers.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Why the Fishermen Followed Jesus.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Serving Now.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Adjusting Life to Service.

The public ministry of our Lord was not begun with any great fanfare of publicity. Leaving Judea where the entrenched forces of formal religion had joined the forces of sin and degradation in opposition to him, and which had brought about the imprisonment of John, our Lord appears in his home country, Galilee.

I. Preaching the Gospel (vv. 14, 15, 21, 22).

His first activity is worthy of careful note, for it is not exactly what one might expect in this Gospel of Mark, which we have already characterized as the Gospel of mighty deeds rather than of words. Jesus came to work miracles, and he did work them, and continues to do the miraculous even in our day. It is therefore significant that his first recorded work was that of preaching, his second that of calling and preparing fellow workers, and last of all the miraculous healing of the demoniac.

From a human viewpoint one would think that the opposite order would prevail. First let the Master do some mighty miracle to catch the attention of the people, then organize a great "party," and then preach. Much of the so-called evangelistic effort in our day follows that human formula and fails of lasting results. Observe the man who magnifies preaching and gives the Word of God pre-eminence, and you will see real spiritual accomplishments.

Jesus preached faith and repentance, or perhaps one should say repentance and faith (v. 15). They go together in our Lord's preaching. Let us follow his example.

We read in verse 2 that the hearers were astonished because he spoke with authority. They had been accustomed to hearing the lawyers dispute on the basis of the authority of the law, now the lawgiver himself stood in their midst. He did not set aside the law, but he gave it an interpretation and direction which surprised them.

II. Calling Disciples (vv. 16-20).

The orderly development of any work calls for the choosing and training of associates. Moody is said to have observed that "it is a greater thing to put ten men to work than it is to do ten men's work." Our Lord was no mere human leader, but he desired and used fellow-workers and he committed to them the carrying on of his work after he departed.

God still calls men into his service. Would that grace might be given to each one to whom such a call may come to respond "straightway," as did the disciples. The writer has just read the letter of a heart-broken man who has refused to answer God's call for four long years, and now comes with a broken body which may hinder his usefulness for life. Such tragedies may be averted by prompt and willing obedience.

III. Healing the Demoniac (vv. 23-28).

Three things stand out in this story. The first is that the Son of God has power over the demons of Satan. Any effort to "fight the Devil" in our own power is foredoomed to failure. But in the name of Jesus Christ we may bid him depart from us. Thank God, it works!

The other thought is also of vital import. The demons recognized Jesus, they knew that he was "the Holy One of God" (v. 24), and they bore public testimony of that fact. And yet they were demons, the enemies of God. Saving faith in the Lord Jesus Christ is more than a knowledge of his claims, a pious repetition of his name even though it be done in public. Let us make sure that we have a living faith in the Son of God.

Our final observation is that our Lord did not permit the demons to testify concerning him. Christ and his church do not need the flattering words or the financial support of unbelievers. Every time we accept them we weaken our testimony and make ourselves ridiculous before the world. If unbelievers think well of Christ let them show their sincerity by seeking him as Saviour and Lord. Then both they and their gifts will be acceptable and to his glory.

Physical Handicaps

The failure to overcome our physical handicaps is only one of many indications that few of us ever discover ourselves.

Seeing Ourselves

We see time's furrows on another's brow; how few themselves, in that just mirror, see!—Young.

Pleasures

GREATEST RODEO IN AMERICA HELD AT BIRMINGHAM

This being Rodeo week in Birmingham, a great many people from this section are expected to attend the greatest horse and steer show ever held indoors anywhere, Wednesday through Sunday night.

Milt Hinkle, the world's greatest cowboy, has personally invited members of this paper to be his guests at the Texas Rangers Rodeo, which gets under way at the Birmingham Auditorium from Wednesday through Sunday nights.

This being the first time a dyed in-the-wool rodeo has ever been performed indoors, Hinkle, director of the Texas Rangers wants as many newspapermen as possible, and as many others, too, to see this unusual event, how it is staged indoors and how the West is brought to the South.

So members of this paper are invited to be present at the grand opening, or any other night thereafter.

At the rodeo fans will see an entire Indian family, Chief Whitehorse, his squaw and two children, perform bow and arrow stunts; the world's greatest cowboys and cowgirls, two Mexican bands, clowns and many other entertainers, 225 in all.

The Birmingham Auditorium, which seats 6,000 people, has been made into a miniature Western ranch and performances will be given Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights, with matinees performances Saturday afternoons.

In addition to the regular program, a real honest-to-goodness bull fight will be staged, law permitting, Hinkle promises.

2 WAY RELIEF FOR THE MISERY OF COLDS

Take 2 BAYER ASPIRIN tablets and drink a full glass of water. Repeat treatment in 2 hours.

If throat is sore from the cold, crush and stir 3 BAYER ASPIRIN tablets in ⅓ glass of water. Gargle twice. This eases throat rawness and soreness almost instantly.

All it usually costs to relieve the misery of a cold today — is 3¢ to 5¢ — relief for the period of your cold 15¢ to 25¢. Hence no family need neglect even minor head colds.

Here is what to do: Take two BAYER tablets when you feel a cold coming on — with a full glass of water. Then repeat, if necessary, according to directions in each package. Relief comes rapidly.

The Bayer method of relieving colds is the way many doctors approve. You take Bayer Aspirin for relief — then if you are not improved promptly, you call the family doctor.

Under a law passed by the legislature in 1936, notices of mortgage sales, where the amount of the mortgage is $500.00 or more must be published in some newspaper for three successive weeks. Prior to this mortgages of any size could be foreclosed by posting notice of sale. The law applies to all mortgages executed since July 1, 1936.

JUST FROM SHOULTS

No doubt you have heard a lot of folks raising sand, but over here we are raising mud. The mail carriers and school bus drivers can't help raising a lot of it. Working the roads is a thing of the past in Beat 7. I don't wish anybody any harm, but I do wish the one that has charge of the roads in Chilton County would go where they need him. We need the roads, but we don't need him in Chilton. Believe it or not, our bus driver has a job getting through.—Uncle Remus.

MRS. J. H. KRAFT VISITS HOMEFOLKS

Since she holds a very responsible position in the Cincinnati General Hospital, it was necessary for her to return on Saturday, January 8th.

SOIL CONSERVATION SERICE

A woods pasture is a poor pasture and a poor woods, according to Mr. James H. Wood, forester in the Soil Conservation Service area near Clanton.

Cattle get very little food value from grazing woodland in comparison with the damage they do to the farest reproduction. This damage is especially severe in hardwood forests. If continued, grazing will destroy all the understory of trees which should be present in any good woodland area, Mr. Wood said.

Destruction of this young growth reduces the accumulation of humus-forming litter on the forest floor, and thus induces rapid run-off and erosion. The packing of the ground by animals further contributes to loss of water and soil.

The ideal woodland, Mr. Wood said, consists of well dostributed growth of trees of various ages for seedlings to mature timber, such as will provide a sustained yield of woodland products. Young trees and shrubby undergrowth in such a stand also provide protection and food for wildlife.

Recognizing the value of developing improved pastures for grazing and using their woodland for production of wood products, cooperators in the Clanton area have fenced 75 acres of woodland to protect it from grazing, Mr. Wood said.

The Economy Purchase Plan

Is A Reward for People Who Pay Their Obligations Promptly

CUSTOMERS of the Alabama Power Company have enjoyed for years the "discount" feature of the service bills which rewards the prompt payer by permitting him to pay his electric bill in the "net" amount. A considerable savings in the cost of electricity has been realized by those customers - the large majority - who pay promptly and thus pay less than the delinquent. To further reward its customers and to encourage them to own electrical appliances the Alabama Power Company is now cooperating with hundreds of Alabama appliance merchants, the majority of the leading appliance manufacturers and the Commercial Credit Company to provide a time payment plan which permits lower finance charges for the prompt paying purchaser.

It is known as the Economy Purchase Plan, a name deserved because of its low charges which permit you to purchase appliances at small monthly payments without straining the family budget.

You can buy electrical appliances from any dealer displaying the Economy Purchase Plan emblem and make your payments when you pay your electric bill. You do not have to buy your electrical appliances from Alabama Power Company to enjoy the convenience of this plan. Hundreds of Alabama electrical dealers are ready to offer it to you.

State Capitol News

Montgomery, Ala.—The annual convention of the Alabama Press Association will be held in Birmingham, January 13-14 for the election of officers and transaction of other business. Call for the meeting was issued by R. G. Bozeman of Evergreen, President of the organization, who said the editors would decide on their annual summer trip. Other officers of the organization are: Cliff Walton, of LaFayette, and C. R. Bryan, of Elba.

Expense accounts of candidates in the recent special senatorial primary as filed with the Secretary of State under the Corrupt Practice Act follow:

J. Lister Hill, $6,291.22.

J. Thomas Heflin, $5,296.85, and Charles W. Williams listed $2,383.25.

State Treasurer John Brandon estimates that when the State's Social Security program gets under way his office will be issuing more than a thousand checks a day. Means are now being sought to provide the treasurer with more commodious quarters, probably across the hall of the south wing of the Capitol, now occupied by the Convict Department. Where the convict department will go in the badly over crowded Capitol building, in the absence from the city of Governor Graves and Capitol custodian, Howard Thames.

The gasoline tax collections in December, 1937, exceede any December in the history of the State Tax Commission, it was announced by Chairman Henry H. Long last week. The total sum amounted to $1,122,951.69 compared with a total of $1,077,796.83 in December, 1936, and $831,124.75 in the same month three years ago.

Of the above sum distribution to the counties shows that each County receives $8,289.36 compared with $8,029.01 one year ago and $6,186.00 for the same month three years ago. All of the gasoline tax money is earmared for road purposes, thus going almost exclusively to the benefit of those who pay it.

Appendicitis seems to have a pick upon the State Tax Commission. Several months ago Robert Ramsey, son of Associate member, W. W. Ramsey, was stricken and had been out only a short time when Ralph Long, son of Chairman Henry S. Long, was taken with an acute attack of appendicitis and was operated onduring the last days of December. Now, before Ralph can get out Jack Ramsey, oldest brother of Robert, was stricken in Birmingham last Wednesday night and had to undergo an operation.

Mr. T. G. Wyatt, who has been rather ill for the past week, is much recovered and is now able to be about his work some.

You'll have more fun when the SKIN is clear from WITHIN

NO man or woman wants to have a finger poked at them or receive sympathy because of an unhealthy skin appearance.

Some skin troubles are tough to correct, but we do know this—skin tissues like the body itself must be fed from within.

To make the food we eat available for strength and energy, there must be an abundance of red-blood-cells.

S.S.S. Tonic builds these precious red cells. It is a simple, internal remedy, tested for generations and also proven by scientific research.

You, too, will want to take S.S.S. Tonic to regain and to maintain your red-blood-cells ... to restore lost weight ... to regain energy ... to strengthen nerves ... and to give to your skin that natural health glow.

Take the S.S.S. Tonic treatment and shortly you should be delighted with the way you feel ... and have your friends compliment you on the way you look. Available at any drug store. © S.S.S. Co.

THORSBY SECTION

(Mrs. S. E. Norton, Manager)

There will be services at the Congregational church next Sunday; Sunday school at 9:45. The Rev. E. W. Butler will occupy the pulpit at the 11 o'clock hour; Christian Endeavor at 6:30; at 7:30 there will be a community song service to which everyone is invited.

This week is Congregational Week in Thorsby. The Ladies Aid had their annual meeting on Monday afternoon with Mrs. J. H. Goddard, their president. Wednesday evening the annual church supper will be held in Fellowship Hall of the church at 6 o'clock. After this the annual church meeting will be held in the auditorium of the church.

Rev. and Mrs. J. L. Graham from Prattville, Mr. Almon Graham from Cleveland, Mrs. Lorena Ford from Greenville were visitors in Thorsby Tuesday. They came especially to see Rev. and Mrs. Butler before they leave Thorsby, but also called on Mrs. Norton, went in to see the improved church, and also called at Thorsby Institute.

Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Butler are being generously entertained in the various homes of Thorsby before their departure for their new home in New York toward the end of the month.

The citizens of Thorsby were very much saddened over the tragic death of Mr. James Alfred Childress, who lost his life Saturday afternoon when struck by a train. Heartfelt sympathy goes out to the bereaved family.

Every Boy Scout is expected to attend the Boy Scout meeting held Friday night. The boys will practice making fire by friction.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Walker, Mrs. Eleanor Espy, and Mr. John Rowell, Jr., of Birmingham, spent Monday with Mrs. J. M. Rowell.

Mrs. J. H. Goddard has been on the sick list this week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Harris and daughter, Ina Mae, and Mary Jim of Birmingham, and Mr. Claud Bellenger of Birmingham spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Miskelley.

Miss Roma Lee Pate and Miss Hilma Collins visited Miss Estelle Benson Saturday night.

Miss Gladys Murphy of Winston-Salem, N. C., is the guest this week of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lessley.

Mr. Leonard Bosworth entertained some of his friends at his home Saturday night. Games were enjoyed, and delicious refreshments were served to several guests.

Rev. and Mrs. M. I. McLeod and son, Bobby, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Lowery.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Merchant had as their Sunday night dinner guests Miss Louise Giles and Mr. Hollis Merchant of Birmingham.

Miss Dorothy Franklin of Montevallo spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Franklin.

Mrs. Wilbur Marcus and Miss Hilma Collins spent last Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Frank Rapin of Detroit, who is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Lessley, in Jemison.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mason and Miss Naemi Turnquist of Selma spent the week end in Thorsby and Clanton with relatives.

Mrs. Earl Henley spent Sunday in Selma with friends and relatives.

Miss Edna Raybon was the Sunday guest of Miss Jessie Martin.

Rev. M. I. McLeod has been called to the pastorate of the Thorsby Baptist church for another year. Mr. W. H. Raybon was elected as superintendent of the Sunday school for another year, and Mr. Willis elected as church treasurer in the place of Mr. Harper, who resigned.

Miss Hilma Collins had as guests for 6 o'clock dinner Sunday night, Mr. Veto Hill of Birmingham, and Miss Roma Lee Pate.

Mr. Alex Rowell is spending a few days in Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Miskelley spent last Friday with Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Miskelley.

Mr. and Mrs. Akins Collins had as their Sunday dinner guests, Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Collins, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Collins, Mr. Sam Collins, and Mr. J. H. Collins and family.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bosworth and family spent Sunday afternoon in Clanton with the Reagan and Foss families.

Mr. J. L. Hayes of Leeds spent the week end in Thorsby with his family.

Little Patricia Chapman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Chapman, celebrated her birthday last Wednesday afternoon when quite a number of her little friends called on her. Miss Gail Gletty entertained the group with very interesting Marionette plays which were thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

The Baptist social will be held this week on Thursday afternoon, January 13, at the home of Mrs. S. M. Connatser. Ladies who do not have a way to go are asked to meet at the post office, where ways will be provided. Those who have cars are asked to help carry others who have no cars.

Miss Betty Rowell entertained a few couples at her home Friday night in honor of Sterling Davenport. Those present were "Trick" Goodgame, Mary Alma Goodgame, Eunice Merle Walker, Dave Griffin, John Griffin, and Leo Spivey.

Mr. Jack Goodgame and Mrs. R. H. Goodgame spent Sunday in Leeds.

Christian Endeavor News

The Christian Endeavor executive committee met for the first time in the new year Sunday afternoon, January 9. The main business of the meeting was to make nominations for the offices of the Christian Endeavor during the present year. These were to be voted upon by the members Sunday night.

A simple but inspiring program was presented in Christian Endeavor by Ethel Root, the leader, and those who helped here. A business meeting followed, during which reports from committees were made. The following officers were elected: Richard Petersen, president; Leonard Bosworth, vice president; Ruth Primm corresponding secretary; Ruth Higgins, treasurer; Margaret Golson, secretary; Sara Nell Collins, organist; and Martha Green, assistant organist; Miss Lois Townsley continued as sponsor; the chairmen of the various committees are: good literature, Ethel Root; music, Louise Clark; press, Ruth Clark; what-so-ever, Ruby Leigh Wilkes; lookout, Hazel Burnham; social, Ouida Wright; missionary, Oleita Nowell.

Thorsby Institute News

At the dining hall of Thorsby Institute Sunday noon Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Butler had as their guests for dinner, two cousins, the Misses Helen and Elsie Cree, Griggsville, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Abercrombie of Birmingham, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Butler and their two daughters, Elizabeth and Frances.

Next Thursday night at 7 p.m., in the living room of the Thorsby Institute dining hall the trustees will hold their regular January meeting. Mr. Ragnor Ekblad, an alumnus of Thorsby Institute, is secretary of the Board of Trustees.

Thorsby Institute will have its mid-year examinations on January 27 and 28. The new semester will begin on January 31.

Codie Bell (Thorsby Institute 1924) has presented to the school library two books which he has read many times and which have been very helpful to him. They are "I Dare You", by W. H. Danforth, and "How To Win Friends and Influence People", by Dale Carnegie. Several new books have been placed in the library recently.

4-H Club Meets

The Enterprise 4-H Club met with Miss Grace last Friday for the first meeting of the new year. The meeting was called to order by the president, and the secretary checked the roll. We enjoyed some fine speeches by some of the 4-H club members. After the program was over, we resolved to make 1938 a more successful year than 1937, and to make each meeting better. We then went into the discussion of our lesson, which was on calories. After the lesson was finished, we were dismissed until February. Girls, let's strive hard to do more and better 4-H club work in 1938.

Sports

The Enterprise basket ball boys and girls played Thomas Jr. boys and girls on the Enterprise court last Friday. The scores were: girls—Enterprise 24, Thomas 6; boys—Enterprise 32, Thomas 10. In the girls' game, Enterprise made the first score and led Thomas throughout the game. Mary Pearl Griffin scored 20 points, and was high point scorer for Enterprise. In the boys' game, Earl Neely was high point man for Enterprise with 15 points, although suffering with a sprained knee. Good sportsmanship was evident throughout both games.

The Marbury girls and boys are to play the Enterprise girls and boys on the Enterprise court next Friday, January 14. Admission 5c. Come out to see these games.

ANTIOCH

The Antioch Christian Endeavor met Sunday night with a large attendance. A good program was rendered, entitled, "Is There Room in our Hearts for Jesus." After the program the following officers were elected for the new year: Authur Crane, president; Zannie Hayes, vice-president; Zannie Hayes, secretary-treasurer; Willie Pearl Roseberry, group captain No. 1; Ruth Hayes, group captain No. 2; Charlie Headley, critic; Edith Mooney, Reporter.

With the help of our new leaders and members, we are striving to make the best better.

THORSBY JR. HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

The Christmas holidays were apparently highly enjoyable to everyone. Attendance has been good since resuming our studies.

The faculty spent the holidays as follows: Prof. J. D. Griffin stayed in Thorsby with his family; Mr. Percy Johnson, 5th grade teacher, stayed at home; Mrs. Mims made final preparations to move into their new home; Mrs. Taylor visited relatives in Cooper; Mrs. Williams visited at Mt. Creek, Montgomery, and Bessemer; Miss Jones visited at her home in Plantersville; Coach Robert B. Johnson visited relatives and friends in Verbena, Birmingham and Clanton, spending several days on fields and along the streams hunting the wily squirrel and quail.

The Jr. III English class is now engaged in a series of debates. The subjects center around practical everyday topics. It would be quite worth while, as well as interesting, to drop in at 10:40 each morning and listen to the students engage in a verbal battle, each endeavoring to defend his position and ideas relative to the question. The students are judged on posture, expression, style of presentation, argumentation, quality of subject matter.

The first of the series of debates was the popular subject: "Resolved, that country life is more healthful than city life." Mary Alma Goodgame and Clara Smith took the affirmative, while Edward Nations and Thomas Lincaid took the negative. The arguments were all carefully drawn, but the affirmative speakers overshadowed their opponents on the points of delivery. The other debates will be reported on later.

We wonder if you realize that this school year is now half gone. Are you doing your part to measure up to the definition of a loyal, conscientious and diligent student?

The boys' basketball team suffered its second loss out of 13 games played when on last Friday night the Mt. Pleasant Juniors edged out by the score of 25 to 22 in the C. C. H. S. gymnasium. Our team drew first blood, and held a 4 to 2 lead at the first quarter, but the second quarter saw our defense completely fold up and the Mt. Pleasant cagers roll up a lead which we were never able to overcome. This lead was 18 to 9 at the half. The starting line-up for Thorsby never once clicked during the game, and it was a couple of substitute players who during the last half began to deal misery to their opponents by gently but surely closing the wide gap on the scoreboard. The closing minutes of the game found A. Collins stripping the net from all angles, but the Mt. Pleasant defense managed to stave off defeat by resorting to control of the ball. The Mt. Pleasant team deserved the victory, because they simply outplayed our boys, who were apparently overanxious. The two teams meet again on Friday afternoon, January 21, at Mt. Pleasant, weather permitting.

Tonight, Thursday, January 13, at 7 o'clock, there will be a double-header game in our auditorium, when Coach Bradley brings both his boys and girls from Coopers to play our respective teams. These games were scheduled for last Thursday night, but bad weather forced a change. The public is cordially invited to be present. The youngsters will be doing their best to give you a thrilling entertainment. Come on out and watch their skill; you might be surprised at how much you will enjoy it.

Coach Johnson carried several of his boys to Birmingham Tuesday night to witness the world champion basketball team, the famous Celtics, from New York, play Howard College. A report on this trip is not yet available.

Arnold (Bull) Littleton has been coaching the Girls' Independent team of Thorsby, and is desirous of arranging several games with other teams, either junior or senior high school teams, or community independent teams, write him if interested.

Our boy's Jr. high team plays the Enterprise team on next Tuesday night, January 18th, at C. C. H. S. This is the preliminary to a high school game between Clanton and Wetumpka.

The faculty attended the Chilton County Teachers Association held at Clanton last Saturday.

Dr. Sturkie, the county health officer, was at our school last week, making an examination of the eyes, throat and tonsils of a number of the pupils.

Practice began in earnest this week for the negro ministrel. Holidays, illness and several other minor factors have all tended to delay preparations for the show. No date has been announced as to the exact time it will be given, but follow your school news and it will be announced later.

New blackboards have been placed in the Jr. II and III rooms. This is a much needed object, and we are grateful for same.

The primary grades are now engaged in the project of constructing bird houses. They use cardboard and white pine. Several of the houses will be placed on the campus to attract our two most common birdhouse dwellers, the blue-bird and the wren. This work is being guided by Mrs. Williams, who also supplies information about the birds, their nature, habit, food, Etc.

Our P.-T. A. will meet on Friday afternoon, January 21, at the school building, at 2:30 o'clock. All parents and friends are requested to come. Miss Schuter, will be present for this meeting.

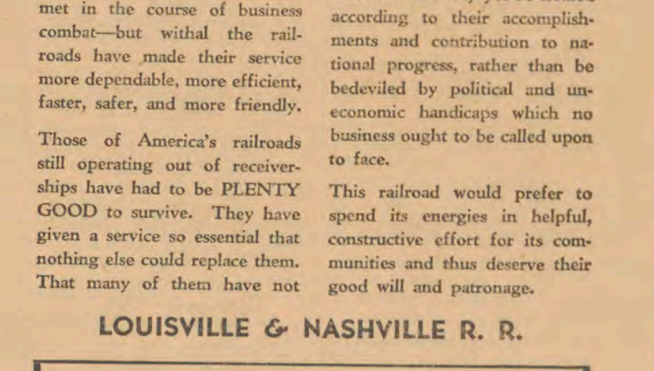
TIGERS DEFEAT COOSA HIGH

The Chilton County High School basketball team played a very exciting game last Friday night, defeating the Rockford team by the score of 22 to 9.

Neither team scored during the first five minutes of the game. Then the Tigers turned on the heat and pulled away to another victory.

Both teams played a very good game, making it hard to pick a star out of either team, so just say both teams starred.

The Tigers have played the following games:



Maplesville 15	Clanton 40
Jemison 21	Clanton 35
Isabella 26	Clanton 51
Coosa 9	Clanton 22

This fellow has to be plenty good

---just to keep alive!

Throw a man into a ring with one arm strapped to his side and set of hobbles on his feet. Then turn loose half a dozen huskies to do their worst with him. If he survives at all, he's got to be PLENTY GOOD. And if he comes out ON TOP, it's a miracle!

That miracle has been happening for the last two decades with this railroad, and with a lot of others over the country. Restrictive laws and regulations, rising wages and mounting taxes, subsidized competitive forms of transport, descending rate scales—all these and more have been met in the course of business combat—but withal the railroads have made their service more dependable, more efficient, faster, safer, and more friendly.

Those of America's railroads still operating out of receiverships have had to be PLENTY GOOD to survive. They have given a service so essential that nothing else could replace them. That many of them have not only survived but also have made notable progress, can be credited to that American spirit which fights on in the face of almost overwhelming odds.

America today enjoys the BEST railroad sevice in all the world . . . . at the world's LOWEST railroad rates. You can ride safely, swiftly and luxuriously for two to three cents per mile. Your freight—sand to silk—moves at an average rate per ton per mile of less than a penny—much of it from door to door.

There is comfort in the hope that railroads may yet be treated according to their accomplishments and contribution to national progress, rather than be bedeviled by political and uneconomic handicaps which no business ought to be called upon to face.

This railroad would prefer to spend its energies in helpful, constructive effort for its communities and thus deserve their good will and patronage.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

Stop! Look! Listen!

A warning. A warning we have seen often. A warning never placed where not needed. A warning for the protection of life and limb; and, if heeded, ample warning.

For the protection, health, and growth of the spiritual life of not only Clanton Methodist church or not only Methodism, but of Christianity everywhere, may we add to the triple word warning, "Stop, Look, and Listen," a triple word motto, "Stop! Meditate! Pray!" Would that each Christian not only in our town, but everywhere, adopt and live a life guided and guarded by Stop, Meditate, and Pray. It would mean joy to our individual hearts, faithfulness to our God and the services of the churches, churches full to overflowing of worshipers.

Sunday school was well attended last Sunday. We are having a general assembly in the auditorium each Sunday at the end of the class period. Come to your class next Sunday and every Sunday at 9:45, and let your class have excellent attendance in the general assembly report. Boost your department.

There are times when words adequate to express one's thoughts aren't forthcoming. That is the trouble with this mention of last Sunday's preaching services. The sermons were too stirring to describe. We can only tell our preacher we appreciate the messages and urge the absent ones not to be absent next Sunday at 11 a. m., and 6:30 p. m.

The young people are urged not to miss their service at 5:45 p. m. next Sunday. Attend and Boost.

Mr. Mussolini makes a red hot speech announcing that Italy is leaving the League of Nations. Which is a good deal like moving out of a house after the roof has fallen in.

One nice thing about a "recession" is that not nearly so many people have to worry about paying profits taxes.

A party of scientific New Yorkers is going to South America to study wild life. Why leave Manhattan?

Miss Perkins ridicules the story that business elements unfriendly to the New Deal planned the business "recession" to get even with the administration. Of course she is right. President Roosevelt himself told us that "WE planned it this way."

A HOLD HARD TO BREAK

Tax exemption is hard to overcome. The House Ways and Means Committee has new evidence of that fact. Starting out with the idea that new legislation would reach tax exempt securities, and the exempt salaries of public employes, the committee has definitely abandoned both courses, according to Chairman Vinson, on constitutional grounds. Mr. Vinson, by the way, ought to know something about such matters, as he has been appointed to a federal judgeship.

The committee had been advised that 140 million a year could be raised by taxes on the income of bonds now exempt, and another 15 million dollars could be extracted from the incomes of state and local government employes, now exempt from the federal tax. Legal opinions, however, have convinced the members that the constitutional obstacles cannot be overcome.

What next? Well, President Roosevelt in 1935 proposed amending the Constitution. Nothing has been done about it and the idea is not figuring in current discussion. The outlook is still bad for such a course.—Minneapolis Journal.

RAISING PRICES

Indications point to the possibility that the administration early in the new year will seek to put on a big monopoly curbing drive. Big business is to be charged with having caused the present New Deal recession through conspiracies to raise prices and so postpone the day for ushering in prosperity.

The strategy of this move is obvious. Monopoly baiting and trust busting have been popular in America ever since the first Roosevelt. Nothing will be more calculated to induce Congress to forget its differences about New Deal legislation than a fiesta of trust busting. Enemies of the New Deal have been unkind enough to say that the adminstration hopes by this method to divert the blame for the recession from New Deal policies to big business. Friends of the administration say of course that in attempting to curb monopoly it is acting in the interests of "the people."

As a matter of fact most Americans are against private monopoly. They want no dictatorship of big business for our economic society any more than they want a federal dictatorship for identical purposes. Yet it might be just as well to look at the record of the past five years so far as big business and high prices are concerned.

We have heard a great deal of criticism of economic royalists. At the same time, many policies of the New Deal have seemed to favor big business at the expense of the little fellow. Through the NRA, big business was afforded opportunity for collective agreement which threatened to take it beyond the pale of the anti-trust law. Furthermore, the efforts of the Blue Eagle and other governmental agencies to raise costs and prices, operated to the advantage of big business and against little business—because the small plant's cheif reliance for keeping in business at all is its ability to undersell the big fellow.

Again the tax theories of the New Deal have been pretty much against small business. The excess profits tax is a good example. This law prohibits the small business man from setting aside funds to expand his activities or to carry him through possible rainy days, while big business with its huge reserves already accumulated has had a big advantage. Raising the price of coal through the Guffey commission is another example.

Taken all in all, the record of the New Deal to date has not been at all against big business. For a time it sought to weaken the anti-trust act and its every effort has been to raise prices, something it now charges against big business.

The New Deal cry to battle was sounded recently against monopoly and high prices by Assistant Attorney General Jackson. All the old "war horses," however, were not impressed to the point where they were ready to charge into battle. General Hugh Johnson, keeper of the once much advertised Blue Eagle, in a radio address devoted to Mr. Jackson's speech said:

"By a whole cluster of policies deliberately and openly intended to increase the labor cost of production it (the New Deal) did more to increase prices than any other single cause that has operated. High price and high cost lie directly at the door of this administration and nobody else under the sun."

The Bituminous Coal Commission has now fixed the price of bituminous coal for the nation and there doesn't seem to be anything the Federal Trade Commission can do about it.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

Now that Congress has convened again, this time for a long session, there is much speculation among political wiseacres in Washington as to what the line-up in both branches of our national legislative body will be. The depression, or recession, as the New Dealers like to call it, has descended on the country with such unexpected swiftness that most observers believe that the situation in administration circles is now considerably different than it was a few months ago and that new strategy causing new line-ups in Congress will be called for.

Some little time ago, when there was admittedly a slight slowing up in business, which seemed to worry nobody, it was believed that a "turn to the right" was in order from the administration. The thing which seemed in the offing was a sincere and practical effort to balance the budget. Repeal or modification of the excess profits and capital gains taxes were emphasized and there was evidence that the New Dealers themselves, at least the majority of them, proposed "to go along with business" in an effort to speed up the lagging journey toward normalcy.

A great many experts in Washington believe that this policy is still called for and that it will be adopted. They point out that further extension of the unbalanced budget and rapid increase in the public debt can mean only one thing, and that is—inflation and ruin for all. They say therefore that this course of veering to the right will be followed and point out the many conferences which the President has been having with utility executives and other business men in an effort to find a way out of the depression.

However, of late there is a growing impression that this path may not be so easy to follow as was expected. The belief is increasing, even in conservative quarters, that the budget cannot be balanced for another year at least. The need for relief expenditures is growing. It is properly said that nobody in the United States can be permitted to starve this winter, and with the increasing burdens for relief, and the shrinkage of tax collections due to lowering income, it is admitted that balancing the budget now seems a hopeless task. In addition, there appears to be a growing unfriendliness in certain official quarters toward business, especially big business. For example: Statements from men high in the confidence of the Presdient lately have been to the effect that big business is responsible for the present slump and that it hi sbeen brought about by th monopolistic increase of prices. These statements ignore the fact that the admnistration itself has been trying successfully to increase prices during the past five years, but they serve at least to place the blame for the depression on to private enterprise and to push it from the shoulders of the New Deal—which is at least wise political strategy.

Because of this apparent shift in opinion, observers believe that Congress this winter is going to divide on new lines—the conservatives versus the spenders. It would be hradly correct to call it a division between conservatism and liberalism becase a number of liberals will be found arrayed against some pilicies of the New Deal. Here is likely to be the dividing line—between those who want lessened expenditures, lowered taxes and a balanced budget, and those who want to try to revive fading business by greater expenditures for relief and for "priming the pump."

Just what the political results of this new line-up—if it comes about—will be, nobody can of course foretell. Partisan lines seem to be vanishing. And in the meantime those who talk about the "plight" of the G. O. P. and demand a party housecleaning might spend a little time looking for the Democratic Party and its Jeffersonian principles. The followers of Jefferson seem to be about as thoroughly disorganized as the disciples of Hamilton. Wouldn't it be strange if party feuds, which originated in the early days of the republic, should now be forgotten?

THE ROAD TO RUIN

The United States today is following exactly the same course that is bringing the nations of Europe to ruin and dictatorships. It is covering itself with a mortgage of debt, burdening itself with a great and costly bureaucracy. The people of this nation should resolve to go in a direction exactly different. Instead of adding to its burdens, it should start now to remove those burdens, one by one, so that its people can enjoy more, have more material goods, more freedom, more opportunity, more welfare.

It is time to get down to solid earth, to remember that the prosperity of the nation has depended and will depend in the future upon hard work, thrift and cooperation to remedy conditions Americans believe wrong.—Syracuse Post-Standard.

SHOULD KNOW THE TRUTH

We need a new breed of politicians. We need some leaders who will tell the public unwelcome and sound truth. The first thing that the public should be told is that the burdens of taxation are to persist and increase, rather than decline. The nation cannot engage in widespread public works, build great systems of highways, improve and enlarge the educational systems of the land, give subsidies to agriculture, support a fifth of the people upon public charity, care for the unfortunate, build fleets and armaments, expand great capitals, employ hordes upon the public payroll and regulate every activity of mankind without a great and tremendous cost to the taxpayers.—Grand Rapids Herald-Review.

DISQUALIFIED

Hoover and Landon say they are not candidates for the Republican nomination for president in 1940. Members of the party will hear that with satisfaction and hope that the decision is final and that it will be generally accepted. Both Mr. Hoover and Mr. Landon are good citizens and good Republicans. Both have headed their party ticket. Both have been defeated, and the defeat, without attributing a personal fault to them, was disqualifying. The fortunes of political action run that way.—Chicago Tribune.

Somebody writes in to ask the definition of "recession." "Recession" is the New Deal word for "depression."

It is to be asserted that Secretary Ickes' denunciation of the Ku Klux Klan in a speech in New York had no reference to any recent appointments to the Supreme Court.

COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

The winds driven by the lashes of winter beat on the walls of my room as if they were angry with the men who built this hotel on their road to the South. They are crying now. I suppose they have bruised themselves against these walls of brick. I am reminded of God's Word which teaches that all creation groans and travails in pain waiting for redemption. Some day the curse of sin will be lifted. "The lion and the lamb shall lie down together." Children will be able to play with serpents. All that hurts and destroys will be destroyed. The destructive force in this universe is sin. The first time sin put its foot on this earth it destroyed paradise. If men in authority could only realize that the battle in government is not a battle of wits, but a battle of selfish passions, they would look for a solution not in mere education and social service, but they would seek God Who is able to change the hearts of men. The winds seem to be resting now. They awoke Him when they thought they were in great danger. How like human nature that is! Many of us never go to Him except when we are in need or in danger. He spoke peace to the wind and the waves. "What manner of man is this that even the wind and tht waves obey Him," they cried. I am not surprised that the wind and the waves obey Him. The Voice which can speak peace to troubled hearts finds it easy to quiet with a whisper the wind and the waves.

How blind most men are! In this materialistic age men talk about business. They discuss the stock market. They argue about the rights of labor and capital. Governments reach greedy hands across seas to grab colonies. They build submarines to hide under the water and sink ships laden with war materials and commerce. While boasting about human goodness they build machines by the thousands to rain fire and death out of the sky. They talk about scientific discoveries and work in laboratories to produce gas to render people helpless while armies plunder and kill. Every man who is capable of thinking knows that the whole world is headed toward a cataclysm of destruction. What is the explanation? First, man is fallen. "In Adam all die." That is not a popular theory. But it is true and explains man's inability left to himself to extricate himself from the impending doom of the civilization he has built. Second, the devil is the god of the world. It is not his world but he has usurped it. God's people are in the minority. Only a small percentage of the race even professes Christianity. The "Christian nations" are not Christian. This world belongs to Jesus Christ. He made it. When it went astray He came down and bought it back with His blood. His Spirit is in the world now gathering out from the nations a redeemed people who will be His bride. Sime day He will gather His bride home and reward them according to their fidelity. Then He will come on a bridal tour to this earth. With His True Church He will reign over this earth. Then wars will cease. Then the desert will blossom like a garden. Then righteousness will cover the earth like the waters cover the sea. Then His faithful followers who are now lied about and persecuted will be vindicated. COME QUICKLY, LORD JESUS!

Animals in Captivity

Many inquiries about keeping racoons, foxes, squirrels and other game animals in captivity are received by the Department of Conservation weekly from all over the State. The first necessary step to stop this is to secure recommendations from two recognized mammalogists, one of whom must be a resident of the State of Alabama, certifying to the applicant's qualifications, including technical and scientific training for propagation of animals. If the application is approved, a propagation permit will be issued for a fee of $1 by the Conservation Department. However, most species of wild animals do not breed in close confinement and propagation purposes will be served better if the animals are released in nearby woods and fields.

New Boat Launched

Enforcement of Alabama's seafood laws and regulations is expected to be facilitated considerably with use of the new patrol boat, the Vera G. Quinn, launched at the Dixie Boat Works in Mobile on Friday, January 7. The new boat is a Diesel-powered craft, capable of making a good speed, and is said to be one of the best of its kind in Southern Waters. Mrs. Vera G. Guinn, for whom the boat was named, christened it, with Commissioner I. T. Quinn, members of the Alabama Oyster Commission and others present at the ceremonies. Afterward the party boarded the new boat and proceeded on an inspection tour of the Cedar Point reefs in lower Mobile Bay.

Two Clubs Organized

Added to the growing list of sportsmen's and conservation clubs in Alabama last week were two new units of the Baldwin County Conservation Club. They are the Central Baldwin Club, at Robertsdale, and the South Baldwin Club, at Foley. Harry C. Peterson heads the Robertsdale club as president, and Frank E. Nellis, of Magnolia Springs, is president of the South Baldwin Club.

OAK GROVE—BEAT 16

On next Saturday night and Sunday are our regular preaching dates. We are expecting our pastor, Bro. R. M. Gallops of Birmingham, to be here. He is a real preacher. He can feed your soul if you are in line with the Bible. But if not, it might get pretty warm for you.

Everybody be sure and come. He will probably be with us Sunday night. —Jesse Mitchell, Clerk.

PROVIDENCE—BEAT 13

Our Sunday school is improving. We must have had some New Year's Resolutions to go to Sunday school. We wish to urge the ones who have not started the year off right, to begin by coming to Sunday school next Sunday.

Don't forget next Saturday and Sunday are our regular preaching days. Everyone make an effort to come out, and help carry on the good work.

Miss Margaret Blewster is spending a few days in Florida.

Mr. W. R. Scott had a light stroke of paralysis last Tuesday afternoon. He is slowly improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Green had as their week end guests Mr. and Mrs. Donald McClinton, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Scott and baby, of Pelham.

Mrs. R. V. Crumpton has been seriously ill with pneumonia, but she is improving now.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin McGraw spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Blewster.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

SIX-POINT POULTRY PROGRAM OUTLINED

Auburn, Ala.—John E. Ivey, extension poultry specialist, outlines "a six-point profitable poultry production program" for Alabama farmers, as follows:

1. Clean chicks—secure chicks from flocks and hatcheries having a known, definite breeding and disease control program.

2. Clean ground — move brooder house to new location, or use rotation with double or triple yards, or use wire or slatted sun porches.

3. Clean brooder house — several days before the chicks arrive, thoroughly clean the brooder house; wash with hot lye water (1 lb lye to 5 gallons water) or spray with a good, strong disinfectant.

4. Clean litter — use a reasonable amount of good absorbent litter; keep dry; clean house and change litter every three to five days.

5. Clean feed and water—use approve hoppers for all feed. Prevent chicks from getting in hoppers. Feed balanced ration at all times. Scrub water fountain daily.

6. Clean, care and management—(1) Sanitation is the best known prevention. It is always cheaper, more effective, and more satisfactory than using commercial remedies. (2) Amount of heat required depends upon kind of house, kind of brooder, and age of chicks. Keep chicks comfortable; avoid overheating. (3) Allow 1 square foot of floor space for every two chciks. (4) Start chicks early. (5) Never place over 250 to 350 chicks around one brooder. (6) One 4-foot hopper for each 100 chicks. (7) Two half-gallon jar of water per 100 chicks. (8) Provide plenty of green feed. (9) Teach chicks to roost early. (10) Get chicks outside early. Allow plenty of sunshine. (11) Separate pullets and cockerels as early as possible. (12) Place pullets on clean range at an early age. (13) Vaccinate pullets against fowl pox. (14) Put pullets in good type poultry house in August or the first of September. Gradually change from growing mash to laying mash. (15) Watch the body weight. Control by varying amount of grain to meet body requirements. (16) Do everything possible to get maximum egg production during the fall and winter months when egg prices are high.

NOW IS THE TIME TO PRUNE BUNCH GRAPE VINES

Early winter is the best season to prune bunch grape vines and gardeners who have grapes of the common varieties, like Concord, may wisely trim them now, states W. A. Ruffin, extension horticulturist. Although industry does not always follow late pruning, it is best not to cut grape vines when the sap is running freely, as it does in late winter and early spring. It is too late to prune muscadine grapes.

The only general rule that can be given for all grape vines is that the pruning should be designed to leave a suitable number of buds wel spaced on the vine. Vines in full bearing, not less than five years old and thrifty in growth, may be allowed 40 to 60 buds, while younger vines and those less thrifty should not retain more than 20 to 30, he points out. Vines newly set are usually cut back to three or four buds or even two buds.

The buds to leave are those on thrifty canes that grew in 1937. These are easily distinguished because their bark is brighter in color than the older ones, which become gray or black with age and which usually have loose strips of dead bark.

The distribution of the buds on the different vine is of less importance than their number. Since each bud is expected to make a fruiting cane in 1938, it would be unwise to leave so many buds close together that the new canes would make a dense tangle of growth.

POINTERS GIVEN ON HOME CANNING MEATS

Beef or pork may be canned successfully in the home, provided it is processed under steam pressure, says Lavada Curtis, food preservation specialist, Alabama Extension Service, in advising that "if a pressure canner is not available other methods of preservation should be used for meats."

"Utensils for meat canning are preferably of enamelware, aluminum, retinned metal, or stainless metal," she says. "Copper and iron utensils may discolor canned meat and should not be used. Meat must not remain in contact with galvanized iron more than 30 minutes or it may take up harmful quantities of zinc.

"The size of the containers most suitable for meat prouct s are No. 2 tin cans and pint jars. No. 3 tin cans and quart glass jars require much heavier processing, and though times are given for them their use is not recommended.

"When glass jars are used meats should be precooked in the oven or in water before being packed in the container. When tin cans are used the meat may be precooked in either of these ways and packed hot, or it may be packed raw and the cane exhausted before being sealed. Frying is not recommended as a method of precooking meat for canning, because it makes the meat hard and dry and gives a disagreeable flavor

"The meat should be covered with liquid to prevent discoloration and loss of flavor during storage."

PLANT GOOD COTTONSEED WARNS STATE OFFICIAL

Montgomery, Ala., Jan. 10.—Alabama farmers are advised by R. J. Goode, commissioner of agriculture, to make arrangements now for good varieties of cottonseed for planting this year.

"From all the information we have been unable to obtain there will undoubtedly be a considerable scarcity of good varieties of planting seed suitable for use on wilt lands in South Alabama," he advises. "For the northern half of the state, we understand that there is available if the seed are properly distributed."

"The Extension Specialists and county Agents will cooperate with us in trying to make available for your use the best possible planting seed, and we would strongly urge you again to contact your county agent immediately, either by listing surplus seed available, or by arranging to secure planting seed that may be needed."

STATE IS CULLING AND TESTING POULTRY FLOCKS

Montgomery, Ala., Jan. 10.—"We are about to finish our culling and blood testing work under the National Poultry Improvement Plan for this year", says R. B. Jones, state poultry inspector in advising any poultry keepers who cares to have their flocks culled or tested to send in application to the State Department of Agriculture immediately.

"More flocks and hatcheries are under the plan this year than ever before", says Mr Jones, in reporting that anyone interested may obtain a report listing the accredited flocks and hatcheries.

BRIEF FARM FACTS

The Agricultural Adjustment Administration purchased nearly 3,000,000 bushels of the 1937 Irish and sweet potato crops for relief distribution by the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation. Of this amount, 43,100 bushels were bought in Alabama.

Production Credit Associations in Alabama are at present holding their annual stockholders' meetings. These associations are located at Anniston, Huntsville, Russellville, Demopolis, Montgomery, Auburn, Ozark, and Bay Minette. They make loans to farmers for production purposes.

Farmers can gain advantage on the boll weevil and avoid time and expense of second plantings next spring by running a germination test on their cotton seed supply. Reports from over the cotton belt indicate that cotton seed will be much lower in germination this year than usual.

Many Alabama farmers will profit by advertising various farm products they raise on their farms annually.

"UNCLE BOB" SMITH & FAMILY BELIEVE IN USING

PLENTY OF POTASH!

More than 800 pounds of seed cotton per acre had been picked from this field before this photograph of Jake Smith's cotton was made. Leaves have been removed to show amount of cotton left for second picking.

THE SMITH FAMILY of Johnston, Edgefield County, S. C., won prizes five times in nine South Carolina Five-acre Cotton Contests. B. R. ("Uncle Bob") Smith was second in 1926 with a yield of 5,098 pounds of lint on five acres. He was fourth in 1928 with 3,815 pounds, first in 1929 with 5,770 pounds and sixth in 1931 with 5,145 pounds. In 1936, his wife, Mrs. Carrie B. Smith, won first prize with 6,640 pounds of lint on five acres, the largest yield produced in nine contests in which approximately 9,000 farmers entered. The staple length was $1^{1}/_{32}$ inches.

Mrs. Smith's Record-breaking Yield

Speaking of his wife's record-breaking 1936 yield, Uncle Bob said: "Mrs. Smith planted Coker's Cleve-wilt No. 4 seed and used 1,450 pounds of fertilizer per acre, 300 pounds of which was NV MURIATE OF POTASH. She used some nitrogen as a top-dresser and the remainder of the fertilizer before planting, putting it down in three bands. She sure made me keep a close eye on that patch of cotton. For years I used 6% POTASH in my regular cotton fertilizer, but Clemson College said I was short on potash, so I started using 10% POTASH. I made larger yields and the 10% POTASH completely prevented Rust."

Potash Stops Rust and Starts Profits

Producing good yields of cotton seems to run in the Smith family. Jake Smith, of Johnston, S. C., son of Uncle Bob and Mrs. Smith, says this about his 1937 crop: "I made three bales per acre but didn't pick but two. The boll weevil got the other one. Daddy used a lot of potash so I followed him. Counting all the potash my cotton received, it adds up to 300 pounds of MURIATE OF POTASH per acre. If you were to put this in 500 pounds of fertilizer the potash would be 30%. The old slogan is right—POTASH STOPS RUST."

IT WILL PAY YOU TO USE MORE NV POTASH. SELECT FERTILIZER CONTAINING 8 TO 10% NV POTASH, OR TOP-DRESS WITH NV MURIATE, OR NV KAINIT, OR A NITROGEN-POTASH TOP-DRESSER CONTAINING GENUINE NV POTASH.

STOP COTTON RUST WITH EXTRA POTASH

Forty-five years ago Prof. George Atkinson, an experiment station worker, proved through a long series of experiments that cotton rust was simply potash hunger and at that time he obtained paying results from 600 lbs. of kainit per acre.

For the last twenty years, because of the use of acid-forming fertilizers on already acid soils, much of the available potash in our soils has been washed out and cotton rust has been increasing. Also, our quich-fruiting varieties of cotton make a very heavy demand on the cotton plant for potash in a very short period of time. The crop must have an abundance of quickly available potash on short notice or it begins to break down, with shedding of leaves and small bolls, much immature fiber, and a general reduction in yield.

On fields which have rusted in the past and where low potash, complete fertilizers have been used at planting, the North Carolina Experiment Station now recommends "top-dressing cotton with 125 to 150 pounds of kainit or 50 to 100 pounds of muriate of potash per acre."

With a 600-pound application of fertilizer, the South Carolina Experiment Station found that a 5-10-0 (NPK) fertilizer produced 557 pounds of seed cotton per acre, a 5-10-5 produced 1,015 pounds, and a 5-10-10 produced 1,243 pounds per acre. In the tests the potash was equally effective at planting or as a top-dresser.

In Georgia the experiment stations at Griffin and Tifton, as well as outlying projects in various sections of the State, have demonstrated that relatively large amounts of potash are necessary to prevent cotton rust. Applications of 50 to 200 pounds of extra muriate of potash per acre have been used in the tests.

Where cotton rust was prevented, the North Carolina Experiment Station reported an increase in yields, weight per boll, weight of seed, lint index, fiber strength and in the percentage of strong fibers.

Seventy-five years ago it took more than 300 hours of labor to produce a bale of cotton, but today it takes only about 200 hours, says Secretary Wallace in expressing belief that by 1946 it will be possible to produce a bale of cotton with about 100 hours of labor.

Boogy—Sure, I had a deficit last year. But, tell me, Woogy, just what do you understand by the word "deficit"?

Maynard's Chapel

There is quite a few bad colds in our community. Sunday was our regular preaching day, and there was a large crowd out to hear Rev. Bob Cost; his subect being repentance.

There was also singing in the afternoon, with a large attendance and good singing.

Next Sunday, January 16th, is our regular singing day. All good singers are invited; starting at two o'clock.

The Senior B. Y. P. U., are planning on putting on a program at Union Grove Sunday night, Jan. 16th. We are hoping to have a large crowd to attend.

There were five additionals to Maynard's Chapel Sunday. They were: Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Maynard, of Pike Avenue Baptist church, Ensley; Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Smith and son, by letter, of Miami, Fla.

Miss Ruby Vaughn of Ensley, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. W G. Maynard.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Robinson have moved back in our community from Birmingham. We all hate to loose one of our good neighbors from our community.

Mr. Joe Barrett and family are moving near Pleasant Grove, three miles from Clanton

Mr. W. G. Maynard has been at home very ill for the past six week's.

F. H. A. MEETING

The F. H. A. of Chilton County High School had its regular meeting last Friday, January 7th. We were glad to have as our guests the Sr. I Home Economics class. The president, Annie Pearl Honeycutt, called the meeting to order. The secretary, Mildred Maddox, then called the roll.

Since there was no business matters to be brought before the club, we proceeded with a program. The program was presented by the Publicity committee, on "The Outstanding Events of 1937." The meeting then adjourned.—Ola Mae Parrish, Reporter.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to extend my thanks to the many friends and neighbors for their sympathy shown me during the recent death of my beloved husband, W. W. Parnell, also for the beautiful floral offerings.—Mrs. W. W. Parnell.

AN ARMY for SERVICE

SOUTHERN BELL telephone employes are constantly training to keep pace with a changing business. They work individually, yet as cooperative parts of an organization, knit together by loyalty to the service. In these respects they are like a vast army, an army for public service.

Their ranks numbered some 20,500 men and women at the end of 1937, growing by 1,600 over 1936. Their payroll was four million dollars higher than for the previous year, reaching close to $26,000,000, most of which was spent in their home communities.

During the year, this army not only maintained the telephone "plant" for your use, but constructed over $27,500,000 worth of new facilities to meet the increased demand for service. At the end of the year, there was about $235 invested in your telephone "plant" per telephone.

An average of 8.6 local calls per day per telephone were handled in 1937, or nine million calls a day. In addition, some 43,800,000 toll and long distance calls were completed in 1937.

A gain in telephones in 1937 brought the Southern Bell Company's total to 1,080,000 by the end of the year.

Taxes increased by about $575,000, mounting to $7,900,000 paid to Federal, State, County and Municipal governments in 1937.

Important figures, these. But more important to telephone users is the army for service, whose sole aim is to give the "most telephone service and the best, at the lowest possible cost consistent with the financial safety of the business."

Hens Need Plenty of Feed to Keep Up Egg Production

75% of Feed Goes for Body Upkeep, 25% for Eggs

Gray Summit, Mo.—A hen can "get by" on mighty little feed. Nature did not plan for a hen to consume great quantities of feed. But nature's original plan for egg production was only 15 to 30 eggs per year.

The weight of the eggs laid in a year in nature's plan was never more than four pounds, and usually no more than two pounds. Today we ask a four or five-pound hen to produce from fifteen to thirty pounds of eggs a year. The difference in egg production obviously must come from a difference in quantity of feed eaten. A hen can't lay many eggs on a skimpy ration.

75% for Body Upkeep

Seventy-five percent of all the feed a hen eats is used to take care of her own body needs. What's left over goes into making eggs. Birds that get only small amounts of feed, or birds that are fed incomplete and unbalanced rations do not get the extra 25 percent they need for keeping up egg production, and consequently some of the feed they do eat is wasted. The poultryman's problem is to see that each hen gets the extra 25 percent feed in properly balanced form so she can pay her complete board bill by putting an egg in the nest.

Production tests at the Purina Experimental Farm show that a few extra pounds of feed per day to each hundred laying birds may easily mean the difference between 30 percent production and 60 to 70 percent production—the difference between profit and loss.

More Feed; More Eggs

Sixteen to eighteen pounds of feed for 100 hens per day may be enough for hens to "get by" on, but they can't make eggs on it. When consumption of feed is stepped up to 22 or 24 pounds per day, production rises rapidly, especially in the fall and winter months when production does not come without conscious effort. Birds that have high egg production possibilities bred into them can respond and give a creditable return on their breeding only when they get enough of the right kind of feed.

Aged Man Kills Self With Shotgun Mon.

John Brantley Sexton, Age 63, Succumbed From Self-Inflicted Wounds

Using a sawed off shotgun, John Brantley Sexton took his own life Monday about 11:30 o'clock. It was said that he attempted suicide a short while earlier, but was unsuccessful. The tragedy occurred at the Sexton home four miles northeast of Jemison in the Rocky Mount community. He was 63 years old and was foreman at Sexton's sawmill. Any motive for the act was not known.

Burial was at Mt. Carmel, Adams Station, Tuesday morning, services conducted by Rev. G. G. Williams; Martin in charge.

Surviving are the wife, Mrs. Mollie Adams Sexton; two sons—J. W. and Russel Sexton of Maplesville; one brother—S. J. Sexton of Maplesville.

PITTS WILL BE IN RACE FOR REPRESENTATIVE

Mr. Percy M. Pitts, attorney of Clanton, announces that he will be in the race for the Republican nomination for Representative in the State Legislature. His official announcement has not been filed as yet, but it will be forthcoming at an early date, Mr. Pitts says.

MRS. EMALINE WRIGHT

Mrs. Morning Emaline Wright, 72, wife of R. L. Wright, died at the home near New Cedron last Thursday at 1:40 a. m. Burial was at Bethsalem Thursday afternoon, services conducted by Rev. W. P. Lowery. Martin & Sons directed. Surviving are the husband and several children.

The streamlined bath tub is now on the market, and here's hoping that someone will equip a cake of soap with 4-wheel brakes.

DECLINES UNDER TWO PRESIDENTS

O. D. Street Says the Roosevelt Decline Four Times That Under Hoover in '29

To the Editor The Birmingham News:

From the reading of the columns of your paper, one would never know it, but the Roosevelt depression in this autumn of 1937 was just four times as violent as was the Hoover collapse in 1929-30. According to the index of The New York Times (whose authority no good Democrat would challenge), between August 14, 1937, and December 4, 1937, industrial production fell from 114.2 to 85, a loss of 26.2 points in less than four months.

On the other hand, from July 29, 1929, to November 23, 1929, a period of a little less than four months, the decline was only 10.7 points. Not until as late as November 22, 1930, nearly 18 months after the Hoover decline began, was the loss as great as has occurred this autumn in less than four months, making the decline four times as rapid under Roosevelt as it was in 1929-30 under Hoover.

Nothing but the continuous squandering of billions in boondoggling waste has kept up even a deceptive appearance of a degree of recovery. If the sluice of money that is now being wasted on foolish projects was stopped over-night, things would be in worse confusion than when Hoover went out of office.

This proves the folly of trying to squander ourselves out of a depression, or, more accurately, of buying votes by the wholesale in order to perpetuate the New Deal. — Oliver D. Street, Guntersville, Ala. (Letter to The Birmingham News.)

DEE BATES DIED SATURDAY

Dee Bates, age 42, died at the United States Veterans Administration Hospital at Tuscaloosa Saturday night, after an extended illness.

The body was shipped by Jones & Spigener, of Tuscaloosa, to Clanton. Funeral services were held Monday morning at Providence church, with Rev. W. E. Robinson officiating; interment was in the adjoining cemetery, with Spigener directing.

Survivers are the wife, Mrs. Estelle Bates; five children—Lucille, Audrey, Forrest, Leonard, and Earl; father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Bates; six brothers and three sisters.

Pallbearers were Melvin Powell, Taskell Powell, Claudie Wyatt, Johnnie Robinson, Willie Mims, and Clifton Mims; flower girls were Fannie Robinson, Tempie Bates, and Donnie Nelson.

The deceased was an ex-service man, having spent a year and a half on the battle fields of France.

SAM F. MIMS ANNOUNCES FOR TAX ASSESSOR

The second entry into the race for tax assessor is Mr. Sam F. Mims, Thorsby. The name sounds familiar in the annuals of Republican politics in Chilton county, and this young man is of the old original family that has played so important a part in politics in the county in the past years.

He is a son of the late John T. Mims of Collins Chapel and Thorsby, is a nephew of the late Jim M. Mims, former county commissioner, also of the late Akins Mims, and of Uncle George Mims, still living. This young man, though probably not so well known himself, has a long and prominent family record behind him that every voter in the county knows more or less about.

At the present time Sam F. Mims is on the road for a Birmingham bakery known as Dad's Cookies; he travels between Birmingham and Montgomery and also makes the Montgomery trade. He has been on this job for eight years, and prior to that time was with Swift & Company as bookkeeper in the Birmingham office. In his early teens he taught school at Mineral Springs and Collins Chapel. Later he took a course in bookkeeping and graduated from Massey Business College.

Mr. Mims is 37 years old, married and has four children. He says that he has never known anything but to be a straight Republican and has always voted the ticket straight just as they came.

TIGERS WON AGAIN OVER JEMISON HIGH

Local Quint Has Won All Six Games of Season; Two From Jemison High

The scintillating quintet of the Chilton County High Tigers ran their win streak to six straight Saturday night by defeating Jemison High for the second time this season. The score was 20 to 14, was played on the Jemison court, and was a wild and woolly affair throughout, especially in the first quarter. It would be hard to pick a star from either team, both showing grand team work.

Littlejohn, rangy Tiger center, was out by illness, but little Bucky Armstrong filled his shoes in grand style.

No more than 3 points separated the standing of these teams at any point until the last 4 minutes. At the quarter it was 2 and 0, Chilton; at the half it was 7 and 7; at the three-quarter mark it was 12 and 11, Jemison; but to begin the final quarter Chilton dropped in two goals from the field to lead by 3 points; here the Jemison outfit put on a furious and desperate drive in the closing minutes, committing several personal fouls, which Chilton made count for 2 points. Jemison came back with a field goal, their only score in the last quarter, while the Tigers went on to score 3 more points and cinch the game.

To date the Tigers have won all of their six starts, Jemison having fallen before them in two games. The season's record is as follows:

Chilton—40	Maplesville	—15
Chilton—50	Isabella	—25
Chilton—35	Jemison	—21
Chilton—22	Rockford	— 9
Chilton—25	Wetumpka	—20
Chilton—20	Jemison	—14

TOM ARLEDGE PREPARING THE GROUND FOR FINE DWELLING

Work began a few days ago on excavating for the new home of Mr. T. J. Arledge on Third Avenue North between Second and Third Streets. This site is on the McKee property across Third Avenue from Rockett's lumber yard and near the home of Uncle Charlie Plier.

It is said that Mr. Arledge will build a really nice and modern residence on this site. It will be brick veneer.

THE LAST GREAT DEMOCRAT

[AN EDITORIAL]

That courage and character still command a premium was evidenced in the great ovation given Sen. Carter Glass, of Virginia, on the accasion of his 80th birthday, a few days ago. Partisan differences were forgotten as men of all parties united in paying tribute to the Grand Old Man of the Old Dominion.

Along with the happiness of the anniversary, there was a touch of sadness on the part of the old statesman, as he viewed his party adrift from its moorings and following the will-o'-the-wisp of strange doctrines. "I deeply regret living to see such revolutionary changes in the administration of a once democratic government," he said simply. Sen. Glass has never been given to raving and ranting, and to one who knows the type of man he is, there is a world of pathos and heartache behind that single sentence.

Sen. Glass is the last great Democrat remaining in the senate of the United States. He is the last of a vanishing breed of giants, men who scorned to stoop to the petty tricks of the political shyster, who refused to heed the demands of selfish groups and blocs, who would not trim their sails to meet every gust of public sentiment or expediency. It is a sad reflection that our conception of a United States senator, and the general level of our political life, have sunk so low that only one Glass remains, while scores of weaklings, coat-tail riders and timid time-servers make our laws.

Sen. Glass is the last of the Southern "Elder Statesmen", the old group of warriors who hewed to the line of their own convictions, who owed allegiance to nothing but their own consciences. As a class, this now nearly extinct school of statesmen were noted for their insistence upon states' rights—a principle now discarded and trampled under foot by the party to which they belonged. They were conspicuous, too, for their incorruptible viewpoint, for their instinctive championing of the right at all costs, their contempt for shams and disdain for expediency if it called for any sacrifice of principles. Such men as Morgan and Pettus of Alabama, and a goodly array of others, now in their graves. These men believed in the rights of states, but they were equally firm in their belief in the rights of individuals, in the sanctity of contracts.

Carter Glass is no hide-bound reactionary. He has fought for progressive ideals—fathered the Federal Reserve system, and stood for other beneficial legislation within the scope of our Constitution and our system of living. When the present bunch of rabble-rousers took charge of the Democratic party, the old war horse suppressed his shame and indignation as much as such a man might suppress it, and went along to the limit of his conscience with the party of his fathers. When the demands upon him became unbearable, he did not hesitate to kick over the traces and vote as he had always voted—for the right as he saw it. His speech against the monstrous court-packing measure is one of the classics of modern American statesmanship.

Carter Glass sits today in the senate of the United States, like some giant of a previous era, who has not learned to adapt himself to our modern world and our debased level of political morality. He has failed to learn that a United States senator is primarily an office boy and an employment agency. He has refused to chase around in the vicious circle, to fit his actions to the average senatorial groove, that runs something like this: "I bootlick the president, the president gives me jobs to hand out, I give jobs

G. O. P. SOLONS DEFY GAG RULE

Southern Senators Cheered By Republican Stand In Anti-Lynch Filibuster

Washington, Jan. 15. — Sen. McNary, of Oregon, said today that Republican senators would oppose any attempt to shut off debate on the anti-lynching bill.

"We cannot vote for cloture (debate limitation)," the Republican leader said. "We have few enough rights left, and we ought to try to preserve those we do have." Some proponents of the bill have urged a limitation on debate to end the filibuster of Southern members.

Southern senators, cheered by the Republican stand, asserted that there now was no chance the bill's sponsors could muster the necessary two-thirds vote to impose cloture. Without such a limitation, they said, their filibuster, now in its ninth day, could be kept going indefinitely.

FINE POLITICAL MEETING HELD HERE LAST SATURDAY

Large and Enthusiastic Gathering Hears Republican Sppeches At Courthouse

The atmosphere and things in general seemed like olden times around the courthouse in Clanton last Saturday morning, when the Republicans of the county came together for a general meeting and to listen to political and governmental questions discussed. The large court room was filled to more than seating capacity, and a poll was taken at the beginning of the meeting which revealed that every beat in the county was represented. It was really a fine, attentive, enthusiastic and most representative gathering of people that assembled in the courthouse.

The meeting was called to order by T. E. Wyatt, chairman of the Republican county executive committee, who made a few remarks regarding the purposes of the meeting and the plans of the county organization for the coming campaigh. The chairman made an appeal for harmony and unity in the meeting that was about to begin as well as throughout the coming campaign amongst all adherants to the party.

Judge J. Osmond Middleton was asked to take the floor and make a speech, then to serve as chairman for the remainder of the meeting. He responded with a brief but most rousing speech, calling attention to the shortcomings of the New Deal party at Washington, and from there on down to county matters here at home. Hon. Percy M. Pitts was then introduced, who made a short but pointed speech, appealing for a return of the county's management to the hands of the people, and for a united front among the Republicans of the county.

The chairman, after making some touching introductory remarks presented to the audience Judge L. H. Reynolds, who spoke to the audience for close to an hour, pointing out many of the evils and inconsistencies of the present State Democratic administration, also touching some on national and county conditions. The judge's speech dwelt at length with the evils and dangers of the present whiskey and beverage laws of the State and nation, which have been foisted upon the people by the Democrats and New Dealers under the guise of relieving the tax burdens of the citizens.

Hon. W. A. Reynolds also was called to the floor, who responded with a brief but pointed speech, referring to the need for governmental adjustments and the opportunities of the Republican party.

As expressed by the chairman, it was the hope of those in charge of the meeting to be able to hear short speeches from citizens from all over the county, but time would not permit. The meeting was brought to a close by the chairman of the county executive committee by appealing to all Republicans of the county to aid in arousing interest over the payment of poll taxes during the next few days

All in all, the meeting was a most decided success, and all went away feeling that the time consumed in the meeting was profitably spent,—the only misgiving was that there was not just more of it, and that the speakers could not say just a little more than htey did. But as a whole, the meeting was a grand success and was probably the beginning of the making of history for the future of Chilton county.

B. T. U. INFORMATION NEEDED

I am asking that the pastors of the Chilton Association see that someone writes out the following information and mails to me by February 15. If you don't have all the officers listed below, fill out the ones you have, and write "none" where you don't have them. Be sure to put in addresses of all officers, also. The following information is desired:

Name of church, preaching days and time, pastor, training union director, associate director, general secretary, adult president, senior president, intermediate leader, junior leader, story hour leader.

If any church doesn't have a B. T. U., and wants to have a study course and organize a department, please let me know at once. We want a B. T. U. in each of the 38 churches and at least one study course and more if we can. And we can! The Association will be glad to furnish the teachers.—Rev. Horace Kendrick, Thorsby, Ala.

W. G. CULP CONSIDERING RUNNING FOR TAX COLLECTOR

People are asking whether or not W. G. Clup is going to run on the Republican ticket for tax collector of Chilton county. Regarding this matter Mr. Culp authorizes us to make the following statement:

"I am not certain just yet whether I will announce or not; I may run and I may not. However, if my friends see fit not to pledge their support to anyone right now, I will appreciate it; because if I do decide to announce in the near future I would like for you to be free to vote for me if you want to. I promise you that I will make up my mind definitely within a few days."

MITCHELL DAM CLUB EXPRESSES REGRETS

Manager A. B. Stanley, speaking for the Mitchell Dam basket ball team, expresses regret for any inconvenience caused any of their fans by the cancelling of the Cardinals-Coca Cola game at the dam last Saturday night.

The Mitchell Dam officials were not informed that the Coca Cola team would be unable to make the trip on account of illness until too late to let it be known, and several people went to witness the game and were disappointed. For this Manager Stanley, Mitchell Dam officials, and the Cardinal team are regretful, and trust that their fans and well-wishers will be able to see their plight and continue to attend the games. You are cordially invited to all games, and officials will try to take special precaution to prevent a repetition of this regrettable incident.

CLANTON TO HAVE A CANDY FACTORY

Clanton is going to have a real candy factory in the near future. Mr. Joe Minsue, of Prattville, is coming here and is now engaged in installing his factory. The location will be in the first two doors across the railroad, formerly occupied by Joshua's pressing shop and Mr. O. O. Roper's store.

The factory will be in the Roper place, and the other place will be used as a storage room. It is to be a wholesale proper, but there will be a small space in the front devoted to the retail trade.

Mr. Minsue has already purchased a home in Clanton, and will remove his family from Prattville here this week. He has purchased one of Mr. V. J. Elmore's new brick bungalows out toward West End.

MRS. NORTON DIED IN THORSBY FRIDAY

Prominent Lady Was One Of First Settlers In Thorsby. Buried Sunday A.M.

Mrs. Elizabeth Goodwyn Norton, age 80 years, died at her home in Thorsby last Friday morning at 6 o'clock, following an illness of about three weeks. Funeral was Sunday at 11 o'clock at Thorsby Congregational church, conducted by Revs. L. L. Stanley and E. W. Butler. Burial was in Thorsby City cemetery, Martin directing.

Pallbearers were: C. R. Foss, H. R. Maddox, B. H. Sutlive, J. R. Ekblad, A. N. Laurell, Richard Peterson. Honorary pallbearers were: M. J. Soberg, J. O. Johnson, R. L. Primm, J. W. McCain, Sumner Gerald and J. L. Foss.

Surviving are: one son—Sereno G. Norton or Brunswick, Ga., and one sister—Mrs. Bella Payne of Mobile and Thorsby. There is one brother—Howard W. Goodwin of Kansas City, Mo. There are three grand children.

She was the widow of Sereno E. Norton, who died at Thorsby in 1933. Both were colorful figures in the early history and activities of Thorsby and of Thorsby Institute. They were charter members of the Congregational church at Thorsby, only two others of whom are now living.

Until his death in 1933, Mr. Norton had charge of the Thorsby Section of The Union-Banner, and since that time, Mrs. Norton has been attending to that work. This paper can only say that both served their posts faithfully and cared for the work in Thorsby to the complete satisfaction of all concerned. They really believed in Thorsby, their church, and Thorsby Institute, these three causes occupying most of their time and attention during the best part of their lives. The Nortons have left footprints around Thorsby that many, many years will be required to erase.

CLIFFORD M. MANNING FIRST TO ANNOUNCE FOR TAX ASSESSOR

The first announcement to be filed in the Republican column for Tax Assessor was Mr. Clifford M. Manning, of Beat 3, Isabella.

Mr. Manning is a young man, the son of the late Duncan O. Manning, one of the staunchest Republicans the county ever produced. So far as we have been able to observe and ascertain, Clifford is a chip off the old block, and can be depended on to measure up to the requirements of a staunch Republican.

Two years ago, he became prominently identified with the Young Republican movement in the county, and was elevated to the presidency of the county unit of that organization. He made several speeches in behalf of the party at different meetings in various beats during the campaign of 1936. He has proven himself to be a real go-getter who does not know how to fail.

A graduate of Isabella High School, Clifford Manning went to college at Auburn, but did not finish the course there. He has been prominently connected with the county organization of the F. F. A. for the past several years; is a born and bred farmer, and even at his youthful age, has made a success of his chosen occupation. We bespeak for him the greatest success in his new profession of county politics.

Liquor Possession In Dry Counties Illegal

Ruling Holds, Though Bought In A Wet County, Says Court of Appeals

Montgomery, Jan. 11. — The Alabama Court of Appeals ruled Tuesday that possession of alcoholic beverages, including beer, in dry counties was illegal, although the beverages might have been legally purchased in a wet county.

Judge James Rice wrote the decision, which covered both liquor and beer, although the appeal was specifically on a $50 fine levied against Welder Williams, in Walker County Circuit Court. The court held he must pay the fine.

The decision reversed a holding previously rendered by Attorney General A. A. Carmichael, which said so long as beverages were legally purchased from a state liquor store or a licensed dealer in a wet county they could be possessed in a dry county.

Court attaches said the ruling held in effect that the old state prohibition laws still were wholly in effect in counties which failed to vote wet and qualify for legal sales in a local option referendum last March 10.

TWO MEN ANNOUNCE FOR THE TWO COMMISSIONER PLACES

One man for each of the two vacancies to occur in the Commissioners Court has placed his announcement with the Probate Judge and filed other qualifications with the executive committee. They are: Mr. J. E. Cobb for the First District, and Mr. A. J. Davis for the Second District.

Neither of these gentlemen are new in politics. Mr. Cobb has been commissioner before, having served one term from 1931 through 1934. His record is before the people of the district and of the county.

Mr. Davis was in the race for the same place four years ago, and was defeated in the primary by Mr. John Bean, the present incumbent.

Mr. Davis is a sterling citizen and a life-long Republican. He lives in Beat 12 in the Union Grove community, and always takes an active part in the public enterprises of his community and county.

SAYS REPUBLICANS CAN'T LOSE NOW

James Gillespie says he is in good hopes now of the Republicans winning in the coming elections. As the reason of this jubilant spirit Mr. Gillespie related that a new recruit has been added to the Republican ranks—an 11-pound son was born to the family on Sunday night. The youngster has not been named yet.

KIWANIS MET WITH PILOT CLUB THURS.

Will Entertain In Honor Of Jesse Frank Foshee and Chilton Tigers Tonight

The Kiwanis Club of Clanton held its second regular meeting of 1938 last Thursday night by featuring a joint meeting with the Pilot Club of Clanton. As the two outstanding civic organizations of the community, such a joint meeting was most appropriate.

The program opened with delightful entertainment from one of our youngest stars, Miss Helen Hayes. She was most effective in a song and dance number, encored with another song.

Music was an important part of the program, a Kiwanis quartet rendering several vocal numbers. A feature of the program was a contest in which Mr. Luther Little, chairman of the program committee, dictated a letter composed of names of twenty popular songs, the dictation being in the form of opening bars of the songs, played by Mrs. Percy Pitts. The prize for getting the greatest number correct and thereby having the most complete letter was awarded to Mrs. Zora Guy Smith. Other prizes were awarded by drawing marked papers from a lot.

Another very important part of the program was the statement by the respective presidents of the two clubs, Miss Gertie Fiquette for the Pilots, and Mr. Patterson Hicks for the Kiwanis, of the objectives for the current year, and the promise of close cooperation between the two organizations in the realization of those objectives for community improvement.

Tonight Kiwanis conducts its third meeting as a salute to football. The guest of honor will be Clanton's own contribution to the Rose Bowl, Jesse Frank Foshee, and the members of the Chilton County High School football team will also be guests of the club.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

ALABAMA NEEDS MORE AND BETTER GARDENS

Auburn, Jan. 17. — "Alabama farmers should produce a $20,000,000 crop of vegetables, in addition to what they have been growing, to feed themselves," reports W. A. Ruffin, horticulturist of the Alabama Extension Service.

"Statistics on the production of vegetables for home consumption in Alabama show that these crops can be more than doubled and the minimum requirements will not be filled," he says.

"The 1935 census shows 273,455 farm families in Alabama. Of this number, 224,212 reported a garden; almost 50,000 families did not have a garden. This condition does not seem possible when all of these people are sure to have had some experience in growing collards, cabbage, onions, peas, potatoes, and turnips.

"From the same report it is found that the average farm garden produced only $34.00 worth of vegetables, a total for the state of $7,750,000 worth.

"A careful study of the food requirements for the average farm family in this state shows that a minimum budget for the purchase of fresh, dried and canned vegetables would be approximately $105.00 per family. On this basis the minimum requirements of the state for vegetables would amount to over $28,000,000.

"Alabama farmers spent in 1935 $8,000,000 for vegetables that could have been grown at home.

"These figures show that farmers in this state can increase their income and enjoy a more abundant life by applying good farming practices, such as proper fertilization, rotation, and succession of plantings, to the home garden," he concludes.

ALABAMA OFFERS MARKET FOR MORE GOOD CATTLE

Auburn, Jan. 17. — There is a cash market in Alabama at some price for Alabama produced beef cattle any day in the year, reports Dr. R. S. Sugg, livestock specialist, Alabama Extension Service.

At a recent meeting of packers and dealers in Birmingham, called by the State Chamber of Commerce and Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company, the following facts were established:

1. There is very little outlet in Alabama for cattle weighing 900 pounds or more. Birmingham is about the only market in the state for this type of cattle.

2. The greatest demand is for well bred cattle that will grade medium to good and weigh around 500 to 700 pounds.

3. Birmingham consumes about 500 head of cattle each week, 75 per cent of which comes from outside the state, principally Texas and Oklahoma.

4. There is a need for a supply of Alabama cattle each month of the year. At present plenty of cattle are available during the fall months, but the supply is light during the summer and winter months.

5. It is most important for farmers to know grades of cattle in order to understand market quotations.

6. There are two outlets for good quality, well bred cattle weighing around 500 to 600 pounds which can be produced on Alabama farms. They may be used for butchering purposes or for selling as feeders.

The profits from Alabama's beverage law for the month of November amounted to $240,970.00. Of this amount the state got $140,541, the counties $46,874, and the cities $46,764. One-half of the amount going to the counties is earmarked for public welfare. This will give the Welfare Department of each county $349.00.

The Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation is offering to purchase canned peas for distribution by state agencies, announces the AAA.

1938 FARM PROGRAM DISCUSSED AT AUBURN

Auburn, Jan. 17. — Workers of the Alabama Extension Service spent the past week here formulating plans for helping Alabama farmers increase their farm income and improve their living conditions during 1938.

The program includes:

1. Production of more and better livestock and livestock products to supply home needs and for sale.

2. The growing of sufficient foods and feeds for home consumption by families and livestock.

3. Higher yields per acre of crops and livestock in an effort to reduce production cost and to increase profits.

4. Conserving soil by terraces, cover crops, and forests.

5. Improved home life through the addition of conveniences in farm homes and the beautification of the homes and home grounds.

Plans were also made for the extension workers to cooperate with other state and federal agencies in administering programs beneficial to the farm people of the state.

The meeting was called by P. O. Davis, director, who presided at the meetings throughout the week. Various problems facing farmers of the state were fully discussed by livestock and crop specialists who will cooperate with county farm, home, and 4-H agents in getting farmers, farm women, boys and girls to adopt improved farm practices.

FAIRVIEW HOME DEM. CLUB

The Fairview Home Demonstration Club met on Tuesday, December 21, 1937, at the home of Mrs. J. D. Culp. Since Mrs. Culp is unable to belong to the club, and is so interested in the work, the club met with her. The members present were: Mesdames J. D. Williams, Dora Devaughn, W. L. Henley, G. M. Durbin, Ola Edwards, Bulah Williams, J. T. Cox; Misses Inez McKee and Sallie Jo Cox.

Visitors were: Mesdames Ollie Williams, Ruby Williams, Edith Mims, Ruth Gilliland, Mary Popwell.

The meeting began by singing "It Came Upon The Midnight Clear." A short but interesting Christmas program was rendered.

The demonstration was on the making of Christmas gifts, and on crystallizing fruit peels.

Each member enjoyed drawing of names and exchanging gifts. A Christmas box of candies, cookies, and fruit was given to Miss Grace as a gift from the club.

The club adjourned by singing "Joy To The World"; then a prayer by Mrs. J. D. Culp.—Reporter, Sallie Jo Cox.

ALPINE-PLETCHER NEWS

The Alpine-Pletcher club met December 10, at the home of Mrs. J. T. Walker. A very pleasant evening was enjoyed. The club discussed plans for raising money for the club treasury, and decided to make a club quilt and each member pay a dime to put a block in the quilt, then pay to vote on the nicest, neatest square the quilt has, and for the winner to get the quilt.

Miss Grace was with us and showed us some very inexpensive Christmas gifts. We also discussed the making of fruit cake. Sugar cookies, peanut brittle, and hot chocolate were served to the following members: Mesdames A. B. Jones, E. W. Walker, Charlie Johnson, Grady Davis, Elton Ousley, H. T. Ousley, J. T. Walker, Lester Walker.—Reporter, Mrs. Lester Walker.

The Alabama Extension Service and other agricultural agencies in the state are cooperating in broadcasting a 30-minute farm program daily between 11:30 and 12:00 o'clock over Station WAPI in Birmingham. The program is in charge of Harwood Hull, Jr., assistant agricultural editor.

State Capitol News

Gov. Graves last week reiterated his determination to wipe out gambling in Alabama when stalwart officers of the State Highway Patrol were dispatched to Shelby County after complaints had been received that many roadside gambling dives were operating openly.

Politics reached fever heat this week as one candidate for governor and about 30 aspirants for seats in congress, the state legislature, circuit solicitor and circuit judgeships had formally qualified as candidates by filing papers with Secretary of State Howell Turner.

Candidates who have thus far qualified are:

For Governor: Chauncey Sparks, of Eufaula.

Congress: 1st District, William C. Taylor and Frank W. Boykin, both of Mobile; 3rd District, James E. Folsom, of Elba; 9th District, Luther Patrick and Orville F. Rush, both of Birmingham.

Lieutenant Governor: E. Homer Brook, Birmingham.

Secretary of State: George Cameron, Tuscaloosa.

STATE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

At a recent meeting of the executive committee of the Alabama State Chamber of Commerce plans were perfected for carrying out work for the coming year along definite lines.

A Farm Products Marketing Committee was set up to continue work already begun by the state chamber and to map out carefully its future work in this broad field. J. C. Hodges of Birmingham was made chairman of this committee. A full committee representing various phases of agriculture in the state will proceed with the work of developing markets for farm products.

A Transportation Committee to consider and handle all matters dealing with transportation was named with Gen. R. E. Steiner as chairman. Various forms of transportation in the state will be represented on this committee, as well as shippers.

Under the direction of G. Arthur Cook, of Montgomery, a Manufacturing and Industries Committee was selected to direct the chamber's work in cooperating with existing industries and promoting further industrial development of the state.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR RESTORATION OF CITIZENSHIP

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, Dennis R. Williams, who was convicted in the Circuit Court of Chilton County for grand larceny and sentenced to 2½ to 3 years in the penitentiary, and who has already served about nine months of said sentence, and who has been out on parole on good behaviour since June 29th, 1934, will make application to the Hon. Bibb Graves, Governor of Alabama, for restoration of citizenship.—(Signed) DENNIS R. WILLIAMS. 1-20-2t-p

Grammar School P.-T. A. Has Outstanding Meeting Of Year—

The Clanton Grammar School P.-T.-A. held ts regular monthly meeting on last Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, in the sixth grade room of the school.

This was the largest and one of the most enthusiastic meetings that has been held in the last few years. About 95 members were present and the room was filled with others seated in the hall.

In the absence of the new president, Mrs. Christiansen, Mrs. Omar Reynolds called the meeting to order and presided.

Plans which had been made by a special executive board meeting were put before the P.-T. A. and were adopted.

The three objectives for the remaining year are :

1. To fill the basement of the old building, which endangers the lives of the school children;
2. To begin work on a library for each school room;
3. To feed the 15 underprivledged children who entered the Grammar school;
4. To work toward an eight-month school term.

The devotional for the afternoon was conducted by Miss Alice Powell.

Mrs. S. J. Ezell gave a most interesting discussion on our American youth.

George McCain, Jr., gave a piano solo, "The Soldier's March."

The half holiday given for the room having the most representatives was awarded the fifth grade, who had 21 mothers present; the sixth running a close race with 19 present.

Mrs. J. Renfro Mullins and Mrs. John Mullins complimented Mrs. Frank Scott—

Mrs. J. Renfro Mullins and Mrs. John Mullins entertained with a bridge party at the home of the latter on last Friday afternoon honoring Mrs. Frank Scott, who recently moved from Huntsville to make her home in Clanton.

Five tables were arranged in the living and dining rooms, which were effectively decorated in flowers of the season.

After a series of games high score prize was awarded Mrs. C. C. Craig. Traveling prize for the last little slam bid and made, fell to Mrs. M. C. Hayes and Mrs. J. Hance Alred. Mrs. John Hollis was awarded cut prize.

At a late hour the two hostesses served a tempting salad plate with hot coffee to the following guests:

Mrs. John McSwean, Mrs. J. Hance Alred, Mrs. M. C. Hayes, Mrs Frank Callen, Mrs. James Wade, Mrs. J. C. Page, Mrs. W. E. Huddleston, Jr., Mrs. Hugh Jones, Mrs. Arthur Johnson, Mrs. H. M. Simpson, Mrs. N. S. Johnson, Mrs J. P. Hayes, Mrs. Norman Roberts, Mrs. J. Watts Moore, Mrs. Frank Scott, Mrs. John Deramus, Mrs. Percy Pitts, Mrs. C. C. Craig, Mrs. C. R. Mullins, Mrs. Jake Shepherd.

The tea guests for the afternoon were: Mrs. John Hollis, of Mitchell Dam; Mrs. Otto Jones, Mrs. Hugh Foshee, Mrs. Joe Higgins, Mrs. Scott of Lawrenceburg, Ind.

Thursday Contract Club Entertained By Mrs. Arthur Johnson—

Mrs. Arthur Johnson was hostess to members of the Thursday Contract Club, at 2:30 o'clock, on last Thursday afternoon.

Two tables were arranged for bridge in the spacious living room. High score prize was awarded Mrs. James Wade.

Mrs Johnson served delicious refreshments and hot coffee to her guests. The following members and guests present were: Mrs. Hugh Jones, Mrs. J. P. Hayes, Mrs. L. F. Gerald, Mrs. J. Lee Smith, Mrs. James Wade, Mrs. J. C. Page and Mrs. C. C. Craig.

Mrs. John McSwean Hostess—

Mrs. John McSwean entertained members of the new Wednesday Contract Club at her home on last Wednesday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock.

After a series of bridge games Mrs. Frank Scott held high score, and was awarded the club prize. The guest prize fell to Mrs. Hugh Jones.

At a late hour tempting refreshments were served to the following guests: Mrs. Dubb Huddleston, Mrs. Jack Hayes, Mrs. John Mullins, Mrs. Frank Scott, Mrs. Claudie Pipes, Mrs. Claude Craig.

Mr. Walter Fiquette, who has been ill at Norwood hospital in Birmingham for the past week is recovering nicely. Mrs. Fiquette has been spending the time in Birmingham with her husband.

Miss Alice Powell is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. S. J. Ezell.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Smith announce the arrival of a fine baby boy.

Mrs. Norman Roberts Hostess To Clanton Study Club—

Members of the Clanton Study Club were entertained on Friday, January 6th, by Mrs. Norman Roberts.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Joe Mullins, president. During a short business session an interesting report was given by Mrs. L. C. Ross, chairman of a special committee, who are working to feed fifteen under priviledged children at the Clanton Grammar School. Mrs. Ross reported a sum of $24.00 had been collected and that several individuals were feeding a child for the remainder of the school term.

Roll call was answered with interesting events in Alabama.

The subject for the program was, "Octavus Roy Cohen." Mrs. M. C. Hayes in her most charming manner reviewed the life of Cohen.

"Transient Lady", a recent book by Mr. Cohen was most interestingly and ably reviewed by Mrs. N. S. Johnson.

Delightful refreshments were served by the hostess to: Mrs. J. E. Gowan, Mrs. J. P. Hayes, Mrs. M. L. White, Mrs. M. C. Hayes, Mrs. L. C. Ross, Mrs. N. S. Johnson, Mrs. Grady Heflin, Mrs. Hugh Jones, Mrs. John Vanderver, Mrs. Macy Jones, Mrs. Horsley White, Mrs. J. Watts Moore, Mrs Joe Mullins, Mrs. Renfro Mullins, Mrs. Omar Reynolds and Mrs. Barney Roberts.

Young Matrons Sewing Club Entertained by Mrs. Spurgeon Calloway—

Members of the Young Matrons Sewing Club were entertained last week by Mrs. Spurgeon Calloway at home on main street.

At a late hour delicious refreshments were served to the following members: Mrs. Dewey Rockett, Mrs. Grady Heflin, Mrs. Joe Higgins, Mrs. Bert Inzer, Mrs. Horsley White, Mrs. Loren Smith and Mrs George McCain.

Morgan Reynolds, who attends the University of Alabama, spent several days here this week

Mrs. Spurgeon Calloway and Mrs. R. R. Franklin spent the week end with Mrs. Fuller in Opp, Ala.

Mrs. W. E. Floyd, of Clayton ,Ala., is the guest of her daughters, Mrs. Dick Hayes nd Miss Margaret Floyd.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stanley had as their guests last week Mrs. Stanley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Walker, of Huntsboro, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wade returned last week from a several days visit with Mr. and Mrs. J. Q. Wade in Fort Myers, Fla. The latest report from Mr. J. Q. Wade, who has been ill for several months is that he is improving. His many friends will be delighted with such a favorable report.

Mrs. C. C. Craig, Mrs. John Mullins, Mrs. Clyde Blue and Mrs. Sam Roberts spent last Friday in Birmingham.

Mrs. Grady Reynolds spent several days in New Orleans last week with her mother, Mrs. Morgan, who is ill.

Mrs. Frank Gordon of Marion Ala., and Mrs. Bridges Thornhill of Monroe, La., were the guests of Mrs. Foshee Sunday.

The friends of Miss Helen Diefenderfer regret to know that she is ill in a Birmingham hospital after undergoing an appendicitis operation. The latest reports are that Miss Diefenderfer is resting nicely.

Mr. Tom Gann, of Birmingham, spent Monday and Tuesday here as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George McCain.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hayes had as their week end guest Miss Mary Harris of Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. George McCain spent last Friday in Montgomery.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Mullins were visitors in Montgomery last Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Blue of Kansas City, Mo., and Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Roberts of Birmingham, were recent guests of Mr and Mrs. C. C. Craig.

Mrs. L. F. Gerald and Miss Celia Gerald, spent last Friday in Birmingham.

UNION GROVE

Our Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. are progressing nicely, and we have several new members. We are proud of our new members and the interest they are showing.

The men and women of this community have been busy for some time, trimming the trees and planting shrubbery around the church. They are making plans to remodel the church some time in the near future.

Maynard's Chapel Senior B. Y. P. U. put on a very good program at this place Sunday night, and it was enjoyed by the large crowd out to hear them. We want to invite them to come again; also B. Y. P. U.'s from other places, for we are always glad to have visitors.

Next Sunday is our regular preaching day, everybody come out to Sunday school and church Sunday morning and don't forget B. Y. P. U. at 6 o'clock; preaching following.

Mrs. J. J. Johnson was carried to a Birmingham hospital Tuesday of this week.

Tramp: "Could you give a poor fellow a bite?"

Housewife: "I don't bite, myself, but I'll call the dog."

REFUGE

The services at this place were well attended last Sunday and Sunday night. The Sunday school report was the best in several months. The pastor, Rev. Lockhart, preached at both services, with the largest attendance at regular services in several years. The pastor stated that the offering exceeded any regular offering for the past 10 years. The service lasted until 1 o'clock Sunday. The pastor's subject for the 11 o'clock hour was "Service and Sacrifice", and that for Sunday night "The Crooked Made Straight."

A great deal has been said about a new church building at this place. We hope that this will become a reality before long.

Mrs. Claudie Easterling has just returned from the Central Alabama Hospital after spending a few days there under a doctor's care. She is reported to be doing fine at present.

Mr. J. W. Johnson also has been very sick with chicken pox, but is improving.

There seems to be a bitter to every sweet. We have had some sickness and deaths for the last few days.

James Vernon Easterling

Little James Vernon Easterling, the 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Sam Easterling, was called by death on Sunday afternoon, January 9, at 5 o'clock. He was sick only about 24 hours, with bronchial asthma. His death brought a great shock to this community.

Funeral services were held at Refuge church Monday, with Revs. G. G. Williams and H. D. Durbin officiating. Pallbearers were classmates: Odell Minor, Moses Connell, Horace Minor, Howard Mims, Willard Mims, and Troy Smith, all about his own age.

He leaves to mourn his loss: his parents, 3 brothers and 2 sisters.

Mary Elizabeth Easterling

On December 8th this community was saddened by the death of Mrs. Mary Easterling. At the time of her death she was living with her daughter, Mrs. Cora Easterling, and was the widow of Bennett Easterling. She leaves to mourn her loss: 6 children, 4 daughters, Cora, Essie, Cynthia, and Birdie; and 2 sons, Jim and Harvey. There is one brother, A. J. Johnson, and on sister, Mrs. R. W. Heflin.

The writer having lost his mother many years ago, can join in deep sympathy with the children in their bereavement; but our loss is heaven's gain.

She left many fine statements behind, one being that she was ready to go. Funeral services were held at Walnut Creek church, with the Revs. M. Lockhart and J. W. Enfinger officiating; Spigener directing. Pallbearers were: Roland Lee Easterling, Calvin Minor, Jadie Minor, Robert Mims, Reese Baker, Preston Easterling, Leonard Easterling.

Card of Thanks

We take this means of thanking our friends and neighbors for their kindness during the brief illness and untimely death of our little son and brother, James Vernon.

Especially do we thank the teachers and pupils of the school for the beautiful flowers. Also, thank Dr. Gragg and Martin and Sons for their kind service.—Mr. and Mrs. J. Sam Easterling and family.

Chestnut Grove

We are glad to say that the health of this community is very good at present. Bro. Dewey Robinson filled his regular appointment here Sunday at 11 o'clock. He delivered a good message.

Mrs. Gladys Wood and Misses Clarisse and Wilmer Lucas spent the week end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Lucas.

Miss Lillian Martin of Wylam, spent the week end here with her sister Miss Rosa Lee Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Denson spent the day Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lin Denson.

Master Aaron Nabors and Miss Frances Lucas were happily married at 7 o'clock Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Jones of Jemison. We wish for them a happy and prosperous life together. They are spending their honeymoon with relatives in Ensley this week. They will make their home with Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Nabors this year.

Mr. J. R. Hall was in town Saturday on business.

Mr. T. L. Lucas was in town Saturday on business.

It was the first time she had been to dinner with them, and they smiled indulgently as she refused a whiskey and soda.

"I've never touched it in my life," she explained.

"Why not try it?" urged her host. "See if you like the taste."

She blushed and shyly consented, and he poured her out a mixture which she delicately raised to her lips.

"Why," she cried, "you've given me Scotch."

"Do you know what good clean fun is?"

"No. What good is it?"

COOSA-ALABAMA CANAL WILL PAY

Montgomery, Jan. 17. — Canalization of a $39,000,000 Coosa-Alabama waterway was indicated Saturday as self-liquidating in an estimate presented army engineers by representatives of Gov. Graves.

The chief executive said data given Col. Frank Park, district chief of U. S. army engineers, showed the project would pay for itself through increasing the flow of commerce in the Coosa-Alabama area between Rome, Ga., and Mobile, Ala.

"The rivers likely would be raised to six feet in the initial undertaking and then the nine-foot channel gradually attained," the governor said. A six-foot channel would cost about $26,000,000.

Army engineers reported two years ago the waterway feasible as an engineering project, but reported its economic aspects adversely.

A negro, the father of 12 children, all rocked in the same cradle, was putting his latest arrival to sleep.

"Rastus," said his wife, "that cradle's just about wore out."

"Hit sho' is," replied Rastus. "Next time we'll get a good one that'll last."

Husband: "Let's have some fun this evening."

Bored Wife: "O. K., and please leave the light on in the hall if you get home before I do."

Art Dealer: "This is the only Rembrandt for sale in all Europe."

Miss: "But you told me you had two."

Art Dealer: "Yes, the other one isn't quite ready yet."

"Pa, may I have a quarter to go to the circus?"

"What? A quarter to see the circus, and here only last week I let you go out at night to see the eclipse of the moon! Young man, do you want your life to be one perpetual round of gaity?"

Men are peculiar, just as women have long suspected. For instance, a fellow who hadn't kissed his wife in five years shot a fellow who did.

Bronchial Coughs Need Creomulsion

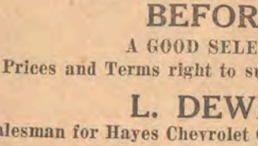
Just a common cough, a chest cold, or a bronchial irritation of today may lead to serious trouble tomorrow. They may be relieved now with Creomulsion, an emulsified Creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medicinal combination designed to aid nature in soothing and healing infected mucous membranes by allaying irritation and inflammation and by aiding in loosening and expelling the germ-laden phlegm.

The Medical Profession has for many years recognized the beneficial effect of Beechwood Creosote in the treatment of coughs, chest colds, and bronchial irritations. A special process was worked out by a chemist, for blending Creosote with other ingredients and now in Creomulsion you get a real dose of genuine Beechwood Creosote which is palatable and can even be taken frequently and continuously by both adults and children.

Creomulsion is one preparation that goes to the very seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm. When coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles—due to common colds—hang on, get a bottle of Creomulsion from your druggist, use it as directed, and if you are not satisfied with the relief obtained, the druggist is authorized to refund every cent of your money. Creomulsion is one word—not two, and it has no hyphen in it. Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief that you want. Adv

SORE THROAT WITH COLDS Given Fast Relief

Take 2 Bayer Tablets with a full glass of water.



Crush 3 Bayer Tablets in ⅓ glass of water—gargle twice every few hours.

The speed with which Bayer tablets act in relieving the distressing symptoms of colds and accompanying sore throat is utterly amazing . . . and the treatment is simple and pleasant. This is all you do. Crush and dissolve three genuine Bayer Aspirin tablets in one-third glass of water. Then gargle with this mixture twice, holding your head well back.

This medicinal gargle will act almost like a local anesthetic on the sore, irritated membrane of your throat. Pain eases promptly; rawness is relieved.

You will say it is remarkable. And the few cents it costs effects a big saving over expensive "throat gargles" and strong medicines. And when you buy, see that you get genuine BAYER ASPIRIN.

HOW I BECAME A RADIO STAR

By

"THE VOICE OF EXPERIENCE"

It has been my lot to probe the souls of more men and women perhaps, than any other man now living. But my early training was to cure their bodies. For I had determined to be a surgeon. My father was an evangelical missionary; my mother a settlement worker. From the beginning it seemed to be my destiny to serve people.

Music was an inborn talent and at nineteen I was earning my way through medical school by playing the pipe organ—one of the youngest organists in the world, playing many of the country's largest organs as guest or concert artist. I was happy. Medicine came to me like something remembered; the organ was a mighty river of almost tangible harmony, light and color, in which I rested and revived my strength and ideals. Life was warm; the future seemed assured—I was happy.

But plenty of money and an insatiable curiosity about life are not always the best equipment for nineteen. It seemed to me, callow as I was, that I had become a man of the world. The present became satisfyingly vivid; the future and the ideal of service became a distant, Never Never Land, warming to contemplate, but from whose labor of achievement I instinctively shrank. Then, as if the high gods had decided to discipline me, things began to happen.

First I met Gypsy Smith, that sublime evangelist, quite by chance. He didn't know my name, nor I his. But he did recognize a soul-sick boy. He toppled my pretty house of cards in one talk. Through his eyes I saw the petty egotist I had become. Then, tragically it seemed, an automobile accident destroyed my hands for both music and surgery. I was through; life was finished!

But in the long convalescence the seeds that Gypsy Smith had planted stirred, grew in my soul—the old ideal of service to humanity, once almost dead through success, blossomed again.

Recovered, I spent five and a half years with the human flotsam and jetsam which life had cast up on the Barbary Coast, and in the underworlds of Seattle, Denver and Butte. I knew intimately the drunkard, the drug addict, the murderer, the thief, the unmoral and immoral man and woman of every stripe and background. "Why did you do it?" I cried, "What made you take the first step? What are you really after?" I lived those five and a half years as an inquirer in Hell!

Afterward I spent other years studying soul-sick men and women in many parts of the world. I examined the most intellectual persons in the oldest civilizations—and the Aborigines of Australia. Strangely, the most vivid conviction I brought out of the world's slime, was of the unquenchable glory of the human spirit. At length, I said, "I am ready!"

I spoke before hundreds of schools and colleges; from the lecture platforms of almost every American city. Someone suggested that I hold radio forums in connection with my talks and these attained such popularity that today I speak on a nation-wide hook-up of the Mutual Broadcasting System five times a week.

The Voice of Experience? Yes, but not merely my experience. Speaking through me are the hopes, despairs, successes, failures, anguishes of the thousands of tortured human souls I have studied.

Dr. Scholl's Foot Happiness Caravan

This traveling unit of Dr. Scholl's Foot Comfort Service, staffed with factory experts of Dr. Wm. M. Scholl, world noted foot authority, comes here Saturday, January 22. These experts are conducting a one-day demonstration at Levine Brothers store, with the complete line of Dr. Scholl's scientific shoes, foot comfort appliances, and remedies. This is the most complete demonstration of its kind ever held here.

WILL INTRODUCE NEW, UNIQUE FOOT RELIEF SERVICE

Dr. Scholl's Scientific Shoes Will Be Demonstrated On January 22 At Levine Brothers Store

They say that truth is stranger than fiction and that old adage may be aptly applied to this story. To build shoes that would satisfy the most discriminating taste and at the same time fit comfortably has been the despair of shoe manufacturers.

Years ago Dr. Scholl, the well known foot authority, began to work on a line of shoes that would completely solve this knotty problem. When he gave to the foot-suffering public his famous line of scientific shoes, his efforts were crowned with success.

Levine Brothers, headquarters for Dr. Scholl's foot comfort appliances and remedies, has arranged with Dr. Scholl to demonstrate his scientific shoes at their store on Saturday, January 22. Dr. Scholl's foot and shoe experts will bring with them advane showings of the complete line of Dr. Scholl's new style shoes. There will be 622 fittings to meet the most fastidious tastes and all types of feet, in sizes for men from 6 to 14; for women from 2½ to 13; in widths from AAAA to EEE.

Unless one has made an intensive study of the feet, one would never realize how many different kinds of feet there are. Here is a woman who has a short, stubby foot; the next is a man with a long, slim foot with a narrow heel; the next customer has a high arch, and his friend, weak, broken down arches. Then there are legions who have foot troubles, such as corns, callouses, bunions, crooked and overlapping toes, and those who continually run their heels over. In short, many people will tell you "I have the hardest foot in the world to fit." It is this class, Mr. Levine says, who should be vitally interested in Dr. Scholl's scientific shoes.

With this array of shoes there will be included the latest model X-ray machine, the Pedograph, and Dr. Scholl's automatic shoe sizer. In testing feet and fitting these shoes all guesswork is eliminated.

Dr. Scholl has given the growing feet of children the same careful consideration as he has adults. He claims that many of the foot ailments from which men and women suffer today can be traced back to improperly made or fitted shoes when their feet were in the tender, plastic stage of childhood.

GROVER C. WALKER CONSIDERING RUNNING FOR REPRESENTATIVE

Clanton, Ala., Jan. 18, 1938.

Editor Union-Banner:

I wish to say to the people of Chilton County, through your newspaper that at the proper time, I will qualify as a candidate for Representative in the Legislature from Chilton County.

I also want to say to the voters and to the people of our County, that I am opposed to the present road laws for Chilton County, and will make every effort, if elected to repeal these laws. I am in favor of a government by the people and I am opposed to a government by one or two individuals.—Signed, G. C. Walker.

SOIL CONSERVATION SERVICE

There were 108 local farmers at the close of 1937 cooperating with the Soil Conservation Service in the Clanton erosion control demonstration area in perfecting and demonstrating a sound, long time soil and water conservation program for this section.

The demonstration area was started October 2, 1935, and Camp Supt. James H. Wood reports that during the last year more progress in the development and demonstration of effective erosion control practices was made than has been made in any previous year.

Cooperating farmers in the area have increased the acreage of erosion resisting crops on their farms 729 acres since they set out with help of the government to set their farms up as living erosion control demonstrations. They have protected 2,190 acres with approved terraces, planted 1,088,000 trees, and have adopted approved crop rotations on 2,465 acres.

Those figures, however, reflect only a part of the work they are doing in the unified erosion control program, which includes contour cultivation, strip cropping, pasture improvement, woodland management, wildlife encouragement, and other practices needed to control erosion and make the bes tuse of every acre on the farm, Mr. Wood explained.

Mr. Wood suggested that nearby farmers visit some of these demonstration farms, talk with the farmers, and see for themselves. Information about the best erosion control farming practices for this section can also be obtained from the local county agent or the workers at the local Soil Conservation Service project office.

HOME DEMONSTRATION NEWS

The home demonstration women of Chilton County are now ready to enter into one of the most interesting and helpful contests they have ever worked upon, that of kitchen improvement.

The purpose of the contest is to encourage the women of Chilton County to improve their kitchens to the greatest advantage with the least money. The contest begins now and ends on June 30. The rules, items of improvement, and score card will be found in in Circular 104, published at Alabama Polytechnic Institute. The name of this circular is "Your Kitchen". Miss Meta E. Grace has a supply of these circulars at her office.

All kitchens being entered in the contest will be scored upon entrance and at the end of the contest. A complete and itemized record must be kept of all improvements and amount of money spent. The judges will be non-interested parties.

All the committee will join in contest but not receive prizes. Just as soon as the prizes are completed they will be published.

FIDDLERS CONVENTION

There will be an old time fiddlers convention at Stanton Jr. High School on Wednesday night at 7 o'clock. All fiddle, guitar, mandolin, or banjo players are invited; buck dancers too—its all for fun. There will be prizes for the best. If you like music, come and enjoy it. 1-20-2t

Maynard's Chapel

On last Sunday afternoon there was a good singing and a large crowd at Maynard's Chapel. Everyone enjoyed the evening.

We want to thank the Oak Grove singers for all their good singing. Also we want to thank the quartet from Liberty Hill, composed of: Mr. Lowery, Mr. Littlejohn, Mr. Chambers and Mr. Littlejohn for their good songs; and the church as a whole invite them back at any time. We also had a Mr. Cleckler from Pleasant Grove that done some good singing. The Glasscock brothers of Jemison, done some fine singing and we all enjoyed every minute of the evening and invite them back again the 3rd Sunday of next month.

We were glad to have Bro. E. P. Littlejohn and Mr. Lowery from Liberty Hill. We give every one of these a cordial invitation to come back to our church at any time they wish to.

Bro. Earnest Jones will preach next Sunday, January 23rd. We are hoping to have a large crowd.

Miss Ruby Vaughn of Birmingham, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Maynard is returning home today. We are sorry to see her go.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Robinson of our community have a new member in their family, a fine baby girl.

Maynard's Chapel senior B. T. U. put on a program at Union Grove last Sunday night. Everybody had a nice time.

MRS. PARATINE BEAN

Mrs. Paratine Bean, age 71, died at her residence, Clanton R 4, Saturday morning, after a brief illness.

Funeral services were held Sunday morning at 11 o'clock at New Salem church, with Rev. W. P. Lowery officiating, assisted by Rev. Homer Carroll. Interment was in the adjoining cemetery, Spigener directing.

Pallbearers were Dolphus Harris, Russell Bean, James Bean, Herman Gore, Horace Miller, and Alfred Davenport. Flower girls were Allene Miller, Kathleen Smith, Edna Harris, and Hilda Smith.

She is survived by: 4 daughters—Mrs. Robert Gore, Mrs. Lee Gore, Mrs. Hubert Smith, all of Clanton, and Mrs. Robert Davis of Florence, Ala.; four sons—W. J., J. H., W. H., and Amos, all of Clanton; 16 grandchildren and 5 great-grandchildren.

FROM W. M. DEVAUGHN AT DALTON, GEORGIA

The Union-Banner is in receipt of an interesting letter from Prof. W. M. Devaughn, who is teaching a singing school at Dalton, Ga. This city, you no doubt know, is the home of the A. J. Showalter Music Company. Prof. Devaughn is teaching with Prof. W. Lee Higgins, the field manager of the Showalter Company. His letter follows:

"I really enjoy reading the dear old Union-Banner; it is really just like a letter from home. I have just gotten in from the greatest singing I have ever attended; it was right here at one of the Baptist churches in Dalton. There were around 1,000 people present, and such interest you have never seen. We went to singing at 1:30 o'clock and had to turn on the lights before it was over. There was from one to 10 people on the floor shouting all the time.

"Our school is good and getting better all the time; there are four more weeks to go yet. We are putting on a concert every Saturday night from now to the close of the school. It looks as though I will be busy teaching in and around Dalton most of the Spring; a church in East Chattanooga, 30 miles away, is planning on having school soon.

"There are twelve churches in Dalton, and we have pupils in our school from every church; so you see what interest the people here have. Mr. Higgins is busy getting our new book out; it will be ready by February 20th. I would like to have the orders from all Chilton county people.

"The people in Georgia believe in W. Lee Higgins, and really give him their support. It is certainly a pleasure to work with such a princely man and such a real musician as he is.

"Everybody is awfully nice to me over here, and I enjoy their associations so much; yet, I cannot help from getting a little blue and longing for the time when I can shake hands with my old Chilton county friends again. Give all my kindest regards.—W. M. Devaughn."

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

I can see my life from the earth side,
I can feel its sorrows and pains,
I can taste its joys and its gladness,
I can sense its losses and pains;
But I can see only the earth side,
The other side is closed to my view,
I can see it but darkly,
I can see it but partly,
But God sees the other side too.

Some day I shall stand on the heaven side,
Some day with the Lord I shall be,
Some day through the glories up yonder,
The whole of my life I shall see;
And shall I then care for my losses?
Shall I then care for trouble and pain?
With the heaven-side glory
To light up the story,
My losses will only be gain.

But now, while I stand on the earth side,
Just now when but dimly I see,
My Lord bids me never to doubt Him,
But to praise Him, though dark it may be.

'Twill be easy to praise on the heaven side,
On the earth side 'tis easy to fear,
Through eternity's ages,
We shall echo God's praises,
But the praise life commences down here.—Jennie E. Shepardson.

The attendance at both Sunday school and church services was good last Sunday. Hoping our Sunday school superintendent will be able to be with us next Sunday; let's meet him with 100 per cent attendance at Sunday school at 9:45, then hear the program at the general assembly at the end of the class period.

Then let's hear our pastor in another good message at 11 a.m., and 6:30 p.m.

Young people, you are again urged to come right on with your organization and make it known by the work it is doing for the church. Meeting Sunday 5:45 p.m.

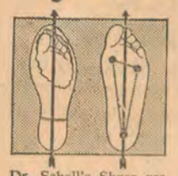
What Dr. Scholl's Foot Comfort Service Means to You



Wm. M. Scholl M.D., D.S.C.

More than 30 years ago Dr. Scholl began an intensive study of the feet—the causes of foot troubles, how to detect them and how to provide immediate relief. Today his fame as a noted foot authority has spread to every civilized country.

During these years of laboratory and clinical study he has produced a Dr. Scholl Foot Comfort Appliance or Remedy for every common foot trouble such as weak, broken-down arches, rheumatic-like pains in the feet and legs, tired, aching feet, corns, callouses, bunions and "Athlete's Foot".

One of his outstanding contributions to the relief of foot suffering has been the development of

AN UNPLEASANT JOLT

A great many people who are still under the influence of the musical score of "Happy Days Are Here Again," and who refused to believe there is a real "recession," blaming it on to the "economic royalists" who were seeking to "scare the people," were unpleasantly surprised by the announcement of the General Motors Corporation, just before the first of the year, of the decline in employment. That such a statement could be anticipated has been evident for some time to those who have studied the situation.

The economic situation is no longer one that can be laughed off. Everybody hopes that spring will bring a new and happier story. In the meantime the situation calls not for back-biting and bickering, but for the sound and sane cooperation of all Americans who have the future welfare of their country at heart.

That the New Deal policy of heavy expenditure for priming the pump and putting the government in business has failed after five years of effort is now evident. It seems to be a good time to return to some of the older ideals which we discarded because they belonged to the Horse and Buggy Age. In any program founded on constructive effort it is the duty of every American to cooperate, just as it is his duty to oppose policies which would eventually end in ruinous inflation.

In the meantime, the silliest argument heard is that big business is purposely bringing on the recession to "punish" the New Deal, because of disagreement with its program. Business has no partisan politics and is interested only in results. If the present administration were to give us sound prosperity, business, big and little, would be for this administration. Business never cuts off its nose to spite its face.

A chemical expert says the peril from gas during warfare has been greatly exaggerated. Maybe he thinks that having survived so much political gas the American people ought to be immune.

"SAVING" THE FARMER

Whatever happens, we are to have a new farm law, and by all present indications it will be fearfully and wonderfully made. It will subsidize and regiment the farmer on a scale and scope beyond the wildest dreams of AAA. No possible form of bonus or control appears to have been overlooked. The program contemplicated system of soil conservation, adjustment contracts, benefit payments for both conserving soil and reducing acreage, on marketing quotas, acreage allotments and penalty taxes. It directly controls the five major crops, wheat, corn, cotton, tobacco and rice.

The measure rests on an elaborate foundation of economic fallacies. It makes guestures toward restoring the income and price "parties" between "industry" and "agriculture" existing a quarter of a centry ago, in spite of the profound changes in the conditions of production that have come since then. It assumes that there is a fixed, unchanging "normal" supply for each crop. Above all, it attempts to put into practice the principle of scarcity; it tries to protect the farmer's prices by preventing the total crop from going above a certain amount in any one year. It will, in addition, force the good farmer on good land to contract his acreage as much as the inefficient farmer on poor land, thus tending to keep average costs of production high. Its so-called "evernormal granary" provisions will, in effect oblige the government to assume the risks hitherto carried by professional speculators. All experience shows that when governments carry stocks of this sort their amount and their disposal are determined far more by political than by economic forces.—New York Times.

A farm bill of some 30,000 words would convince the farmers that they have something to plow under.—Troy, N. Y., Record.

A ship was wrecked. One of the passengers was cast up on an island. There he had nothing to eat but grass. And he thanked the Good Lord because his wife was not there to put mayonnaise on the grass.—Atchison Globe.

Those weak-kneed Republicans who think everything is the matter with their own party ought to get a box seat in Congress and watch the gladiatorial combat between the Democrats.

Now that Rheims Cathedral has been restored and Germany has signed a new treaty guaranteeing Belgium's neutrality, Europe is right back where it was in 1914.—Kalamazoo Gazette.

OUR FISCAL STATUS

There is a public concern over the fiscal status of the government, but over what it may cause to befall us in the future, and not so much over what it has yet done to the taxpayer. Besides, as Gen. Hugh Johnson points out, another depression would find us helpless. We have used up too much of our credit to put up another fight.—Portland Oregonian.

Father (to young man sucking his thumb)—Don't bite that thumb off. You may need it when you get old enough to travel.—The Churchman.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

While the President's annual budget message to Congress provided figures which were of little surprise to members of Congress or others who had studied the state of the nation, a careful perusal of the same may serve to jar the complacency of many Americans who have insisted on believing that everything is all right and the government can take care of them. Promises of a balanced budget have gone by the board. The deficit in the year 1939, which is still months ahead of us, will be at least a billion dollars and it is generally admitted that it will probably go above these figures unless there is an unexpected bulge in tax returns next year.

The President, in hoping to hold the 1939 dificit around a billion dollars, is anticipating a reduction of government expenditures in the sum of $539,000,000. This is anticipating a long time ahead. To expect that Congress, facing an election, will actually cut appropriations for running the government a half billion dollars, in this time of mounting relief expenditures and increased demands for money from every state and congressional district, is asking a great deal. It just dosen't seem humanly possible. The President himself said:

"It is fair to say that this estimated reduction may, by force of circumstances become smaller because of future events which today cannot definitely be foretold. I refer specifically to the possibility that, due to world conditions over which this nation has no control, I may find it necessary to request additional appropriations for national defense.

"Futhermore, the economic situation may not improve—and if it does not, I expect the approval of Congress and the public for additional appropriations if they become necessary to save thousands of American families from dire need."

Therefore, it is to be seen that hope for holding the 1939 deficit to approximately a billion dollars depends on two things—improvement in world conditions and of business in the United States. So far as the present fiscal year of 1938 is concerned, ending on June 30 next, the estimated deficit now is more than a billion dollars. Last April in making his estimate of the deficit for 1938 the President placed the figures at $408,000,000. It is to be hoped that his figures for 1939, pessimistic as they are, will not turn out to be as disappointing as those for 1938. The estimated deficits, if they grow no more than now anticipated, will place our national debt at an all time high of 38 and a half billion dollars. There are many who believe that by June 30, 1939, the debt will have risen to something near forty billions.

The President recommends that the government expenditures be reduced by cutting off funds for road improvement, rivers and harbors and other public work which can be delayed. There can be no question that trimming of expenditures all along the line is necessary. Nobody wants any American citizen to face the danger of freezing or starving. But in order that we may not run into something worse in the future than we now face, it ought to be recognized that this is a period for relief and recovery, not for social experimentation. If Such experimentation is discontinued, there can be a real paring of expenditures and a genuine move toward balancing the budget.

Fixed expenditures of the government now seem to approximate seven billions a year. Before the World War they were less than one billion. What a change there has been since we left the Horse and Buggy Age! If we are to continue spending at the rate of seven billions a year, it may be impossible for the government to raise enough money by taxation to balance the budget. Higher tax rates will defeat their own purposes, and sooner or later, we shall face a genuine impairment of the public credit.

Everyone hopes we can avoid this predicament and that a way will be found to reduce expenditures and make a real move toward balancing the budget. In the meantime it must be apparent to all that things have gone awry. The old 1936 New Deal battle cry of "happy days" has been silenced. It is no longer claimed that "we planned it this way."

PEAK OF ABSURDITY

Last night's tirade by Secretary of the Interior Ickes set a new peak in absurdity, a preposterous and demagogic attempt to show that "sixty families" dominate the United States and control its industry, its economy, its employment. The Secretary had read a book, written by a sensational author, and borrowed from it. His theme was a repetition of a statement bandied around the country, usually good for applause around Union Square soap boxes, but known for its foolishness wherever there is sober thought.

The industry and the property of the country are owned by millions of persons. There is hardly a single home in the country that is not in some way represented directly or indirectly by stock and bond holdings in the various companies, large and small, which make up the industry of the United States.

Neither individuals of large means nor those of small have the slightest desire to pull down their houses over their heads. To hold them responsible for great unemployment, for falling off in business, is not only absurb but has no foundation whatsoever. Such statements can only be regarded as a demagogic trick to delude people into seeking cheap, fictitious explanations for the recent shrinkage in business and industrial activity. —New Haven Register.

PROPAGANDIST TEACHERS

School teachers are the employes of the state and as such should eschew political doctrines in any and all information they have to impart to the young. Whatever the political or economic theories they espouse are matters of personal determination; they possess no right whatever to attempt to shove these down the throats of the children given to their charge.—Victoria Colonist.

Japan is now threatening a 1,000-mile drive into the enterior of China. The Japs should remember that the trip home is just as long and the roads aren't any too good.

Washington newspapers report that 12,000 motorists had failed to buy their automobile tags by January first, as required by law, if the cars are to be operated. These 12,000 motorists are economic royalists who are on a tag buying strike to embarrass the New Deal.

WHAT IT WOULD COST

It has been estimated that it would $50,000,000,000 to this country to wage a against Japan, and that it would require years, at least, to bring such a conflict to cessful conclusion. But no one has est ed what it would cost in the lives of y Americans drafted into service, nor in s for the bereaved ones at home.

We must face the issue in realistic ion. Whether we approve or disapprov moral grounds, of Japanese actions, are prepared to pay the price which must be if we adopt the role of world policeme enforce our own tenets of decency?

COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

According to a story which appeared recently in the newspapers, a man 83 years old died. All his life he had refused to visit a cemetery. But eventually he took a trip to the city of the dead. We watch the crowds go by and wonder where they are going. They are all marching toward eternity! Eternity—mother of cycles, and parent of ages! The greatest question is, "Where shall I spend eternity?" According to the Bible, there are only two places—heaven and hell. The Bible says there is no other name given under heaven among men whereby we can be saved but the name of Jesus. If that is true—and I believe the Bible is the Word of God—then the people who read these lines who have not accepted Christ should accept Him immediately. What does it mean to accept Christ? According to my understanding of the Bible, it simply means that I turn myself over to Him and trust Him and no one else to save me. I speak reverently. My salvation is "up to Christ". If He fails me, I am ruined forever. I am not trusting my church membership or my good works. I am trusting Him. He will not fail me.

"Can I know I am saved?" I am often asked that question in my evangelistic work. The Bible teaches that we can know it. "These things I have written unto you, that believe on the name of the Son that ye may know ye have eternal life." Some people hesitate to say they know they are saved because it sounds like they are boasting of their righteousness. They are wrong. I know I am saved, not because I feel it. I feel it because I know it. Feeling is mentioned just twice in the Bible and it is never mentioned in connection with salvation. I know I am saved because God's Word tells me so. The Bible says, "He that hath the son hath life." The best I know how I have accepted Christ as my Savior. If I have accepted Christ I have Christ. If I have him I have life. That is, I am saved. Now, if I doubted my salvation after having sincerely accepted Christ, then I am doubting the Word of God. No man can know that he is saved apart from the Word of God. "We know we have passed from death unto life because we love the brethren." The book says that. After I was converted I loved the brethren, but I would not have known that was a sign I was saved if the Bible had not told me. People talk about having the witness of the Spirit, but they would know nothing about the witness of the Spirit if they did not have the Bible. When I was a boy we used to sing "When I can read my titles clear to mansions in the sky." We read our title to a mansion in the sky in the Word of God. He that hath the Son hath life. If we have Christ we have salvation. We have forgiveness. We have regeneration. We have heaven. We have everything. He is all and in all.

Tennessee Valley Wildlife Agreement Is Given Approval

A significant step in the development of the vast potential wildlife resources of the Tennessee River Valley in Alabama was taken last week when Commissioner I. T. Quinn, of the State Department of Conservation of Game, Fish and Seafoods, approved a cooperative agreement between federal and state agencies for a definite wildlife program in the area. The cooperating agencies are the Alabama Department of Conservation, the Tennessee Valley Authority, the U. S. Bureau of Biological Survey, and the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries.

The program includes the construction of a fish hatchery on TVA lands, and the establishment of raising ponds by TVA. This work will be directed by the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries, the same agency that operates the big hatchery at Marion, Ala. The planting of fish from this place will be supervised by the Alabama Department of Conservation.

Further developments will include the establishment of refuges for wildlife, including waterfowl, on lands owned by TVA, and their management, operation and development by the U. S. Bureau of Biological Survey and the Alabama department.

Negotiations have been under way for several months looking toward a definite program, and with approval of the plan it is believed development of the area will proceed satisfactorily in the near future.

Two Bobcats Killed

A Clarke County man went turkey hunting recently and returned with two big bobcats and no turkeys. When J. H. Davis, of Dickinson, heard wild turkeys scratching under a hill, he crept close enough to hear their sounds of alarm. Looking around for the cause, the hunter saw a big cat slipping up on the turkeys. He shot the cat and remained seated. The turkeys did not fly, and soon they appeared alarmed again. The hunter spied another bobcat slinking through the bushes, and shot that one also. The turkeys flew away, and he did not get a shot at them.

NORTH BEACH AIRPORT

A fleet of 100 powerful GMC trucks —the sturdiest of their type ever developed—has been designated to transport the 9,000,000 cubic yards of earth from Riker's Island that will make North Beach Airport, near the New York World's Fair cite, the largest airport in the world.

These huge trucks, weighing 3,500 pounds each and capable of carrying loads of 7½ to 10 tons, have been ordered of the General Motors Truck & Coach Division of Yellow Truck & Coach Manufacturing Co., of Pontiac, Mich.

Enlargement and improvement of the North Beach Airport, which is only a mile and a half from the fair's water gate in Flushing Bay, is already well under way by the Works Progress Administration, to prepare the landing field for the great influx of air-borne visitors to the fair, which opens in 1939.

The Tigers Win By 5 Points

The Chilton County High School basketball team went to Wetumpka last Friday night and won a very exciting game, pulling out a 25 to 20 victory. Each team played very good basketball with one exception, it should have been called a football game instead of basket ball; maybe the Wetumpka boys was trying to get revenge for the football game that the Tigers won from them. Melton was again high point man.

Tigers Wins Over Jemison

The Tigers played a return game with Jemison last Saturday night, and won by a small margin of 6 points.

This proved to be a very exciting game, each team playing with lightning speed. At the end of the first quarter the score was 5 and 3 in favor of Jemison, and it looked as if the Tigers had lost. During the second quarter the score was pulled up to 7 all.

The game still gained speed, but neither team was able to run up a big score. During this quarter each team displayed some splendid pass work. At the end of this quarter the score was 11 to 12, in favor of Jemison. The final quarter began, and the Tigers began to shoot. They were able to shoot 9 points in the last quarter, while Jemison were able to shoot only 2 points; this making the score 20 to 14 in favor of Clanton.

Each player played good but no one could be called a star. For correct scores see the following:

Farm And Home Study Groups Announced

Each year the vocational departments in our State hold classes for those people who are not enrolled in school. At those meetings problems of interest to both farm men and women are discussed. This year the vocational department of the Chilton County High School is going to hold its meetings at Concord, one of the most progressive units in the county.

The ladie's group will be led by Miss Virginia Cook, teacher of Vocational Home Economics, and the men's group by Mr. J. H. Jackson, teacher of Vocational Agriculture, subjects to be discussed will be determined by the wishes of the people. Dates of those meetings will be announced later.

We are hoping that the interest of those people will be shown by their attendance of the meetings.

ENTERPRISE CLUB NEWS

The Enterprise 4-H Club boys met with Mr. Ivey last Friday, January 7. This was the first meeting of the new year.

The meeting was called to order by the president, roll called by the secretary and the 4-H pledge was then given by all.

In a discussion Mr. Ivey showed the 4-H members a club cap which we could buy for 12c and wear at the rally and camp. A vote of the club decided to bring the money by the next meeting.

Our lesson discussion for January was on poultry. Those taking part were as follows:

Feed, Herman Hathcock; Producing layers, Calvin Wilkins; Nest, Thomas Patterson; Breeds, A. T. Hathcock; Selecting chickens, Fred Bowles; Egg production, Elbert Griffin; Hatching, J. C. Broadhead; Proportions, Edsel Wilkins; Incubation, William Griffin; Setting, Earl Wilkins; Brooding, Chester Jones.

After the program we made a new year's resolution. We resolve to make the new year more successful than 1937.

The leaders distributed the 4-H club papers and then we adjourned until February.

JUNIOR TOPIC—When Jesus Went to Peter's House.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Helping the Sick.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Christianity's Concern for Physical Health.

"The Mystery of Painlessness" is the title of a book published some years ago, in which the author pointed out that instead of bemoaning the physical ailments of man we should thankfully recognize that much of life is without pain. There is point to the suggestion, but one who has reached the years of maturity and who has stood shoulder to shoulder with suffering mankind is very conscious of the never-silent cry of those whose bodies are in need.

Our Lord was tender and solicitous of man. It was to him that the great host of impotent folk—the lame, the halt, the sick, and the blind—came for healing, and they came not in vain. Note, however, that in the midst of his works of mercy he did not forget his real objective, which was to deal with man's sin.

I. Healing (v. 29).

First, we find our Lord tenderly sharing the sorrow of the home of a friend. One can picture the anxious hush that hovered over the home as distressed relatives and friends sought to alleviate the suffering of the one with a fever. They knew the possibility of a serious outcome of the illness. Many of us have gone through that dark valley. All at once there was new hope, and soon there was joy. Jesus had come and had brought healing. Many of us have also had that blessed experience.

Note that the healing was instantaneous and the restoration complete. She arose to serve. This typifies God's healing of the sickness of the soul. If you are saved you are ready to stand up and serve.

Christianity is not a selfish faith, if it follows its Lord. We see in verses 32 to 34 that all the city came to his door with the diseased and demon - possessed, and he healed them all. The account of the kindly and intelligent care of the sick is written large on the pages of the history of the Christian church.

II. Praying (v. 35).

The Son of God sought out a place and a time for prayer communion with his Father. How often we who profess to follow him fail to pray at all. Certainly we need the grace and power that prayer can bring far more than Jesus did. But, we say, we are so busy. So was he. We are tired. So was he.

III. Preaching (vv. 36-39).

Jesus said, "Let us go . . . that I may preach . . . for therefore came I forth." It bears repetition in this age when men magnify the doing of mighty deeds, that while Jesus did many miracles (and not for a moment would we detract from their worth and glory) yet he repeatedly, by word and act, emphasized the importance of preaching.

Foolish though it may seem to the natural man (read I Cor. 1:18-25), preaching the gospel in the power of the Holy Spirit is now, as it has been through the centuries, God's chosen means of turning the world upside down (Acts 17:6). What a pity that churches and pastors are forsaking it for book reviews, dramas, social hours, forums, community centers, and what not! God give us a revival of great, humble, and fearless preaching of the Word!

IV. Cleansing (vv. 40-45).

There is a sense in which the cleansing of the leper was another act of healing, but leprosy is such a striking type of sin that the incident calls for special consideration.

Leprosy is like sin in that it is a destructive malady that pursues its insidious way without revealing its true nature until it is far advanced. It renders a man unclean, loathsome to himself and dangerous to others. At least such it was in the days of our Lord.

Is there no hope for the leper? Yes; Jesus has come. The smitten man cries out, "If thou wilt thou canst make me clean."

So, also, may the sinner be cleansed, for "whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved" (Rom. 10:13). He will not turn the vilest of sinners away.

The Feeling of Power

He knows that power is unborn, and, so perceiving throws himself unhesitatingly upon his thought, instantly rights himself, stands in the erect position, commands his limbs, works miracles; just as a man who stands on his feet is stronger than a man who stands on his head.

Beauty

This is what we want—we want the vision of a calmer and simpler beauty to tranquilize us in the midst of artificial tastes.

The fan dancer who uses the smallest number of fans has the largest number of fans.

Sanitation Needs Cited By Co. Health Officer

A plea for more widespread cooperation of property owners with the local health department in the matter of installing approved methods of excreta disposal in homes was made this week by Dr. S. D. Sturkie, Chilton County Health Officer.

"This applies, especially," he stated, "to a majority of our rural homes which are still without sanitary toilets. More than 90 per cent of the homes outside of Clanton, Jemison, Thorsby, Verbena and Cooper either have no toilets or the old insanitary open back surface privy. As a result of this condition, there is still an unnecessarily high incidence of fly-borne diseases such as typhoid fever and bacillary dysentery in our rural sections. A frequent cause of the death of infants, diarrhea, can often be traced to the lack of screening and a sanitary toilet in homes. The hookworm problem which stays with us despite the many treatments which have been given by physicians and the County Health Department owes its existence to our lack of sanitary toilets.

"The health department, at present," he added, "is in position to render assistance to property owners in the building of pit toilets by providing WPA labor and supervision. With this free labor, it is now estimated that a standard concrete type pit privy can be installed for the modest sum of $17.50. For homes which have running water, a septic tank with a subsurface disposal field is to be preferred. While labor is not available for the construction of septic tanks, the sanitation officer of the health department is prepared to assist property owners by laying out the disposal field and by the loan of forms if needed."

During the past five years fires occurred in one out of 75 school buildings in the United States, says the Bureau of Chemistry and Soils in pointing out the importance of fire protective measures in rural schools.

Over 100 foresters of southeastern states attended the 2-day annual meet of the Southeast Section, Society of American Foresters in Auburn this year and emphasized the importance of farmers growing forests for erosion control and pulp wood.

There were 60,337 babies born in Alabama in 1936. Of this number, 36,928 were white and 23,409 colored. Compiling of statistics for 1937 is not yet complete.

SOLID DIXIE IS NOW DECLARED DESERTED

Negro Controls Democratic Party, Is Declaration of Sen. Byrnes

Washington, Jan. 11. — A Southern Democratic leader told the Senate on Tuesday that the South has been "deserted" by Northern Democrats and now has nowhere to look for support in its fight against the anti-lynching bill.

Sen. Byrnes (D., S. C.), taking the floor when the filibuster entered its fifth day, asserted that Southern white people had given unfailing adherence to the Democratic party because they believed they could depend on the support of Northern Democrats "when problems affecting the Negro and the very soul of the South arose".

"Now", he said, "the Negro has not only come into the Democratic party, but the Negro has come into control of the Democratic party."

The South Carolinian asserted that Walter White, secretary of the Association for the Advancement of Colored People, "has ordered this bill to pass."

If White would agree to shelve the measure, Byrnes asserted, "the advocates would desert it as quickly as football players unscramble when the whistle of the referee is heard."

Byrnes spoke an hour and a half, interrupted by three time-consuming quorum calls taken on motion of his Southern colleagues.

Sen. Russell (D., Ga.) took up the talk against the anti-lynching bill in midafternoon, asserting that it would "lynch the last remaining evidence of states' rights and sovereignty."

Comparing the legislation to "skunk meat", Russell asserted that "you might take a dead pole cat and dress him up in fancy paper and label it 'country cured ham', but it would still be just plain skunk meat."

Sen. Smith (D., S. C.), interrupted at one point to say that the bill was not designed "to punish crime, but to get votes."

Taking a similar view, Byrnes asserted that Sen. Wagner (D., N. Y.), an author of the bill, "is prompted by hope—the hope of securing votes from the Negroes of New York City."

URGES PAYMENT OF POLL TAXES

To the People of Chilton County:

This is an election year and the kind of government, good or bad, that you have depends upon the kind of people you elect for your offices; so if you have good government then you used good judgement in voting, or the reverse, so you see after all your government comes back as your responsibility and to accept same you must vote and to be qualified to vote you must pay a poll tax on or before the first day of February each year.

This is a very important election year. We elect our Governor, Lieutenant Governor and all the minor state officers, our Senator and Congressman to the national government as well as our State Representative and Senatorial body. As you know we elect several of our county officers and you know in most of these offices the nomination in the primary means the election, consequently for you to be a part of your national, state and county government it is important that you pay your poll tax and vote in the primary.

As I have before insisted, I fully appreciate the responsibility that is shortly coming on our young people of our county and state and I especially ask you young people to let me plead to you to pay your poll tax and commence to perform your duty in voting and management of your government, since it will not be long until you have it all to do and no doubt you will feel proud and perhaps perform a duty that will be a lasting influence for the betterment of our government.

I hope you will consider this in the spirit of the writer, and that is to elect officers who are honorable, capable and willing to fill your offices.

Thanking you for giving your prompt attention to your poll tax, I am Yours Respectively,

T. L. MCKEE.

COMMITTEE PASSED RESOLUTION AT MEETING LAST WEEK

As stated briefly in last week's Union-Banner, the Republican County Executive Committee met in regular called session at the courthouse on last Wednesday, January 12th, and arranged for the primary elections in May and June. Pertaining to this matter, the following resolution was adopted by the committee:

Resolution

"Resolved by the Chilton County Republican Executive Committee, at its regularly called meeting on this the 12th day of January, 1938, assembled at the Court House in Chilton County, Alabama, as follows:

"That a primary election is hereby called to be held in compliance with the 1931 Acts of the Legislature of Alabama, pertaining to the holding of primaries in Alabama, on the 3rd day of May, 1938, and if necessary, as provided for in said act, the second primary to be held on June 14th, 1938, for the purpose of nominatnig Republican nominees, as candidates to be voted upon in the General Election to be held November 8th, 1938, to fill the following offices in Chilton County, Alabama:

"Representative in the Legislature; Sheriff; Tax Collector; Tax Assessor; County Superintendent of Education; County Commissioner from First District; County Commissioner from Second District; Two (2) Members of the County Board of Education; Justice of the Peace, and Constables in each precinct in the county.

"Be it resolved further that all qualified voters, regardless of past party affiliations and who believe in the principles of the Republican party, and pledge themselves to support the nominees of the Republican party in the General Election to be held on November 8th, 1938, are cordially invited to participate in said Primary Election.

Be it further resolved that all candidates who announce in the Republican primary be required to furnish the chairman of this committee and have published in the county paper a written statement that said candidate will vote for and actively support the entire Republican ticket in the November election.

Vacancy Filled

The vacancy on the committee from Beat 9, Box 2, caused by the death of Mr. L. B. Popwell, was filled by a vote of the committee, the name of Mr. M. L Driver being chosen to fill the vacancy.

ATTENDED ALABAMA PRESS MEET

T. E. Wyatt of The Union-Banner attended the annual meeting of the Alabama Press Association in Birmingham last Friday. The main feature of the day was the trip by special train through the plants of the T. C. I. Company. It was indeed an interesting and enlightening trip. One can scarcely conceive of the immensity of the operations at Ensley and Fairfield without going through them, and it is hard to take it all in even after seeing it.

Dinner was served the guests in one of the Fairfield plants, and it was sumptuous indeed.

The trips from Birmingham to Ensley and around to the different plants were made in the company president's special train. Throughout this fine trip, the editors were most royally entertained by the officials and representatives of the company.

It is significant that the T. C. I. Company is endeavoring to create a better understanding and a closer and more friendly relationship between themselves and the farmers of Alabama, which is a most commendable move on their part. We are all more or less inter-dependent—that is, when one class prospers, all prosper, and vice versa.

But the big tin shops the company is now installing are going to be one of the greatest things in this section of the country. They are now engaged in spending 33 millions of dollars on these tin mills, and of course that means work for lots of people and a market for lots of farm produce from the fields of the state.

The Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company is a great concern, and it is doing great things for Alabama.

to the people, the people vote for me, and everybody is happy." He has dared to speak out against the socialistic tendencies of the day, and has held that sham and fraud is still sham and fraud, even though perpetuated by the government of the United States. It is a tribute to the character of the man that none have dared attack him and that he sits secure in his seat, for as long as he desires to hold it.

None the less, it is saddening when a man of his calibre, on reaching the honorable age of 80, should feel compelled to say that he regrets living to see his government prostituted by the party to which he has given a lifetime of service. We trust that the Grand Old Man will live to see the day when this will again be truly a democratic government, when the fake prophets and their false teachings will have been thrown into the rubbish pile. We venture the hope, also, that our South will yet produce more men who will measure up near to the standard of Carter Class—men who will go to Washington once more as ambassadors from sovereign states, and not as messenger boys bent on securing a PWA project for Squedunk.

In recent press dispatches from Washington, there was a bit of news, not "played up" by the Alabama press, that makes interesting reading none the less.

As this is written, the senate is in the throes of a filibuster over the Anti-Lynching Bill, sponsored by Northern Democrats to humiliate and punish the South, and win negro votes for the ticket in New York and Chicago. The measure has the support of the Democratic senate leadership, and is generally believed to be viewed with favor at the White House, which would like to punish the South for its bolt on the court-packing and wages-and-hours measures.

Recently there arose the question of invoking the drastic cloture rule—the gag rule that cuts off debate and forces a vote on the pending question. Northern Democrats were advocating this gag measure to stifle the voice of the South and deny the opportunity of opposing this iniquitous measure.

Newspaper dispatches announce that the Republicans in the senate were sounded out on this point, and were found to be against the gag rule, which could hardly be passed without Republican votes, as its adoption requires a two-thirds vote.

Times have changed, when the Democratic party fights to force a measure more abominable than any of Reconstruction Days down Southern throats, with the Republicans refusing to assist in applying the gag.

ANOTHER COUNTY FAIR THIS FALL

Gragg Urges People To Be Prepared For Coming Big Event

Dr. Gragg says: "You may tell the folks that 'We're gonna have it'." Further questioning revealed that the antecedent of that particular "it" was the Chilton County Fair to be held some time this fall, presumably some time near the time it was held the past year—the last of September or the first of October.

Dr. Gragg also added that the Fair would be held close in this year, and the likelihood now is that the same midway company will be used this year as was last year—the Littlejohn company of Troy, Alabama.

We cannot give any further information just yet; you will likely be informed more from time to time.

Mr. J. Mell Martin, secretary of the association, urges that those individuals, communities or groups wishing to make exhibits in the fair this fall, make the proper reservations at an early date, so as to be assured of being accommodated. Contacts should be made with Mr. Martin about such reservations as soon as possible.

The committee on arrangements consists of: Dr. V. J. Gragg, chairman; J. Mell Martin, secretary; directors—Luther E. Little, L. E. Diefenderfer, Dr. W. L. Parrish, Clifford M. Manning, and John L. Hollis.

The Chilton County Fair will be held the week before the state fair in Birmingham.

TIGERS WON THREE GAMES LAST WEEK

The Chilton Tigers won three games last week, to run their string to nine straight. The total points for the season are: Chilton 278, opponents 170.

First to fall in last week's play was Wetumpka, in a return engagement, won by a 38 to 22 count. This was a rather easy one for the locals, but the last two were thrillers.

On Wednesday night Chilton went to Rockford and nosed out a fighting Coosa High team 20 to 17, in an exceptionally good game, marked by some of the cleanest and most competent handling on the part of the referees that has been the lot of the Tigers this year. Those Coosa referees certainly give a visiting team all that is coming to them, and the Chilton High team and supporters came home with an exceedingly high degree of respect for the Coosa team, the referees, school officials, and all with whom they had to deal while in the Coosa County metropolis. No doubt the Tigers will look forward with pleasure to another trip to Rockford, where they received such fair and square treatment—something that can not be said of every town, unfortunately.

And then on Friday night came the thrilling 1-point victory over Maplesville, which is fully described in another article in this paper.

In winning their nine straight games the Tigers have taken Jemison, Rockford, Wetumpka, and Maplesville two times each, and won from Isabella in their one game with that school.

HIGGINS-DEVAUGHN CLASS WILL SING OVER RADIO NEXT SUNDAY

A letter from Prof. W. M. Devaughn, who is teaching a singing school with W. Lee Higgins at Dalton, Ga., says that the class from that school will go to Chattanooga, Tenn., and sing over the radio Sunday. They will appear on Rev. Goolsby's program. All are asked to tune in and hear them.

Profs. W. Lee Higgins, W. M. Devaughn, J. Floy Devaughn and three other teachers are going to teach a four-weeks school at that church in Chattanooga in June. An attendance of 300 are expected.

Attention is called to the fact that eight writers from Chilton county will have songs in the new Showalter books to be out soon. There is not another county in Alabama with this many writers. Prof. Devaughn is now taking orders for these new books to be out in February.

OUT FOR TAX ASSESSOR

SAM F. MIMS

On the Republican ticket will appear the name of Sam F. Mims (picture above) of Thorsby, Beat 9, candidate for Tax Assessor of Chilton County.

RABBIT HUNT AT SHOULTS

The Shoults annual rabbit hunt will take place February 12 at 7 o'clock. We will meet on top of Okmulga hill. Boys under 8 years of age will not be allowed in the hunt. We have 24 dogs for the rabbit race. We will elect a hunt advisor and secretary. No one will be allowed to carry a gun. The one showing the most rabbit tails at the end of the hunt will receive The Union-Banner for 6 months. — Uncle Remus.

HAYES HAS ON BIG CLEARANCE SALE

Has Marked Down Prices On Used Cars To Figures To Move Them

Anyone passing near Clanton Postoffice or that part of the city cannot help noticing that something is happening about Hayes's used car lot. It is all diked up with colorful placards, and the cars are shined up and in a most attractive arrangement.

But all this is not what the buying public is interested in—the price is what folks are demanding. Well, Dick and Jack Hayes assure the public that they are looking after that little phase of the matter. They have arranged their cars in different price groups—and you may just decide on the price you wish to pay and pick out your car.

There is a large variety of cars to select from—most all common makes, models and body styles. And, no joking, if you want a used car, Hayes will offer you a good one and at an amazingly low figure. Look at the partial list elsewhere in this issue of The Banner.

T. C. SIMS TO GET IN COMMISSIONER RACE

Mr. T. C. Sims, of Jemison, was in Clanton Monday and instructed The Union-Banner to announce that he would get in the race for Commissioner from the first district on the Democratic ticket. Mr. Sims is a road supervisor in the first district.

REPUBLICAN STATE COMMITTEE TO MEET IN B'HAM FEBRUARY 4

The Republican State Executive Committee of Alabama is hereby called to meet on Friday, February 4, 1938, at 11 o'clock a.m., in the city of Birmingham, Ala., at the Tutwiler Hotel.

The meeting is called for the purpose of calling a state convention of the party and to attend to any other business that is properly brought before the committee.

It is sincerely hoped that all members will attend in person. In case any is unable to do so, it is asked by the committee that they be represented by proxy.—J. C. Swann, chairman; T. J. Kennamer, secretary.

THE SOUTH AND THE ADMINISTRATION

[AN EDITORIAL]

Senator Bankhead was quoted recently as stating that "The sectionalism issue is the administration against the South". If Alabama's senior senator was quoted correctly, he has given a clear and concise definition of the fight being waged on the South by the Democratic party, under the leadership of President Roosevelt. It remains to be seen what the South will do about it—whether this section will continue to fawn upon the hand that smites it.

There is no doubt that the radical Northern politicians now in control of the Democratic party are enraged at the South. They are mad because they figure that they have paid for something that they are not getting. They took it for granted that party regularity, plus a few subsidies, would keep the South forever in line, and make this section swallow anything presented under the guise of a party measure. They find now that they mistook the temper of the South and some of its representatives, and they are frankly out for revenge. When President Roosevelt lectured against "sectionalism" in his Jackson Day address, it was a plain warning to the Southern rebels to fall in line or take the consequences. In the North, if you venture to disagree with Mr. Roosevelt you are an "economic royalist"; if you live in the South and commit the same unpardonable sin, you are, it seems, guilty of "sectionalism". Mr. Roosevelt does not like people who disagree with him, by whatever name called. Having hammered and browbeaten the business interests of the North, he is now gunning for Southern conservatives who have failed to fall in with his radical schemes.

The break between Mr. Roosevelt and the South started when Southern votes were instrumental in blocking the court-packing measure. Shortly thereafter, the administration began to manifest a marked lack of interest in the plight of the cotton farmer, and cotton prices dropped below cost of production. Then came the wages-and-hours bill, primarily a sectional measure aimed at Southern industry, to prevent mills and factories from moving South to take advantages of conditions here. Another slap was the Boileau amendment to the farm bill, the rankest kind of sectionalism, prohibiting the Southern farmer from using land released from cotton production for food and feed crops. Last, but not least, there is the anti-lynching bill, a blow at the self-government and self-respect of the South, designed for the double purpose of humiliating the "rebels" and garnering negro votes in Harlem and Chicago.

The next two or three years should see some interesting developments in the feud that has split Democratic ranks. It is hardly likely that the South will ever regain its old preeminence in the party; it has been joined and taken over by too many radicals of the John Lewis-Ickes-Ma Perkins stripe. The big question is: Will Southern Democrats bow submissively to the will of Northern radicals, led by a Roosevelt, an Ickes, or a Wallace? Will they be content to remain the tail of a radical kite, tossed a morsel every now and then, and told what they must do in return? Or will they break from such an unnatural and humiliating coalition, and make new alliances in keeping with their own best traditions and the interest of their section and their people? By 1940 we should know whether the South will remain the kept bodyguard of American radicalism, or whether it will be in there fighting its own battles and obeying no mandate but its own conscience.

PLAY TO BE PRESENTED AT LIBERTY SATURDAY NIGHT

The B. Y. P. U. members of Liberty Hill Baptist church are sponsoring a play entitled "Mrs. Wigglesworth Gets Religion", to be presented next Saturday night, January 29, at the Baker Junior High School. This is a comedy in two acts.

The Liberty Hill Quartet will render several numbers. Also, we will have some readings, and perhaps some string music.

Come out and enjoy the evening, and thereby help a worthy cause, as the proceeds will go to help finish the work that has been started on the church. We have added Sunday school rooms, put on a new top, and are changing the front of the church, all of which was badly needed. Price of admission will be 10c and 20c.

BUTLERS MOVED TO NEW YORK STATE

A letter from Rev. E. W. Butler Tuesday said: "We are leaving today". Rev. and Mrs. Butler will make their home in Canandaigua, N. Y., the street address being 295 No., Main St.

Rev. Butler is making a most attractive offer of his home property in Thorsby. Turn to the classified column on the back page of The Union-Banner and read what it says.

Mrs. Becky Ann Wyatt, who has been very ill for the past three weeks or more, is only slightly if at all improved. She is the widow of the late Daniel Wyatt, and mother of Monroe and Will H. Wyatt, George, Rube and Mack. The many friends of the aged lady and family hope for her recovery.

DR. GRAGG WRITES TO FARMERS

Editor Union-Banner:

Well, many of us are thinking of politics, and who will announce next. Maybe some of us are thinking just how big a cotton crop we can raise next year. Or maybe we are wondering whether the American Red Cross will call on us for one million or 100 million dollars for the destitute, helpless, starving and dying Chinese women and children, and there are many millions of them absolutely freezing and starving now, at the present day, their homes burned or blown up, entire cities, larger than any in the State of Alabama, completely swept out of existence.

Let us stop and think what may happen if these Japanese are allowed to go on, and it seems they will be, unchecked, when they have destroyed the schools and other progressive institutions in China and have completely subjugated its people and have driven all white people from any influence in Asia. We cotton raising people need not worry longer about how much or little we make for with the fine cotton lands of China and plenty of labor at 15 cents a day for both raising and manufacturing cotton, you can easily picture the price coming to not more than 3 or 4 cents per pound, probably less.

With the almost inexhaustible supply of coal, iron, etc., to be found in China, coupled with the millions of acres of the most fertile land in the world, Japan can defy the world, economically and at war.

This being true, I would like to write a few words to your readers, especially the farmers, about two questions that I feel are of major importance to all of us. The reason I say "all of us" is because we are all dependent on the farmer, and things that help the farmer directly help us all indirectly; so, also, things that hurt him hurt all of us in the same way.

It is not an uncommon thing to find farm homes in Chilton County with only one or two crops being grown—always cotton, sometimes corn, no garden (a good garden would more than half feed a family), no peas, no potatoes, no melons, no hogs, no cow, no chickens; and I might go on mentioning a dozen life-sustaining farm products that should be found in and around every farm home.

Let the farmer ask himself the question: "What do I actually need to live on that I can produce on the farm for home consumption?" Then answer that question by planning to produce these things, selecting a good place for planting (not some worn out or washed away knob or shady corner) where he will produce enough for his home consumption and a little to spare for the market, thereby having some spending money all along; keep a good cow—that will play a big part in keeping the children healthy and growing; and any over-plus can be fed to the pigs that are otherwise growing on slops, waste fruits, melons and other things that would be thrown away and lost, had it not been for having the pigs on the place.

After considering the question of producing a living at home, then plant cotton or other so-called "money crops" as he may see fit or is best suited to his particular case.

But above all, get away from the idea of raising cotton to acquire money to buy foods in the market to carry back to the farm. I see farmers buying from the grocery store such things as peas, potatoes, meat, lard, melons, and canned vegetables, and many other similar farm products. Thus they undertake to buy with "cotton money" what has been produced by another farmer, probably sold to a retail buyer, then shipped to a manufacturer, thence in turn sold to a wholesaler or jobber, who in turn sells it to the retailer, who sells it back to Mr. Cotton Farmer, with all these fellows getting a profit, in addition to the various and sundry process taxes, sales taxes, etc., that have accrued in the round.

If you will pardon the "I", probably someone will be interested to know that last year, right here, relatively speaking, in the center of Clanton, I raised enough wheat to last my family more than a year. Just ask the grocery man if he has sold me any flour since the last wheat crop.

Brother Farmer, there is enough cotton on hand to last more than two years if we had no outside competition, and the outside competition is growing by leaps and bounds.

In planning your crop, my advice would be: Think first of making a living, later of making money, and I believe you will play the game more successfully. Yours very truly, — V. J. Gragg.

CLANTON KIWANIS CLUB FETES FOOTBALL PLAYERS

The Clanton Kiwanis Club, assisted by a group of Clanton business and professional men not members of the club, entertained Thursday night in honor of the city's outstanding football players.

Approximately 75 people dined together at the banquet held at the Thomason Hotel. The guest of honor was Clanton's own contribution to the Rose Bowl game, Jesse Frank Foshee, of the University of Alabama squad. Foshee described his reactions to his trip West, saying that the trip was the fulfillment of a dream he had had since the first time he put on a football uniform. He regretted the loss, but said that Alabama would make up for it when it goes back West next fall against Southern California.

The other guests were the members of the Chilton County High School football squad and their coaches. Mr. Patterson Hicks, principal of the high school and president of the Kiwanis Club, paid a glowing tribute to these boys following in the footsteps of Foshee, and publicly acknowledged with thanks the assistance rendered the team by local citizens.

Another feature of the evening was an address by Mr. John Hollis, superintendent of the Alabama Power Company plant at Mitchell Dam, and former state officer in Kiwanis, on the subject "Kiwanis and What It Means." The address was enlightening and inspiring, not only to the guests and non-members present, but also to those members of the club who have not yet become fully acquainted with the high ideals and purposes of the club.

WILL BE ANOTHER CANDIDATE FOR COMMISSIONER FROM FIRST

Indications are that there will be another Republican candidate out soon for Commissioner from the First District, and he will be no other than Mr. Willie G. Shaw, of Beat 13. Mr. Shaw was in Clanton one day last week, and indicated his intention ot run for the place.

Mr. Shaw was a candidate for the place in 1930 and again in 1934. In the 1934 primaries Mr. Shaw received a majority of the votes cast in beats composing the First District, but was defeated in the county as a whole. Mr. Shaw operates a store on the highway five miles north of Jemison, and he gets his mail on Calera Route 1.

LAY DAM ROAD IS TO BE PAVED

Five and One-Half Miles To Be Graded and Asphalted In The Near Future

Judge J. Lee Smith releases the report that a movement is well under way to grade and pave the road toward Lay Dam, beginning at the courthouse and extending five and one-half miles out to just beyond Killgore's Gap. The quality of paving will be essentially the same as the Selma highway, and will be a cooperative proposition between the county, city and state.

Surveyors are expected here any day to stake off the road, measure for the grades, etc.

ERROR MADE IN WRITE-UP OF A. J. DAVIS LAST WEEK

The Union-Banner, in reporting on the candidates for Commissioner in the two districts last week, got very slightly crossed up on the location of Mr. Andrew J. Davis. We stated that he lived in Beat 12, and that he was defeated in 1934 by Mr. John Bean. The truth is that Mr. Davis lives in Beat 9, and was defeated in 1934 by Mr. H. R. Oden of the Second District.

We extend apologies to Mr. Davis and all others concerned, and hope that no one will be misled by our erroneous statement.

G. O. P. CHALLENGES THE NEW DEAL'S POLICIES

Chairman Hamilton Charges Failure To Accelerate Business

Washington, Jan. 25. — The Roosevelt administration was challenged by the Republican high command today to defend itself against the charge that five years of New Deal policies have raised the working man's taxes and failed to protect the nation against serious business declines.

John D. M. Hamilton, Republican National Committee Chairman, outlined the G. O. P. congressional campaign strategy last night in a Philadelphia address, in which he said:

"The business of the country is demoralized, and the only reason grass doesn't grow in the streets of the nation is because it is kept down by 13,000,000 unemployed tramping the streets looking for jobs in vain."

Does he drink much?"

"Rather! He can make the cash register at the bar sound like an alarm clock."

C. C. H. S. ALUMNI PLANS FORMING

Meeting May Be Called Soon To Form Organization Of School's Students

For some time discussion has been under way by various former students at Chilton County High School relative to the organization of an Alumni Association for that institution.

There are hundreds of old grads and former students of C. C. H. S. who, no doubt, would be glad to see such an organization functioning. If you have attended Chilton High at any time in the past, turn this matter over in your mind and see what you think of it.

If enough interest is shown among local prospective members, a meeting will be called in the near future to draw up proper resolutions, set fees, name an annual homecoming day, and attend to other matters of this kind, including election of necessary officers for this year.

Look for further announcements about this matter, and if and when a meeting is called, be sure to attend. The local organization will be perfected at this first meeting, after which an attempt will be made to enlist every former student at Chilton High now living.

The school needs the help of such an organization, and, no doubt, every student of Chilton High will want to be a member and do his or her share to help in keeping their Alma Mater one of the greatest schools in Alabama and the nation.

JOHN BEAN WANTS TO BE COMMISSIONER RIGHT ON

Added to the list of Republican announcements this week is that of Mr. John P. Bean, of Mineral Springs, Beat 12, who is asking to succeed himself as Commissioner from the First District. Mr. Bean was the only Republican elected in the county four years ago. That was his second time to be elected Commissioner for that district, he having served one term, from 1926 to 1930.

There is no need for us to say much about Mr. Bean at this time, inasmuch as the voters already know who he is, what he has done and what he stands for. We will say, however, that so far as we know, Mr. Bean has fought a good fight in rendering service to his constituents.

Should the people see fit to return him to the office of Commissioner, we feel sure that they may expect efficient and beneficial service.

NOTICE, CHURCH LEADERS!

Dr. F. M. Barnes, State Secretary Mission, wishes to meet all the pastors, Sunday school leaders and teachers, deacons, B. T. U. leaders, and W. M. U. leaders in a conference at the Clanton Baptist church Friday afternoon at 2:30. All the above mentioned leaders in both the Unity and Chilton Associations are urged to be present. It is an important meeting concerning our work.—S. J. Ezell.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Next Sunday, January 30, is Orphanage Day at the Clanton Methodist church. All Sunday school collection goes to the orphanage. We plead again in behalf of the children of our orphanage for as large an offering as possible. Plan now to come to Sunday school at 9:45 and have a share in a large contribution.

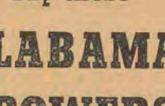
ALA. MAN WROTE OF PANAY BOMBING

John L. Hodge, of Clanton and Siluria, was an eye witness to the Bombing of the Panay over a month ago in Chinese waters. Mr. Hodge is a brother of Mrs. Sloan Parker of Clanton Route 2.

He wrote a vivid story of the incident and the same was published in the Birmingham Post a few weeks ago. Mr. Hodge was not on the Panay but he was on the Standard Oil vessel, the Meiping, a short distance away, which was also bombed.

The exact location and present address of Mr. Hodge has not been ascertained since the tragedy.

EXCITING OIL WELL FIRE IN TEXAS OUTED



The Union-Banner has received from Gladewater, Texas, from Mr. and Mrs. George Tippett a letter and newspaper from Tyler, Texas, telling about an oil well blaze at Kilgore a few days ago. The huge blaze lasted for nearly 12 hours, and the loss was $130,000.

Fire fighters from four or five nearby Texas cities finally succeeded in extinguishing the mad flames by use of fog nozzles. By this means, the flames were raised six feet above the ground, and someone ran the risk of rushing under the flames and turning off the master gate valve which cut off the oil flow. The valve was turned off by Jack Massey, Kilgore fireman, who is receiving the plaudits of the entire populace of the countryside.

"$3300 PROFITS ON OATS WITH ARCADIAN"
"I plant about 200 acres of oats per year and apply 200 lbs. of Arcadian per acre. I get an increase of 30 bushels per acre and this is an increase of 6000 bushels or a net profit above fertilizer cost of $3300.00."
W. J. Forrester, Dothan, Ala.

"MADE $19.75 EXTRA PER ACRE ON OATS"
"I planted 75 acres in oats and top-dressed with 150 pounds of Arcadian per acre. I threshed 68 bushels per acre average, while on the check plot, I got only 35 bushels. The 33 extra "Arcadian Bushels" per acre were worth $22.00 per acre and cost me $2.25." W. H. King, Selma, Ala.

"$128.25 PROFIT FROM $15.75 WORTH OF ARCADIAN"
"I invested $15.75 in 900 pounds of Arcadian. I found that 150 lbs. of Arcadian gave me an increase of at least 30 bushels to the acre. That is 180 bushels increase on 6 acres and amounts to $144.00 more. That is $128.25 net profit on the 900 pounds of Soda. Not bad interest."

IN MEMORY OF UNCLE BILL SMITH

On January 23 the death agnel carried our dear friend to that bright and happy home.

Dearest friend, you have left us for that heavenly home so fair, safely in the arms of Jesus, there to rest for evermore. You are free from toil and care. We saw not the white robed angel, to summon home our loved friend to the arms of our heavenly King. Heavens now retain our friend, and the sunbeams love to linger where our loved friend is asleep.

There in heaven I hope soon to meet him. He is gone, but not forgotten; never will his memory fade. Loving thoughts forever linger 'round the grave where he is laid. Safely in the arms of Jesus, there by His lover overshadowed, sweetly his soul shall rest.—A. J. and M. W. Matson.

CHICKEN SUPPER

There will be a chicken supper at Cedar Grove church Saturday night, January 29th. Proceeds will go for the benefit of the church in paying for a piano we have recently bought.
We urge everybody to come and bring someone with you. Full plate 25 cents.

HONORED WITH SHOWER

Mrs. James Powell, a bride of recent date, was the honoree at a miscellaneous shower Wednesday afternoon, January 12, at the home of Mrs. Ernest Wilson.

Lovely flowers were tastefully arranged in the living room, where the guests assembled. As the guests entered, they registered in the bride's book.

At th conclusion of the display of gifts, the hostess, assisted by Mrs. O. N. Williams, served tempting refreshments.

Mrs. Powell, who was formerly Miss Rena Devaughn, has a very charming personality. She and Mr. Powell are unusually active in church work. The many useful and attractive gifts received by the honoree attested her popularity.

THORSBY JUNIOR HIGH DEFEATS MT. PLEASANT 19 TO 17

On last Friday afternoon the Thorsby Junior High cagesters invaded the Mt. Pleasant court and forthwith proceeded to crack their enviable record of no losses in three years by dishing out a 19 to 17 defeat.

The game opened with neither team showing the speed and pass-work they are capable of, but as it progressed, things really began to take on color.

At the end of the first quarter, the Mt. Pleasant boys held a 5 to 0 lead, with the Thorsby team making little effort to score, but confining their play to strict defense. The second quarter found both teams making concerted efforts to register points, thus bringing the first half to a close with the home team leading by the count of 12 to 8.

As the second half began, both of the teams entered with a real spirit ot win. The Thorsby quint began driving a wedge into the 4-point lead, and soon pulled up to a tie. At this point of the game the Mt. Pleasant players tallied four points to Thorsby 1, to close out the third quarter leading 16 to 13.

The final quarter was reeking with tenseness and excitement, for the Thorsby defense clamped down and prevented further scoring except one foul shot, then went to work and scored two field goals, and with two minutes to play the Thorsby team gained possession of the ball, and with the scoreboard pointing to a 17-17 tie, Kincaid dribbled up eight feet from the center mark, and with set muscles and dead-eye accuracy, gave the ball a looping twirl, high up in the air, and, floating beautifully, it traveled to the backboard, and with apparent magnetic attraction, it fell through the net for the winning margin over Coach Curlee's swift-breaking and undefeated team. It was one of those rare games which was hard to lose, but which was scored to the team most deserving. The Mt. Pleasant players made a courageous effort to keep their record sheet clean; they played a hard, clean game, but the visiting team simply played a better game the last two quarters, scoring 11 points to Mt. Pleasant's 5. Daniel was high point man for Mt. Pleasant, looping the ball for 7 points, while Hayes was hawking 14 tallies for Thorsby.

On next Tesday night, February 1, Coach Veazey will bring his Vermont boys to Thorsby to play the latter. This will be the first game between these two teams this season. Thorsby goes to Vermont for the return fame on Friday afternoon, February 18.

STATE HIGHWAY PATROL REPORT

State highway patrolmen made 1,236 arrests during the month of December. Operating motor vehicles without a driver's license accounted for the largest number, 239, while operators of trucks and buses whose vehicles were not equipped with flare and flag warning signals accounted for 107. Violations of the revenue law was the cause of 65 arrests. Other items listed included: overweight trucks 73, no truck or auto tags 28, improper tags 27, violating state carrier law 36, no brakes 19, improper brakes 17, no clearance lights on trucks 20, wagons without lights 6, passing school busses while taking or discharging passengers 11. Two arrests were made for manslaughter and 38 investigations were made.

Motorists were assisted in 558 instances. Warnings were also issued to more than 2,500 motorists; 744 of these warnings were for operating motor vehicles without rear lights, and improper lights accounted for 730 more. Reckless driving and excessive speed, said to be responsible for more accidents than anything else, were responsible for 409 of these warnings.

The Alabama farmer has more idle time, time in which he is not performing productive labor, than any other class of worker, says F. W. Gist, farm economic advisor. "No program nor system of farming will ultimately solve the problem of insufficient income that does not start and end with such a distribution of productive effort as will give the farmer a full year's work and a utilization of more land for a full year's income," he says.

"MARIHUANA"

War Declared Against Marihuana Smokers

To theatre audiences whose sensibilities have become jaded with the ordinary situations disclosed in the average film, the presentation of the motion picture, "Marihuana", coming to the old Wadesonian Theatre, one night only, Monday, January 31.

Adults only. Bold, daring but true, will come as a revelation in unadorned facts which are said to be taken from an actual life story of a once famous personage.

Drug addiction is the most degrading of habits and one that is causing both federal and state authorities grave concern. The debased lives of these abandoned men and women is graphically reflected in this astounding story, that unfolds itself with stark realism.

The facts presented, vivid colorful as they are, hold the uninterrupted interest and no person can witness this picture without leaving the theatre fully determined to aid in wiping out forever, the frightful evils of marihuana addiction.

It is a picture that every adult mind should witness and a true biography that will vividly impress itself upon the life memory of every young man and woman.

FEDERAL LAND BANK PRESIDENT ELECTED

New Orleans, Jan. 19. — Roy L. Thompson, General Agent of the Farm Credit Administration for the Fifth District, was elected president of the Federal Land Bank of New Orleans to fill the vacancy in that position caused by the death of Norman Monaghan, according to an announcement made by the Board of Directors of the Fifth Farm Credit District. Dr. Thompson will continue to act as general agent and chairman of the advisory committee of the Farm Credit Administration of New Orleans, which, in addition to the Federal Land Bank, includes the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank, the Production Credit Corporation, and the New Orleans Bank for Cooperatives.

Dr. Thompson has been with the Farm Credit Administration almost from its establishment in 1933. He was first a field organizer for the Washington office, later coming to New Orleans as deputy general agent for the Fifth District, and in 1935 he was appointed general agent. Prior to joining the Farm Credit Administration, Dr. Thompson was head of the Department of Economics at Louisiana State University. He has a broad background of experience in practical farming and agricultural research. He was born at Gilsburg, Miss., and reared on a farm in Tangipahoa Parish, La. He attended agricultural school in Tangipahoa Parish and graduated from Louisiana State University in 1922 with a B. S. degree, majoring in agricultural education. He entered the University of Wisconsin to continue his studies in agricultural economics, and received his master's degree in 1924. He was awarded the degree of Doctor of Philosophy at the University of Minnesota in 1929.

In electing Dr. Thompson to the dual post of general agent and president of the Federal Land Bank, the Board of Directors of the Fifth District are following a practice which has been in effect in a number of other Federal Land Bank districts.

RUPTURE
SHIELD EXPERT HERE

H. M. SHEVNAN, widely known expert, of Chicago, will personally be at the Jefferson Davis Hotel, Montgomery, Friday and Saturday only, February 4 and 5, from 9 A.M to 6 P.M.

Mr. Shevnan says: The Zoetic Shield is a tremendous improvement over all former methods, effecting immediate results. It will not only hold the rupture perfectly but increase the circulation, strengthens the weakened parts, thereby closes the opening in ten days on the average case, regardless of heavy lifting, straining or any position the body may assume, no matter the size or location. A nationally known scientific method. No under straps or cumbersome arrangements and absolutely no medicines or medical treatments.

Mr. Shevnan will be glad to demonstrate without charge.

The Republican Party Is Far From Dead

(From The Birmingham News)

To the Forum of the People:

For the last several months your paper has carried editorials to the effect that the Republican party is dead or in such a comatose state that no hope could be held for its recovery. Either the patient's constitution is of remarkable resiliency, or your paper's fond anticipations are premature. But for months any answer from us would have been met with a volley of "Show us where we are wrong, then."

If you say there has been nothing to write about us, then you are mistaken. Nothing could be more heroic than the work of the smallest Republican minority in the history of the House and the Senate. They had the largest political campaign fund in history to fight. They had one of the keenest personalities ever produced by politics to outwit, namely, Franklin Roosevelt and Jim Farley. There were overwhelming numbers in the House and Senate against them. And every effort to oppose the New Deal party's legislative program was ridiculed because they dared to oppose the omniscient Mr. Roosevelt.

Republican politics reached a far lower ebb than its present one in 1919. Woodrow Wilson's prestige was on the wane, but the star of the G. O. P. was not rising accordingly. Party leaders appointed a committee on program, which got as far as nominating a few people to serve, but other than attacking the state of taxes and agriculture, and entirely omitting the most pertinent question of the day—the League of Nations—the committee dissolved without rendering the party any real aid. But Wilson's dogged determination to make the United States join the League won the election for us.

However, the present committee on program, appointed at the last meeting of the executive committee of the Republican National Committee in St. Louis on December 15, is far different from the one appointed in 1919. The very willingness of the 150 people to serve augurs ill for the New Deal. This body represents people from every walk of life, from the head of the Episcopal church to the cattle men of the far West. Some former Democrats, some die-hard Republicans, some political agnostics, all welded together by a common purpose — the preservation of American ideals and the salvation of the original independent American spirit, so undermined by the present administration.

And the leaders to carry this program through after it is presented are not lacking. Bridges, Vandenburg, Snell, Stiewer, Lodge, Butler, Hoover and Landon are political names to be reckoned with, whether you admit it or not. Not to be in power our party has far more material for leadership than the Democrats have. Where would the New Deal be without Roosevelt? Garner would appeal only to the conservative element. Barkley lacks fire and personality. The more radical element would not accept those valiant Democrats who fought Roosevelt on the Supreme Court issue. Farley would hit the toboggan downward for the same reasons Al Smith did. And then the newspapers would once again be lamenting the inability of the Democratic party to get in power, as they have done for so many years since the Republican party, as such, entered the field in 1855.

So let's not have any more of this foolishness about the Republican party being dead. It is simply marking time. Never fear but that the Grand Old Party will have the leader ready to lead the great American people out of confusion and defeat into light and victory.—Mrs. Roy Wates, Republican National Committeewoman, in a letter to the Forum of the People, in The Birmingham News, January 18, 1938.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

NEW FUEL DISCOVERED

Auburn, Jan. 24. — Dr. C. A. Basore, assistant director of the engineering experiment station at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, has developed a new, economical method whereby some types of Alabama's large quantities of low grade lignite coal may be transformed into an efficient, almost smokeless fuel.

It is believed that Dr. Basore's research may lead to the development of a cheap fuel in South Alabama that will facilitate the industrial development of that section of the state. Large quantities of lignite are known to exist in the following nine Alabama counties: Barbour, Choctaw, Clarke, Coffee, Marengo, Monroe, Pike Sumter, and Wilcox.

The new method, upon which Dr. Basore has been working for several years, involves the destructive distillation of the lignite at low temperatures and the compression of the residue—without the use of a binder—into small discs or briquettes weighing from one to three ounces.

The finished briquette, in many respects, is decidedly superior to the raw lignite and apparently is suitable for either a domestic or an industrial fuel. Since it is possible to briquet the party carbonized lignite without a binder, the briquettes are much lower in price, and, when used as a fuel, produce less smoke than those made with the usual pitch binder.

Based on figures from the U. S. Bureau of Mines, cost of producing the briquettes is estimated at $3 per ton. This figure is based upon the assumption that a $56,000 plant might be established at the mine, that it would operate two shifts of 10 hours each per day, and that it would have a capacity of 50 tons of briquettes per day of 20 hours. Cost of the raw lignite is estimated at $1.84 per ton, and the production costs of briquetting at $1.33 for each ton.

A report of Dr. Basore's work on the new method has been published in Bulletin No. 8 of the Engineering Experiment Station, copies of which are available by writing Dr. John J. Wilmore, director. Title of the bulletin is "Fuel Briquettes from Alabama Lignite by Destructive Distillation at Low Temperatures and Briquetting the Residue Without a Binder."

VETERINARIANS MEET

Auburn, Jan. 24. — With several of the nation's outstanding veterinary authorities on the program, the 14th Annual Short Course and Conference for graduate veterinarians will be held at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute February 21-26.

Dr. I. S. McAdory, dean of the veterinary school here, and state veterinarian, announced that Dr. O. V. Brumley, Columbus, Ohio, president of the American Medical Association, is on the program to discuss many technical questions of vital importance to Alabama veterinarians in the South and Southeast. Dean of the veterinary school at Ohio State University, Dr. Brumley wil give special emphasis to the diseases of small animals. He is also a nationally known expert in diagnosis of lameness in horses and mules.

Dr. W. W. Dimock, University of Kentucky, will conduct a special clinic on non-breeding in horses, in addition to lecturing on equine breeding ad hygiene.

A report on abortion work in Alabama cattle will be given by Dr. R. E. Jackson, Alabama inspector in charge with the U. S. Bureau of Animal Husbandry, Montgomery.

Dr. L. Van Es, University of Nebraska, will discuss swine diseases, anthrax, encephalomyelitis and farm sanitation. Developments in rabies research will be reported by Dr. C. N. Leach and Dr. Frank Milan, Montgomey, of the Rockefeller Research Foundation.

Discussions of Bang's Disease and animal tuberculosis by Dr. W. E. Cotton, formerly with the U. S. Bureau of Animal Industry, Washington, and now at Auburn. The importance of the veterinarian in health will be given by Dr. L. E. Beckham, president of the Alabama Veterinary Medical Association, and meat and milk inspector for the City of Tuscaloosa.

Dr. L. E. Starr, assistant veterinary school dean, will serve as chairman of the poultry program, assisted by Dr. John L. West.

H. W. Nixon, state toxicologist, will discuss methods of sending samples to laboratory.

Members of the veterinary faculty and others who will take part on the program are: Drs. E. S. Winter, W. M. Howell, M. O. Robinson, F. P. Woolf, R. L. Mundhenk, Joe H. Ryland, J. M. Bryan, E. A. Davis, and J. L. Miller.

COTTON PRODUCTION POINTERS FOR 1938

Auburn, Jan. 24. — Alabama farmers can make the greatest profit in 1938 by properly preparing their land, growing the right variety, correctly spacing stalks, and using the proper fertilizers.

To help farmers with some of their cotton problems, J. C. Lowery, agronomist, Alabama Extension Service, offers the following suggestions:

1. Break land thoroughly and prepare seedbed early so the beds will have time to settle before planting. Avoid planting on fresh, loose seedbeds.

2. Grow varieties producing ⅞-inch staple, or longer.

3. Plant 4 to 6 pecks of seed per acre.

4. Space 18 inches in the drill with from 1 to 3 stalks per hill. The width fo rows, where liberal applications of fertilizer are used, may vary from 2½ to 4½ feet. Under onditions of low fertility, or where only moderate applications rae made, the width of the rows should not be more than 3½ feet.

5. Apply 36 pounds of nitrogen, 48 pounds of phosphoric acid, and 24 pounds of potash, per acre. These amounts of plant food may be supplied by:

(a) Home mixing, by using 225 pounds of nitrate of soda, or the equivalent, 300 pounds superphosphate, and 48 pounds of muriate of potash.

(b) Ready mixed, by using 600 pounds per acre of a 6-8-4 fertilizer.

(c) By using 600 pounds of 4-8-4 with a side dressing of 75 pounds per acre of nitrate of soda, or equivalent, or by using 600 pounds of 3-8-5 with a side dressing of 112 pounds of nitrate of soda, or the equivalent.

SOIL INSURANCE

Conservation farming practices in the Soil Conservation Service area near Clanton are providing farmers with low cost "insurance" against the loss of their farming "capital", the soil, according to Mr. Wood.

The premium farmers pay for this form of insurance is in the form of constructing and maintaining effective terraces, improving pasture sod, setting up good crop rotations, planting summer and winter cover crops, properly managing their woodland, and arranging their whole farming program to give the most effective control of erosion.

The use of strip rotations is one of the outstanding forms of soil insurance, Mr. Wood said. Woods protected against fire and overgrazing prevent soil washing on the steeper slopes. Permanent hay meadows and good pasture sod give protection to soil of other slopes, and strips of close growing crops, combined with terraces and contour cultivation provide bulwarks against erosion in cultivated fields.

Like premiums on many other forms of insurance, these soil insurance premiums often pay large dividends in addition to the protection they afford, Mr. Wood said. Properly managed woodland provides many valuable wood products, sod crops and meadows which protect the land against erosion and also provide grazing and hay, and legumes used in rotations build up the fertility of the soil and promote increased yields at the same time they protect the soil from erosion.

HELP KIDNEYS

To Get Rid of Acid and Poisonous Waste

Your kidneys help to keep you well by constantly filtering waste matter from the blood. If your kidneys get functionally disordered and fail to remove excess impurities, there may be poisoning of the whole system and body-wide distress.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination may be a warning of some kidney or bladder disturbance.

You may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel weak, nervous, all played out.

In such cases it is better to rely on a medicine that has won country-wide acclaim than on something less favorably known. Use Doan's Pills. A multitude of grateful people recommend Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

Lesson for January 30

MINISTERING TO SPIRITUAL NEEDS

LESSON TEXT—Mark 2:1-12.

GOLDEN TEXT—Son, thy sins are forgiven—Mark 2:5.

PRIMARY TOPIC—When the House Was Crowded.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Who Can Forgive Sin?

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Bringing People to Christ.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Christianity's Concern for Spiritual Health.

Man is so constantly concerned with his physical nature, the needs and interests of his body, that he is prone to forget that there is within him a spiritual nature which is in fact his real self. The body which is the temporary dwelling place of the soul is most important—but relatively it is of but slight significance when considered alongside of the spiritual life of man.

Our lesson presents the Lord Jesus as being rightly concerned with the needs of the palsied man's body, but his act of healing was incidental to the infinitely more important act of forgiving his sins. Consider him, for his was indeed

I. A Hopeless Case (v. 3).

Incurably afflicted and helpless physically, but far more deeply afflicted spiritually was this poor man, for he was still in his sins. No man was able to heal his body, only God could heal his soul. He was indeed hopeless until he met Jesus. He knows no hopeless case. With God all things are possible, and Jesus Christ is God.

We are even as was this man, for without God we too are without hope (Eph. 2:12). Let us face the facts and admit that unless we are saved through Christ we are eternally and completely lost.

II. Impossible Conditions (vv. 1, 2, 4).

We say that the circumstances surrounding this man were such as to make it impossible for him to reach the Lord, for so they would have been apart from the spirit of divine urgency which impelled his helpers to cut through every excuse and brush aside every hindrance.

"Where there's a will there's a way." Had these men been controlled by convention they would never have put their friend at the feet of Jesus. But note that before taking up the roof they tried the door. They tried to use the proper entry, but it was blocked. It often is—sometimes by customs, sometimes by religious ceremony, often by vain philosophy.

III. Immediate Conversion (v. 5).

At once Jesus sees their faith and forgives the man his sins. God always welcomes and honors faith. Note that Jesus—who as God had the power to forgive sins—immediately cleansed him from all unrighteousness.

This man's affliction proved to be his greatest blessing. If he had not had the palsy he might never have met the Lord. Suffering properly borne may be a means of grace.

IV. Secret Criticism (vv. 6, 7).

What a serious thought it is that the unspoken word which we think we have hidden away in the heart or mind is known to God. "All things are naked and opened unto the eyes of him with whom we have to do" (Heb. 4:13). "There is nothing hid that shall not be known" (Luke 12:2). What does the Lord see when he looks into your heart and mine?

Their theology was faultless—their reasoning was logical, but their premise was wrong. They were right in saying that only God could forgive sin. But they were wrong in assuming that Jesus was not God, and therefore a blasphemer.

V. Miraculous Confirmation (vv. 8-12).

Forgiving sins was harder than healing the body, but these enemies of Jesus lived so much in the realm of the physical that they missed that important truth. He meets the challenge of their unbelief by going into their own limited field of observation. They were not able to test the effectiveness of His forgiveness of sins. They did not believe in Him, hence they would not receive it by faith.

Let us remember that the incident took place in the early days of our Lord's ministry. While we do not condone their hostility to the tender and loving service of our Lord to humanity, we can understand their slowness to accept his claims to divine power. In our day we have no such excuse, for all gospel history is available to us. God help us that we may not sit in the seat of the scornful and "demand a sign" before we will believe.

Harmonies of Nature

There are but few souls who perceive how far the harmonies of Nature resound in accordance with ours, and how much the great whole is but one Aeolian harp with longer or shorter strings, slower and quicker movements, breathed upon by the Divine Being before Whom it rests.—Richter.

Pure Heart and Clear Mind

FEDERAL LAND BANK

New Orleans, Jan. 20. — The Board of Directors of hte Fifth Farm Credit District completed their annual meetings yesterday afternoon, at which annual reports of the four units which serve the farm credit needs of the states of Alabama, Louisiana, and Mississippi, were received, and officers for the ensuing year were elected. The directors expressed gratification at the progress which has been made by the four units of the Farm Credit Administration, which are the Federal Land Bank, Federal Intermediate Credit Bank, Production Credit Corporation, and the New Orleans Bank for Cooperatives.

Particularly fine progress was made by the Federal Land Bank in the sale of farms which it was forced to acquire during the depression. Figures reported to the board showed that 76 per cent of the farms which the bank owned at the beginning of last year were disposed of by December 31. Reports also indicate that in spite of the lower prices for farm products, the collection record for the 1937-1938 season would be satisfactory.

HOGS ADVOCATED FOR ADDING FARM CASH

Auburn, Jan. 24. — By growing forage crops and grain, Alabama farmers can make hog production a permanent source of farm income, advises F. W. Burns, extension livestock specialist.

"Hog growing requires less preparation, less expense, less equipment, and less capital turnover than most other forms of livestock," he says.

"While most markets will take hogs of almost any weight and conformation, the top price is usually paid for well finished hogs weighing from 180 to 240 pounds," he says, in giving four suggestions for successful hog production:

1. Feed is 75 per cent of the cost of making pork. A succession of forage crops, including oats, soybeans, and either corn or peanuts, will materially reduce hte cost of pork production in Alabama.

2. Hog health determines profit or loss. Pigs that are diseased or harbor parasites require more feed to make gains. By keeping hogs on a series of forage crops parasite infection will be reduced to a minimum.

3. Select well bred hogs as a foundation herd. Beginners should select sows that raise pigs that will meet the market requirements. A pure bred boar should be used, as well bred pigs will reach market weights earlier and will require less feed per 100 pounds of gain than will nondescript, scrub hogs.

4. Grow into the hog business gradually. You should start with a small investment and build up your herd and experience at the same time.

PLANT CERTIFIED IRISH POTATOES, ADVISES GOODE

Montgomery, Jan. 24. — R. J. Goode, state commissioner of agriculture, is urging Alabama farmers to plant certified Irish potato seed.

"Certified seed, in many instances, will produce a yield double that of uncertified and poor seed," he says, in calling attention to the fact that commercial producers in South Alabama have learned by experience to plant certified seed.

"Be sure to tell the dealer from whom you buy your seed that you want Alabama certified seed," he advises. "In order that you may know whether or not the seed you are buying are actually Alabama certified seed, look on the bag or container of the potatoes, and if you find a blue colored tag with the state seal, on which is printed "Certified Seed Irish Potatoes, void after June 1, 1938, crop of 1937," you will know that these are Alabama certified seed.

"Bags or containers which have attached to them a red tag, with the statement "Non-Certified Seed Irish Potatoes", means that these potatoes have not been tested by the department, and are not Alabama certified. Potatoes on which the red tag appears may have been certified in some other state but have not been tested out in Alabama, and, therefore, may not produce as good yields as those which have been certified for Alabama.

"We would not want to have it understood that all seed which are not Alabama certified may not be good seed, but our service does provide for testing out seed potatoes in Alabama, under Alabama conditions, and only those which yield satisfactorily and are the freest from disease are certified; so you will always be much safer in buying certified seed."

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR RESTORATION OF CITIZENSHIP

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, Dennis R. FIDDLERS CONVENTION

There will be an old time fiddlers convention at Stanton Jr. High School on Wednesday night at 7 o'clock. All fiddle, guitar, mandolin, or banjo players are invited; buck dancers too—its all for fun. There will be prizes for the best. If you like music, come and enjoy it. 1-20-2t

You'll have more fun when the SKIN is clear from WITHIN

NO man or woman wants to have a finger poked at them or receive sympathy because of an unhealthy skin appearance.

Some skin troubles are tough to correct, but we do know this—skin tissues like the body itself must be fed from within.

To make the food we eat available for strength and energy, there must be an abundance of red-blood-cells.

S.S.S. Tonic builds these precious red cells. It is a simple, internal remedy, tested for generations and also proven by scientific research.

You, too, will want to take S.S.S. Tonic to regain and to maintain your red-blood-cells . . . to restore lost weight . . . to regain energy . . . to strengthen nerves . . . and to give to your skin that natural health glow.

Take the S.S.S. Tonic treatment and shortly you should be delighted with the way you feel . . . and have your friends compliment you on the way you look. Available at any drug store. © S.S.S. Co.

2-WAY RELIEF FOR THE MISERY OF COLDS

The speed with which Bayer tablets act in relieving the distressing symptoms of colds and accompanying sore throat is utterly amazing . . . and the treatment is simple and pleasant. This is all you do. Crush and dissolve three genuine Bayer Aspirin tablets in one-third glass of water. Then gargle with this mixture twice, holding your head well back.

This medicinal gargle will act almost like a local anesthetic on the sore, irritated membrane of your throat. Pain eases promptly—rawness is relieved.

You will say it is remarkable. And the few cents it costs effects a big saving over expensive "throat gargles" and strong medicines. And when you buy, see that you get genuine BAYER ASPIRIN

He's An Industrial Worker!

YOU would naturally think of the man operating the tractor as a farmer. And he is a farmer, but he's also an increasingly important figure in the industrial world, not only as a consumer but as a producer. He's engaged in hoeing up a field of soy beans which later, after passing through various factory processes, you'll be using in the form of paint and varnish, soap, linoleum and scores of other products. Consumers Information points out that 91 million pounds of soy bean oil, a comparatively new crop for American farmers, was produced in one recent year. Of this amount, 2½ million pounds went into the soap kettles, 5 million into linoleum and 13 million into paint and varnish.

This brand new market for American farmers, who are now growing a large number of industrial as well as food products, has been developed, like many others, through the vast research programs undertaken by American industry, whose laboratories have added untold millions to the national wealth and also thousands of jobs for American workers.

Saturday Night in Japan

"COME on in, the water's fine." Bathing in Japan is on a different plane from ours, as these two American gentlemen can tell you. Tubs are perpendicular there, instead of horizontal, and you stand in the water up to your neck. But we shouldn't laugh at this somewhat primitive scene, according to Consumers Information, which points out that only a hundred years ago, there were only 1,500 bathtubs in the United States, all of them in Philadelphia, where they had a city water system and taxed each tub $3.00. President Fillmore installed the first tub in the White House in 1850. Advertising of the advantages of convenient and sanitary bathing started 31 years later, has continued increasingly ever since, and has made the United States the cleanest nation on earth. Even the most advanced European nations are far behind us in this respect, and the possession of a bathtub in most countries is a sign not only of opulence, but ostentation. The United States is among the few countries generally educated to the knowledge that health and cleanliness go together.

Thorsby Institute News

The Helen Keller Literary Society had its annual party Saturday night at the dining hall and it was a very enjoyable occasion. Rubye Leigh Wilkes of Bessemer, was chairman of the decorations committee, Nelle Williams of the games committee, Mary Williams of the program committee and Merle Martin of the refreshment committee. The dining room was decorated in the club colors. The Pushmataha colors are green and gold, the Philomathics blue and silver.

Many interesting games were played after which the program was rendered. Mae Anniece Polk of Clanton, played a piano solo entitled, "Cuban Dance" by Mana Zucca. Ethel Root of Sanford, Fla., talked on "January." The Girls' quartet consisting fo Margaret Golson, Clanton; Anita Fretwell, Hillsboro; Louise Clark, Berlin; and Thelma White, Clanton, sang "My Shadow". Betty Jean Rowell, Thorsby, gave a reading, "The Bald-Headed Man."

The concluding numbers were by the boys' choral club, the first number being "Billy Boy," in which Maurice Higgins, Thorsby, took the leading part. The second number was "Captain Jenks." The members of the club are Maurice Higgins, Fred Blankenship, Richard Petersen, Carl Foss, Leonard Bosworth, John Davis, Leo Spivey and Woodrow Wilson.

Refreshments were grape-ade and sandwiches. The party ended with the singing of the alma mater.

The public is cordially invited to the music recital of Miss Foss' pupils at three o'clock in the auditorium a week from Saturday.

The declamatory contest will be on February 19.

In Memory

Whereas our beloved friend, Mrs. S. E. Norton, has gone from our midst to her eternal home, we the members of the United Protestant church, (Congregational) wish to express our deep sorrow and sympathy to her son, sister, brothers and friends. Mrs. Norton was a very worthy church member, having a deep and abiding faith in God and a willingness to be of service in His work. We wish to express our great appreciation of the many years she devoted to being the superintendent of the primary department, Deaconess and an active worker in the Ladies Aid Society.

She was very much interested in civic betterment and as a trustee of Thorsby Institute gave much thought to its welfare.

She has gone and it remains for us, who are left, to carry on the work in which she was so mrch interested.—Committee,—Helen Jenkins, Ruth Sutlive, Ruth Primm.

CLANTON METHODIST - CHURCH

The Sunday school superintendent, and the pastor of the church are happy because of the growth in attendance at Sunday school and preaching services, and for the greater interest being shown in the work of the church. A great and good start has been made and it is fine. Every member is urged to be and continue to be a worker and to labor faithfully in the will of God, because only that done in God's way and for Christ's glory will last. Truly "Every man's work will be manifest." Then may each attendant and member of this and every church and Sunday school place and keep his and her shoulder to the wheel, giving strength to the Kingdom of God and may the results renown to the glory of God and each heart be strangely warmed with a glow of heavenly pride. Be not slothful in the work of the church. Be eager. Trust in the Blood of the Lamb and work as though it is life's real work. Don't be afraid of putting too much time or effort in it. This is our important duty and its performance will bring more true satisfaction than the performance of any other duty. If you haven't tried it, try it.

Next Sunday's Sunday school offering will be sent to ohr orphanage at Selma. Again we plead for as much as you can give for this offering. Be at Sunday school at 9:45 a. m. We enjoyed Mrs. Power's talk at the general assembly after the Sunday school class period last Sunday. The program for general assembly next Sunday includes a solo by Mr. Pitts and a talk by Judge Reynolds. Be sure to hear them.

Then we shall, if we attend preaching services at 11 a. m., and 6:30 p. m., receive added blessings. Don't miss your pastor's usual good message at 11 o'clock, and be sure also to hear presiding elder, Andrews, at 7:30 p.m.

CHILTON COUNTY HIGH F. H. A.

The F. H. A. of Chilton County High School met last Friday, January 21, at noon, in the home economics department. The executive committee gave a very delightful luncheon. A delicious salad course, with iced tea, was served our guest, Miss Simpson, and members of the F. H. A.

When the luncheon was completed, the regular meeting was held. The president called the meeting to order, and several important questions were brought up. Plans were made for the charter members of this year and the club yearbooks for this year.

With these matters settled, the meeting adjourned.—Ola Mae Parrish, reporter.

MITCHELL DAM CARDINALS WON TWO GAMES LAST WEEK

To Play House of David Team At Mitchell Dam February 18

Mitchell Dam played two games last week, winning both of them.

On Tuesday night they went to Maplesville and defeated the independent team there, 61 to 49. On Wednesday night they went to Jemison and walloped the independents there 52 to 28.

Following is the schedule of the Cards to date, as furnished by Manager Steve Stanley:

Friday, February 4, Bessemer Y. M. C. A.

Tuesday, February 15, Red Diamond. This team is leading the red division of the men's league in Birmingham.

Friday, February 18, House of David. This is the nationally famous bearded team, which also carries the 7-foot 3-inch "Tiny" Malone. Be sure to see all these games, especially the House of David game.

All the above games are to be played on the court at Mitchell Dam. On other dates the Cardinals play the following teams on their respective courts: Bessemer Y. M. C. A., Bemiston (Talladega), Bevelle (Alexander City), and Red Diamond (Leeds).

A last minute report says that Jemison lost on Tuesday night, January 25, on the Mitchell Dam court, 47 to 37, wiht Cecil Jones leading the Cards with 14 points, and A. Cobb leading Jemison with 18.

On Friday night, January 28, 1938, there will be a Stunt Night at the Isabella High School Auditorium, consisting of music, dancing, boxing, expression and individual stunts. Each class room of the school will compete for a prize for the best stunt put on by the home rooms of the Isabella school. Prizes will be awarded for the best performances. Anyone desiring to enter any one of the contests please address all communications to the Isabella High School, so that they will reach the school by January 24, 3:00 p.m. Admission will be 10c and 20c.

KITCHEN IMPROVEMENT CONTEST

The Chilton County Council, sponsoring the Kitchen Improvement Contest among the home demonstration club women of the county, announce the rules of the contest:

Purpose — To encourage the home demonstration club women of Chilton County to improve their kitchens to the greatest advantage with the least money.

Time — Contest to begin January 20, and to end June 30. Kitchens may be entered at any time during this period upon being judged by the judging committee.

Judging — Score card found in Circular 104 published at Alabama Polytechnic Institute to be used in judging all kitchens entered, both at entrance and at the end of the contest, all scores to be filed with the Kitchen Improvement Committee. (The name of Circular 104 is "Your Kitchen", copies of which may be obtained from Miss Meta E. Grace).

Records — A complete and itemized record must be kept of all improvements made and the amount of money spent for each.

Prize Winners — The highest scores made in the county will be eligible for the prizes offered by the Kitchen Improvement Committee. Members of the committee must enter, and can be awarded place honor, but are not eligible for prizes.

Each club president is requested to appoint a club committee of three to judge the kitchens in their club as they are entered, by the following scores:

1. Light and ventilation	20
Sufficient natural light	5
Artificial light in good location	8
Doors and windows screened	7
2. Ceiling, walls, woodwork, floors	10
Sanitation	5
Attractiveness	5
3. Kitchen plumbing	20
Running water	15
Disposal of waste matter	5
4. Furnishing and equipment	30
Working surfaces	5
Storage space	10
Sink	3
Stoves	4
Stool	3
Refrigerator	5
5. Arrangement of equipment	20
For food preparation	10
For cleaning	10
Total	100

These score cards are then to be sent in to the Kitchen Improvement Committee, in care of Miss Meta E. Grace.

The business men of Clanton have been most generous in their contributions to the prize list.

When is the next train out of this burg?"
"Twelve o'clock, sir."
"What? Isn't there one here before that?"
"No sor, we never run one before the next."

PROVIDENCE—BEAT 13

Our Sunday school is progressing nicely. We want everyone in the community to come out and help us.

Mrs. Carl Harrell gave a quilting last Tuesday. Those present were: Mesdames Jeffie Satterwhite, J. D. Harrel, Edgar Askew, Charlton Harrel, Tim Pierce, Tom Killingsworth, P. J. Rogers, Albert Sammons, John Sammons, Carl Sammons, Callie Blewster.

Misses Syble and Ruth Anne Horton spent the week end at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Horton and children, and Mr. and Mrs. John Lowery spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Killingsworth.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Vanderveer spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. John Beam and family.

Mrs. O. B. Martin spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Sam Killingsworth.

Miss Joyce Harrel spent the week end with Miss Christine Green.

Miss Claris Lucas visited Miss Lydia Beam Sunday.

Successful farmers are now preparing and planting their spring gardens. W. A. Ruffin, extension horticulturist, reports that Alabama farmers should produce about $20,000,000 worth of vegetables more than they are now growing.

THORSBY JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

Our P.-T. A. held its regular session on last Friday night. Interesting talks were made by Mrs. E. N. Bentley, who summed up the accomplishments of the Thorsby P.-T. A. since it was organized in 1923; and Dr. Sturkie, county health officer, who outlined the health program he plans to put in operation in this county this year. Following these talks, a most pleasing pageant, entitled "As Told By Candles", was presented by Mrs. John Childress, Mrs. G. B. Flournoy, Mrs. R. R. Franklin, Mrs. Donald Merchant, Mrs. Earl Henley, Mrs. Wallace Waites, and Miss Ara Jones. Refreshments, composed of cake and coffee, were then served to the cheerful group by the junior high school and sixth grade girls. After a few informal announcements were made, the social hour came to a close, and the 75 participants departed for home after an evening of wholesome fellowship.

Mid-term examinations are in progress this week.

A number of junior high school girls are spending their study periods in the work shop making useful articles for the home.

Mrs. Nixon visited our school last Monday.

The negro minstrel will be staged on Saturday night, February 5. Get your laughing clothes on and your laughing machinery oiled up, for this program is a genuine button-buster. A select group of talent has been chosen to put this program on, and we know everyone present will have one more gay time. The admission has been set at a figure which everyone can reach. So, folks, get ready to enjoy the best entertainment you've seen this season.

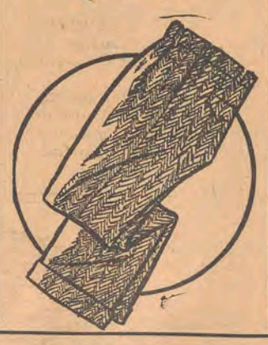
The Thorsby independent basket ball team will play the West End Y. M. C. A. team from Birmingham tomorrow night (Friday, January 28), in the junior high school auditorium. This game will be a real thriller, so don't miss seeing it. The independents have won the majority of their games this season, so come on out and support them to the extent that they will keep their record intact. You'll enjoy yourself, too.

The junior high team has won four games with no losses since our last report. These games were as follows: Thorsby 25, Coopers 4; Thorsby 25, Union Grove 22; Thorsby 28, Jemison 11; Thorsby 19, Mt. Pleasant 17. Our junior high team plays Vermont at Thorsby next Tuesday night, February 1, at 7 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Williams entertained Mr. and Mrs. Mixson with a chicken dinner last Saturday night.

Scribbler: "Give to the world the best you have, and the best will come back to you."
Scratcher: "Yes, that's the way it's been with every poem I've written so far."

Q. C. Meroney was carried to Gorgas-Baptist hospital in Birmingham by Spigener's ambulance Sunday for an appendix operation.



Douglas had been promoted to the position of monitor in his new class and was anxious. "And please God," he prayed that night, "wake me early in the morning—shall we say a quarter of eight?"

STATEMENT IN ACTION

Is there any wonder that some of the legislation passed at Washington is worse than no legislation at all? We are in receipt of a communication from a highly intelligent observer, who recently was in the national capital. He writes:

"Democracy certainly must be tough-fibered to survive practice of it by Democrats. Last week, for example, in debating the farm bill, which will cost the American people between $700,000,000 and $1,000,000,000 a year as a permanent policy of the government, I was in the Senate chamber a number of times over a period of several days. At no time were there more than 17 of the 96 members of the Senate on the floor."

If we wish to avoid the establishment of authoritarian government in the United States can we afford to have democracy function as haltingly and as unintelligently as this?—Richmond Times Dispatch.

TAXES ARE TAXES

This from a statement by the South Carolina Unemployment Commission, with headquarters in Columbia:

"The taxes, or contributions as they are generally termed. . . . . ."

Taxes by any other name are taxes. What the state of South Carolina is collecting for its unemployment fund is no voluntary contribution; it is a tax, pure and simple. It is a tax on payrolls and is passed on to the consumer from whose sight it is hidden.—Charleston News and Courier.

Senate leaders may debate the cotton question; farm leaders may combat their program; flood control can be talked everywhere; but one Charlestonian, Arthur Morgan, is responsible for an expression that will go down in history. He summed up farm conditions in a few words: "Let it go back to the Indians and let us work it on shares."—Mississippi Sun.

MAKING HEROES OF MEDDLERS

A group of American sympathizers with the Spanish loyalist government is raising funds to be used in the "rehabilitation" of Americans returning from the Spanish war. Jobs have already been found for about 50 of these returned fighters. Money is sought to rehabilitate some 250 more, expected back in the next few months. There are plenty of Americans who have stayed home and minded their own business who need jobs.

Collecting money for such a purpose as this, we submit, is a sad business for American citizens to be engaged in. The U. S. criminal code makes it a felony for Americans to fight in foreign armies. These men, when they return from Spain, are subject to arrest and trial for offenses against our neutrality, and upon conviction, may be fined heavily and imprisoned for a maximum term of three years. Yet money is being collected to reward them. On their return they are being treated as heroes rather than American who, through their violation of law, have forfeited all claim to our attention.

Americans who mess in the "causes" of other nations do not deserve financial help. They should instead be "rehabilitated" in our federal prisons, as the law provides.—Milwaukee Journal.

BETTER PLACES TO CUT

President Roosevelt begins his economy program by cutting off $246,000,000 intended for road construction and proposing to hold down farm payments to $500,000,000. The President chooses the two worst places to begin. If he wants real economy, he might stop building enormous power plants, costly homes for a favored few and sending people to live in Alaska at government expense.—Fergus Falls, Minn., Journal.

THAT THIRD TERM

John D. McQueen, chairman of the Alabama State Democratic Executive Committee, says that should the Democratic party nominate any candidate for a third term it "Will not only go down in defeat, but will be torn by internal strife so as to destroy and possibility of the party ever again being the dominant party."

The News is not sure of that. If the man nominated happened to be one Franklin Delano Roosevelt he might be elected. But it is certain that the Democratic party would be torn by internal strife, and equally certain that, whether defeated or triumphant, it wouldn't be the Democratic party any more in anything but name. — Lynchburg (Va.) News.

Assistant Attorney General Robert Jackson says "there is no major depression in sight." We earnestly hope that this statement will prove more accurate than the ones about "we will balance the budget" and "we planned it that way."

They used to give Kaiser Whilhelm the laugh when he mentioned the yellow peril. Maybe he was just ahead of his time.

The Bureau of Fisheries declare that the colonists didn't come to America for religious freedom but sailed over here in search of good fishing. This ought to enable President Roosevelt to prove his sound colonial ancestry.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

Perhaps no question which has come before congress during the past few years has done more to arouse sectional feeling, especially in the South, than the anti-lynching bill and the filibuster which has been conducted in the senate. Senators from Dixie, who have found that they were in the minority in opposing the bill, sought to defeat it by talking it to death. Many bitter speeches were made by those opposed to the bill. Sen. Pat Harrison of Mississippi delivered a speech castigating the Democratic leaders of the North which was fully as barbed and bitter as anything he has ever delivered against Republicans in days gone by. In an address following his oratorical effort, Sen. Byrnes summed up the feeling of the little band of Southern senators when he declared in impassioned tones:

"Politically the South has been an outcast. Today the South may just as well know it cannot appeal to the Republicans of the North and that it has been deserted by the Democrats of the North. * * * The negro has not only come into the Democratic party, but the negro has come into control of the Democratic party. One negro, Walter White, secretary of the Association for Advancement of Colored People, has ordered this bill to pass, and, Mr. President, it must pass."

In view of the New Deal landslide of 1936, which was by no means a Jeffersonian Democratic party victory, it does seem that the South, as Sen. Byrnes puts it, has become a political outcast. In looking about for reasons why this is true it may be found that the South's unfortunate political plight has in part resulted from its very political loyalty and dependability. In politics it is unfortunately true that a state, as an individual, often gains its point and cashes in through its very fickleness or nuisance value. It has long been apparent, for example, that it is very difficult for a politician or statesman of the South to become a candidate for president or vice president for the very reason that such territory is hopeless from the Republican standpoint, and the Democrats can count on the political loyalty of Dixie without throwing any plums its way. The case of Vice President Garner, of Texas, would seem to be an exception, but his nomination was the result of the deal in the Democratic national convention in 1932 which brought about the nomination of Mr. Roosevelt for president. And so both parties have come to pick men from the politically doubtful states as national candidates, not because they were abler, but for the reason that their home commonwealths needed to be coaxed.

This loyalty on the part of the South to the Democrats was carried to the point where in some localities it has been made anti-social to be a Republican. The G. O. P. in Mr. Byrnes' state, for example, is non-existent. Things went along pretty well for both old parties until the New Deal was born and made its tremendous landslide. In so doing it brought into authority Democratic statesmen in close states where the colored vote is an important factor. Immediately there was a desire on the part of successful politicians to make secure for themselves the negro vote. The South was considered safe Democratic territory in any event. It would stand for anything, so a new era was inaugurated by the Democratic statesmen of the North.

Once again, therefore, the Democrats of the South are being punished for their supreme loyalty to the so-called Democratic party, having gone even to the extent of swallowing the unpalatable New Deal. Some political experts profess to see a real Dixie revolt in the making. But it is too early yet to predict this with authority, as the recent senatorial primary in Alabama, where the New Deal candidate was a victor, would indicate. But if the South really does want to become politically effective again it will cease acting as a political "sure thing". The faithful wife is often rewarded by philandering on the part of her spouse. The same thing seems to be happening in American politics.

LAYOFFS

Nobody in his right mind would accuse any part of the great automobile industry of deliberately curtailing production in order to cause unemployment and intensify the Roosevelt recession. However much they may resent policies and practices which put increasingly heavy burdens upon them, executives are still more interested in profits than in stressing the glaring blunders of the New Deal or "getting even" with Mr. Roosevelt or anybody else.

It would be more to the point for this administration to seek out the real cause behind the laying off of 30,000 employes by General Motors. The business baiters may think they know the reason, but we prefer the word of Mr. Knudson, president of that corporation: "The price level rose too fast in the spring of 1937, and we just couldn't digest it."

The sit-down strikes, condoned for a long time by Mr. Roosevelt and Madam Perkins, together with increased demands on the part of labor which were actually encouraged by the administration in the effort to build a labor monopoly, proved rather costly in the end to the workers themselves. The automobile industry "just couldn't digest it."—Springfield Union.

DOES NOTHING

The hard fact is that, although the administration has lately talked much about monopoly, using it as the excuse for the failure of its own attempt at economic planning, it has done nothing consistent and earnest to overcome it. After five years it has brought only a few major cases involving monopoly to court, and it has done nothing to repair the laws covering monopoly which it concedes to be inadequate. Were the administration to make plain that it meant what it said about monopoly, it would have impressive popular support behind it. Yet as long as its deeds belie its words, all its utterances will be regarded as suspect.—Hartford Courant.

"Whenever I look at you, Maggie, I think of Ginger Rogers."

"Do you, George?"

"But it's no use; a chap like me has to be content."—Providence Journal.

Omaha preacher telegraphs President Roosevelt urging proclamation of National Grumble Day, to be set aside for feeling bad and telling the world about it. It would be suitable to have this holiday coincide with the date upon which income taxes are due.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

Recently a very substantial Christian business man said in substance, "I am a business man. I didn't have very good educational advantages when I was young. I have had a degree of success in business. Of course I decided I should send my children to college. I put my oldest son in a certain institution. This institution stole his faith and he has never entered a church door since he came back from college several years ago. I know several young business men in my community who went off to college and some of them attended the church colleges and came home in the same condition as my son." That is not an unusual story. In my work for a number of years I have heard over and over again: "I sent my children to college. They came home with no faith and no interest in Christianity." A college that steals the faith of a boy or girl is not an asset, but a liability in this nation. The greatest asset America has is Christian faith. Any institution that takes this out of the heart of a young person is a menace to America. Dying men have said, "I am sorry I have been an atheist, an infidel, an agnostic, a skeptic, or a sinner." But no man on his death bed has ever said, "I am sorry I have lived a Christian life." America needs its faith stimulated. Certainly it does not need its faith destroyed.

What would you think of a parent who would let his son or daughter work in an unhealthful physical environment when the child could have healthful physical surroundings? Well what do you think of a parent sending his child off to college where the child is exposed to rationalistic and atheistic influences, or where there may be immorality and sensuality, when he could put his child in a good, clean Christian college where the child would have good educational advantages and at the same time be able to build a strong Christian character? We have people in America who talk orthodoxy and claim to believe the Bible, and yet some of them will send their children to educational institutions where their children will probably lose their Christian faith. Recently I met a young lady who is the daughter of a minister. She is in a modernistic college. Her father has talked to me about the modernism of that very institution. He uses the vocabulary of an orthodox minister. He claims to be antagonistic to the rationalistic drift in education, yet this man puts his daughter in a college where she, in her tender years, is exposed to the most subtle behavioristic philosophy. I wonder how much faith that girl has in her father's hypocritical claim to orthodoxy. The worst wrecks I have ever met in America have been the sons and daughters of supposedly orthodox parents who were inconsistent enough and weak enough to put their children in modernistic institutions when they knew better than to do it. "Pray for my boy, Dr. Jones. He is in a certain university where he is exposed to the most terrible sensual and immoral influences. His teachers are atheistic. Please pray for him." This is what a mother said to me one time. "You will buy your boy a ticket to hell and then ask me to pray that he will not get there," I told the mother. You parents who read these lines certainly should take as good care of your children spiritually as you do physically.

Game & Fish News

Distribution of Quail

Many landowners and others continue to write to the State Department of Conservation for a supply of Bob White quail for restocking purposes. During 1937 the department began operation of a game farm, with only a sufficient number of birds to secure an adequate brood stock for 1938. There will, therefore, be no birds for distribution in 1938. The law requires that the State Conservation Board determine wild life policies, with the assistance of the commissioner. It is expected that the board will met in July and work out a plan of distribution for the quail.

"If the public will be patient," said Commissioner Quinn, "publication of policy on methods of distribution and planting of quail will be given before there are any birds to release.

Hatchery Dedication Plans

Plans for the dedication of Lane Park fish hatchery, a project of the Jefferson County Sportsmen's Association, are being shaped, according to Allan Gray, chairman of the association's committee on fish. Invitations to attend the ceremonies have been extended to Gov. Bibb Graves, Speaker W. B. Bankhead, Commissioner Frank Bell, of the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries, and Commissioner I. T. Quinn, of the State Conservation Department.

Work is progressing satisfactorily on the job, Gray said, and the date of dedication will be announced in the near future. The Birmingham Park Board donated use of the Lane Park site where the association is constructing three ponds, two large ones to be used for raising bass, and the smaller one for a rearing pond.

The Jefferson County Sportsmen's Association has over 1,200 members.

THE INCOME TAX LAW AND ITS OPERATION

The total revenue derived from Alabama's income tax law since it became effective on January 1, 1933, amounted to $4,351,218.74, up to the end of the fiscal year September 30, 1937.

During the first two years the law was in operation the total receipts amounted to $373,169.11. Up until 1935 no field men or auditors had been put on to assist the taxpayers in making out their returns or in checking up on the returns that had been filed. The law was amended in the adoption of the new revenue code in 1935 so that the Tax Commission might employ such assistants as were necessary to see that the law was enforced. Under the amended law eight field men were employed and the receipts for that year (1935) amounted to $867,654.13, although these men were employed for only a few months during that year. In 1936 the receipts mounted to $1,100,350.89, and for the year ending September 30, 1937, receipts were $2,009,864.61.

CLANTON, ALABAMA

Clifford M. Manning Writes

To the Republican voters of Chilton County:

For the first time, I am asking for an office in Chilton County, and you are to say who shall have these offices.

No member of my family has ever held or asked for an office in this county, but they, before me, have always voted their opinion for people whom they thought would be just and honest in the office they were seeking.

I have not met as many voters as I want to before the election is over. I wish it were possible that I could meet each one of you face to face and have a friendly talk with you. Making new acquaintances is one of my ambitions.

As for activities that I have been in in the county and state: I have held the office of president of Young Republicans of this county, also local president in my beat. I was made president of the 4-H clubs of this county. I held the office of state reporter of the F. F. A., and during this time was sent to Kansas City, Mo., as a delegate to the national F. F. A. convention; I was president of my Junior class in high school, and president of the Senior class when I finished. I once led a speaking contest held in the different churches of the county for the B. S. U of this district. I have always taken an active part in my church, B. Y. P. U., and Sunday school, holding a number of offices in each. I have taken an active part in a number of other activities, also.

In 1935 I was in college at Auburn, but was called home on account of the sickness and death of my father, and didn't complete my course. In my father's will he made me administrator of his estate of a number of farms, which I have been overseeing since his death. I also have some other trades I follow.

I have a number of friends, both Democrats and Republicans. If I have an enemy, I don't know it. As for other past records, I would like for you to talk with anyone who knows me.

There will be a number of us seeking the office of Tax Assessor. Before you start talking for the one you think should have this office, make a study of the person's ability to hold the office, honesty to the people; and by all means, whether they will be of benefit to the county in future years.

Our local government is more important to us in some ways than our national government. We should know if our roads are going to be worked, if our schools are going to be run, what our assessments are going to be, and if our tax money is going to be squandered. All of these things should be considered in time.

I would like for you to consider me as your Tax Assessor, by your highly appreciated influence and your vote in the Republican primary on May 3. I will be writing more in the paper, and will close now, asking you to kindly watch and read other letters printed in this paper. Yours for good local government,—Clifford M. Manning.

VERMONT CLUB NEWS

The Vermont club met Thursday, January 1, with an attendance of 33, one being a new member. The president opened the meeting by calling for two songs, led by the song leader: "Swing low, sweet chariot," and "The church in the wildwood."

The club discussed buying 4-H caps for the annual rally. After the discussion, a vote was passed to purchase the caps.

A potato roast and peanut parching was planned for Friday night, January 21. The social committee was in charge of this, and everyone expects to have an enjoyable time.

Poultry was discussed on the program. Printed sheets were given to all members, pointing out the most important points. Our next meeting will be in February.—E. J. Roseberry, reporter.

THOMAS JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

The Junior III class has been organized and is showing signs of improvement. They are preparing a program pertaning to our flag, and we are going to fly it soon. This is their class project.

Thomas boys and girls have lost several games of basket ball, but are improving in their playing. The game which was played last Friday between Thomas and Enterprise was of great interest to the spectators. The boys played first and Thomas scored five times before Enterprise did. We are proud to say that Enterprise was held down and won with a very low score —12 to 8.

The girls game was still more interesting. Enterprise girls did not obtain a field goal. All players were out for a match and Thomas girls walked out as winner. The scores were 8 to 4. Thomas girls and boys are cooperation and practicing for better improvements.

Student Taken To Hospital

Willie Connatser a Sr. 3 student was taken to a Birmingham hospital Monday, January 24. She has been absent from school for a number of days due to illness caused by tonsilitis.

She was taken to the hospital to be given a blood transfusion. The student body wishes for her a speedy recovery.

Roland Teel was also taken to Birmingham to undergo an operation to remove his appendix. Roland is a member of the Sr. 1 class and they wish him a quick recovery.

New Member In Class

Maurice Wyatt is the new member in the Diversified Occupation class, and is expected to do some fine work.

The regular class is making great improvements.

Tigers Defeat Coosa High

The Tigers defeated Coosa high last Thursday night by a score of 20 to 17.

The Tigers won by a very small margin. The usual accuracy in shooting and a good defense proved to be a big factor in this game; this being the second victory for the Tigers over Coosa.

Maplesville Looser Again

The Chilton boys defeated Maplesville by a very small lead. This proved to be the most exciting game played by the Tigers so far. They won this game by sheer force and ability to play basket ball; the score being 27 to 28.

Everybody be sure and come to see the game Friday night—Tigers vs. Plantersville.

Social Security Advice

Chief points of difference in Old Age Insurance, Unemployment Compensation, and Public Assistance, are explained in a statement issued by Martin C. Folmar, field manager of the Birmingham office of the Social Security Board.

Old Age Insurance

Old age insurance is intended to provide an income for wage earners or salaried employes after they grow too old to work. These are people who now have, or will have, social security accounts, and their wage or salary earnings (which are reported by their employers to the government) are credited to their individual social security accounts.

When workers who have qualified for monthly old age insurance benefits reach the age of 65 they will receive a check every month for the rest of their lives. The amount of such payments will depend upon the amount of all earnings shown on their government wage records.

Monthly old age insurance payments will not be made before 1942. But lump sum payments of old age insurance to those who are entitled to such benefits are now being made by the government. There are two types of lump sum payments that can be made at any time after January 1, 1937. One is the death benefit which the federal government is paying to relatives of workers who have died since January 1, 1937, and whose wage earnings since the last day of 1936 entitled them to benefits. The other type of lump sum benefit, now payable, is for workers who are entitled to some benefits and who have reached the age of 65 since the first of January, 1937.

Job Insurance

Unemployment compensation provisions were included in the Social Security Act to make it possible for any state to tide its workers over jobless days. Under this plan, workers will receive unemployment compensation for part of the time they are without jobs. State unemployment laws are administered by state authorities.

Immediately upon losing his job, an employe should register with the local employment service, so that another job may be found for him. If, after a certain waiting period—usually two or three weeks—he still is unemployed, the worker will begin receiving benefits from the unemployment fund, if he is entitled to such payments.

Public Assistance

Public assistance is provided under the Social Security Act for the needy aged, the needy blind, and for needy children who have lost the support of their natural bread winner. The welfare department dispenses this aid in the form of monthly payments. Mr. Folmar stressed the fact that the office of the Federal Old Age Insurance Bureau has nothing to do with distributing public money to the needy. "That is the business of the state and local welfare departments," he said, "and our work deals with insurance protection for those who earn their own living."

The U. S. Forest Service reports that farmers of 40 states desiring to plant trees on their land can take advantage of the assistance offered under the Clarke-McNary Act. In Alabama the trees are produced by the State Forestry Department, Montgomery.

January Floods Reveal Strength of Red Cross

Aid Given 1,062,000 Persons Through Set-Up by Agency

The elasticity and scope of Red Cross disaster work is shown in a recent report on Red Cross relief measures during the unparalleled Ohio-Mississippi Valley flood of this year.

At the height of the emergency Red Cross relief offices were established in 182 inundated counties and in 146 counties where refugees were cared for, the report stated. Eight regional headquarters offices controlled the 328 county offices, and were in turn supervised by the National Red Cross in Washington, D. C.

A statistical summary of persons aided by the organization indicates that the floods constituted the greatest peace-time emergency ever faced by the nation. The Red Cross gave some form of assistance to 1,062,000 men, women and children. From January to August hundreds of trained workers helped by thousands of volunteers administered to the sufferers.

A Red Cross rescue fleet of 5400 boats was organized, according to the report. Emergency hospitals established totaled 300 and 3600 nurses were assigned to flood duty. In more than 1,000 refugee centers the victims of the flood were sheltered, clothed and fed. Through the Red Cross medical health program and the work of public health agencies sickness was kept to normal for the time of year in all inundated areas.

Because of its disaster experience the Red Cross was directed by the President of the United States, who is also president of the Red Cross, to coordinate the effort of all federal flood relief groups. Government and Red Cross officials met daily at the Red Cross headquarters building in Washington to plan relief measures and prevent duplication of effort.

"We were fortunate in having 56 years of disaster relief experience to call upon in meeting the emergency," Admiral Gary T. Grayson, chairman of the Red Cross, said.

It was found that 97,000 families composed of 436,000 persons had to have their resources supplemented or an entirely new start provided by the Red Cross, the report stated. Red Cross emergency and rehabilitation assistance was as follows: rescue, transportation and shelter for 62,000 families; food, clothing and other maintenance for 193,000 families; building and repair for 27,000 families; household goods for 90,000 families; medical, nursing and sanitation help for 15,000 families; agricultural rehabilitation for 10,000 families; other occupational aid for 3,000 families and other types of relief for 4,000 families.

"Credit for this largest peace-time relief operation in the history of the nation must go to the American people who contributed a Red Cross relief fund of more than $25,000,000," Admiral Grayson said.

During the year the Red Cross gave aid to the victims of 105 other disasters in 36 states, Alaska and the District of Columbia. The Red Cross financed the majority of these relief operations from money contributed through memberships during the annual Roll Call last November, since it is only in case of large scale disasters that a national drive for relief funds is made.

This year the Roll Call is from November 11th to the 25th. The Red Cross seeks a greater membership to meet its disaster relief and other service obligations during 1938.

Last year Red Cross Chapters gave vital help to 120,000 needy families.

Red Cross Replaces Farm Family Losses

The Red Cross gave agricultural rehabilitation to 10,116 farm families following the severe eastern floods of last winter. Types of aid included feed, seed, livestock, farm tools and machinery and other items essential to agricultural productivity. More than $599,000 was expended by the organization to meet these requirements.

In addition to occupational assistance, rural families hard hit by the flood waters were rescued, clothed, fed and sheltered by the Red Cross. Where it was necessary the Red Cross repaired and rebuilt out-buildings, barns and other structures. Medical and nursing care were provided and homes refurnished.

Red Cross agricultural rehabilitation benefited nearly three times as many families as received all other types of Red Cross occupational rehabilitation combined.

Labor's advocacy of the Red Cross program is attested by recent statements from William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor and John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America.

"Red Cross aims and purposes are highly commendable and deserving of the support of all classes of people," said Mr. Green.

"The activities and service of the American Red Cross satisfy a great need of the people, and I strongly urge that it receive the unqualified support of all during its annual Roll Call for members," Mr. Lewis said.

STATEMENT IN ACTION

Is there any wonder that some of the legislation passed at Washington is worse than no legislation at all? We are in receipt of a communication from a highly intelligent observer, who recently was in the national capital. He writes:

"Democracy certainly must be tough-fibered to survive practice of it by Democrats. Last week, for example, in debating the farm bill, which will cost the American people between $700,000,000 and $1,000,000,000 a year as a permanent policy of the government, I was in the Senate chamber a number of times over a period of several days. At no time were there more than 17 of the 96 members of the Senate on the floor."

If we wish to avoid the establishment of authoritarian government in the United States can we afford to have democracy function as haltingly and as unintelligently as this?—Richmond Times Dispatch.

TAXES ARE TAXES

This from a statement by the South Carolina Unemployment Commission, with headquarters in Columbia:

"The taxes, or contributions as they are generally termed. . . . . ."

Taxes by any other name are taxes. What the state of South Carolina is collecting for its unemployment fund is no voluntary contribution; it is a tax, pure and simple. It is a tax on payrolls and is passed on to the consumer from whose sight it is hidden.—Charleston News and Courier.

Senate leaders may debate the cotton question; farm leaders may combat their program; flood control can be talked everywhere; but one Charlestonian, Arthur Morgan, is responsible for an expression that will go down in history. He summed up farm conditions in a few words: "Let it go back to the Indians and let us work it on shares."—Mississippi Sun.

MAKING HEROES OF MEDDLERS

A group of American sympathizers with the Spanish loyalist government is raising funds to be used in the "rehabilitation" of Americans returning from the Spanish war. Jobs have already been found for about 50 of these returned fighters. Money is sought to rehabilitate some 250 more, expected back in the next few months. There are plenty of Americans who have stayed home and minded their own business who need jobs.

Collecting money for such a purpose as this, we submit, is a sad business for American citizens to be engaged in. The U. S. criminal code makes it a felony for Americans to fight in foreign armies. These men, when they return from Spain, are subject to arrest and trial for offenses against our neutrality, and upon conviction, may be fined heavily and imprisoned for a maximum term of three years. Yet money is being collected to reward them. On their return they are being treated as heroes rather than American who, through their violation of law, have forfeited all claim to our attention.

Americans who mess in the "causes" of other nations do not deserve financial help. They should instead be "rehabilitated" in our federal prisons, as the law provides.—Milwaukee Journal.

BETTER PLACES TO CUT

President Roosevelt begins his economy program by cutting off $246,000,000 intended for road construction and proposing to hold down farm payments to $500,000,000. The President chooses the two worst places to begin. If he wants real economy, he might stop building enormous power plants, costly homes for a favored few and sending people to live in Alaska at government expense.—Fergus Falls, Minn., Journal.

THAT THIRD TERM

John D. McQueen, chairman of the Alabama State Democratic Executive Committee, says that should the Democratic party nominate any candidate for a third term it "Will not only go down in defeat, but will be torn by internal strife so as to destroy and possibility of the party ever again being the dominant party."

The News is not sure of that. If the man nominated happened to be one Franklin Delano Roosevelt he might be elected. But it is certain that the Democratic party would be torn by internal strife, and equally certain that, whether defeated or triumphant, it wouldn't be the Democratic party any more in anything but name. — Lynchburg (Va.) News.

Assistant Attorney General Robert Jackson says "there is no major depression in sight." We earnestly hope that this statement will prove more accurate than the ones about "we will balance the budget" and "we planned it that way."

They used to give Kaiser Whilhelm the laugh when he mentioned the yellow peril. Maybe he was just ahead of his time.

The Bureau of Fisheries declare that the colonists didn't come to America for religious freedom but sailed over here in search of good fishing. This ought to enable President Roosevelt to prove his sound colonial ancestry.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

Perhaps no question which has come before congress during the past few years has done more to arouse sectional feeling, especially in the South, than the anti-lynching bill and the filibuster which has been conducted in the senate. Senators from Dixie, who have found that they were in the minority in opposing the bill, sought to defeat it by talking it to death. Many bitter speeches were made by those opposed to the bill. Sen. Pat Harrison of Mississippi delivered a speech castigating the Democratic leaders of the North which was fully as barbed and bitter as anything he has ever delivered against Republicans in days gone by. In an address following his oratorical effort, Sen. Byrnes summed up the feeling of the little band of Southern senators when he declared in impassioned tones:

"Politically the South has been an outcast. Today the South may just as well know it cannot appeal to the Republicans of the North and that it has been deserted by the Democrats of the North. * * * The negro has not only come into the Democratic party, but the negro has come into control of the Democratic party. One negro, Walter White, secretary of the Association for Advancement of Colored People, has ordered this bill to pass, and, Mr. President, it must pass."

In view of the New Deal landslide of 1936, which was by no means a Jeffersonian Democratic party victory, it does seem that the South, as Sen. Byrnes puts it, has become a political outcast. In looking about for reasons why this is true it may be found that the South's unfortunate political plight has in part resulted from its very political loyalty and dependability. In politics it is unfortunately true that a state, as an individual, often gains its point and cashes in through its very fickleness or nuisance value. It has long been apparent, for example, that it is very difficult for a politician or statesman of the South to become a candidate for president or vice president for the very reason that such territory is hopeless from the Republican standpoint, and the Democrats can count on the political loyalty of Dixie without throwing any plums its way. The case of Vice President Garner, of Texas, would seem to be an exception, but his nomination was the result of the deal in the Democratic national convention in 1932 which brought about the nomination of Mr. Roosevelt for president. And so both parties have come to pick men from the politically doubtful states as national candidates, not because they were abler, but for the reason that their home commonwealths needed to be coaxed.

This loyalty on the part of the South to the Democrats was carried to the point where in some localities it has been made anti-social to be a Republican. The G. O. P. in Mr. Byrnes' state, for example, is non-existent. Things went along pretty well for both old parties until the New Deal was born and made its tremendous landslide. In so doing it brought into authority Democratic statesmen in close states where the colored vote is an important factor. Immediately there was a desire on the part of successful politicians to make secure for themselves the negro vote. The South was considered safe Democratic territory in any event. It would stand for anything, so a new era was inaugurated by the Democratic statesmen of the North.

Once again, therefore, the Democrats of the South are being punished for their supreme loyalty to the so-called Democratic party, having gone even to the extent of swallowing the unpalatable New Deal. Some political experts profess to see a real Dixie revolt in the making. But it is too early yet to predict this with authority, as the recent senatorial primary in Alabama, where the New Deal candidate was a victor, would indicate. But if the South really does want to become politically effective again it will cease acting as a political "sure thing". The faithful wife is often rewarded by philandering on the part of her spouse. The same thing seems to be happening in American politics.

LAYOFFS

Nobody in his right mind would accuse any part of the great automobile industry of deliberately curtailing production in order to cause unemployment and intensify the Roosevelt recession. However much they may resent policies and practices which put increasingly heavy burdens upon them, executives are still more interested in profits than in stressing the glaring blunders of the New Deal or "getting even" with Mr. Roosevelt or anybody else.

It would be more to the point for this administration to seek out the real cause behind the laying off of 30,000 employes by General Motors. The business baiters may think they know the reason, but we prefer the word of Mr. Knudson, president of that corporation: "The price level rose too fast in the spring of 1937, and we just couldn't digest it."

The sit-down strikes, condoned for a long time by Mr. Roosevelt and Madam Perkins, together with increased demands on the part of labor which were actually encouraged by the administration in the effort to build a labor monopoly, proved rather costly in the end to the workers themselves. The automobile industry "just couldn't digest it."—Springfield Union.

DOES NOTHING

The hard fact is that, although the administration has lately talked much about monopoly, using it as the excuse for the failure of its own attempt at economic planning, it has done nothing consistent and earnest to overcome it. After five years it has brought only a few major cases involving monopoly to court, and it has done nothing to repair the laws covering monopoly which it concedes to be inadequate. Were the administration to make plain that it meant what it said about monopoly, it would have impressive popular support behind it. Yet as long as its deeds belie its words, all its utterances will be regarded as suspect.—Hartford Courant.

COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

Recently a very substantial Christian business man said in substance, "I am a business man. I didn't have very good educational advantages when I was young. I have had a degree of success in business. Of course I decided I should send my children to college. I put my oldest son in a certain institution. This institution stole his faith and he has never entered a church door since he came back from college several years ago. I know several young business men in my community who went off to college and some of them attended the church colleges and came home in the same condition as my son." That is not an unusual story. In my work for a number of years I have heard over and over again: "I sent my children to college. They came home with no faith and no interest in Christianity." A college that steals the faith of a boy or girl is not an asset, but a liability in this nation. The greatest asset America has is Christian faith. Any institution that takes this out of the heart of a young person is a menace to America. Dying men have said, "I am sorry I have been an atheist, an infidel, an agnostic, a skeptic, or a sinner." But no man on his death bed has ever said, "I am sorry I have lived a Christian life." America needs its faith stimulated. Certainly it does not need its faith destroyed.

What would you think of a parent who would let his son or daughter work in an unhealthful physical environment when the child could have healthful physical surroundings? Well what do you think of a parent sending his child off to college where the child is exposed to rationalistic and atheistic influences, or where there may be immorality and sensuality, when he could put his child in a good, clean Christian college where the child would have good educational advantages and at the same time be able to build a strong Christian character? We have people in America who talk orthodoxy and claim to believe the Bible, and yet some of them will send their children to educational institutions where their children will probably lose their Christian faith. Recently I met a young lady who is the daughter of a minister. She is in a modernistic college. Her father has talked to me about the modernism of that very institution. He uses the vocabulary of an orthodox minister. He claims to be antagonistic to the rationalistic drift in education, yet this man puts his daughter in a college where she, in her tender years, is exposed to the most subtle behavioristic philosophy. I wonder how much faith that girl has in her father's hypocritical claim to orthodoxy. The worst wrecks I have ever met in America have been the sons and daughters of supposedly orthodox parents who were inconsistent enough and weak enough to put their children in modernistic institutions when they knew better than to do it. "Pray for my boy, Dr. Jones. He is in a certain university where he is exposed to the most terrible sensual and immoral influences. His teachers are atheistic. Please pray for him." This is what a mother said to me one time. "You will buy your boy a ticket to hell and then ask me to pray that he will not get there," I told the mother. You parents who read these lines certainly should take as good care of your children spiritually as you do physically.

Game & Fish News

Distribution of Quail

Many landowners and others continue to write to the State Department of Conservation for a supply of Bob White quail for restocking purposes. During 1937 the department began operation of a game farm, with only a sufficient number of birds to secure an adequate brood stock for 1938. There will, therefore, be no birds for distribution in 1938. The law requires that the State Conservation Board determine wild life policies, with the assistance of the commissioner. It is expected that the board will met in July and work out a plan of distribution for the quail.

"If the public will be patient," said Commissioner Quinn, "publication of policy on methods of distribution and planting of quail will be given before there are any birds to release.

Hatchery Dedication Plans

Plans for the dedication of Lane Park fish hatchery, a project of the Jefferson County Sportsmen's Association, are being shaped, according to Allan Gray, chairman of the association's committee on fish. Invitations to attend the ceremonies have been extended to Gov. Bibb Graves, Speaker W. B. Bankhead, Commissioner Frank Bell, of the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries, and Commissioner I. T. Quinn, of the State Conservation Department.

Work is progressing satisfactorily on the job, Gray said, and the date of dedication will be announced in the near future. The Birmingham Park Board donated use of the Lane Park site where the association is constructing three ponds, two large ones to be used for raising bass, and the smaller one for a rearing pond.

The Jefferson County Sportsmen's Association has over 1,200 members.

THE INCOME TAX LAW AND ITS OPERATION

The total revenue derived from Alabama's income tax law since it became effective on January 1, 1933, amounted to $4,351,218.74, up to the end of the fiscal year September 30, 1937.

During the first two years the law was in operation the total receipts amounted to $373,169.11. Up until 1935 no field men or auditors had been put on to assist the taxpayers in making out their returns or in checking up on the returns that had been filed. The law was amended in the adoption of the new revenue code in 1935 so that the Tax Commission might employ such assistants as were necessary to see that the law was enforced. Under the amended law eight field men were employed and the receipts for that year (1935) amounted to $867,654.13, although these men were employed for only a few months during that year. In 1936 the receipts mounted to $1,100,350.89, and for the year ending September 30, 1937, receipts were $2,009,864.61.

CLANTON, ALABAMA

Clifford M. Manning Writes

To the Republican voters of Chilton County:

For the first time, I am asking for an office in Chilton County, and you are to say who shall have these offices.

No member of my family has ever held or asked for an office in this county, but they, before me, have always voted their opinion for people whom they thought would be just and honest in the office they were seeking.

I have not met as many voters as I want to before the election is over. I wish it were possible that I could meet each one of you face to face and have a friendly talk with you. Making new acquaintances is one of my ambitions.

As for activities that I have been in in the county and state: I have held the office of president of Young Republicans of this county, also local president in my beat. I was made president of the 4-H clubs of this county. I held the office of state reporter of the F. F. A., and during this time was sent to Kansas City, Mo., as a delegate to the national F. F. A. convention; I was president of my Junior class in high school, and president of the Senior class when I finished. I once led a speaking contest held in the different churches of the county for the B. S. U of this district. I have always taken an active part in my church, B. Y. P. U., and Sunday school, holding a number of offices in each. I have taken an active part in a number of other activities, also.

In 1935 I was in college at Auburn, but was called home on account of the sickness and death of my father, and didn't complete my course. In my father's will he made me administrator of his estate of a number of farms, which I have been overseeing since his death. I also have some other trades I follow.

I have a number of friends, both Democrats and Republicans. If I have an enemy, I don't know it. As for other past records, I would like for you to talk with anyone who knows me.

There will be a number of us seeking the office of Tax Assessor. Before you start talking for the one you think should have this office, make a study of the person's ability to hold the office, honesty to the people; and by all means, whether they will be of benefit to the county in future years.

Our local government is more important to us in some ways than our national government. We should know if our roads are going to be worked, if our schools are going to be run, what our assessments are going to be, and if our tax money is going to be squandered. All of these things should be considered in time.

I would like for you to consider me as your Tax Assessor, by your highly appreciated influence and your vote in the Republican primary on May 3. I will be writing more in the paper, and will close now, asking you to kindly watch and read other letters printed in this paper. Yours for good local government,—Clifford M. Manning.

VERMONT CLUB NEWS

The Vermont club met Thursday, January 1, with an attendance of 33, one being a new member. The president opened the meeting by calling for two songs, led by the song leader: "Swing low, sweet chariot," and "The church in the wildwood."

The club discussed buying 4-H caps for the annual rally. After the discussion, a vote was passed to purchase the caps.

A potato roast and peanut parching was planned for Friday night, January 21. The social committee was in charge of this, and everyone expects to have an enjoyable time.

Poultry was discussed on the program. Printed sheets were given to all members, pointing out the most important points. Our next meeting will be in February.—E. J. Roseberry, reporter.

THOMAS JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

The Junior III class has been organized and is showing signs of improvement. They are preparing a program pertaning to our flag, and we are going to fly it soon. This is their class project.

Thomas boys and girls have lost several games of basket ball, but are improving in their playing. The game which was played last Friday between Thomas and Enterprise was of great interest to the spectators. The boys played first and Thomas scored five times before Enterprise did. We are proud to say that Enterprise was held down and won with a very low score —12 to 8.

The girls game was still more interesting. Enterprise girls did not obtain a field goal. All players were out for a match and Thomas girls walked out as winner. The scores were 8 to 4. Thomas girls and boys are cooperation and practicing for better improvements.

Student Taken To Hospital

Willie Connatser a Sr. 3 student was taken to a Birmingham hospital Monday, January 24. She has been absent from school for a number of days due to illness caused by tonsilitis.

She was taken to the hospital to be given a blood transfusion. The student body wishes for her a speedy recovery.

Roland Teel was also taken to Birmingham to undergo an operation to remove his appendix. Roland is a member of the Sr. 1 class and they wish him a quick recovery.

New Member In Class

Maurice Wyatt is the new member in the Diversified Occupation class, and is expected to do some fine work.

The regular class is making great improvements.

Tigers Defeat Coosa High

The Tigers defeated Coosa high last Thursday night by a score of 20 to 17.

The Tigers won by a very small margin. The usual accuracy in shooting and a good defense proved to be a big factor in this game; this being the second victory for the Tigers over Coosa.

Maplesville Looser Again

The Chilton boys defeated Maplesville by a very small lead. This proved to be the most exciting game played by the Tigers so far. They won this game by sheer force and ability to play basket ball; the score being 27 to 28.

Everybody be sure and come to see the game Friday night—Tigers vs. Plantersville.

Social Security Advice

Chief points of difference in Old Age Insurance, Unemployment Compensation, and Public Assistance, are explained in a statement issued by Martin C. Folmar, field manager of the Birmingham office of the Social Security Board.

Old Age Insurance

Old age insurance is intended to provide an income for wage earners or salaried employes after they grow too old to work. These are people who now have, or will have, social security accounts, and their wage or salary earnings (which are reported by their employers to the government) are credited to their individual social security accounts.

When workers who have qualified for monthly old age insurance benefits reach the age of 65 they will receive a check every month for the rest of their lives. The amount of such payments will depend upon the amount of all earnings shown on their government wage records.

Monthly old age insurance payments will not be made before 1942. But lump sum payments of old age insurance to those who are entitled to such benefits are now being made by the government. There are two types of lump sum payments that can be made at any time after January 1, 1937. One is the death benefit which the federal government is paying to relatives of workers who have died since January 1, 1937, and whose wage earnings since the last day of 1936 entitled them to benefits. The other type of lump sum benefit, now payable, is for workers who are entitled to some benefits and who have reached the age of 65 since the first of January, 1937.

Job Insurance

Unemployment compensation provisions were included in the Social Security Act to make it possible for any state to tide its workers over jobless days. Under this plan, workers will receive unemployment compensation for part of the time they are without jobs. State unemployment laws are administered by state authorities.

Immediately upon losing his job, an employe should register with the local employment service, so that another job may be found for him. If, after a certain waiting period—usually two or three weeks—he still is unemployed, the worker will begin receiving benefits from the unemployment fund, if he is entitled to such payments.

Public Assistance

Public assistance is provided under the Social Security Act for the needy aged, the needy blind, and for needy children who have lost the support of their natural bread winner. The welfare department dispenses this aid in the form of monthly payments. Mr. Folmar stressed the fact that the office of the Federal Old Age Insurance Bureau has nothing to do with distributing public money to the needy. "That is the business of the state and local welfare departments," he said, "and our work deals with insurance protection for those who earn their own living."

The U. S. Forest Service reports that farmers of 40 states desiring to plant trees on their land can take advantage of the assistance offered under the Clarke-McNary Act. In Alabama the trees are produced by the State Forestry Department, Montgomery.

January Floods Reveal Strength of Red Cross

Aid Given 1,062,000 Persons Through Set-Up by Agency

The elasticity and scope of Red Cross disaster work is shown in a recent report on Red Cross relief measures during the unparalleled Ohio-Mississippi Valley flood of this year.

At the height of the emergency Red Cross relief offices were established in 182 inundated counties and in 146 counties where refugees were cared for, the report stated. Eight regional headquarters offices controlled the 328 county offices, and were in turn supervised by the National Red Cross in Washington, D. C.

A statistical summary of persons aided by the organization indicates that the floods constituted the greatest peace-time emergency ever faced by the nation. The Red Cross gave some form of assistance to 1,062,000 men, women and children. From January to August hundreds of trained workers helped by thousands of volunteers administered to the sufferers.

A Red Cross rescue fleet of 5400 boats was organized, according to the report. Emergency hospitals established totaled 300 and 3600 nurses were assigned to flood duty. In more than 1,000 refugee centers the victims of the flood were sheltered, clothed and fed. Through the Red Cross medical health program and the work of public health agencies sickness was kept to normal for the time of year in all inundated areas.

Because of its disaster experience the Red Cross was directed by the President of the United States, who is also president of the Red Cross, to coordinate the effort of all federal flood relief groups. Government and Red Cross officials met daily at the Red Cross headquarters building in Washington to plan relief measures and prevent duplication of effort.

"We were fortunate in having 56 years of disaster relief experience to call upon in meeting the emergency," Admiral Gary T. Grayson, chairman of the Red Cross, said.

It was found that 97,000 families composed of 436,000 persons had to have their resources supplemented or an entirely new start provided by the Red Cross, the report stated. Red Cross emergency and rehabilitation assistance was as follows: rescue, transportation and shelter for 62,000 families; food, clothing and other maintenance for 193,000 families; building and repair for 27,000 families; household goods for 90,000 families; medical, nursing and sanitation help for 15,000 families; agricultural rehabilitation for 10,000 families; other occupational aid for 3,000 families and other types of relief for 4,000 families.

"Credit for this largest peace-time relief operation in the history of the nation must go to the American people who contributed a Red Cross relief fund of more than $25,000,000," Admiral Grayson said.

During the year the Red Cross gave aid to the victims of 105 other disasters in 36 states, Alaska and the District of Columbia. The Red Cross financed the majority of these relief operations from money contributed through memberships during the annual Roll Call last November, since it is only in case of large scale disasters that a national drive for relief funds is made.

This year the Roll Call is from November 11th to the 25th. The Red Cross seeks a greater membership to meet its disaster relief and other service obligations during 1938.

Last year Red Cross Chapters gave vital help to 120,000 needy families.

Red Cross Replaces Farm Family Losses

The Red Cross gave agricultural rehabilitation to 10,116 farm families following the severe eastern floods of last winter. Types of aid included feed, seed, livestock, farm tools and machinery and other items essential to agricultural productivity. More than $599,000 was expended by the organization to meet these requirements.

In addition to occupational assistance, rural families hard hit by the flood waters were rescued, clothed, fed and sheltered by the Red Cross. Where it was necessary the Red Cross repaired and rebuilt out-buildings, barns and other structures. Medical and nursing care were provided and homes refurnished.

Red Cross agricultural rehabilitation benefited nearly three times as many families as received all other types of Red Cross occupational rehabilitation combined.

Labor's advocacy of the Red Cross program is attested by recent statements from William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor and John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America.

"Red Cross aims and purposes are highly commendable and deserving of the support of all classes of people," said Mr. Green.

"The activities and service of the American Red Cross satisfy a great need of the people, and I strongly urge that it receive the unqualified support of all during its annual Roll Call for members," Mr. Lewis said.

Local livestock clinics are being held in various parts of Alabama by county agents and local veterinarians. Reports indicate that farmers are using the clinics in getting their work stock treated for various diseases at greatly reduced prices.

Alabama farmers are being advised by agricultural workers to make plans now for top-dressing their oats early in March with 36 pounds of nitrogen. This nitrogen can be supplied with 225 pounds of nitrate of soda or its equivalent.

PREACHING SATURDAY NIGHT

There will be preaching at the home of Walter Anderson at the cotton mill Saturday night, January 29, either by Rev. Varner or Rev. Napoleon Jones. The public is cordially invited to attend.

A welcome visitor to The Union-Banner office Monday was Mr. J. W. Short of Sardis comfunity. Mr. Short was here to advertise his farm for sale, and we enjoyed his call very much.

There were 25 major industries located in Alabama during the past year employing more than 5,000 persons and with an annual payroll of over 5½ million dollars.

State Capitol News

More than 100,000 Alabamians have signified their intention of attending a series of balls Saturday evening, January 29, in celebration of the birthday of President Roosevelt, proceeds of which will be used to fight infantile paralysis, according to H. H. Kinney, Cullman, state chairman of the Alabama Committee for the Celebration of the President's Birthday.

Though the gubernatorial candidates thus far qualifying consist only of Rep. Chauncey Sparks, of Eufaula, and a political unknown, James H. Arnold, Birmingham clothier, impetus to the campaign for Frank M. Dixon, Birmingham attorney and runner-up in 1934, was received late last week with the announcement by Mayor William A. Gunter, of Montgomery, that "it is my intention to support Dixon."

Gov. Graves last week conferred with Thomas W. Martin, president of the Alabama Power Company, but declined to reveal the subject of their discussion. However, it was understood that their conference dealt with the recent proposal by an official of the Commonwealth & Southern Co., holding company of the Alabama Power Company, that the federal government purchase the power company's property in the Tennessee Valley.

Shortly before the conference announcement was made from Washington by David E. Lilienthal, chairman of the TVA, that he had proposed to President Roosevelt that the government "lend money to the states in the Tennessee Valley wherewith to purchase the power company's lines." Another conference will be held next week.

"No man should be elected to the office of governor who hasn't the courage to advocate reapportionment of the membership of the legislature," Gov. Graves told capitol newspaper men last Friday.

His declaration was made in the presence of Harry Walker, of Limestone, speaker of the House during the '35 and '36 sessions of the legislature, and a strong proponent for reapportionment.

WILLIAM R. SMITH

William R. Smith, age 70 years, died at his home two miles southwest of Clanton Sunday morning at 6 o'clock, following a short illness. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at Walnut Creek church, Revs. Golden, Enfinger and Truett officiating; Spigener directing. The Masonic fraternity was in charge at the grave.

The local church was making a drive for funds, and two colored sisters were calling on Uncle Rastus.

Uncle Rastus: "I can't give nothing. I owes everybody in this here town, now."

Collector: "But don't you think that you owe the Lord something, too?"

Uncle Rastus: "I does, sister, indeed, but He ain't rushin' me like the other creditors is."

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Blalock and children spent a while Monday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Jones.

Mr. John Friday spent a while Sunday morning with Mr. Oliver Glenn.

What Irvin S. Cobb Thinks about

Butchery by Air.

SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS.—Following the example of Il Duce and that air-minded son of his, who wrote a brave book describing the joy of bombing undefended mud villages full of women and children, one of the leading statesmen of Italy has delivered a speech declaring war is the most glorious, most inspiring, most beautiful thing on earth. Inquiry discloses that this cheery patriot is a hero in his own right. As an officer, he enthusiastically participated in the retreat from Caporetta.

Caporetta was the place where all ranks of an entire army, with victory against the enemy right around the corner, suddenly remembered they had sworn to die in the last ditch and started for the extreme rear to look for it. Or it may have been that everybody just simultaneously felt homesick. Anyhow, it was months before some of them caught up with their panting.

Irvin S. Cobb

So it's possible this blood-thirsty orator has confused the science of warfare with the sport of foot-racing.

The Meaning of Words.

A DISTINGUISHED gentleman, who never admitted the Eighteenth amendment was a failure, is said to be comforting the drys with words of wisdom, his attitude—in effect—being this:

The causes of sanity and safety suffer because certain distillers and many local retailers indiscriminately sell an unnecessarily high-powered product, the results being law-breaking, property damage; danger and personal injury and untold suffering for innocent parties; homicides, mutilations, often a horrid death for the purchaser of the article in question.

To extend the argument further, let us change just three words: "... Certain automobile manufacturers and many local agents indiscriminately sell an unnecessarily high-powered product, the results being law-breaking, property damage; danger and personal injury and untold suffering for innocent parties; homicides, mutilations, often a horrid death for the purchaser of the article in question."

Now then, when the aforesaid gentleman kindly proves that, in selling cars capable of traveling 130 miles an hour or even faster, for use on highways having a speed limit of 60 miles an hour, or less, he is promoting the causes of sanity and safety, I'll turn prohibitionist with him.

* * *

Practical Jokes.

THREE city sportsmen drove into the Kerrville country in Texas. Everywhere the lands were posted. But one of the party knew an old rancher whose acres bordered the highway. Leaving his mates at the road, he went to ask permission to hunt deer on the property.

"Sure," said the owner. "Bust right in—my place is full of bucks; I never gun 'em myself. Now do me a favor. As you turn into the lot, you'll see an old, crippled, sick white mare. She oughter be dead, but I ain't got the heart to kill any living creature. Put her out of her misery, will you?"

The gratified huntsman had a waggish idea. As he opened the pasture gate, he let out a terrific yell.

"I feel so good I've got to shoot something!" he whooped. "Believe I'll shoot a horse to start with."

With that, he hauled off and blasted down the feeble old nag where she leaned against the fence.

"And now," as he turned on his horrified companions, "I believe I'll shoot me a couple of so-and-soes."

He waved his rifle in their direction. The next instant one had vaulted out of the car and had him down, choking him until his tongue stuck out like a pink plush necktie.

They were halfway back to town, with a large man sitting on his head and another driving like mad to find a lunatic asylum or a stout jail, before the humorist succeeded in convincing them it was all just clean, boyish fun.

Now the rest of Texas is wondering whom the joke's on.

Closed Doors to World

About 500 years ago a Tokugawa shogun (dictator) closed Japan's doors to the world and her foreign shipping stopped. But for centuries before that, Japanese fishermen and delegates of the Daimyo (Feudal lords) sailed extensively along the China coast. They even voyaged to Siam, Sumatra and Java. In the earlier open-door days, the shogunate designated certain vessels called "go-shu-in-sen" as trading ships.

A WORD FOR SAM F. MIMS

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me to say a few words in regard to Mr. Sam F. Mims, who has announced for Tax Assessor. Since there are many people in the county who are not acquainted with him, I wish to say that I have known him ever since he was quite a small boy. I lived in the community for eight years where he was reared and I was intimately acquainted with his father and mother. Sam was reared in a Christian home, and so far as his moral character is concerned, I think it is above reproach.

I feel sure that he is fully qualified for the office he is asking for, in every sense of the word, and if nominated and elected, he will attend to the business of the office with credit to himself and to the party. Sincerely,—Rev. W. P. Lowery, Thorsby, Ala.

ANOTHER SIT-DOWN

Dental Problem Is Discussed

Fully 60 per cent of the elementary school children of Chilton County have one or more decayed teeth, it was pointed out this week by Dr. S. D. Sturkie, local county health officer. A summary of physical defects occurring in 1,388 grade school children in 1935-1936 reveals that 760, or 54.6 per cent, had decayed teeth, according to the health official.

"Failure of parents to provide regular dental care for their children is largely responsible for this situation," said Dr. Sturkie. "In order to insure sound, well formed teeth in the child, the mother should take precaution, even before the child is born, during the pre-natal period, by consuming large quantities of milk and other foods rich in calcium or lime. Beginning early during the pre-school period, the child should be given a well balanced diet, including milk, cod liver oil, and orange juice. A visit to the dentist should be made at least by the end of the second year, and thereafter regular visits should be made at least once a year. Not only can small, incipient cavaties be detected and filled, thereby saving the tooth, but valuable instruction in the proper methods of brushing teeth can be obtained. A common mistake among parents is to regard as unimportant cavities in the 'baby' teeth. Leading dental authorities, however, now emphasize the importance of care of the 'baby' teeth. The premature loss of a baby tooth often results in improper alignment and development of the permanent teeth.

"We are handicapped in our efforts to make progress in remedying this situation," added the health officer, "by the fact that many parents are not financially able to pay the cost of dental care for their children. In order to surmount this obstacle, a plan is being considered to establish a free dental clinic in Clanton for needy school children. Interest in the plan has been manifested by a majority of dentists throughout the county."

MT. NEBO

Our singing society met in regular session Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock with a good crowd present.

Directors for the afternoon were Chairman W. L. Henley, Melvin Dunvaughn, Arthur Henley, Andrew Nelson, S. A. Henley, Seth Gilliland, Miss Clarice Culp.

Those assisting in arrangement of quartets were: Arthur Henley, Miss Velma Hathcock, Andrew Nelson, S. A. Henley.

Pianist for the afternoon was Miss Gladys Popwell. We had as our visitors some singers from Enterprise. They gave our society a special invitation to attend their singing the first Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. All who can are urged to attend the Enterprise singing, so that they will attend ours again, and cooperate with us, as we need their help.

Don't forget, our society meets next second Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. We invite all singers and lovers of music to attend.—Merita Popwell, reporter.

HAVE YOU GAS, HEARTBURN?

Columbus, Ga. — Mrs. Clara Lisle, 410 38th St., says: "My stomach seemed so upset because of excess acidity. I never felt like eating and was so weak. I used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and my appetite improved, I was ever so much stronger and was able to eat without being dis- ssed by gas." Ask your druggist today it in liquid or tablets.

MARS HILL

Saturday night and Sunday were our regular preaching dates, and a large crowd attended both services.

We also had a large number in Sunday school. We are glad to see our Sunday school coming to the front again.

A singing was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Only Crumpton Sunday night. It was greatly enjoyed by all who attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Gothard spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Chester Crumpton.

Misses Ida and Louise Smith spent Saturday night with Mrs. Suddie Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Cofer had as their dinner guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Leach and children, and Mrs. Blonnie Crumpton and children.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Blocker and daughter, Eloise, spent a while Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Smith and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Werdman Cofer spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Luman Brantley and family.

Miss Eulah Bee Ray spent Friday night with her sister, Mrs. Aaron Scott.

Mrs. T. J. Johnson is visiting relatives in this community this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Payne of Georgia visited relatives in this community Sunday.

Mr. Walter Cardwell spent Saturday night with Mr. Cardwell and daughter.

REFUGE

Sunday school was very good Sunday, but there is always room for improvement.

Rev. H. D. Durbin will preach here Sunday at 11 o'clock. We hope that everyone who can will come to church and Sunday school next Sunday, with a well prepared lesson.

Martin's ambulance carried Miss Henrietta Bean to South Highlands Infirmary in Birmingham, last Saturday night. She underwent an appendix operation Sunday morning, and is reported doing fine.

FARMERS TOLD HOW PREVENT "HARDWARE-HEART" OF COWS

Auburn, Jan. 24.—"Hardware-heart", or traumatic pericarditis, causing the death of thousands of valuable cows each year, could be prevented if farmers would devote a day to picking up nails, broken glass, and sharp metallic objects around their cow lots, says a warning issued by Dr. I. S. McAdory, state veterinarian.

Cows are like crows in their liking for bright, shiny, or odd-shaped articles, which they pick up and swallow, he says. These articles, such as nails, fence staples, buckles, wire, feed tags, and broken glass, lodge in the cow's "sencond" stomach. From there they penetrate forward into the heart, causing the death of the animal.

Symptoms of hardware-heart are loss of flesh, lack of appetite, painful breathing, stiff and cautious movements, and sometimes a large swelling of the brisket," says the statement. "Valuable animals are sometimes saved by an operation, but it is difficult to perform, and the death rate from the operation is high. A veterinarian should be called immediately, if a cow shows any of the above symptoms."

Cattle should always be penned away when carpenter work is done. And they should be banned from old lumber piles, dump heaps, and debris, the warning suggests.

STATE ACCIDENT REPORT

Montgomery, Jan. 22. —In 1936 a total of 21 lost their lives as a result of accidents occurring in Alabama and involving motor vehicles and railroad trains, the accident death records of the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Department of Health reveal. This type of accident ranked fifth among motor vehicle accidents on the basis of the number of persons killed.

The type of motor vehicle accident responsible for the greatest number of deaths was that described on the vital statistics records as "non-collision operating," which includes skidding, crashes over steep embankments, failure to take a curve properly, etc. Accidents involving two or more motor vehicles were responsible for 144 deaths. Other types of motor vehicle accidents contributing to the total of 696 motor vehicle deaths for the year, were as follows: accidents involving pedestrians 215, accidents involving electric cars 4, accidents involving bicycles 13, accidents involving horse-drawn vehicles 11, accidents involving animals 1, accidents involving fixed objects (trees, houses, road markers, bridges, etc.) 50, and accidents involving non-operating motor vehicles 4. Three motor vehicle accident deaths were listed as "unclassifiable".

FORD OFFERS TWO NEW CARS and keeps their PRICES LOW

Right — the Standard Tudor Sedan 60 or 85 horsepower

Below — the De Luxe Fordor Sedan 85 horsepower

THERE are two new Ford cars for 1938—the De Luxe and the Standard—differing in appearance, appointments and price—but built on the same dependable Ford chassis.

Both bring you the basic advantages of a V-type 8-cylinder power-plant—smooth performance and compact design. The De Luxe Ford has the 85-horsepower engine. The Standard Ford provides a choice of 85 or 60 horsepower.

Both new cars are economical to operate. The Standard, with thrifty "60" engine, costs less to run than any other Ford car ever built.

And both new cars are priced low. Low price, like economy, is a Ford tradition. Ford founded the low-price field 30 years ago and keeps Ford prices low.

The De Luxe Ford costs slightly more than the Standard Ford, but provides more style with extra room in the closed sedans. Both cars, in proportion to price, represent unusual values. Both are built to the same high standard of mechanical excellence. There's a dealer near you.

MT CARMEL

Sunday school was good the past Sunday, but some of the members were late. Let's try to meet promptly at 10 o'clock next Sunday.

We were glad to have the visitors among whom was Bro. Bernard of Coosa county. We enjoyed his talk very much.

The marriage of Miss Louise Davenport to Mr. Thomas McKee Saturday night was of much interest to her many friends here. We all join in wishing for them a happy wedded life together.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Sims and sons, James and Billie, spent Sunday with the Wilkins family.

Mrs. Glennie Childress and children spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Foshee.

Mrs. Oden spent Sunday with Mrs. Watley.

Mrs. Linnie Mims and daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Vail, spent Thursday of last week with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Patterson of Highland spent last Thursday with Mr. Luther Patterson and family.

Mrs. S. C. Sewell has gone to spend some time with her son, C. R., of Lawley.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Sewell and Miss Gladys Oden visited relatives in the Shoults community last Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Silas Oden was the dinner guest of Mr. J. C. Scott Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Askins have moved to near Clanton.

The condition of Mr. Tom Foshee is very grave at present, following two operations last week.

The preaching dates for this place are the first and third Sundays and Saturday nights before.

Please be at the W. M. U. on Saturday afternoon, February 5.

UNCLE NATCHEL WINS NEW RADIO FRIENDS

The new Uncle Natchel radio program, sponsored by the Natural Chilean Nitrate folks, is rapidly winning a large audience. Broadcasts began late in November and will continue every week throughout the winter and spring, over leading Southern stations.

Uncle Natchel, played by Frank Wilson, is one of America's leading colored actors, and takes the star role in this half-hour entertainment, as he has in all previous programs sponsored by the Natural Chilean Nitrate people. His homely "natchel" philosophy is an important part of the broadcast, and the nature story which he tells in every program is a novel feature.

In the dramatic part of the program, Helen Claire, an Alabama girl, who has won star rating on Broadway and whose work in the films has attracted favorable attention, plays the feminine lead. Her characterizations change with each broadcast.

The public has been quick to sense the naturalness of the Chilean Nitrate program. That quality is one of the distinguishing features of the entertainment. And much favorable comment has been heard on the authenticity with which the all-Southern cast portrays the Old South dramatizations that make up much of each broadcast.

The role of Sonny Miller, who is Uncle Natchel's charge and constant companion, is played by Eddie Ryan, Jr., young son of Virginia parents, who currently is playing in the stage success, "French Without Tears," in New York. Other members of the cast are Geoffrey Bryant, Leslie Bingham, John Griggs, Virginia Morgan, Adelyne Hood, Helen Walpole. Charles Cantor, who plays various roles, sometimes two or three in one program, is considered one of radio's most versatile performers.

The programs are written by Ethel Park Richardson, who came to New York from Nashville, and the musical arrangements and direction are by Frank Ventri.

WHAT IS KIWANIS?

By JOHN L. HOLLIS

(Address delivered at Kiwanis dinner at the Thomason Hotel, Clanton, January 20, 1938.)

Kiwanis is an organization of virile, progressive, right thinking, broad minded business and professional men.

Its membership is formed by the careful and discriminating selection of the most representative men in their particular calling. Men who by virtue of their God-given talents can be relied upon to cheerfully cooperate with their fellow members in actively supporting the Kiwanis movement in its steady, unfaltering march toward the attainment of its high ideals.

Kiwanis is the practical application of the principles of the Golden Rule in our modern everyday life. The participation of its activities has a pronounced effect upon each and every one of its members from the time they are first initiated. It penetrates the veneer and reaches down into the real inner nature of the man. It appeals to his noblest impulse. It inspires self confidence and reliance in one's ability to battle courageously and successfully in the cause of world-wide moral uplift. It develops the latent talents by its stirring appeal for efficiency. It harnesses the restive streams of nervous energy, directing this mighty force into useful and far-reaching channels. Through fellowship, acquaintanceship develops into mutual understanding and esteem.

Through friendship and association with a common interest, a vast clearing house of ideas, plans and projects, is formed. From this melting pot of diversified energy, brains and experience, there pours molten metal of the purest gold, which flows freely where it is needed.

As a mighty river rolls on in its majestic course toward the broad ocean, so does the Kiwanian expand in his capacity for rendering service to his fellow man. The further we proceed in our Kiwanian activities, the more devoted we become to the great cause in which we have enlisted.

As we cast our eyes around us, we witness the metamorphosis of a once self-sufficient, smugly satisfied professional man into an ardent and unselfish worker in child welfare campaign; the evolution of an unsympathetic and apparently hardened man of affairs into a genuinely democratic and tireless toiler in benevolent and charitable projects, and the transformation of a solitary and non-communicative scientist into a radiant personality of contagious good cheer and fellowship. It brings home to us what the spirit of Kiwanis means to this busy world of today. As the years glide by, we can see her circle of potentiality constantly expanding and her circle of achievement pyramiding into the deep blue heavens.

Kiwanis ideals are the product of the collective idealism of those busy and practical men who are Kiwanians. Kiwanis ideals are an expression of the inner hopes, ambitions and desires of the average business man. These hidden, unexpressed, but fundamental reactions of the human soul are the very fabric of life itself. They are products of the moral and spiritual evolution of mankind. Those reactions are the hidden signs of that struggle in which every man is engaged, seeking to apply his philosophy of life to his duties and privileges as a member of society.

The last 25 years have witnessed a wonderful development of the social consciousness. The average man of today has an infinitely greater appreciation of his fellow man, a more adequate understanding of his obligations as a citizen, and a more vivid realization of his responsibility to society than his father before him.

Kiwanis, first brought to the business man as a luncheon club, proved the means by which he might satisfy his hunger for fellowship and invest his life in practical service. Kiwanis acquired the aspect of a movement only when Kiwanians, without any suggestions or directions whatever, unconsciously used it is a vehicle by which they could express their real selves. The unusual spirit of fellowship and the quality of manhood represented in Kiwanis rendered the organization a fitting emissary of a great idea.

Kiwanis is leading a spiritual renaissance in which the business man is finding his own soul. He finds in Kiwanis an organization in which he can make application of principles which before seemed so theoretical and impractical as to be apart from the realities of the human experiences.

The Kiwanians accept a new motive for life service to their fellow men. The Golden Rule takes on a new significance when translated into terms of daily experiences. To the true Kiwanian his business and profession provides not only a means for earning a livelihood, but also a means by which he may serve society.

There is nothing new about the Kiwanis idea—it is as old as the soul of man, but Kiwanis has put the breath of life into old ideals by translating them into terms which the average man may appreciate.

TIGERS WON NINTH STRAIGHT AT MAPLESVILLE FRI. NIGHT

Nosed Out Stubborn Maplesville Team 28 To 27 In Hardest Game Of The Season So Far

Chilton County High's fast stepping Tiger basketball quint made it nine straight for the season last Friday night at the expense of the Maplesville High team on the latter's court, although they ran into the most stubborn defense encountered so far this season; the Maplesville boys covered the danger zone like a blanket, and were beaten only by the narrowest margin, 28 to 27. It was anybody's game all the way, and the winning goal was made in the last second of play. This was the second victory for the Tigers over Maplesville.

The Tigers were lucky to get through this game with their scalp, several reasons entering, and all against them. First, they were as flat as a pancake, and never once showed the snap, drive and speed that has characterized their play in most of their games. Too, Littlejohn, one of the main cogs in the Tiger machine, was in bed, and although little Bucky Armstrong did yeoman duty, those Tigers could have used that altitude that Littlejohn carries. Another thing, the Tigers were unaccustomed to playing in the tiny pill-box type of court like Maplesville uses.

Yet none of these things should in any way take from the Maplesville team the praise due them for their extremely fine game. They showed a complete reversal of form than that exhibited in their former meet with the Tigers, and presented a stubborn defense that was hard to break. Too, this team was keyed to a high pitch, and hit this game at their peak. Coach Porch has brought his team around wonderfully, especially on defense, and should make someone sit up and take notice before the season is over, although it is doubtful if he can ever get a better game out of them than they gave him on this occasion. That big red team really and truly sparkled.

Chilton sank a field goal to take the lead, but soon saw their rivals out in front; they never led again until late in the third quarter. Maplesville led 7 to 3 at the quarter, and after the score had run to a tie, both at 7 and 9, Maplesville again led at the half 11 to 10. The Tigers were ahead at the three-quarter post 21 to 16, but as the last quarter got under way, saw Maplesville flash to a tie at 22-all, then ahead 26 to 22 in the fiercest drive of the whole game; they sank one more foul shot for a 27 score, and then called it a night. Here the Tigers slipped in two field goals, and were trailing their hosts 27 to 26. In the last seconds, George Chambers flashed through the tight Maplesville defense for one of the very few times he was able to break it, and sank a beautiful field goal just as the final whistle sounded, to lead the Tiger pack to another victory by one lone point.

The play of George Chambers was the only really bright spot in an otherwise rather drab Chilton exhibition, although his mates were in there trying with all they had. Maplesville flashed a long, rangy, curly-topped blonde boy, whose name we unfortunately failed to get, who is as cool as you please under fire; he was the mainspring of the Maplesville machine. It was one of the most exciting games the Tigers have been in all season; one which they may feel proud of winning, and for which the fine Maplesville team should shed no tears of regret.

LARGE NURSERY IS NEARLY FINISHED

9,000,000 Young Trees Ready For Replanting; Buildings Already Erected

Located just south of Thorsby, on the old Birmingham Highway, one of the largest pine tree nurseries in the South is nearing completion.

The 183 acres of land was recently purchased outright by the government and the nursery has an annual capacity of 9,000,000 young trees ready for replanting.

Work of extracting the seed from the pines cones, which are trucked in from South Alabama, is well under way and the ground is also being rapidly prepared for the planting of the seed. C. B. Brickensderfer, manager of the nursery, said several residences for foremen are soon to be erected, while four large buildings have already been erected. These buildings house supplies, a garage, and storage for the pine cones and seed extricating plant, dryer, etc.

Work is under way on an irrigation system for the Summer months when rainfall will be light. This system will consist of a network of pipes covering the fields, and water will be pumped from a nearby creek at a rate of 500 gallons per minute if necessary.

Six men are employed at the nursery at present, in addition to 50 enrollees from the CCC camp at Clanton. This nursery is said to be the largest of its kind in the South.

THORSBY FRUIT GROWERS MEET

Members of the Thorsby Fruit and Truck Growers Association met last Saturday, February 29. It was voted to have federal inspection of berries shipped by this association this year.

We are urging all berry growers to mulch their berries.

If you want plants, orders are being taken now. I will be glad to help you in any way possible with your berry troubles.—John Childress, Manager.

BEN MARGOLIS ENTERS THE INSURANCE FIELD

Ben Margolis, who has been connected with the business life of this section for the past eight years, announced this week that he has been appointed a representative of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of New York.

This company writes all lines of life insurance, and is one of the largest and strongest in existence.

Mr. Margolis states that he is well acquainted with the working of the insurance business, having been connected several years back with one of the largest insurance offices in Nashville, Tenn.

LIKES UNION-BANNER

The Union-Banner receives the following from Mr. Leo Hull of Titus, in Coosa County:

"Editor Union-Banner:

"Find enclosed $1.00 for which please extend my subscription for another year. I consider The Union-Banner one of the best county papers published in Alabama, and hope that for many years to come you will continue to contend for the old paths mapped out by our forefathers.—Leo Hull, R 2, Titus, Ala."

Dewey Cummings, public drunkenness; 30 days for fine, 35 days for cost.

Leander Bohannon, driving while intoxicated; 140 days for $500 fine, 39 days for cost.

Leander Bohannon, violating prohibition law; 20 days for fine, 61 days for cost, and 60 days additional punishment.

Joe Bailey, abusive, indecent and obscene language; 30 days for fine, 47 days for costs, and 6 months additional punishment.

Sheppard Holley, playing cards on Sunday at a public place; 20 days for fine, 54 days for cost.

Sam Schuffert, public drunkenness; $20 and costs.

READ THIS ARTICLE ON AN INSIDE PAGE

If you love the good old fundamental principles of American government—if you feel a peculiar twinge run over your being when you read and think of the patriotic exploits of old American statesmen, then do not fail to read the speech of Senator Wm. E. Borah on another page of this Union-Banner.

If you love the traditions of the old South—if you love the unity of the states in the North and the South—then by all means read every word of Senator Borah's speech.

SINGING AT ENTERPRISE

The singing society will meet at this place on the first Sunday afternoon, beginning promptly at 2 o'clock. We are expecting several good singers from other places to meet with us. Come on, and let's make this one of the best singings that has ever been held here.

CARDINALS PLAY BESSEMER SAT'Y

Game At 8 O'clock; Clanton CCC Plays Enterprise At 7 O'clock; Twin Bill

According to Business Manager A. B. Stanley, a double bill of basket ball games will be afforded fans at the Mitchell Dam court next Saturday night, with Mitchell Dam meeting the fast Bessemer "Y" team, and Clanton CCC team taking on Enterprise.

The CCC-Enterprise game is first on tap, beginning at 7 o'clock. Both of these teams are good, and should give the fans a game worth watching.

With the preliminary round out of the way, the Mitchell Dam Cardinals play the Bessemer "Y" team at 8 o'clock. As all local fans know, the Cards have an exceptionally good team, and the Bessemer team is reported to be right up there in their class. This is sure to be a good one.

If you like basket ball, don't miss these games.

NO MORE BOWLING ALLEY

Mrs. Orr authorizes The Union-Banner to say that the bowling alley underneath a part of the Exchange Hotel is a thing of the past. And from the tone of her voice, there will not likely be another bowling alley around those parts soon.

DR. GRAGG GONE TO FLORIDA

Dr. V. J. Gragg left Wednesday morning, in company with Mrs. Gragg, their granddaughter, and Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Downs, for Miami, Fla., to spend a couple of weeks or so. They went in Mr. Downs's house car.

Dr. Gragg stated upon leaving that he has been trying to get the hospital cleared up for several weeks, but there are more patients there now than before. Dr. Gragg has been sick for a month or over, and it is with the hope of getting an abundance of sunshine and aid in recovering that the doctor has gone.

While Dr. Gragg is away the hospital will be in the temporary charge of Miss Annie H. Gardner, former superintendent of the same.

LETTER FROM W. M. DEVAUGHN

A letter received Tuesday from W. M. Devaughn, who has been teaching a music school at Dalton, Ga., leaves the impression that Mr. Devaughn is highly pleased with the reception he has received and the results he has been getting.

He reports that he has a fine class, one of the best he has ever had, and is making several concert appearances with them. Last Sunday he carried his class to Chattanooga and sang for Rev. Goolsby on his radio program; later that day they sang at other places in the city.

Mr. Devaughn tells of several other appointments he has on his schedule, after which he expects to visit Clanton, then to return to Dalton for another school.

Mr. Devaughn urges local singers to order their new books right away, as orders are already piling up in the plant at Dalton.

LETTER FROM MAYOR JONES

The following letter to all citizens owing balances on sidewalk and street assessments has been mailed out by Mayor C. Fenn Jones. This matter should be of general interest to all citizens of the city:

"January 29, 1938.

"You are one of several citizens who have not finished paying the assessment placed on your property 13 years ago for sidewalk and street paving. This debt is an obligation of the city authorized in the bonds, but your property is directly liable for it.

"Two years ago I made a special effort to collect all these assessments, and did collect more than $13,000, but there is still unpaid $17,000. Only about $8,000 of this is due by individuals, and the balance will have to be paid out of the general funds when the money is available. Your part of the $8,000 is the amount I am asking you to pay now. I appreciate very much the splendid cooperation given me when the $13,000 was collected. Such a large collection as that in so short a time, and with so very little unpleasantness, is certainly a compliment to the people who paid it.

"Only one piece of property was advertised for sale. The sale was ordered made for the simple reason the property owner ignored, by absolute silence, every appeal I made to him for an understanding when he would pay, or if he wished his property to sell for the amount due, and no word came until after the property was advertised, then he paid.

"I wish to call your attention to the fact that the debts made against the city 15 and 20 years ago, and unpaid today, are deterring the city now in paving the streets and doing other much needed improvement. Suppose we did not owe the $17,000 above mentioned, and the $25,000 for the water system; how easy it would be to borrow money and pave the streets.

"Without meaning to criticize unkindly, or unjustly, either administration of the past, I do say that my three years experience as Mayor has convinced me there is absolutely no justifiable excuse for Clanton being in debt today. I do not charge that money was stolen or misappropriated, but I do declare that if we had been given wise business and economical management since the water system was installed 23 years ago, Clanton would have all the improvements we have today and not be in debt for them.

"I hope you feel and know that I am working for you and for the interest of Clanton, and not myself. And therefore, I ask you most kindly and earnestly to assist the Council and myself in our efforts to improve the city. If you cannot pay now, come in and let's talk the matter over and arrange monthly payments. Respectfully, C. Fenn Jones, Mayor."

MAYOR'S REPORT

Mayor Jones reported that there were no arrests for his office for the past week. He reported that all were sober and everything went off nicely all during the week.

STATE B. T. U. WORKERS AT COURTHOUSE

Sunday, February 6th, at 2 o'clock, will be our opening half time services at the courthouse. There have been arrangements made for the courthouse each first and third Sunday afternoon of each month.

The meeting will be held with cooperation of each church and B. T. U. in the Chilton Association and programs will be planned by the associational officers. Each service will consist of a B. T. U. program, special music by quartets and glee clubs, followed by preaching services.

At this meeting next Sunday afternoon the Thorsby Senior B. T. U. will render a special program. The Thorsby Institute Glee Club will give several numbers. The speaker for the afternoon will be Rev. Chester L. Quarles, who is one of our state B. T. U. Workers.—Rev. Horace Kendrick.

J. DEWEY ROCKETT ANNOUNCES FOR ASSESSOR

The third entrant in the race for Tax Assessor of Chlton county makes his debut this week, and is a young man who has never known any doctrine but the Republican doctrine. He is Mr. J. Dewey Rockett of Clanton. As to party fidelity, there can be no question; as to ability, no one doubts that he is capable of handling the affairs of that or most any other county office.

We might write up the life history of Dewey Rockett, but that is useless. He is known by most people of the county already, and anything we might say will be immaterial.

Suffice it to say that, although this is the first time he has ever been in politics, you will hear more about him before this campaign is over with. He is before the voters for their disposition.

BUT FOR THE REPUBLICANS —

[AN EDITORIAL]

But for the Republican senators in the congress of the United States the South would be in humiliation today!

Evidence of the wide split in Democratic ranks was shown in the senate vote that killed the infamous anti-lynching bill. On Thursday, January 27, the senate voted down a proposal to adopt a "gag rule", limiting debate on the measure. The effect of this vote was to kill the measure itself. The record showed that Northern Democrats voted more than 2 to 1 in favor of gagging the South and refusing to give Southern senators a chance to be heard. The Republicans voted 12 to 1 against the gag rule and in favor of the South. The bill was killed by the same combination of Southern Democrats and Republicans that has blocked other radical and destructive legislation. It is a pity that the way the senate voted cannot be carried on the front page of every weekly paper in the South. Southern people might then get a different idea of who their friends are in Washington.

The anti-lynching bill was before the senate several weeks. It was a vicious measure, conceived in hate and sectional spite; a measure that would have humiliated the South, and destroyed the last vestige of states' rights. It provided heavy fines and penalties upon counties where lynchings took place, making the whole county suffer for a few lawless individuals. It made no provision for punishment of other forms of lawlessness in the North, such as gangster violence, and sit-down strikes. It was frankly aimed at the South, designated to catch Northern negro votes for the Democrats, who treacherously offered to sacrifice the South for some black votes in Harlem and Chicago.

Southern senators waged a filibuster against the bill, and it was evident that so long as free debate was allowed, it could not pass. A group of Northern Democrats then asked the senate to adopt the drastic cloture rule, or gag rule, limiting debate to one hour per senator. With the South gagged, these Democrats then hoped to be able to railroad the bill through.

In order to get the gag rule adopted, it was necessary first to submit a petition signed by 16 or more senators, asking for it. The senate would then vote on the question, and a two-thirds vote would apply the gag rule.

Enemies of the South got up the petition, with 17 signatures. There was not a Republican name on the list; 16 of the signers were Democrats, the other the radical LaFollette of Wisconsin, styled as a Progressive.

On last Thursday, the senate cast a momentous vote on whether to adopt the gag rule, and voted down the proposal, 51 to 37. Of the 37 senators who voted in favor of the gag rule, 35 were Democrats, one Progressive, and one lone Republican. Of the 51 votes against it, 37 were Democrats, 12 Republicans, one Farmer-Labor, and one Independent.

From this it will be seen that the Democrats divided pretty evenly, with 35 voting to strangle the South and 37 voting against the proposal. Really, it was much worse than that, for a majority of the votes favoring the South were the votes of Southern senators. The 11 states that seceded have 22 senators; this accounts for 22 of the 37 Democrats who voted against the gag rule, leaving only 15 Democratic votes from the border states, the North and West who voted with the South. In other words, leaving out the Southern votes, we find that the Democratic party voted 35 to 15 against the South. If Northern Democrats had been able to have their way, the necessary two-thirds vote would have been forthcoming to hog-tie the South and railroad the anti-lynching bill over. The Republicans, on the other hand, voted 12 to 1 in favor of the South.

****

Resentment is mounting in the South over the anti-lynching bill, and particularly the fact that it has been sponsored by the Democratic party. The trend of the times is shown in a recent press dispatch from the little Mississippi town of Grenada, telling of a mass meeting of citizens there, at which the anti-lynching bill was denounced in resolutions.

Reports of the meeting stated that the resolutions "expressed disappointment that the measure was initiated by he Democratic party". One of the speakers asserted that "The Democratic party is kicking us out", and said, "We would rather be sleeping in the bed with Senator Borah, Republican, than in the bed with Senator Wagner".

Lots of Southern people are beginning to feel that way who have not yet gone to the trouble of holding mass meetings to express themselves.

The esteemed Montgomery Advertiser, which has been giving aid and comfort to Sen. Wagner, the idol of Harlem, and the disciples of Thaddeus Stevens, by roundly denouncing Southern senators engaged in the filibuster, on last Saturday, after the victory had been won, and evidently in a penitent mood, made great display on its editorial page of the powerful speech against the anti-lynching bill—delivered by the able Republican Senator Borah, of Idaho. Now, if the Advertiser will be courageous enough to reproduce this editorial, the people of Alabama and the South will have more sympathy for its display of last minute repentance.

WILL CLANTON HAVE A FULL TERM OF SCHOOL?

This question is among the foremost with the patrons of the Clanton Grammar School right at this time; and we are sorry to say, it looks very much like the negative will apply as the answer. At least, that is the case unless the city again feels disposed to act the part of the Good Samaritan and come in and save the day. Much might be said, but while it is being said our children will be approaching deprivation of an opportunity never to come this way again. The only thing we can look at now is the interest of the city's four hundred children of grammar school age. We hope the city is able to step in and fill the gap—regardless of the cause of the gap. We must keep our children in school.

FARM MEETING

The farmers of Vermont school community are meeting at the school to talk over their farm problems. We are expecting some good speakers. The local Farm Bureau is sponsoring the meeting. We would like to have every farmer in the community at this meeting. The women are espcially invited.

Remember the date—Friday, February 4th, and the hour—7 o'clock p. m.—George W. Sansom, Sec.

FARMERS MEETING AT COURTHOUSE

President and Secretary of the Farmers Union To Speak To Chilton Citizens

The state president and secretary of the Alabama Farmers Union are in Chilton County this week, holding 15 appointments, with the big event on Saturday, February 5, a 9 o'clock at the courthouse.

They will be at various places over the county as follows:

Thursday, February 3, at 2 p.m., at Center Hill.

Thursday night, 7 o'clock, Culp schoolhouse.

Friday, February 4, at 10 a.m., at Free Springs.

Friday at 2 p.m., Union Springs.

Friday night, 7 o'clock, Vermont.

We regret very much that it was impossible for us to get the entire schedule of the week in last week's papers. It will be time well spent for every farmer in Chilton County to attend one of these meetings during the week. The county officers will also be at these places.—Gresham Smith, County Organizer.

MULLINS BOY SERIOUSLY INJURED IN BIRMINGHAM

Clarence Mullins, Jr., age 14 years, was seriously injured Monday of last week, January 24th, when he, riding a bicycle, was hit by an automobile. The accident happened somewhere in Birmingham, the exact place not being ascertained.

The boy is said, according to late reports, to be in a Birmingham hospital in a serious condition, suffering with severe cranium injuries.

He is the son of Clarence Mullins, the attorney, in Birmingham, a relative of the Mullins family in Clanton.

WILLIE SHAW PUTS HAT IN RING FOR COMMISSIONER

Last week we stated that Mr. Willie Shaw of Beat 13 would enter the race for Commissioner from the First District. Well, his announcement will be noted in the column this week.

Mr. Shaw, a son of a former commissioner of Chilton county, has a political family background. Mr. Shaw has asked for this place twice before but has never gotten beyond the primary.

Not much can be added to the above and what we said about him last week. But we will say that Mr. Shaw has the markings of a capable man for that job. He believes in doing things and making things move, and that is what counts in life.

REPUBLICAN STATE COMMITTEE TO MEET IN B'HAM FEBRUARY 4

The Republican State Executive Committee of Alabama is hereby called to meet on Friday, February 4, 1938, at 11 o'clock a.m., in the city of Birmingham, Ala., at the Tutwiler Hotel.

The meeting is called for the purpose of calling a state convention of the party and to attend to any other business that is properly brought before the committee.

It is sincerely hoped that all members will attend in person. In case any is unable to do so, it is asked by the committee that they be represented by proxy.—J. C. Swann, chairman; T. J. Kennamer, secretary.

RADIO BROADCAST FROM CLANTON

Program To Last One Hour; To Originate Here In City; Remote Control

There is to be a radio broadcast from Clanton on Thursday, February 10, beginning at 11:30 a.m., and lasting for one solid hour, disseminated from Station WAPI, Birmingham. It will be put on by the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce, the purpose of which is to acquaint the outside world with interesting facts and peculiarities about our city. Sponsoring the program is Servel Electrolux, oil-burning refrigerators, represented in Clanton by Billingsley Service Station.

A microphone will be set up right here in Clanton, over which will be described unusual facts about Clanton, mention made of its prominent people, and other interesting things.

Clanton is the sixth city of the state within a certain radius of Birmingham having this broadcast, there being four more to come later. The programs already put on from the other five cities have been most successful and thoroughly beneficial, as well as interesting.

We are pleased that Servel Electrolux and the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce saw fit to place Clanton on the list of ten cities to have broadcasts from. We hope and expect everybody from both far and near to tune in on the above hour and date and hear what is going to be said about Clanton and its people.

The broadcasting outfit is known as the "Touring Microphone". The Avondale Mills band will be here during the entire hour. Local talent will perform at intervals throughout the program will be held in the City Hall. There will be seats arranged for those wishing to witness the broadcast.

LOCAL OFFICE MAY ISSUE DUPLICATE SOCIAL SECURITY CARDS

Employes in this section, who have lost their Social Security account number cards may obtain duplicates from the field office of the Social Security Board, according to an announcement made this week by Martin C. Folmar, manager of the Birmingham field office. Heretofore, duplicates of account number cards issued in connection with the federal old age insurance program could be obtained only from Washington. But field office managers are now in a position to issue duplicates to workers who have lost their cards.

The worker's Social Security account number is shown on his card. He keeps that number all of his working years. If his employer or employers know his account number, his wage earnings may be correctly reported to the government.

Mr. Folmar said that local service for issuing duplicates to workers who have lost their cards has been established to help them obtain employment. Reports from all parts of the country indicate that employers are giving preference to job applicants who have account number cards.

Some companies require a worker to have a Social Security account card before they will give him a job. So, an applicant who has his card with him is more apt to get a new job than one who is without such.

OLD LAND PAPERS AT BANNER OFFICE

One Signed By President Monroe In Own Hand 115 Years Ago

The Union-Banner is in possession of some very interesting papers which are more an 100 years old. They are the property of Mr. H. L. Lee, of Clanton Route 2, who at that time lived at Jones, Ala. The state capital of Alabama was then at Cahaba, not far from Blocton, Ala.

The oldest of the papers is not a paper at all, but a genuine sheep skin. It is a homestead deed issued by the land department of the United States government, and is signed in the personal hand of President James Monroe, the fifth president of the United States. The date of this paper is October 5th, 1823.

There are four other papers, all made out to Mr. Lee, and they are dated some 10 years later than the one mentioned above. Two of these seem to be sheep skin and the other two some kind of fine paper. They are signed by President Martin Van-Buren.

These papers, the prized possession of Mr. Lee, are now on display at the Union-Banner office.

LENA MIMS MARRIED

Lena Mims, daughter of Mrs. Mattie Mims, who has been in New York for the past two years, as cashier at the Hotel New Yorker, is married to Mr. James J. Drumm, of Canada, according to information received here a few days ago. They will make their home in New York City, where Mr. Drumm is employed by the city government.

Under provisions of the Constitution of Alabama, there are eight state officials that cannot succeed themselves. They are governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, state auditor, state treasurer, attorney general, commissioner of agriculture, and superintendent of education. These offices were created by the constitution, and cannot be abolished without amending the constitution. The governor is also disqualified for election to any other office for 12 months after his term as governor expires. There is nothing in the constitution to prevent other state officials from being elected to other state offices.

IN MEMORY

On the evening of January 26th, the death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Houston Porter and wafted to the sweet Beyond the most precious and only jewel of the home. He was nine months and six days old. He was ill a week when God in His great wisdom, saw fit to call him from this sinful world to the beautiful Mansion not made with hands.

We feel that he was nursed with the tenderest hands on earth, and its hard for us to picture why we had to give him up.

Little Wilburn was loved and admired by everyone who saw him. We still have one consolation—if we live in the right way we can meet him some day.

He is survived by his father, mother, grandparents, and a great host of other relatives and friends. He was laid to rest in the Oak Grove cemetery; Rev. Green officiating.—Sarah Nell Cobern.

REFUGE

Sunday school was attended by a large crowd Sunday, and every one seemed to enjoy the lesson. Sunday was not our regular preaching day, but we had preaching just the same. The Rev. Durbin delivered a wonder message on "Building a Soul"

Sunday night our pastor, Rev. Lockhart, delivered another most inspiring message which everybody enjoyed. Everybody come back next Sunday and bring some one with you.

Mrs. Angeline Minor of Mt. Pleasant community, is visiting her son, Mr. T. N. Minor, this week.

Mrs. Mollie Easterling, who has been sick for some time, is greatly improving.

Mr. Mallie Minor, who cut his foot with an axe, is still suffering great pain.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank all the friends and neighbors of Thorsby, for their kindness and sympathy during my illness. I do especially thank Mrs. Wilbur Marcus and Mrs. Wallace Waites for their kindness.

I also thank Dr. Franklin and his nurse for their faithful service. I am happy to say that I will soon be able to attend school again.—Syble Scott.

A STRAIGHT REPUBLICAN

SAM F. MIMS

To my friends and voters of Chilton County:

I am in the race for Tax Assessor subject to the action of the Republican primary May 3rd. I feel like I have the integrity and ability to do competent work, this with my willingness to work and record as a straight Republican should qualify me for the job.

I did not enter this race just to get acquainted with the voters so that I might be elected at some future time. but I entered it to win. I realize I cannot win alone, therefore, I take this opportunity to ask my friends to tell the people about me and help me fight to win, not for me alone, but for the entire Republican ticket.

I am glad to see so many young people qualifying to vote and taking their stand with the Republicans. They, with most of our Republicans that were wounded in the last fight—now back in the lines, should put the Republican ticket over in a big way. We must not at any time feel too sure, but keep working; united, we stand, separate, we fall.

If I am nominated and elected to this office, I hereby pledge myself to put forth my best efforts to do satisfactory work, and stand by the party.—Yours for better government,

Respectively,

Sam F. Mims.

Lesson for February 6

CHALLENGING THE SOCIAL ORDER

LESSON TEXT—Mark 2:13-22.

GOLDEN TEXT—I came not to call the righteous, but sinners—Mark 2:17.

PRIMARY TOPIC—When Jesus Had Dinner With Matthew.

JUNIOR TOPIC—When Jesus Passed By.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Helping by Being Friendly.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Crusading for a Christian Society.

"Crusading for a Christian Society," is one of the topics assigned for consideration today. Everyone who is right thinking would be glad if the social order of which we are all a part might be made Christian, for it is far from it now. But foredoomed to failure are the attempts to Christianize society by some great program of "social regeneration." God's way is to save the individual who makes up the social order. When a man is right with God he will be right with his fellow man.

The Scripture lesson for today is full of outstanding spiritual principles of the greatest practical import to both Christians and the unconverted. It should be studied by the guidance of the Holy Spirit and taught in his power.

I. One Sinner Becomes a Servant (vv. 13, 14).

Capernaum was so situated that it provided an excellent location for the collection of the Roman taxes which the Jews so hated. There at the "receipt of custom" sat a Jew named Levi, who was no doubt despised by his neighbors because he had joined in this distasteful business. To him came the gracious Lord with the invitation, "Follow me." How different would be the history of the cause of Christ on earth if every other man who thus was called had done likewise. To follow the Master means sacrifice and breaking with the old life, but it also means peace and glory.

II. Many Sinners Meet the Lord (v. 15).

Levi, who now becomes Matthew, showed his love for the Lord by desiring that his friends might also meet him. So he prepared a dinner for them in his own house, to which he also invited Jesus.

It is always dangerous for a Christian to maintain social contact with his former companions in sin, if he does so for his own enjoyment or advantage. But to be their friends that one may win them to Christ, that is most desirable.

III. Some Righteous Folk Miss the Lord (vv. 16, 17).

Sin is an unspeakably horrible thing that separates men from God, but it is not an insuperable barrier, for the moment a man confesses his sin and calls on the Saviour he is saved. But self-righteousness—that is the impassable barrier. God can do nothing for the man who rests his hope of salvation on his own good character, high morality, and respectable position in society.

IV. Fasting and Feasting—When and Why (vv. 18-20).

God established one fast day for Israel. They established many, especially the Pharisees. Religion that loses its spiritual life and power clings with tenacity to outward observances and symbols.

Should one never fast? Yes, to the true follower of Jesus there come times when the urgency of soul concerning the problems of one's own life, the lives of others, the needs of the world, shuts the door of interest to anything as ordinary as food for the body.

Feasting and rejoicing—are these spiritual and uplifting? Christianity is a joyful faith. It is not to be hidden in damp, dark cloisters; it thrives in the sunshine, in the happy laughter of a child, in the cheerful shout of the saint. The Church is the Bride of Christ. If the friends of the bridegroom were to rejoice (v. 19), should not the Bride shout for joy?

V. New Things versus Old Things (vv. 21, 22).

The Pharisees wanted the gospel of grace to conform to the narrow channels of their interpretation of the law. Was not the law good? Yes. Jesus said he came not to destroy it, but to fulfill it (Matt. 5:17). He bore the curse of the law that we might be free (Gal. 3:13, 14). But he also brought in the new covenant of assurance and grace.

The mixing of grace and law, or the effort to do so, has continued even to our day. Let us be clear on that point—we are saved by grace, not by the works of the law (Eph. 2:8, 9). We work because we are saved, not in order to be saved.

Chilton Has Won 12 Games This Season

Have Scored 390 Points To 228 For Opponents In Sensational Drive During Present Season

The sparkling Orange and Blue cage team of Chilton County High School finished another undefeated week last Saturday night, tucking three more victories under their belt for their week's work.

On Wednesday night Billingsley fell by a count of 42 to 20, with the second team coming in for a work-out.

On Friday night the Dallas County High team from Plantersville took a 40 to 15 drubbing, with the locals putting on their famous "floor show" in the last quarter. This floor show is a curious method of play, in which the Tigers do most of the passing by rolling the ball along the floor. Simple as it looks, it never fails to demoralize the opposing teams, and always brings cheers from the fans. Although it looks easy to stop, several of Chilton's opponents have said it is the hardest play to stop they have ever seen. In fact, it hasn't been stopped yet. Once a team undertakes to get down to stop it, up over their heads the ball goes to a man who is always under the net for an easy crip shot.

To round out the week's play, the Tigers went to Montevallo Saturday night and trounced that team 30 to 23. We have not had a full report on this game, but some who saw it say the Montevallo boys have a good team.

In winning all their 12 games, the Tigers have amassed a total of 390 points to 228 for their opponents.

It would be hard to pick a star on this Tiger team. They are just all in there, with one handling the ball about as much as another, although perhaps Chambers and Melton may have a slight lead in actual points scored. The boys don't risk many long shots. They always seem to be patient and content to keep passing until they can break through under the basket. They have worked their formations so often, and have them down to such a degree of perfection that it is more or less a routine piece of work for them to work the ball down for the shot. They try for few "luck" shots, but play a waiting game to shake a man loose in the open in position to shoot.

If you have seen the Tigers play so far this season you will want to see their remaining games—at least their home games. If you haven't seen them in action, come on out, whether you enjoy basket ball or not. You'll see an eyeful, and can easily see that these boys understand exactly what they are about.

Chilton High has a championship team. You should see them!

Senator Borah On The South

Excerpts From The Great Speech of "The Gentleman From Idaho", On The Anti-Lynching Bill

MR. BORAH. Mr. President, this measure, in a slightly different form but embodying the same principles, came to this body about 25 years ago. At that time I was a member of the Judiciary Committee of the Senate and was appointed by the late Senator Nelson chairman of a subcommittee to pass upon the measure, particularly its constitutional features. I shall not at this time go into the history of the action of the committee at that time. It may be necessary to do so later in order to throw light upon some features of this matter. It is sufficient now to say that I reached a conclusion as to the merits of the bill, which conclusion I still entertain.

Heretofore I have confined my remarks upon this bill largely to the question of its constitutionality. Those questions still interest me, and probably I shall discuss them later. Today, however, I desire to address my attention for a time to the policy involved in this measure Assuming for the purpose of argument that we have the constitutional power to pass such a measure as this, I desire to invite the attention of the Senate to the wisdom of doing so. I think it only a little less important, perhaps no less important, than the constitutional question itself.

Notwithstanding anything that has been said or may be said to the contrary, this is a sectional measure. It is an attempt upon the part of States practically free from the race problem to sit in harsh judgment upon their Sister States where the problem is always heavy and sometimes acute. It is proposed to condemn these States and the people in them because it is claimed that they have failed properly to meet and adjust this most difficult of all problems. No more drastic condemnation could be offered by a measure than that which is offered by the measure now before the senate.

It proposes to authorize the national Government to enter into the States, and to take charge of and prosecute as criminals the duly elected officials of the States, from the governor down. It proposes that the Federal Government shall be the sole judge of the guilt or innocence of State officials.

In my opinion that requires a review of some unfortunate history, and the recalling of some unpleasant facts. These States are not to be pilloried and condemned without a full presentation of the nature of the task which fate and circumstances imposed upon them, and not without a complete record as to the weight and difficulty of the task, what has been done, and with what good faith it has been met. I shall contend that the Southern people have met the race problem and dealt it with greater patience, greater tolerance, greater intelligence, and greater success than any people in recorded history, dealing with a problem of similar nature. Let us inquire what it is that the South has had to do, how it has done it, and what reason there is now, after 70 years of great effort, to pass censure or condemnation of those great States and that great people.

Paraphrasing the language of one of the most eloquent of men, when the Confederate soldier pulled his gray cap over his brow, and lifted his tear-stained face for the last time to the graves which dotted the hills of old Virginia, and started on his slow and painfull journey home, what was he to find? What were the problems, what was the task, what were the condition which confronted him? His home, was destroyed, his plantation devastated, his help gone, his money worthless, his civilization imperiled. This was the condition in addition to the other problem with which we are more particularly concerned today, and which confronted the South as it entered upon its great task of rebuilding.

I shall not go into details as to the reconstruction period. I recall it sufficiently and only that we may understand something of the antecedents of this problem and something as to the good faith and the ability with which it has been met. I recall a single instance in the way of illustration. When Congress met in December, 1865, and the then leader of the House—perhaps the most complete master of the House of Representatives that history records—Thaddeus Stevens, outlined the program with reference to the then pending situation. Among other things, he said:

The future condition of the conquered power depends upon the will of the conqueror.

He said further that the conquered provinces were to be admitted as States—

Only when the Constitution has been amended so as to secure the perpetual ascendancy of the party of the Union —The Republican Party.

Every government is a despotism.

The Constitution has nothing to do with it (the program) . . . . I propose to deal with you (the South) entirely by the laws of war. . . . The conquered people have no right to appeal to the courts to test the constitutionality of the law. The Constitution has nothing to do with them or they with it.

Thus they were to take up the work of rebuilding and of carrying the race problem with the threat of having all constitutional guaranties withdrawn.

Mr. President, I have always felt that in many respects the reconstruction period is the most regrettable page of American history. Had Abraham Lincoln lived through his second term it probably would have been the most readable page, one of the noblest pages in all history. It would have been characterized by wide sympathy, by breadth of understanding, and by that wisdom which flows from the heart as well as the brain, which passeth all understanding. It would have been free from that blind partisanship which disregards constitutions and constitutional limitations as well as national honor and national unity.

A short time before the Great Emancipator was removed from the scene he had outlined his views on reconstruction. What a different story would have been written had those views prevailed! What a different national life would have been lived had those views obtained! But before his body had reached Springfield the committee had met and had determined upon the complete rejection of the entire policy theretofore announced by the dead President. Ben Butler's views superseded those of Abraham Lincoln; and a more tragic thing could not happen in a crisis confronting a nation. These measures with reference to reconstruction therefore were written from the standpoint of partisanship not unmingled with a desire to punish.

The measure now before the body embodies the same principle upon which those measures were founded. The same arguments are made in support of the pending measure to wit, that the Southern people are to be distrusted and are incapable of local self-government.

We know now what those measures in those days did. They retarded and frustrated the coming together of the people of the different States. They gave us the solid South. They separated us politically, which separation continues until this day. They implanted a sense of bitterness in the minds of those people, not because of what had happened upon the field but because of what happened in Congress.

It is not in the interest of national unity to stir old embers, to arouse old fears, to lacerate old wounds, to again, after all these years, brand the Southern people as incapable or unwilling to deal with the question of human life. This bill is not in the interests of that good feeling between the two races so essential to the welfare of the colored people.

Nations are not held together merely by constitutions and laws. They are held together by mutual respect, by mutual confidence, by toleration for conditions in different parts of the country, by confidence that the people in the different parts of the country will solve their problems; and that is just as essential today as is was in 1865 and 1870.

In the beginning, Mr. President, I reject the pending measure as fundamentally not in the interest of the white people of the South, not in the interest of the black people of the South, not in the interest of national unity nor of national solidarity, not in the interest of eliminating crime. History has proven that it will be a failure, and those who suffer most will be the weaker race.

Mr. President, the race problem is the most difficult of all problems, and, in addition to the conditions which I have outlined briefly, the Southern people had placed upon them the race problem under circumstances and conditions never before experienced by any people, so far as I know, in recorded history. In addition to and on top of all other problems the South had to grapple with the race problem. How well has it dealt with it?

At the close of the Civil War there were a little over 5,000,000 white people in the South; there were 3,500,000 Negroes. In Mississippi there were 100,000 more colored people than white people. In South Carolina there were something like 150,000 more colored people than white people. There were two races, living upon the same soil, now equally free under the Constitution, one of them untrained and unschooled in the affairs of state, and untrained in citizenship. The problem had to be met. Was it easy of solution? Can one conceive of a more difficult problem placed before a people? I wish we could place ourselves in their position. It would help us to be sympathetic, sane and just.

Mr. President, the Negro has had a hard road to travel ever since he was given his freedom. A hundred-and-odd years of slavery afforded poor training for citizenship in the most advanced of nations. Almost overnight he went from slavery to take up the obligations of a free man in a free country; but, everything considered he has done well; his advancement has been marked. Restricted, not by the Constitution of his country or the decisions of its highest courts, but restricted, almost cabined and confined, by the iron laws of society, nevertheless he has made progress. And where has that progress been greatest? In the South. In spite of prejudice, and statements, to the contrary, facts and figures show it has been greatest in the South. In the acquisition of property and economic advancement generally the Negro has fared better in the South than elsewhere.

It is true, as is contended here, that at times he has suffered from mob violence in the South, but it is equally true that he has suffered from race riots in the North. But in all things which make for the advancement of the race as a race, the North has no advantage over the South in the story of the advancement of the Negro. We have shown no greater patience, no greater tolerance, no greater ability to deal with this race than have our brothers of the South. And now, because there is the power, because there are the votes, because it is possible to do so, it is proposed to call these great States and these people before the bar of public opinion and after 70 years of arduous effort on their part, condemn them as unfit and unwilling to deal with this great problem, condemn them for having failed in the essential principle of home government, of home rule. After these 70 years, and after 150 years, taking the Government's history as a whole, we now come to the time when we are asked to say that home rule or local government has broken down in a number of the States of the Union. We call these States and these proud people to judgment before the whole world and spread upon the records of the Congress our condemnation, our judgment that in the most vital things of free government they have failed.

I am perfectly aware, as we all are, of the tide which seems to be running against popular government everywhere, of the base betrayal of the people in many countries where they once had at least some authority and hoped for more, of that profound egotism which regards as of significance the bitter experience of men and women in their long quest for liberty. But against all these things, if we have the confidence in our form of government which we profess, we can place, not theory, not hopes, not ideals merely, but 150 years of achievement, of demonstrated popular rule, with its wealth of human happiness and human progress. How puny and hollow and fleeting in comparison are the achievements of usurped power, every hour of whose existence depends upon the continued suppression of human liberty.

And, Mr. President, in conclusion, the progress, the development, and the advancement of the South, including the last 70 arduous years, her history from Washington and Jefferson down, rich with the names of leaders, orators, and statesmen, her soil, her sunshine, her brave and hospitable people, her patient and successful wrestling with the most difficult of all problems, are all a part of the achievements of our common country and constitute no ignoble portion of the strength and glory of the American democracy. I will cast no vote in this chamber which reflects upon her fidelity to our institutions or upon her ability and purpose to maintain the principles upon which they rest.

SUPPORTS CLIFFORD MANNING

Please allow me space to say a few words in behalf of my friend, Clifford Manning, for Tax Assessor.

It has not been my practice to take part in boosting any candidate before the primary, but knowing Clifford as I do I can't refrain from saying something in his behalf at this time.

I have known him all of his life. He has always been a perfect gentleman in every way; he doesn't dissipate in any way; he has the highest regard for his fellow man; he meets everyone with a smile; he has high ideals, and takes no part in foolish or frivolous things. In many respects he is very much like his father—he believes in the Golden Rule, "Do unto others as you would have them do to you". He attends strictly to his own business, and his word is as good as his bond. If you were to ask me who is the most outstanding young man in my community, I would say, "Clifford Manning", without hesitation. Now, in conclusion, allow me to say to the voters, that in making up your mind who to vote for for the various offices, I don't believe you will make any mistake to pick Clifford Manning for Tax Assessor.

Yours for the success of the G. O. P. in Chilton County and the nation,—W. F. Deshazo.

ALABAMA'S POPULATION

Montgomery, Jan. 31. — Approximately 2¼ per cent of the total population of the United States is to be found within the borders of the State of Alabama, according to information received by the State Department of Health from the Bureau of the Census of the United States Department of Commerce, which estimates Alabama's population on July 1, 1937, at 2,895,000 as compared with an estimated population of 129,257,000 as a whole.

On the basis of the Census Bureau's estimates, Alabama ranked in 16th place among the states of the Union in the matter of population, just below Kentucky and just above Tennessee.

According to the Bureau's estimate, Alabama's population increased 248,752 between April 1, 1930, the date of the most recent national census, and last July 1.

Eight states were represented at the short course in dairy manufacturing held at the dairy department, Alabama Polytechnic Institute, during the past week. Marketing milk products and the manufacturing of ice cream and butter were discussed.

It is dangerous to sell a SUBSTITUTE for 666 just to make three or four cents more. Customers are your best assets; lose them and you lose your business. 666 is worth three or four times as much as a SUBSTITUTE.

ALABAMA POWER CO. TAXES

Birmingham, Jan. 25. — Reflecting payrolls in Alabama of $4,285,000 in 1937, Alabama Power Company today filed with the state and federal tax authorities, its returns for Social Security taxes for the year, showing $126,000 of such taxes paid by the company and $84,000 paid by its employes, making a total of $210,000 for unemployment and old age benefit funds.

The company's taxes of all kinds for 1937 were approximately $3,000,000,000, of which over $1,000,000 was directly for school funds in the state.

ISABELLA

There will be an adult meeting for the men and women of Isabella community Tuesday night, February 8, at 7 o'clock. The whole family is invited, as there will be girls to care for and play with the children while their elders are in the classes. There are two things we all want to do—enjoy ourselves and learn something, and Mr. Holmes and Miss Callan will do their best to accomplish this purpose. —L. Callan.

DEMOCRATIC ANNOUNCEMENT FOR REPRESENTATIVE

I hereby announce myself a candidate for Representative of Chilton County, subject to the action of the Democratic primaries of May and June, 1938.

Your vote and influence will be greatly appreciated.

OFFERS THANKS

I wish to take this means of expressing my appreciation to the Refuge Church and Sunday school for the nice watch given me last Sunday. I also thank the editor of the Union-Banner from whom the purchase was made for his donation. I assure you who had a part in paying for this watch that it is highly appreciated.—Rev. M. Lockhart.

ORATORICAL CONTEST

There is already keen interest throughout this county in the Oratorical Contest on "Jefferson and Marshall."

The following schools have already enrolled, and all of the others are expected to enroll within a short while:

Stanton Jr. high school, Stanton, Mr. Wm. F. Stone, Principal, Mr. Woodfin Littlejohn, contest director; Isabella high school, Route 1, Maplesville, Mr. Curtis Matthews, Principal, Mrs. Hope Barcholdt, contest director; Jemison high school, Jemison, Mr. J. A. Peterson, Principal.

School eliminations are to be held on or before February 25, at which time the school's reprecentative for competition with other schools will be selected. County contests are to be held on or before March 11th, and congressional district contests are to be held for all districts except the ninth, (Jefferson County), within the dates, April 4 to 13, inclusive. Date for holding each of these congressional district contests will be named later by Artemus Calloway of Birmingham, state oratorical contest director.

The state finals will be held at Birmingham, April 29th. Each state finalist will receive a cash prize. First prize will be $100; second prize $50; third prize $25, and the six remaining state finalists will each receive $10. Each school representative will be given a book containing the Constitution of the United States and other information relating to it. Railroad fare and hotel bill for each visiting state finalist and chaperon will be paid by The Birmingham News-Age-Herald, sponsors of the contest.

CHILTON COUNTY CALF CLUB

The Chilton County Calf Club met last Saturday for reorganization. The following officers were elected: Quinton Kelley, president; Ed Minor, vice president; W. B. Crowe, secretary and treasurer; and Christina Christiansen, reporter. Christina is the first girl that I know of that has ever belonged to the calf club in Chilton County. Watch out, boys; she is going to show some of you how to care for a calf.

The club is considering buying and placing the second club bull in the county.

The topic discussed was "The ABC's of Pure Bred Cattle". A bulletin was also given out on calf club work.—Christina Christiansen, reporter.

MAPLESVILLE SR. 4-H CLUB

After the club was called to order by the president, Thomas Gaddy, and the business was taken care of, the program was turned over to the chairman of the program committee, Glenn Latham. The following were on program: Thomas Gaddy, Andrew Loyd Dennis, Lewis Gandy, David Young, Frank Merchant, W. E. Cobern, and Henry Bolding. There were 15 members present; one new member.

The subjects discussed by the above members were phases of poultry production, such as accredited hatcheries and size and kind of broods.

The rally was discussed, along with caps to wear that day.

The 4-H news letters were given out, and sheets on "How to cull hens."—Glenn Latham, reporter.

HIGHLIGHTS OF E. J. H. S.

Our second semester is well on its way now. Let us strive hard to make it even more successful than the first.

The school is very proud of a large number of new books received for the library. The pupils are enthusiastic readers of these books, which add to their pleasure and store of knowledge.

A second small shipment of science equipment has been received, and we are very proud of it.

The Union Grove basket ball girls and boys came to Enterprise last Friday to return games. The scores were: girls—Enterprise 25, Union Grove 3; boys—Enetrprise 31, Union Grove 17. Both games were very interesting. In the boys' game, Union Grove held a 5 point lead before Enterprise scored, but the locals gradually forged ahead to a well-earned victory.

The Enterprise boys go to Clanton Thursday night to play the Chilton B team; this is expected to be an interesting and exciting game.

STANTON 4-H CLUB

The Stanton club met with 32 members and 3 new members. C. E. Cagle was in charge of the program, and the following served on the program: C. E. Cagle, Herman Davis, Tip Burnett, Jack Walker, C. A. Cook, and Bill Ruddick.

The club voted to have an opossum hunt Friday night, January 18.

The subject of the program was poultry. This was given in several parts, and when it was over, Mr. Ivey told the members how and when to cull your flock of birds. He also told us when and where to buy our baby chicks. — Edwin Golson, reporter.

Thorsby Institute News

Rev. Robert Armstrong of Concord, New Hampshire, who is superintendent of Congregational churches in New Hampshire, gave a most interesting address at the Thorsby Institute Chapel, Monday.

The glee club sang two numbers, "Gypsy Hands" and "Country Gardens".

Next Saturday at three o'clock the senior music recital of Miss Kathryn Foss' pupils will take place. Grace Mixson was to have been in the Junior recital on February 26, but because the Mixsons may not be here then she will appear with the older pupils.

Next Monday the senior class will elect its officers.

The librarian, Miss Charlotte Luther, reports that some one hundred and sixty-five people have library cards and so are drawing books. The library has received several good additions this year in the book line. The privilege of having books from the library is extended to all, but, of course, a person drawing books must return them within two weeks' time. They may be renewed if desired. If books are not brought back on time a fee of one cent a day over time is charged and one may not have another book until the fee is paid. The library has a large number of current magazines and papers.

Two weeks from Saturday night the Annual Declamatory Contest will take place. Everyone is invited.

Christian Endeavor News

The Christian Endeavor met in the fellowship room of the Congregational church. The leader was Hazel Burnham. The theme was "Why We Pray." Oleita Nowell, Ella Mac Dixon, Ouida Wright and Fred Blankenship gave talks on the subject.

Next Sunday night during the church hour there will be a special installation service for the new officers. The public is invited.

CENTER HILL

Our Sunday school is slowly growing with several new members Sunday. We are glad to have them and invite others to come and join us.

Mrs. Vee Miller is sick in bed at the time of this writing. We hope she will soon recover.

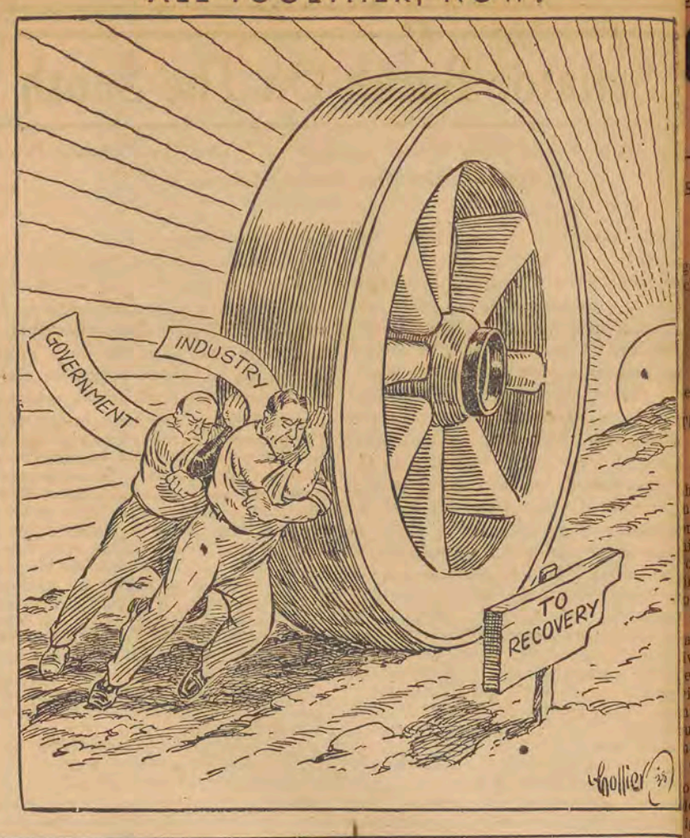
Mrs. Rufus Scott and children, Donald and Janette, spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Price.

Mrs. Frank Rappin has returned to her home in Wyandotte, Mich., after a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Lessley.

Mr. Vester Burkett, of Townley, the State president of the Farmers' Union and Mr. Stewart, of Parrish, Ala., secretary of the same, are spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Cobb. Mr. Cobb is president of Chilton County Farmers' Union.

Miss Leafie Smith spent Thursday night with Miss Berney Dean Cobb.

Mr. and Mrs. John Collum spent last week in Birmingham with Mrs. Collum's mother, Mrs. W. G Atkinson, who is still seriously ill.



Mr. Ted Cobb spent Thursday night with Mr. Hyman Franklin of Pleasant Grove community.

Mr. Walter Gillespie, Walter Kelly Gillespie and son, and Lewis Gillespie and sons visited in this community Sunday a. m.

Word came last Wednesday that little Sharon Neal of Birmingham, the niece of Mrs. Sam Yarbough, was dead. Sharon visited her aunt here last summer. We were very sorry to hear of her death. She was buried in Elmwood cemetery Thursday.

ALL TOGETHER, NOW!

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

We seek Jesus. When do we seek Him? Do we seek Him when we're sad and worried? Do we seek Him for surcease from sadness and worries? He's a wonderful burden bearer and comforter.

Do we seek Him when we're glad? Do we seek Him when there isn't a cloud in life's sky? Do we seek Him to tell Him we're happy and to thank Him for happiness? Aren't we just a bit unfair when we seek Him only when we need One to lift a burden and ease a grief-stricken heart and not also when we might share our joys with Him? "Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden and I will give you rest." "Rejoice in the Lord always; and again I say rejoice". But most of all, should we not seek Him for Himself alone?

The superintendent of the Sunday school is delighted with the growth and spirit of the Sunday school and the pastor is also. May each and every one just keep on keeping on with the good work and see that the growth and spirit continue without a moment's lapse. Last Sunday we enjoyed Judge Reynolds' message at General Assembly. Next Sunday we are to hear a message from Prof Hicks, also a solo by Mrs. Glasscock.

The pastor said if there will always be a good choir he will always give us a fine sermon. He gave us one last Sunday. Choir, support our pastor. He needs you and deserves your support and appreciates it.

All members, newcomers, and visitors, come and keep coming to our Sunday school and church services. We always enjoy your coming and trust you do.

Sunday school at 9:45 a. m. and young peoples' services at 5:45 p. m. each Sunday.

MAPLESVILLE JR. 4-H CLUB

On Wednesday, January 26, the Junior 4-H club met at Maplesville. We studied calories, and sang lots of peppy songs, and Miss Grace taught us our new song, "Is Everybody Happy?" We had lots of fun and learned a great deal about calories and the food we eat. We always enjoy our club meetings.—Betty Sue Gandy, reporter.

MIDWAY-MT. CREEK CLUB

The Midway-Mt. Creek home demonstration club met January 28 at the club house for their meeting. Mrs. Hand, vice president, called the meeting to order. After the minutes and roll were dispensed with, the business of the club was discussed. A date was set by the club to meet with Mrs. Johnson on Tuesday, February 1, to select a pattern for a quilt and to make samples to distribute among the members to be used at a later date to add funds to the club treasury. Other matters discussed were enlisting new members for the club and appointing the kitchen contest committee. It is hoped all members will enter the contest. Mrs. Charles Cooper, Mrs. Alice Hudson, and Mrs. E. H. Freeman compose the committee.

The meeting was turned over to the home agent, Miss Grace, who gave an inspiring demonstration on "How to spend your money economically. How very important it is that we spend wisely the few pennies we get.

The meeting adjourned by repeating the club pledge.—Reporter.

PROVIDENCE—BEAT 13

Our Sunday school is still improving, but let's all come and make it better. We wish to invite the visitors to come again.

Don't forget that we have reorganized our singing. We want everybody to come next second Sunday evening and help us out.

Mr. Jim Maudlin, who has a broke leg, is slowly improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Shaw visited relatives in this community Sunday.

Miss Christine Green spent Sunday with Miss Joyce Harrel.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lowery spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lowery.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Blewster and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Marvin McGraw.

Vocational Evening Classes

The Vocational evening classes are getting along fine. The following classes are being taught:
Class No. 1—Radio.
Class No. 2.—Textile.
Class No. 3.—Show card drawing.
Class No. 4.—Cooking.
Three of the classes have been extended until about June 1.

Three Games Won By Tigers Last Week

Displaying their usual accuracy in shooting baskets and defensive work, the Tigers beating the Billingsley boys on the Tiger's court last Wednesday night, 42 to 20. The game was hotly contested by both teams from start to finish, but the Tigers again proved too fast for their opponents.

The Tigers won their 11th straight game by defeating the Plantersville five by the score of 40 to 15. The Tigers played like a well oiled machine with one object in mind—put the ball through the basket. During the last quarter, the Tigers displayed some of their fancy pass work.

The Chilton County Tigers galloped to their 12th straight victory over the Montevallo high school team Saturday night on the latter's court. The final score being 30 to 23.

Chilton's Basket Ball Team Points For Tournaments

With the Chilton County High school basket ball team rolling along with a perfect record to date in games won, the boys are beginning to look forward to the district tournament at Selma March 4 and 5. If lady luck should stay with them and they come through at Selma, then they will be off to the state tournament at Tuscaloosa March 11 and 12. Many, many obstacles lie between the team and their dreams of these tournaments, but these ambitions are within the possible and coach Cox and his boys are sending their efforts to see that the team delivers at the proper time. The schedule for the home games for the remainder of the season are as follows:

February 3. Isabella; February 9th, Montevallo; February 23, Holtville; February 25, Sidney Lanier high school of Montgomery.

The two games with the Freshmen team of Howard College has been cancelled as Howard College began spring football practice February 1, and basket ball was discontinued as it would interfere with foot ball practice.

KITCHEN CONTEST

The kitchen contest is now getting under way. Many club women are making plans as to what can be done to that drab, inconvenient working place that will brighten it and make it a better place in which to work. Let every club woman begin now to study your kitchen bulletins, which can be secured from the home demonstration agent, Miss Meta E. Grace, in Clanton, and make and changes according to the best methods.

Every club member is urged to enter the contest. Don't think it takes a lot of money, and for that reason you can't enter. Inquire and learn how you can not only improve your kitchen but at the same time win some of the lovely prizes that are to be announced soon, which are to be given by the merchants of Clanton, who are interested in you. Give your kitchen a look over; see if your work table, stove and cabinet are the proper working heighths, and are they properly arranged to save you walking miles each year. When you are resting, look at pictures of well arranged kitchens and compare them with yours.

Now that the weather is too bad for the husband to do much outside work, have him place that kitchen window where you can have better light over the kitchen sink or table. You may need an extra window to give you sufficient light to work by. Be sure to keep your record of everything you do, as this will help you to win the prizes. Remember, you stand just as good a chance as anyone else.

General Announcements

The leadership school will be held at the home economics building on February 3, Thursday, at 9:45. Miss Helen Kennedy will be the specialist for the occasion, and the lesson will be on fats, pastries and quickbreads. All leaders and club presidents will please attend.

The scholarship committee and kitchen improvement contest committee are requested to meet at the noon hour on this same date and place. The scholarship committee will determine the winner of the business course and the kitchen contest committee will make final plans concerning prizes and any further regulations concerning the contest.

On February 10, Chilton County is scheduled to broadcast an hour's program, from 11:30 to 12:30. This program will include information concerning the industries of the county by outstanding citizens, and information concerning the agricultural program by the farm and home agent's department. Don't forget to either come or listen over WAPI for this program. This program will be broadcast from Clanton.

Mrs. Christiansen was a visitor to the Minooka club recently, and she plans to visit the other clubs over the county as fast as she can. Mrs. Christiansen is the county council president, and is anxious to help the program of work develop as rapidly as possible.

MINOOKA CLUB

The Minooka home demonstration club met at the home of Mrs. H. F. Virgin January 27. The meeting was called to order, a song was sung, and business was dispensed with. The roll was called and the minutes were read by the secretary. Plans for the next meeting were made, and place of meeting will be with Mrs. Pearl Anderson on February 9, which is to be a spend-the-day meeting.

The quilt which is now being completed will be quilted and final disposition made of it, which is a means of raising money to send the leaders to the leadership schools in the future.

Next, the kitchen improvement contest was discussed, followed by more discussion by Mrs. Christiansen, county council president. Almost all the ladies plan to enter.

The demonstration for the afternoon was "How to buy for your family and save those pennies," given by Miss Meta E. Grace, home demonstration agent, in her usual charming manner. We consider this one of the finest lessons given us.

Cake and coffee were served by the hostess and co-hostess, Mrs. Hoyt Cleveland.—Cecile Watts, secretary and reporter.

THORSBY JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

Mid-term examinations are now over, with the majority of students getting over the passing mark.

Prof. Percy M. Johnson, fifth grade instructor, was absent last Thursday due to illness. We are glad to see him back at his desk.

It is with regret that we announce the cancellation of our negro minstrel program which was scheduled for next Saturday night. We thank those who have worked so diligently on the program for their loyal cooperation.

Our boys basket ball team won its 17th victory of the season last Wednesday night, defeating the fast Collins Chapel team 14 to 9. This was the third victory for Thorsby over this team. The losers put up a stubborn defense, and as the time limit ended it was a tie at 9 all, but in the play-off period Thorsby scored one foul shot and broke through for two field goals, while holding the Chapel boys scoreless. It was a clean, hard game, well worth seeing.

Our team played Coach Ed Glasscock's small but hustling Concord Jr. High team January 25, defeating them 16 to 14. We return this game on Friday, February 11, at 2 o'clock at Concord.

We regret losing two of our Jr. II classmates. Marie Martin is moving to Maplesville, while Clayton Martin goes to Thomas Jr. High. Our best wishes go with them to their new locations.

Miss Schurter, elementary supervisor, was a visitor to our school last Tuesday.

The third and fourth grades are working on a unit of "Friends Across the Sea". At present their suject is Indians. The pupils are making Indian blankets, canoes, bows and arrows, moccasins, tents, and dressing dolls representing Indians in their everyday life. The work is really very interesting, and the pupils are very enthusiastic over it.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE

State of Alabama, Chilton County.

Whereas, E. J. Orange, R. W. Mims and Lummie Johnson, as Trustees of the Pentecostal Fire Baptised Holiness Church, executed and delivered to L. H. Reynolds as mortgagee, a mortgage dated January 4, 1937, and payable on January 8, 1938, which mortgage is duly recorded in Book 273 of Mortgages at Page 191 in the office of the Judge of Probate of Chilton County, Alabama, and said mortgage being past due and unpaid and subject to foreclosure and said default continuing, the undersigned, L. H. Reynolds, as such mortgagee, will sell the property described in said mortgage as Lot No. 4 in Block No. 16 of the Gowan Addition to the Town of Clanton, Alabama, as shown by the official map of said Gowan Addition recorded in the office of the Judge of Probate of Chilton County, Alabama, during the legal hours of sale at public outcry to the highest bidder for cash, in front of the Court House door of Chilton County, Alabama, on Saturday, February 19, 1938. The proceeds of said sale will be applied: first to the payment of the costs and expenses incident to this sale and conveyance, including a reasonable attorney fee; and second, to the payment of what may be due on the indebtedness secured by said mortgage.

This January 26, 1938.

JEMISON F. H. A. MEETING

The recent meeting of the Jemison F. H. A. was called to order by the president, Kathryn Green. The devotional was read, and the minutes read and approved. The chairmen of the program, entertainment, year book, publicity and servings committees gave their reports. There was no unfinished business to come before the meeting. We hurried through the new business, because everyone was anxious for the program to begin.

Mrs. Ballard, a very prominent citizen of Jemison, talked to us about nature. She pointed out many interesting things about birds that we did not know. We all enjoy the sunset, but I am sure we can appreciate it more after having her tell us how to discover many colors that we had not noticed before. Did you know that we don't see the same stars in the summer that we do in winter? She told us the names of different stars, and something about each one. The wild ferns, trees and flowers were discussed enough that I think we will pay more attention to them in the spring. We believe that from now on nature will play a more interesting part in the lives of Jemison F. H. A. girls.

Wednesday, February 2, is our regular meeting day. Some of the girls are to give their 10-minute talks for second degree. Maxine Glasscock is going to talk on "Manners and Customs in the Social World", and Agnes Bean on "How to Influence People and Win Friends."

MAPLESVILLE JR. 4-H CLUB

A report comes to the agent's office that the Maplesville Jr. 4-H Club enjoyed a weiner roast recently.

Thomas Kelley was in charge of arrangements for the picnic.

The club members met at Mr. Morgan Wallace's home; he is the local leader for the club. Mr. Morgan is showing much interest in the activities of the club, and he is liked very much by every club member. This club is getting ahead. Other clubs, wake up! Let's go!

COLLINS CHAPEL 4-H CLUB

The Collins Chapel club met several day ago, with Napoleon Davis as chairman of program committee, in charge of the program.

The following members took part on the program and discussed different phases of poultry work: Charles Holmes, Bobby Heflin, Wilton Maddox, Junior Caton, Harvie Lee Holmes, E. J. Carroll, Kenneth Smith, Sterling Robinson. Donald Martin, and Lee, Jr., Gore.

There were 32 members present, with one new member, and Mr. Herman A. Lecroy as school local leader.

This club went on a rabbit hunt two weeks ago. The boys were allowed to carry only slingshots to shoot with. Several rabbits were jumped, but none lost their lives. One opossum was found sleeping in a stump, the boys taking him along with them.—Chas. Holmes, Jr., reporter.

Jack Hayes Gets Raise From Sox

Shows Comiskey He's Worth More, Although He Was Low Hitter In '37. Great Run Getter.

The Chicago White Sox think very highly of the services of Jack Hayes, local high school graduate, and now second baseman for the Sox. Jack never has been a great hitter, but he has managed to come through "with ducks on the pond" with enough regularity to impress the White Sox management to the extent that his salary has been hiked for the coming year, although he was the league's lowest in batting averages for regular players. Jack didn't tell us the size of his 1938 salary check—he never does—but people don't raise the salaries of their hirelings unless they are highly satisfied with the work of said hireling. Therefore, Jackie must be giving his managers their money's worth.

It all runs like this:

When Jackie got his contract a few days ago for his signature, he didn't like the figures on it, so he mailed it back to the White Sox owner, Comiskey, but not alone. He included a convincing argument that a salary raise was in order. He got the raise! But let the following Associated Press dispatch tell the story:

"Chicago, Jan. 21. — Jackie Hayes made "Uncle Lou" Comiskey, Chicago White Sox owner, yell "uncle" today.

"Hayes, who is the Sox second baseman, sent Comiskey a bulky package from Clanton, Ala., and tossed so many arguments for a raise in salary at the Sox president that Comiskey grinned, tossed his hands, and said: 'You win'.

"Admitting he hit only .229 last season, the poorest average of any regular in the American League, Hayes poured figures at Comiskey showing that he drove in 13 more runs than Cecil Travis of Washington, who hit .344; that he drove in more runs than such players as Luke Appling of the Sox, Buddy Lewis of Washington, and Sam West of St. Louis; that he laid down more sacrifice bunts than most other regulars in the circuit, and that 'as a second baseman I was second only to Charley Gehringer of Detroit in the averages, and I even handled more chances than he did—857 to Gehringer's 828'.

"'Doesn't that sound like I'm worth a little more money than you offered me?' wrote Hayes.

"Chuckling, the White Sox owner, who is tolerant of holdouts if they don't get arbitrary about it, allowed as how he thought 'Hayes had something there', picked up a telephone and instructed his secretary to boost Hayes' salary."

Minter Carney Hayes—Jack, to everyone around Clanton— was picked as a major league prospect long before he finished his bright high school career. He was rated one of the best quarterbacks ever to wear the Orange and Blue, too, but his big yen was to go up in baseball.

Some players are born, some are made—Jack is a product of a little of both. Blessed with a natural talent for baseball, Jack was also fortunate in coming up under some of the best coaches and baseball heads this neck-o'-the-woods ever produced — Victor Heard, Albert Pyron, and others. In fact, Albert Pyron is given credit by many for "making" Jack Hayes, and there is much truth in this. Albert is nobody's dunce when it comes to baseball play and strategy, and there were many, many afternoons when he stayed in the park with Jack and batted "skinners" to him—Jack was a shortstop in those days. Sometimes these two stayed with it until dark drove them in, and on many occasions Jack has had his supper long after the rest of the family had finished.

All this time, both teacher and pupil were getting a big thrill out of it all. Jack just naturally liked to "handle 'em", and Albert got his kick out of seeing a budding "big-timer" blossom forth. Well, Jack blossomed, and later Vic Heard had a hand in helping in Jack's teaching as coach of the independent Clanton baseball team's manager. Vic taught him all he knew, and that was considerable.

By the time Jack had soaked in all that Albert and Vic and a few others could teach him, he went to the University of Alabama, and according to some of the best sports writers and critics, "set it afire" to such an extent that he was signed by the Birmingham club of the Southern League, direct from the Alabama campus. He reported the next year and worked out with the Barons, but was sold to the Washington Senators in mid-season without once having taken part in a regulation game for the Barons. Birmingham had a house full of good infielders that year—Washington had a shortstop that was aging fast, and Hayes was bought to take his place. He stuck around for a season or so, then was sent to Minneapolis, but was recalled before the season was over to plug a gap that had showed up in the Senator infield.

As said before, Hayes was never a heavy hitter, although he did ease over the .300 mark in 1936. Miller Huggins, then manager of the New York Yankees, once pronounced Jack "the most promising young infielder in the majors", and it is said that he always wanted Jack for the Yankees, because of his fine defensive play.

The fortunes of baseball sent Jack finally to Chicago, where he is today. He was traded in a 3-player deal, he being sent with another, as "boot" in a deal for a player who, at that time, showed promise of becoming one of the "greats" of baseball. Strange to say, Jack's name still shows in the daily box scores of the American League, although that of the "big star" with whom he was traded, does not, and has not for some time.

So, after all, though "our Jack" may not be a Lou Gehrig at the bat, and his name may not be blazoned in the headlines day by day, yet he has "stuck" in the majors, and is still sticking, if this latest episode is any evidence. Sentiment doesn't cut much ice in baseball in the big top. A man is kept and used as long as he is useful, and then it's back to the bushes for him. No matter how much the major league moguls like a man, if he can't deliver on the diamond, he is let out. Rather than being on the skids, "our Jack" gets a raise. And we think that speaks for itself stronger than any words we could use.

A friend tells the story of a traveler in the Ozarks who came up to a farm house where cars and wagons almost blocked the road for half a mile on either side. "What's going on here?" he inquired. "Bill's mother-in-law got kicked by a mule, and they're burying her today," he was advised. "Must have been a popular woman," the stranger remarked, surveying again the line of vehicles. "Naw, it ain't that," his informant drawled. "Most of them's fellers come to bid fer the mule."—Lyons (Kan.) News.

Democratic self-government is the only satisfactory way of life for a people who cherish their freedom. But it is the most strenuous and difficult system of conducting a nation's existence. It requires more of the individual. It involves continuous readjustments, which means that we are forever in the midst of critical problems. But the enduring benefits of democracy outweigh the costs entailed.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Brussels conference, called for the purpose of stopping the war being waged upon China by Japan, has disintegrated and blown away. The principal accomplishment of the gathering was an exhibition of timidity and vaccillation which will be a direct encouragement to Japan to go ahead and do as it pleases, anywhere it pleases, in the Far East.—Detroit Free Press.

LITTLE CREDIT

It reflects little credit on our financial statesmanship that in the years of normal business activity, 1936 and 1937, the budget was as heavily out of balance as in the subnormal years preceding. It requires a good deal of credulity to believe that, with the end of the recovery cycle behind and another period of slackened business ahead, we can improve the fiscal position of the government without a much more rigid tax program than is likely to be initiated and adopted in 1938.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A THIRD TERM

The American Institute of Public Opinion has just announced that the recession has brought about a marked decline in popular sentiment for a third term. In December of 1936, immediately following Mr. Roosevelt's overwhelming reelection, only 31 per cent favored a third term. By July, 1937, the percentage had risen to 37. Today it stands at 33, and the only group of citizens found to favor it are the unemployed.

What the next two years will bring forth cannot be foretold, of course. It may be that Mr. Roosevelt will exhibit such leadership during the remainder of 1938 in bringing back prosperity, that popular sentiment for a third term will rise. At the same time, he may get most of his program through congress, and himself have no desire to run again. Another factor, it goes without saying, will be the question whether there is anyone available for the nomination in 1940 who impresses the president as capable not only of a successful campaign, but also of carrying on the New Deal policies. — Richmond Times-Dispatch.

America is a great, wide, rich continent where everybody wants something from the government besides government. — Dallas New.

A note of weakening was detected in the latest apologies from Japan. She practically confessed that she remembered the incident. —Cleveland News.

A 15-cent tax on wheat raised in excess of order from Washington is proposed. This may cause the farmers to elect a cheer leader for the grasshoppers.—Wichita Eagle.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

We hear a great deal in these days of "recession" about the iniquities of big business. Many people seem to have the idea that American industry is purely the sole property of a few plutocrats who operate principally in Wall Street—that if the great corporations could be blown into bits the results would be a general increase in the security, prosperity and happiness of the so-called common people of the country, Yet nothing is further from the truth. Any general description of corporate wealth would bring impoverishment to many people in modest and humble circumstances.

The American Federation of Investors recently analyzed the stockholder records of 110 corporations in the United States, prominent in railroads, in utilities, in steel and other forms of industry. The result will be somewhat surprising to those who get their information from soap-box professors. The 110 companies have 4,149,666 owners or shareholders. Of this number 3,572,620 of the total own 100 shares or less on the books of the corporations listed. In other words, about seven-eighths of the ownership is invested in people owning 100 shares or less in the concern. And the 110 concerns employ 2,454,135 people who have an interest in the welfare of the corporations.

For example: Bethlehem Steel has 73,681 stockholders, and 70,281 of these own 100 shares or less; in the Dupont Company, 65,460 out of 72,670 shareholders own 100 shares or less; in General Motors. 330,000 out of 375,000 stockholders possess 100 shares or less; of the railroads, Pennsylvania has 217,000 shareholders, and 188,000 of them own 100 shares or less; the same is true of 52,230 of the 61,020 shareholders of the New York Central; while in the Union Pacific, 49,256 of the 54,288 stockholders, 49,256 are in the 100 or less share ownership class. In Montgomery Ward, 50,470 out of 58,154 stockholders own 100 shares or less, while the same is true of 45,000 of the 53,000 owners of the Woolworth Company.

Next may be mentioned the utilities, which have been held up to us as a particularly bad example of big business by the New Deal. The American Telephone and Telegraph Company has 640,991 shareholders and 606,210 own 100 or less shares; in Columbia Gas and Electric the record is 43,639 out of 54,631 shareholders; Commonwealth Edison, 61,214 out of 69,482; Pacific Gas and Electric, 77,499 out of 93,603; and United Gas Improvement, 102,000 out of 125,804. Then there are the Standard Oil companies. In Standard of New Jersey, 96,106 stockholders out of 120,630 own 100 shares or less. The record in Standard of Indiana is 76,968 out of 91,904.

Now who are these three and a half million people who own 100 shares or less in 110 of our leading corporations? It is true one man may hold shares in more than one company, but the number of the small investors is very large—much larger if we are to take into consideration all of our corporate wealth. These shareholders are small professional and business men, school teachers, barbers, clerks, and—believe it or not— farmers. Their per capita holdings of course, are not so large as those of the rich, but the ownership and the dividends mean as much if not more to them in security and comfort than to their much wealthier brethren. And it is to be remembered that these companies paid more than one billion dollars in dividends the last year, although this was no more than one-fourth of the amount paid to their employes. Their taxes were, of course, enormous.

It will be seen therefore that our corporate wealth is pretty well distributed in America, just as are our homes, our farms, our automobiles, our radios, and our savings accounts. This is true of no other country but the United States. Therefore, those prophets and schemers among us who would change our form of government and our economic society after a pattern which is European, are simply talking through their hats.

A TAX TO REPEAL

A report of the Brookings Institution further emphasizes an overwhelming belief among those whose opinions are worth anything that complete repeal of the undistributed profits tax, not revision, will release the brake on recovery. Now that its paralyzing effects upon business are thoroughly demonstrated, congress should proceed at once to give it the ax.

The interests of the submerged two-thirds struggling to keep their heads above water to earn enough for taxes are more important than saving Mr. Roosevelt's face.—Springfield Union.

Sen. Borah is not in accord with the proposal to destroy the wheat crop to prevent a possible and imaginary surplus. In a current article he advocates better distribution rather than pay for the destruction of hte crop. Curtailed production in this country means increases in other countries, and additional trade agreements to permit the marketing of the grain in America.—Douglas County (Kan.) Republican.

The modern version of the "Three Little Pigs" is different from the old nursery tale. In the modern version, the two little pigs who spent their time playing and making "whoopee", instead of being devoured by the wolf, went on relief and gave the merry laugh to the industrious little pig who now had to support them.

The British government is going to match the Italian propaganda to the Arabs by having radio talks of its own. In this radio battle we predict victory for the British. When it comes to propaganda, they have the rest of the world outdistanced. They made us believe we were fighting to make the world safe for democracy, and will probably do it again.

The president's efforts to end his depression include a few kind words to business, a vague promise to balance the budget sometime, a housing plan of dubious practicality and a nine-day fishing trip.—New York Herald-Tribune.

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

The Lord willing, the writer will leave in just a few days for evangelistic meetings in Los Angles and San Francisco. I shall go West through the historic and interesting city of New Orleans and over the Southern Pacific Railroad through Southern Louisiana, on through Texas, and out through the West. It has been my privilege to travel in 30 foreign lands. America has everything—mountains, plains, valleys, cities, deserts—everything. It isn't necessary to cross the ocean to see the world. The world is here in our own land. "Go West, young man", used to be the slogan. It should still be a slogan. Everybody should visit the West. There is romance there. There is a strange fascination about it. It casts a spell over one. When a person once breathes the air of the West, he always wishes to go back. I advise our readers, if you are planning a western trip, to go by New Orleans over the Southern Pacific to Los Angles and San Francisco.

I often wonder why God called me to be an evangelist. I am a lonely temperament. Most of my life has been spent away from home. My mother died when I was fourteen years old. Since that time I have been a sort of homeless wanderer. If I had chosen my own life's work I would have selected a business where I could have stayed at home. God chose for me to be an evangelist. In spite of the fact that I am lonely in temperament and always get homesick when I am away, I have had great joy in doing the will of God. No one can be happy outside of the center of God's will. When I was a boy I used to wonder how missionaries who left native lands and went to far away lands could be happy. The happiest people I have ever seen have been missionaries of the cross. Happiness doesn't depend upon where we are. It depends on what we are. The apostles could sing in dungeons. Martyrs have been able to shout when they were burning at the stake. To you who read these lines, let me suggest that you yield yourself fully and unconditionally to God and let His will be done in our life. This is the secret of happiness.

University News

The appointment last week of James H. Newman as Dean of Men at the University of Alabama by Dr. Richard C. Foster, President of the University, places a former small-town boy in one of the highest educational positions in the state.

The new University Dean of Men was reared near Lafayette, Ala.

Announcement of the resignation of Dabney S. Lancaster as Dean of Men at the University, and the appointment of James H. Newman as his successor, was made last week by President Foster.

On leave of absence from the University since February 1, 1937, Ex-Dean Lancaster has been serving as executive secretary to the board of overseers of Sweetbriar College, in Virginia.

The new Alabama-reared and Alabama-educated Dean of Men is 29 years old, one of the youngest deans of men in the country.

The new dean is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Newman, of Lafayette, and was educated in the schools of Chambers County before enrolling at the University in 1925.

In his undergraduate days, Dean Newman was elected to membership in Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic fraternity, and Omicron Delta Kappa, national honorary leadership organization.

The young dean has been connected with the University ever since his graduation, first as director of the Alabama Union Building, and later as Assistant Dean of Men.

The best thing you can do with a long name, if you are around school, where all sorts of rolls, records, and name files are kept, is to abbreviate it.

At least that is the conclusion of three University of Alabama students, who together have enough names for eight persons.

Mr. Giuseppi Maximilian Kickapopolis Nicholas Aloyisious Bivona shortens his name to "Joe."

Miss Marjorie Roslyn Mary Alexander Emma Popps abbreviates hers to "Marjorie".

Miss Mary Morgan Harrison Minge Duggar goes by "Mary Morgan."

Inauguration of a style of debate procedure that may extend to high schools throughout the state was made by the University of Alabama forensic team Wednesday.

The Oxford type debate was used when a 3-man forensic team from Bard College, Columbia University, met the Alabama trio Wednesday.

The Oxford system calls for each of the six speakers talking 10 minutes on either side of the question that he chooses.

At the conclusion of the six arguments, the usual rebuttals by the debaters will be replaced by a 15-minute period in which the audience may ask questions and heckle the speakers at will.

CARD OF THANKS

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

SPRING TOP-DRESSING OF OATS IS PROFITABLE

Auburn, Ala.—Alabama farmers may increase materially their oat yields this year by top-dressing them with nitrogen about the first of March, advises J. C. Lowery, agronomist of the Alabama Extension Service.

"Mixtures of oats and vetch planted for hay purposes also should receive a top-dressing of nitrogen," he says. "Top-dressing oats with nitrogen is good insurance against feed bills for the mules during crop time," he asserts.

Average results in tests at Auburn show that each 100 pounds of nitrate of soda up to 300 pounds, increased the yield of oats approximately 10 bushels per acre. Applications of more than 300 pounds of soda per acre were usually not profitable.

"During a ten-year period, 1927-36, oats on Norfolk sandy soil and top-dressed with nitrate of soda, ammonium sulfate or calcium nitrate at the rate equal to 200 pounds of nitrate of soda per acre, produced approximately the same yields," says Mr. Lowery in pointing out that nitrogen may be applied to oats in different forms of fertilizers.

OATS IN WINTER MONTHS FOR THE PRODUCTION OF SUCCEEDING CROPS

Following fall-sown oats with lespedeza in the late winter deals a double-barrell blow to erosion, according to Mr. James H. Wood, agronomist of the Soil Conservation Service near Clanton.

Supplementing the protection which the oats provide during the winter months, the lespedeza will give good cover after the oats are harvested and, being a legume, will add nitrogen for the production of succeeding crops, he explained.

Lespedeza sown on oats in February or March has a big advantage over cowpeas both from the standpoint or erosion control and labor saving, Mr. Wood said. If cowpeas follow the grain the land has to be plowed about the first of June when other crops need work. Frequently dry weather at oats harvest makes it impossible to get cowpeas planted in time.

Running a drag harrow over the soil, oats and all, after the lespedeza is sown, will serve to scratch the lespedeza seed lightly into the soil. No ill affects on the oats will result from this light harrowing, which, in fact, often proves beneficial to the oats, Mr. Wood said.

BEST CORN VARIETIES MAKE BETTER YIELDS

Auburn, Ala.—In order to realize the greatest returns from the corn crop grown in Alabama in 1938, it is most important that the best varities be planted.

"Corn is a very locally adapted plant; it is necessary to know the best adapted variety for each section of the State," says Dean M. J. Funchess, director, Alabama Experiment Station.

Tests by the Alabama Experiment Station for many years show the average yields of the best varieties for North Alabama to be as follows:

Douthit (Douthit) 38.0 bushels; Mosby (Graham) 37.9; Locker's Yellow 37.0; Indian Chief (S. M.) 36.7; Brook's Prolific 36.6; Indian Chief (Kicker) 36.6; Douthit (Marrett) 35.3; Hastings' Prolific 35.3; Local Variety 35.0; Whatley (Hudson) 34.8; Mosby (Delta Station) 34.2; Whatley (Whatley Bros.) 33.6; Cooke's Prolific 33.0; Culp's Yellow 32.7; Pee Dee No. 5, 32.1.

Average yields of varieties of corn tested in Central and South Alabama follow:

Douthit (Douthit) 32.3 bushels; Local Variety 32.2; Whatley (Hudson) 31.3; Hastings' Prolific 31.2; Whatley (Whatley Bros.) 30.8; Indian Chief (Kicker) 29.5; Douthit (Marrett) 29.4; Locker's Yellow 29.2; Mosby (Graham) 29.2; Indian Chief (S. M.) 29.0; Brook's Prolific 28.6; Culp's Yellow 28.5; Mosby (Delta Station) 28.3; Pee Dee No. 5, 28.0; Cooke's Prolific 27.9.

The corn variety tests were conducted by E. L. Mayton and J. T. Williamson, Auburn; J. P. Wilson, Headland; R. C. Christopher, Crossville; and Fred Stewart, Bella Mina.

Christmas holly trees can be grown on farms in many sections of Southern states, says the U. S. Forest Service. Farmers interested in producing them may obtain Farmers' Bulletin, "Growing Christmas Holly On The Farm."

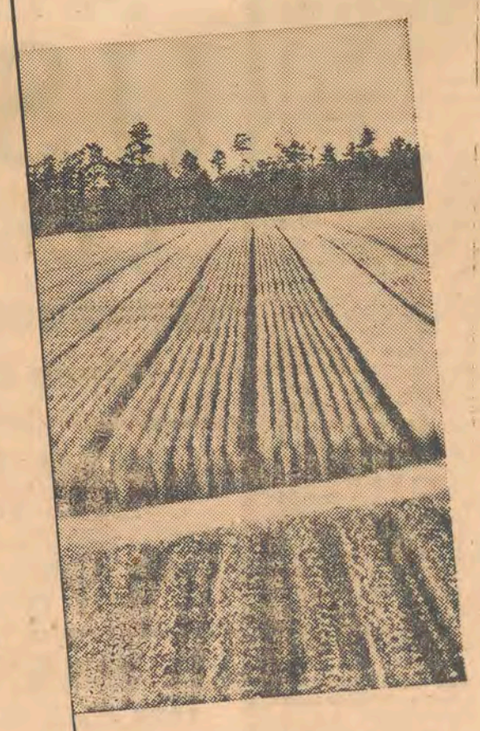
THE GUARANTEE OF QUALITY
David R. Coker, President
HARTSVILLE, S.C.

A balanced farm program requires plenty of food and feed crops, cash crops to meet market demands, soil conservation, good seed and well balanced fertilization.



In our seed breeding work, we began about 13 years ago to use extra potash as a top-dresser along with nitrogen in an effort to achieve a better balanced fertilizer ration.

For instance, we found that the extra potash in a nitrogen-potash top-dresser gave us larger yields of cotton by preventing or lessening cotton rust. Where rust was prevented we noted that we obtained a more uniform staple of cotton, with an improvement in grade and character. The bolls were larger and easier to pick.

As a general practice, we use a complete fertilizer for cotton at planting and then top-dress with 50 or more pounds of muriate of potash along with a material carrying 15 pounds or more of available nitrogen per acre.

Our soils are mostly of a sandy loam type. The type of the soil and the crops previously planted must be given consideration in determining potash and other fertilizer requirements.

POINTERS GIVEN ON FEEDING WORKSTOCK

Auburn, Ala.—To get maximum results from workstock this spring, it is essential that they be properly fed and kept in good physical condition, advises Dr. R. S. Sugg, livestock specialist, Alabama Extension Service, in making a few suggestions on feeding workstock.

"The usefulness of many animals, especially old horses and mules, can be prolonged and their work made more efficient by having a qualified veterinarian examine their teeth and clip and float the sharp edges of the teeth and, if necessary, treat for parasites," says Dr. Sugg.

A good rule to follow is to feed animals doing heavy work about one to one and one-half pounds of grain and one pound of roughage for each hundred pounds live weight," he advises.

"The roughage should be fed at night and the grain fed in either two or three feeds."

Any of the following rations should give satisfactory results for animals weighing 1,000 pounds and doing heavy work:

Ration No. One: 7 pounds of corn, 7 pounds of oats, and 10 pounds of hay. No. Two: 12 pounds of corn, 2 pounds of cottonseed meal, and 10 pounds hay. No. Three: 15 pounds ground ear corn, 2 pounds cottonseed meal, and 10 pounds hay.

"When idle allow stock to run in good pastures or feed 15 to 20 pounds of good hay and about five pounds of grain mixture," he says.

ALABAMA GROWS MORE INCH STAPLE COTTON

Auburn, Jan. 31. — Alabama farmers are making considerable progress in improving the staple length of their cotton despite the fact that the amount of cotton shorter than 7|8 inch in 1937 was more than that in 1936.

"Only 6.1 per cent of Alabama's cotton crop in 1930 averaged 15|16 and longer in staple length, compared with 36.2 of the 1937 crop and 35.2 per cent of the 1936 crop," says J. C. Lowery, agronomist, Alabama Extension Service. "Nearly 11 per cent of the 1937 crop averaged 1 inch and longer; in 1930 less an 1 per cent averaged 1 inch.

"It will also be observed that the per cent of 15|16 and 31|32, 1 and 1-1|32 and longer in 1937 is practically the same as that of 1936," he continues. "It is significant that a drop of 13.1 per cent occurred in the amount of 7|8 and 29|32. This would emphasize the importance of growing varieties averaging around an inch in staple length.

"Enough good seed of such varieties as DPL, Stoneville, Clevewilt, Cook 144, and Cook 912 is now available in Alabama, if used widely, to increase materially the amount of 15|16 and longer," he concludes.

The seed testing laboratory at the State Department of Agriculture in Montgomery is at present testing the germination of planting seed for 1938. L. N. Allen, seed analyst, is in charge of the seed testing work.

MARS HILL

Our Sunday school was wonderful last Sunday, with a large attendance. It makes us feel good to see so many interested in coming out to church to study and learn the teaching of God's word. He gives us six days to work, and the seventh day we should all be willing to go to His house for the purpose of worshiping Him. We invite everyone to come and be with us and help carry on His good work.

We were glad to have Mr. and Mrs Howard Roper with us last Sunday, and hope they will continue to come every Sunday.

Mrs. Robert Sturdivant and little son, Carl, are ill at this writing, while Mrs. Claud Underwood is improving.

Mrs. Loyd Baggett spent Saturday afternoon with Mrs. Sudie Smith.

Mrs. Dovie Leach entertained a number of her friends at her home Saturday night.

Mrs. Blow and Miss Louise Smith were guests of Mrs. Sudie Smith on Sunday evening.

James Abbott and Mutt Childress spent Sunday with Milton and Feryl Lee Smith.

STATE BOARD OF ADJUSTMENT

The State Board of Adjustment was created by an act of the 1935 legislature, approved September 14, 1935, and amended by an act of the legislature approved March 1, 1937. The board is composed of the State Treasurer, the Secretary of State, and the State Comptroller, all of whom serve without additional pay.

The purpose of the board is to hear and consider claims for damages to persons or property growing out of any injury done to either persons or property by any of the agencies of the state, and other claims against the state as specified in the act. The board sets as a court and where it assesses damages the Comptroller is authorized to pay such damages out of an appropriation authorized by the act. The appropriation for the first year is fixed at $200,000, and $50,000 for each subsequent year if necessary to carry out the purposes of the act.

The claims to be considered by the board are only such as would require a special act of the legislature and are known as "relief bills". The members of the legislature do not have an opportunity to ascertain all of the facts when these relief bills are brought up and many of them are passed that should not be passed, while some just claims are never considered. This board makes its award after hearing all the facts, and claims can be presented and adjusted without waiting for the legislature to meet.

"THERE AIN'T ANY BIRDS"

Montgomery, Jan. 31. — "Every year and everywhere, soon after the season opens, I hear that old refrain: 'There ain't any birds'," says I. T. Quinn, Commissioner of the State Department of Conservation. "Well, 'there ain't any' to a large contingent of our hunting population.

"There's a fellow who owns a dog or two which have never been given a real chance to know what it is all about. He's a 'softie'—the dog, I mean—and has never had a chance to really develop. He hasn't hunted enough to know where the birds are or what it is all about.

"Then there's the fellow in town who breakfasts about 7, after which he whistles his good, bad or indifferent dogs from the kennel and hies himself away to some distant farm, 60 miles or more away, and finally reaches the hunting ground about 9 or 9:30. By that time the birds have finished breakfast and have returned to the woods, swamps and thickets. He hunts until around 3:30, looks at his watch and says, 'Well, there ain't any birds any way, and I've got to meet Hugh at the club, so I'll just call it a day and turn in'.

"At the club he explains to Hugh that after driving a total of 120 miles and hunting hard all day, he found three measley little coveys from which it was impossible to get his limit.

"There are three prerequisites to good quail shooting—the answers are found to be the questions of when, where and how."

IN MEMORY OF J. M. WRIGHT

God, in His never failing wisdom, saw fit to call to His heavenly home on January 4 our loving brother, Johnnie, who leaves to mourn his loss his wife, one brother, two sisters, and his aged mother. These are: Lewis Wright, Mrs. Dora Devaughn, Mrs. Etta Miller of Buhl, Ala., and a great host of other relatives and friends.

He was a good and honest man, and God gave him 66 years here on this earth before calling him to leave this world of trouble. Our hearts are lonely, but God does all things well.

He was laid to rest at Liberty Hill church in Coosa County, to await the resurrection morn.—A sister.

According to a statement filed with the Secretary of State, it cost Lister Hill, $9,364.84 to be nominated for U. S. senator in the Democratic primary held on January 4.

HAYES HAS ON BIG CLEARANCE SALE

Has Marked Down Prices On Used Cars To Figures To Move Them

Anyone passing near Clanton Postoffice or that part of the city cannot help noticing that something is happening about Hayes's used car lot. It is all diked up with colorful placards, and the cars are shined up and in a most attractive arrangement.

But all this is not what the buying public is interested in—the price is what folks are demanding. Well, Dick and Jack Hayes assure the public that they are looking after that little phase of the matter. They have arranged their cars in different price groups—and you may just decide on the price you wish to pay and pick out your car.

There is a large variety of cars to select from—most all common makes, models and body styles. And, no joking, if you want a used car, Hayes will offer you a good one and at an amazingly low figure. Look at the partial list elsewhere in this issue of The Banner.

Vester Burkett Writes To Farmers

Time Has Come When All Must Cooperate In Hard Working Unit For Interest Of Agriculture

Dear Brother Farmers:

My subject is: "Time to remove the drones." Did you know the little working bee was organized when they work hard all the summer preparing food for the winter and a bunch of drones that won't work at all. In order to remove those drones from eating up what they have worked for they clip their wings.

Brother farmer it is time we were clipping some wings, a bunch of drones in the county agents office at Montgomery, Auburn, Washington are preparing to eat up what we poor farmers have worked for all the year. How are we to clip their wings? By organizing, Brother farmer.

Are you satisfied with your condition? You are the one to better your conditions. The Farmers' Union will help you if you will get in the harness and help carry your load. I took a trip down in the southern part of Alabama and I found down there a real bunch of drones robbing those poor farmers.

The county agent was the big drone, and he had a bunch of little ones hanging around him deceiving those poor farmers, telling them they would have to pay him $2.00 for Farm Bureau dues before he would let them have their government check. That is a shame—little children standing on the school ground bare footed, and their fathers being robbed by those drones.

Those farmers ask me if they had not paid that $2.00 would they have gotten this check? They said their county agent wouldn't let them have it if they hadn't paid that $2.00 for Farm Bureau dues. Just such drones as those need their wings clipped. Why did those poor farmers have to do that? Because they were not organized. But the best thing of all, before I left they were getting ready to organize.

So Brother farmer you can see the conditions that are existing where the farmers are not organized. So if you have any drones in your county or state, you can clip their wings by being organized.

Another year is opening its portals for us to pass in. What does it hold for most of us? Will we be able to build a better, stronger union movement in each state this year? It depends entirely on you and me. We know we are living in troubled times. If ever staunch men with understanding and determination to establish democratic principles were needed, it is now. If ever an enlightening, tolerant and progressive citizenery were needed it is now.

We abhor war, yet, we see each nation varily measuring the strength and resources of other nations. We see stark terror in the faces of women who realize the perils ahead as she watches her boy off to his day's task, whether it be in field, school, or office. Is all her loving care, high hopes and fine teachings to be blasted by one charge from some death dealing war machine? Silent prayer moves her lips—this one mother and other mothers every where who think, and love, and plan.

The Farmers' Union does not believe in the profit system. They have watched their forefathers dispossessed. Have watched the homes of their childhood taken from them; they have been denied the right to take advanced educational training. They have been denied the decent standard of living, all through no fault of their own. The system under which we live is at fault. Not any one individual is to blame—not any one group. We have been indifferent, asleep to the danger that threatens our democracy with all of the wealth of the nation controlled by less than 10 per cent of the people. We don't want those drones any longer, so come and join The Farmers' Union. You deem your action wise, in union there is better strength—it pays to organize.

A Tax Payer's Prayer

Oh, Mighty Law Maker and Tax Adjuster, before we are wafted into bankruptcy and forever fade from the limelight of business, we would like to thank you for a few of the many favors shown us in the past; we thank you so much for fixing our taxes to where we have to sell our farms to pay you, for you know "Oh, Mighty Men" that we are tired of the old homestead and had much rather rent land than own a home; we also thank you for the empty pockets we now possess, and that we have the privilege of selling what little we have left in order that you may draw a good fat paycheck; and great "Men of Power" we do thank you so much for handling our business in such a way that we can go to the merchant and forget old pride and next year's crop for the things we don't happen to have the money to pay for. And oh, Great Men, it does us good to the bottom of our hearts to have the privilege of paying one dollar and forty cents for every dollar's worth we buy. We also thank you, oh, Men of Power, that you have made it possible for us to cut cross ties at fifteen cents a tie in order to get school books for our children. You have also decorated our tables with peas. Thou has also caused our wives to be good wash women. Thou has also decorated our clothes lines with rags; thou has caused our children to play hide and seek behind empty smoke houses in order to hide their nakedness.

We thank you Men of Knowledge for relieving us of the burden of electing a county superintendent or of saying how much salary any official shall draw or how much our taxes shall be. We also thank you, oh, so much, that we can now run our cars under the shed for want of a tag, and we can now walk our beautiful highways looking for work. Thou has also furnished us some one to tell us how to farm, how much fertilizer to use and where to get it. Thou has furnished us some one to teach our wives and daughters how to cook, can and make clothes. We thank, you so much that thou dost send someone to our school to teach our children how to play scotch and walk on their hands, girls included.—Written by the State President of Alabama, Vester Burkett.

AN INTENSIVE DRIVE AGAINST SMALLPOX AND DIPHTHERIA

An intensive drive by the local health department to immunize Chilton county's school population against smallpox and diphtheria was to begin early this week, it was revealed in a release by Dr. S. D. Sturkie, county health officer. Plans for a visit to each school for the purpose of offering protection against the diseases to the children have already been drawn up. "Special emphasis will be laid on the smallpox vaccination, declared the health officer. Only a small percentage of school children in the county having been successfully vaccinated against this dread disease.

"There is no justification for the abnormal fear of the smallpox vaccination manifested by some parents," stated the local health official. "The method of vaccination employed today is quite harmless procedure attended with only mild and systemic reaction. Despite the limited prevalence of smallpox today, there is still need for everyone to be protected against this one-time universal scourge. Only recently 20 cases of smallpox were reported in Talladega County. Infants should receive the vaccination at one year of age, again prior to school entrance, and thereafter every 5 to 7 years. Vaccination at an early age has the advantage of being attended with less risk of secondary infection.

"In several Alabama counties", said Dr. Sturkie in conclusion, "the smallpox vaccination has been made compulsory among school children. It is hoped that in Chilton county parents will be sufficiently cooperative so that there will be no necessity for adopting such a regulation locally."

THORSBY INDEPENDENTS WON TWO GAMES DURING LAST WEEK

Defeated Foremost Dairies 40 To 31, and West End "Y" 40 To 21, All In One Night

On last Wednesday night the Thorsby Independents hung up their ninth and tenth victories for the season.

First came the fast Foremost Dairies team from Birmingham, which fell by a score of 40 to 31. Thorsby took an early lead and never lost it, although the visitors pulled up close to a tie on several occasions. Hilyer and Jean Littleton led the home team with 10 points each, while C. D. Hayes was pushing them with 8, although only a substitute who was put in late in the game; Arnold "Bull" Littleton also helped the Thorsby cause considerably with two nifty shots. McMillan did good work for the losers.

The second contest was won from the West End Y. M. C. A. team by a 40 to 21, to complete a perfect night for the Thorsby cagers.

The Thorsby team is expecting two more games with the Mitchell Dam Cardinals at an early date. Watch the county papers for announcement of dates. These two teams really put on a good show.

CHILD KIDNAPPED IN CALERA SUNDAY

Four-Year-Old Girl Spirited Away By A 20-Year-Old Man; Assault Tried

Last Sunday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock the four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wade of Clanton was said to have been kidnapped by Campbell Martin in Calera, and a brutal assault was interrupted by passers-by who became suspicious and made investigation.

The child, who was spending the week end with her grandfather, C. W. Wade, it is said, was lured from in front of the Wade Hotel by the man, who asked her if she wanted some ice cream. Martin is said to have taken the child in his arms and carried her half a mile down the railroad tracks toward South Calera. It was there that the attempt to assault was apprehended by passers-by and an alarm given. The child was not harmed other than finger prints were left on her throat and part of her clothing was torn off. She was said to be nearly choked to death when rescued.

Sheriff Fore from Columbiana was notified, and Campbell Martin was arrested an hour later about one mile south of Calera. He was lodged in Shelby County jail, and is now held without bail.

CULP'S HAT IS IN THE RING FOR SHERIFF OF CHILTON COUNTY

Added to the list of Republican candidates this week is the name of W. G. Culp, for sheriff of Chilton County. Mr. Culp's announcement came in just as we were going to press, and consequently our time for writing about him is limited; but that is most likely unneccessary any way.

Not many men in Chilton County enjoy a broader acquaintance than Will Culp, and we might say, a more favorable and popular acquaintance. Mr. Culp has served in one public elective office before, but he has been more or less in public life for several years, all the while taking well with the people whom he was called upon to serve and to work with. He has met with a minimum of criticism all the way through.

There will likely be more about W. G. Culp and his race for sheriff as the campaign progresses.

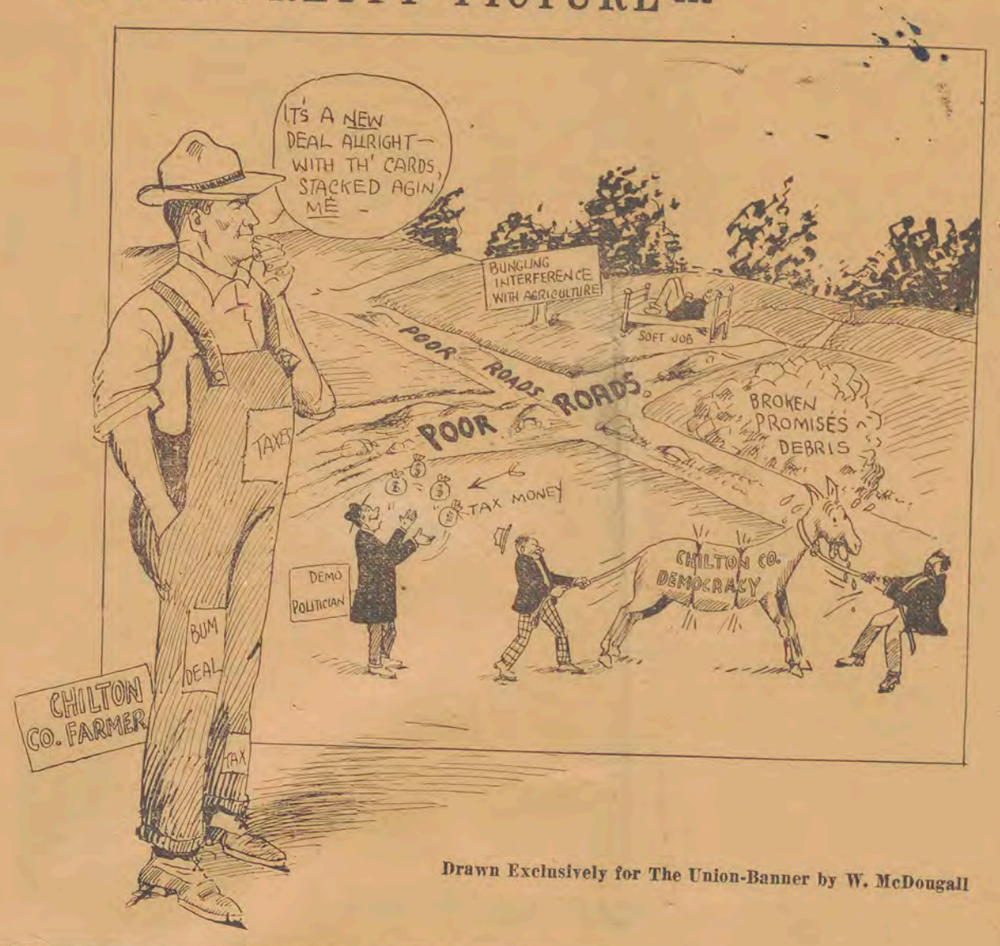
M. J. SOBERG BURIED AT THORSBY SUNDAY A. M.

Funeral services for Martin J. Soberg were held at Thorsby Lutheran church last Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Lawrence L. Stanley. Burial was in the Concordia cemetery, Martin in charge. Mr. Soberg passed away at his home in Thorsby Thursday at 9:25 a. m. Mrs. Soberg, the wife of the deceased, died last November 26th.

Pallbearers were: V. H. Sutlive, E. L. Hansen, Vernon Carlson, Sumner Gerald, V. E. Wyatt, J. L. Mixson. Honorary pallbearers were: J. L. Ross, J. O. Johnson, G. F. Harper, E. L. Piper, Chas. S. Howard, Monroe Smith, M. E. Willis and S. M. Pate.

Surviving are three sons—Carl of Sheboygan, Wis., Edwin of Chicago, and Arnold of Birmingham; two daughters—Mrs. Clara Henderson of Washington, D. C., Mrs. Olga Morgan of Washington, D. C. There are 10 grand children, one brother and four sisters.

P. LIVINGSTON OUT FOR COMMISSIONER OF AGRICULTURE



Among those out for election to state offices we notice the name of Mr. B. P. Livingston for Commissioner of Agriculture to succeed Mr. R. J. Poode. Mr. Livingston is a farmer of Cherokee county, well versed in the problems of the farmers of Alabama from actual experience. He is a former State Entomologist, and while serving in that capacity proved his ability to serve the people of the State and his unwillingness to be led about here and there by the politicians. The latter probably accounts for the fact that he is not still serving in that capacity. Anyway, Mr. Livingston has shown that he is the kind of man we need for Commissioner of Agriculture.

WILL REYNOLDS INJURED IN AUTO MISHAP THURSDAY

Mr. W. A. Reynolds, prominent citizen of Clanton and well known over the State as a real estate dealer and promoter, was the principal in a bad automobile accident last Thursday when fifteen miles below Montgomery on the Luverne road. He is in St. Margaret's Hospital, Montgomery, with a badly broken leg, however, reports say he is doing exceptionally well considering his condition.

It is said that Mr. Reynolds, riding alone in his car, attempted to pass a truck, when the car left the road and rolled down an embankment, overturning seven times. Mr. Reynolds suffered no injuries save a double fracture of the leg. At best, he will be laid up for several weeks.

NOT A PRETTY PICTURE ---

CAN CLANTON AFFORD TO CUT ITS SCHOOL TERM SHORT?

Last week The Union-Banner had a short editorial regarding the fact that Clanton's grammar school will close short of a full term unless the City sees fit to supplement the funds and take care of the last month. Should Clanton's officials decide to make this donation to its school, it will not be out of line with other progressive cities in this vicinity. Tuscaloosa has done it, and so has Birmingham.

We could argue that the state should pay its own obligations, but while we lose time in discussing this, our school will be drawing nearer a close. It will have to close on March 25th unless something happens. Will Clanton's officials come to the rescue?

PROMINENT MAN OF THORSBY DIED

John Harrison Collins Victim Of Pneumonia On Last Monday Morning

Funeral services for John Harrison Collins, age 71, were held at Collins chapel Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock, with Rev. W. P. Lowery officiating, assisted by Rev. M. I. McLeod, and Spigener directing. The aged citizen, prominent in community activities for several decades, departed this life at 3:40 o'clock Monday morning, Feburary 7th, following a siege of pneumonia lasting about a week.

Active pallbearers were: Turner Gamble, George Flournoy, R. H. Goodgame, John Childress, David Childress, and Frank Thompson. Honorary pallbearers were: David Vines, Zeb Mims, J. G. Thompson, S. M. Pate, Charlie Cox, and Relious Collins.

Besides the wife, Mrs. Lizzie Collins, surviving are two sons—Grady and Akins; three daughters—Mrs. Genie Robinson, Mrs. Hersie Hayes and Miss Hilma Collins. There is one brother—Sam W. Collins of Clanton; four sisters — Mrs. Martha Burnett, Mrs. Aroline Littleton, Mrs. Julia Benson and Mrs. Susie Benson. There are five grand children and one great grand son.

The son of T. J. "Sank" Collins, he was born and reared in Collins Chapel community. He married Lizzie Mims in January, 1890, and has been living in Thorsby about 20 years. During all his active life, he was a leading and prominent citizen of his community and county, always taking an active interest in all community enterprises.

P.-T. A. MEETING

A joint meeting of the high school P.-T. A. and the grammar school P.-T. A. will be held at the high school next Tuesday, February 15, at 3:30.

The program on moving pictures, will be in charge of Miss Simpson, head of the English department. It will be a most interesting and worthwhile meeting. All patrons of both schools, and all interested in the welfare of young people are urged to be present.—Mrs. S. J. Ezell, Chm.

Dr. Calvin Wilson and Mr. Heath, from Montevallo, were in Clanton Monday morning attending to some business.

HIGH SCHOOL LUNCH SHOPPE IS OFFERING SPECIALS

Mrs. J. M. Mitchell, new manager of the High School Lunch Shoppe, across in front of the high school, is offering some specials this week, including a Sunday dinner for 25 cents. Sandwiches and other edibles are offered in proportion. Mrs. Mitchell invites you to come there and have lunch with her.

A LETTER FROM TEXAS

The Union-Banner is in receipt of a letter from Mineola, Texas, Route 4, written by Mr. J. R. Connell, a former resident of Chilton county. He reports exceptionally heavy rains out there recently, and that a new jail is being built in Quitman.

He adds that the political pot is beginning to boil out there and that the boys are busy handing out cards. "I expect to come back to Chilton county this summer, nothing interfering. I hope to see all of my old friends at that time."

PUTTING IN BEAUTY SHOPPE IN CLANTON

Mr. J. R. Lowery is this week opening up a brand new beauty shoppe in Clanton in the place recently vacated by Ideal Beauty Shoppe. Brand new equipment is being installed throughout.

Mr. Lowery comes from Tuscaloosa, where he has been operating a Beauty Culture in Birmingham. He is took a course at Gardner school of Bueaty culture in Birmingham. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Houston Lowery of New Salen community.

Assisting Mr. Lowery in the new shoppe will be Mrs. Elizabeth Eubanks Golson, an experienced beautician.

IS IT WORTH THE PRICE?

[AN EDITORIAL]

Readers of the papers have no doubt noticed where Governor Bibb Graves has been holding conferences with utility heads in Alabama during recent weeks. The purpose of these conferences was to try and get light and power rates reduced by Alabama Power Company. The governor is quoted as saying that Alabama Power Company charges too much for current sold to its customers.

Now, The Union-Banner fully realizes that Thomas W. Martin does not need any defense from us, but that he is amply able to take care of his company's interests; but we simply cannot refrain from passing our humble opinion upon this controversy instituted by Governor Graves in collaboration with his New Deal foster fathers in Washington.

Can anyone point out the consistency of an official who is right in the middle of such a tax-grabbing racket as we have in Alabama making the charge that anybody or any company is gouging the people too much for the service rendered?

Of course, we realize that Alabama Power Company is a public utility, and certainly should be regulated as such; but people are not compelled to buy electricity if they think it costs more than the good they get out of it. There is no law against not patronizing Alabama Power Company or any other power company. But what about Bibb Graves's thousand and one tax-grabbing devices which he is using to raise money to pay off Handy Ellis and the numerous other political sinecures and grafters sucking the teats of the state treasury? Are we permitted to exercise our volition about buying this "most efficient" protection and governmental service from the state? Can we just leave it alone if we think it comes too high? No! Everyone knows what it means when tax-gathering time comes around; choice plays no part then, but we have to "cough up" whatever the adjuster says or else lose the roof from over our heads. The poor man has not got much say-so.

In parenthesis we might add that only a few decades ago Alabama collected $20,000,000 annually for taxes. Then it was no trouble to have full terms of school all over the state. Now, through the state's liquor stores, sales tax and other forms of taxation we collect annually better than $80,000,000 every year; yet, with our revenue quadrupled we again this year will have to curtail our school terms unless local funds are raised to keep them going. Evidently something is badly out of joint when such conditions prevail in our fair state.

As a further comparison—or rather contrast—of Alabama Power Company's business management with that of the State of Alabama, we might offer the fact that during the past two decades Alabama Power Company has continually reduced their rates for electricity. Now, has the State of Alabama been reducing taxes any during the past twenty years?

Therefore, we believe that if we had anything to do with the tax-raising racket in Alabama, we would certainly lack the audacity to accuse anything or anybody of charging too much for their wares. But that thing you call consistency is a rarity these days.

ONLY IMPORTANT VIOLATIONS TO BE PUBLISHED IN FUTURE

Hereafter The Union-Banner will publish only the names of important and outstanding law violators of the city, county and state laws. The names of petty violators of the less important but numerous laws will not be published except in cases where there is an exceptionally large number of violations in any one week.

Heretofore, we have published all violations every week, naming the violators. This was done with one hope in view—that it might result in less crimes committed by our people, less sorrow and suffering of their families, friends, Etc. If we have accomplished anything in this direction, then we are glad.

OFFICERS HAD QUIET WEEK

The county and city officers as well as the highway patrolmen seem to have had an exceptionally quiet week Saturday and Sunday. There was not a single arrest during the week end by either of these three forces of officers. This speaks well for the people of this section. The Union-Banner gets much more pleasure in publishing a report like this than where we have to list a long string of public drunks, drunken drivers, etc. We hope there will be many more week ends like the last one.

On the jail register appear five arrests, including driving while intoxicated, reckless driving, rape and certified copy of bond, two cases for violating the prohibition law.

Mayor C. Fenn Jones tried two cases Monday for violations during the previous week—one for reckless driving and the other for driving while intoxicated.

Public drunkenness, 1; speeding, 1; no flares and tag, 1; driving while intoxicated, 1; reckless driving, 1; no driver's license, 1.

WATSON GRAY IN BIRMINGHAM HOSPITAL

Dr. Charles Moore carried Watson Gray, of Enterprise community, to a Birmingham hospital Sunday afternoon, the latter suffering with severe injuries sustained in an automobile accident down near Burnsville. It is reported that Mr. Gray's car collided with a truck. Some others were slightly injured in the same accident.

PATROLMEN FORCE VIOLATORS TO STOP

Erby Popwell and Four Hitch Hikers Chased By Waites and Henley Friday

A rather exciting chase was indulged in last Friday afternoon between Thorsby and Clanton, a car belonging to Erby Popwell and driven by a hitch hiker being pursued by highway patrolmen Waites and Henley.

According to the officers, they were in Thorsby when they saw the car come into town from the north, driven by Popwell, who evidently was drinking. When the car left Thorsby another man in the car took the steering wheel, and they headed toward Clanton. The officers pursued but could not overtake the fleeing car; they are said to have been making 80 or 90 miles per hour. The car turned off the highway, went by the cotton mill and turned back north up the old highway. The officers stopped the car by shooting and puncturing a tire four miles up the old highway.

Popwell was arrested for driving while intoxicated, and so was the hitch hiker driving the car. The whole outfit was brought to Clanton, where it was found that the car contained a quantity of liquor. The car and liquor were turned over to the county officers. Dallis Dickerson, a negro working here for popwell, was also arrested here in Clanton for participating in the whiskey end of the affair.

There were four hitch hikers in the car—two men and two women. This is the third time the patrolmen have caught Erby Popwell. County officers have arrested him several times, and the Grand Jury got half a dozen or more bills against him not long ago.

The patrolmen point out the extreme danger in people driving at such a high rate of speed—not only to themselves but to all others along the road. One child narrowly missed getting run over near the cotton mill on this particular escapade.

COMING! COMING! COMING!

Coming to Collins Chapel Junior High School Saturday night, February 19, at 7:30, a play, "The Wild Oats Boy".

This is a first rate 3-act comedy, crammed full of wisecracks and laughs from beginning to end. It is all about an old uncle who wanted to find out about his relatives, and chose a very unique way to do so.

Two hours and 15 minutes of good, clean fun. This play is being sponsored by the Parent-Teachers Association of Collins Chapel. Admission only 10c and 20c, benefits to go for payments on school piano. Everybody invited.

BIG BROADCAST IS IN READINESS

Band From Alexander City To Be Here For Program, and Concert Earlier In Day

The complete program for the radio broadcast from Clanton today (Thursday) from 11:30 until 12:30 has been arranged, and all is in readiness for the big event. A committee of the Kiwanis Club has taken upon itself the job of arranging the program, and another committee will meet the "Touring Microphone" when it gets here and escort its personnel to the city hall, where the broadcast will take place.

A big feature of the occasion will be the music by the Avondale Mills Band from Alexander City, under the direction of Mr. C. T. Russell. The band will be in Clanton earlier in the day and will play for a concert before the broadcast.

As stated last week, local talent will take part on the program, as well as some local speakers for short talks. Unusual and outstanding facts about Clanton will be mentioned and explained. Station WAPI will broadcast the program, which is sponsored by the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce and ten different well known commercial products.

Seats will be arranged in the City Hall, where the program will be put on, and it is expected that the place will be filled to capacity. The different features on the program will not be published, but the assurance is given that it will be interesting and worth while. If you cannot come to the City Hall and hear it first hand, then tune in your radio and hear it over WAPI.

RALPH D. GRANT ENTERS RACE FOR SUPERINTENDENT

As a Republican candidate for County Superintendent of Education the name of Ralph D. Grant will be found in the column this week. Prof. Grant is one of the most promising young men of Chilton county, having taught school since he finished Howard College and took special post graduate work there and at other colleges. He has prepared himself especially for school administration work, having taken special courses in this line.

Prof. Grant was in the race for the same position four years ago, receiving a very creditable vote, although he was at that time teaching a hundred miles from Chilton county. This time he hopes to let every voter in the county have a chance to see him and find out what he is like.

He is the son of L. T. Grant and grandson of the late Uncle Bob Grant, a family which has been straight Republican from days immemorial. Ralph is an accomplished singer and musician, besides being well trained from a literary and academic standpoint. He has met all the qualifications of the State Board of Education required of county superintendents of education.

Ralph Grant is worthy of the consideration of the voters of the county and of those interested in the great cause of education in our county.

SHELBY SINGING CONVENTION TO BE HELD SUNDAY, FEB. 20

The Shelby County singing convention will be held in Calera high school auditorium on February 20, the third Sunday, and promises to be a grand affair. All Chilton singers are invited. —H. H. McDaniel, President. 1-3-3t

THORSBY FRUIT GROWERS MEET

Members of the Thorsby Fruit and Truck Growers Association met last Saturday, February 29. It was voted to have federal inspection of berries shipped by this association this year.

We are urging all berry growers to mulch their berries.

If you want plants, orders are being taken now. I will be glad to help you in any way possible with your berry troubles.—John Childress, Manager.

SINGING AT MAPLE SPRINGS

There will be a singing at Maple Springs next Sunday afternoon, February 13th, beginning at 2 o'clock. There will be a supply of the new Stamps books on hand. Everybody come and be prepared to enjoy two hours of good singing.—O. L. Devaughn.

BANNER EDITORIAL PRINTED IN CONGRESSIONAL RECORD

The Union-Banner is swelling with pride over the fact that one of its editorials was recently read into and published in the Congressional Record at Washington. It was the editorial regarding Governor Aiken of Vermont and the Republicans of the South published in our paper of January 6, 1938. The Record carried it on February 2nd, it having been an extension of remarks by Hon. J. Will Taylor, Congressman from Tennessee. The Union-Banner is deeply indebted to Mr. Taylor for his consideration of our editorial and for deeming it worthy of being read into the Congressional Record.

We also thank our own Congressman, Hon. Pete Jarman, for calling our attention to the fact that it was published and for sending us a copy of the Record containing the reproduction.

YESTERDAY, TODAY and TOMORROW

YESTERDAY—telephones were serving a comparatively few residences and a small number of business concerns. The service was often interrupted; research and experience were needed to solve the myriad problems of the industry. But the vision was there, for a Bell document of the 70's foresaw the extension of service to all parts of the known world.

Today—the telephone is an accepted necessity, and the quality of Bell telephone service is known as the best in the world. Long distance telephone service is available to almost everywhere on the earth, even to many liners at sea and to some passenger airplanes.

The public demand for service now requires a plant investment totaling 251 millions of dollars in the South. In 1937 telephone employes received about 26 million dollars in wages, and the business paid some 7.9 million dollars in taxes.

Tomorrow—telephone service may reasonably be expected to continue to keep a step ahead of changing conditions. The physical apparatus will change—largely through the dependable efforts of the Bell Telephone Laboratories. But the spirit of telephone people will remain unchanged, and their aim in 1938 will continue to be an unceasing effort to provide more and better telephone service, at the lowest cost consistent with the financial safety of the business.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR PARDON

State of Alabama, Chilton County.

Notice is hereby given that an application will be made to the Governor of the State of Alabama for the pardon of Otto Burnett, convicted and sentenced by the Circuit Court of Chilton County, Alabama, on January 31, 1929, for manslaughter, and sentenced to hard labor for four years in the penitentiary.—OTTO BURNETT. 2-3-2t-ch

IN MEMORY

On Friday night, January 28, 1938, at 7 o'clock, the death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Sims and took from their midst their beloved father, Joe Smith. He had been in declining health for the last few years. He was 86 years old. He was born in Coosa county near Weogufka in 1851. He had lived in Chilton county for the last 40 years.

He united with the Baptist church and lived a true Christian until his death. He was loved by all who knew him.

Funeral servies were conducted by Rev. Wood at Weogufka Baptist church in Coosa county Sunday at 11 o'clock.

Pallbearers were: Willie Smith, Raymond Smith, George Harris, Charlie Harris, and Len Dennis Smith.

He leaves to mourn his death six children, ten grand children and six great grand children; one brother, Jim Smith.

The highway building project adopted in 1935 called for the connection of all county seats by State roads. This called for the building of 6,500 miles of road. While the proceeds of the big $25,000,000 bond issues have been exhausted the project is not yet completed. Seven hundred miles are yet to be built. Five hundred miles were completed during the past year.

THE STATE BANKING EPARTMENT

The State Banking Department was created by an Act of the legslature in 1911, and is charged with the execution of all laws relating to corporations and individuals, doing or carrying on a banking business in the State of Alabama. Its chief officer is the Superintendent of Banks. He is appointed by the Governor with the approval of the Senate for a term of four years. He has to assist him a Deputy Superintendent and an Office Assistant.

There are four bank examiners whose duty it is to examine every State bank at least twice each year as directed by the Superintendent and Banking Board. The Banking Board consists of four members appointed by the Governor. Their term of office is for four years and runs concurrently with that of the Superintendent.

At the time the Banking Department was created there were 222 banks in the State which came under the supervision of the Superintendent of Banks. (In this article reference is made to State banks only. There are 66 National Banks located in Alabama, which are supervised by Comptroller of the Currency, Washington.)

These banks were capitalized at $16,992,983.60 and their total assets amounted to $62,827,751.66. There were no branch banks at that time, but two years later the records show that there were 28. The number has gradually decreased until there are now only 15 of these branch institutions.

The largest number of State Banks in operation at any one time was in 1914, when the number reached 273. There are now only 151. Many of the banks were forced to close between 1928 and 1933, and some of those closed during the moratorium in March, 1933, were never allowed to re-open.

Seventeen of the State banks are now members of the Federal Reserve System and practically all of them have their depositors protected by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

Not a State bank has failed in Alabama since the present Superintendent took charge in 1934.

When the Banking Department was created in 1911 the total deposits amounted to $37,791,892.24. The highest point reached was in 1925 when the records show a total of $135,458,073.27. During the depression deposits dropped to $44,517,719.57 in December 1932. From that point they have gradually risen to $72,671,934.98 in September 1937.

The records show that at the close of business on December 31, 1937, deposits amounted to $81,739,909.23 and total assets were $96,991,417.85.

MRS. W. G. ATKINSON DIED

Mrs. W. G. Atkinson, of Jemison, Ala., age 65, died at a local infirmary in Birmingham, Saturday a. m., February 5, at 11 o'clock. Funeral services were held at Jemison Baptist church Sunday, February 6, at 2:30 o'clock; Rev. Maurice Hodgens assisted by Bro. H. O. Hester officiating.

Pallbearers were: Ensley and Ardis Atkinson, Hugh Shaw, Clinton Ray, Erastus Cleckler, Hurlan Cobb, Pernis Hicks and Houston Lawrence.

Flower girls were: Mrs. Ella Cruise, Clara Mae Fields, Emma Cofer, Miss Mary Elizabeth Walker and Mae Merk.

She leaves to mourn her death—a husband, three daughters, six grand children, two great grand children and four sisters.

Alabama was honored by 21 workers of the Alabama Experiment Station and Extension Service appearing on the program of the 39th convention of Southern Agricultural Workers in Atlanta, February 2-4.

Lesson for February 13

CONSERVING THE SABBATH FOR MAN

LESSON TEXT—Mark 2:23-3:6.
GOLDEN TEXT—And He said unto them, the Sabbath was made for man—Mark 2:27.
PRIMARY TOPIC—God's Holy Day.
JUNIOR TOPIC—God's Holy Day.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Shall I Do on Sunday?
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Using the Sabbath for the Whole Man.

"A man's soul is in a bad state when he begins to regard man-made rites and ceremonies as things of superior importance and exalts them above the preaching of the gospel. It is a symptom of spiritual disease. There is mischief within. It is too often the recourse of an uneasy conscience . . . No wonder St. Paul said to the Galatians, 'Ye observe days, and months, and times, and years. I am afraid of you, lest I have bestowed on you labor in vain.'" These are the comments of John Charles Ryle, Lord Bishop of Liverpool, on the lesson of today.

The formalists of Christ's day, the Pharisees, had overlooked the heart of God's law and the holy living which it was intended to produce, and had bound up even the observance of the Sabbath (which was intended to be a day of rest and gladness) in such a mass of technical "thou shalt nots" that it was a day of fear. They had a false outward profession of worship and had entirely missed the true spirituality of God's law, a fact which drew upon their heads the anger and rebuke of our Lord.

While we as Christians do not observe the Jewish Sabbath, there are principles of doctrine and life bound up in this lesson concerning the Sabbath which we may with profit apply to our day of rest—the first day of the week—the resurrection day, often called "the Lord's Day."

I. False Spirituality Unmasked.

The two incidents in our lesson reveal that under the cloak of earnestly observing the law of the Sabbath the Pharisees were actually covering their own hypocrisy and their hatred for Christ.

The accusations against the disciples because they had taken and eaten grain was not on the ground that they had stolen, for the law (Deut. 23:25) guaranteed that right to the one who had passed through his neighbor's field. They contended, however, that the disciples had worked on the Sabbath in picking and hulling the grain.

The healing of the man with the withered arm revealed that back of their professed concern for the Sabbath was a real hatred for Christ. It is an appalling thing that in the house of worship on the very Sabbath day these men, outwardly so religious, were plotting against our Lord. "They watched him," and even so the enemies of the cross watch us who are his followers.

II. True Spirituality Defined.

Jesus cuts across human hypocrisy and hatred to declare that the true keeping of the Sabbath is to do the work of God. No work of necessity (like plucking the grain) or of mercy (like healing the withered arm) is ever out of place on the day of rest.

How shall we know what we may do on the Lord's Day? Two guiding principles appear in our lesson. (1) Know and follow God's Word. Note the use that Jesus made of it in verses 25 and 26. No man will misuse the Sabbath or the Lord's Day who understands God's Word and obeys it. (2) Live in accordance with the spirit of the Lord Jesus. When tradition stood in the way of the best interests of man, He broke with tradition. If He could do good on the Sabbath He did it.

A word of caution is needed, for some have sought to interpret this lesson as providing biblical ground for doing all sorts of things on their day of rest. That day is for man's good, not for his destruction. His greatest good is served by rest, worship, spiritual development, Christian fellowship, and the doing of deeds of necessity and mercy.

III. Righteous Indignation Manifested.

Our Lord rightly showed His holy anger (v. 5) against his hardhearted critics. He was the Holy One who did not permit His anger to go beyond its proper expression. Man, it must be confessed, seldom is able to control and direct even his righteous indignation. But there is such a thing as being angry without sin (Eph. 4:26), and one could sometimes wish that God's children could be moved to a holy anger against all sin and unrighteousness.

RAINWATER REUNION

The descendants of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Rainwater, of Pletcher, surprised them with a visit Saturday, February 5th, the day being their 56th wedding anniversary. Each of the family brought a basket of lunch, which was spread on a table in the yard. The bountiful dinner was greatly enjoyed by all present.

Pictures were taken of different groups—one being a group of the six great-grandchildren.

Mr. Rainwater, a native of Lawrence County, came to Chilton when a young man. He married Tippy Cornelia DeRamus, a native of this county. He is now 80 years old; she is 70. They are both still able to carry on their farm duties.

All of the children were present except one, Mrs. Maudie Owens, of near Pletcher. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Rainwater, Mr. and Mrs. Erbie Rainwater, of Montgomery; Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Rainwater and children, Chester, Evelyn, Frankie and Bill. Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Rainwater, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Rainwater and children, S. B. Rainwater and children, Mrs. S. A. Stewart and children, of Autauga; Mr. and Mrs. C. M. DeRamus and son, Charles Owen, of near Maplesville; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Rainwater and son, Johnny Morris, Jr., of near Jemison.

The visitors were Mrs. C. H. Cox and children, Annie, Marie and Ella Sue, of Montgomery.

MULBERRY W. M. U. MEETING

The Mulberry W. M. U. held its regular meeting at the church Wednesday, February 2, with a large number of ladies present. Also Mrs. M. I. McLeod and Mrs. J. D. Griffin of Thorsby, as visitors.

The meeting was opened by a song and prayer, also, the W. M. U. watchword for the year. Then regular reports and business meeting was held, with each one giving a good report.

Mrs. M. I. McLeod brought to us the program from February Royal Service, with Mrs. Griffin reading the devotianal, which each one enjoyed very much.

We were sorry that all the members were not present to help us enjoy the day; we also had a delightful lunch. Be sure and come to our meeting in March. — Mrs. E. C. Grooms, Sec.

MAPLE SPRINGS

Sunday school was well attended Sunday, so let's everybody keep our Sunday school going, and come back next Sunday with a well prepared lesson.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Glenn were the past week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Glenn and children, Virdie, Virgil, Delene and Ottis.

We are glad to hear that Mr. Sam Davis, who has been in the hospital with a cut is back home again and is improving nicely. We hope that he will soon be to where he can start back to work again.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Jones spent Sunday night with Mr. W. F. Glenn and children.

Mrs. W. F. Glenn spent Sunday night with Mrs. Jack Jones who is seriously ill.

Messrs. Ottis Glenn and Kern Sandlin made a trip to Montgomery last Monday.

Mrs. Ellen Lewis and Mrs. Myrtle Lewis spent a few hours last Thursday afternoon with Mrs. W. F. Glenn and daughter, Delene.

Miss Jean Ratliff was the Saturday night guest of Miss Esther Lee Dennis.

Mr. Alton Deloach and Raymond Jones spent a few hours Sunday with Mr. Ottis Glenn.

Mr. Lee Mitchell visited Mr. Jimmie Ratliff Sunday.

Mrs. Lawton Wilson spent a few hours Sunday with Mrs. Fannie Griffin.

Mrs. Bessie Jones and daughter, and Mr. Jack Jones were in this community a while Sunday afternoon.

Ozell Atkins has been made leader of the hill culture project being conducted by the Alabama Experiment Station and Soil Conservation Service to determine and develop superior erosion-resistant plants.

OAK GROVE

We had a large crowd out at Sunday school. We had a wonderful sermon rendered to us on Saturday night, Sunday and Sunday night by our pastor, Bro. Green.

They have brought little Mary Alice Ellison from the hospital to her grandparents', Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Cobb.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Cobb are improving after a long illness.

Misses Grace and Ciller Robinson visited Mr. and Mrs. Robinson Sunday.

Willie Frank Northcutt was the dinner guest of Misses Roberta and Gladys Satterwhite Sunday.

Miss Mary Jim Sutley visited her parents during the week end.

Mrs. Clyde Lucas and Miss Mildred Durban visited Mrs. Jim Cobb and family during the week end.

Mrs. Ida Mathews visited Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Northcutt Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Houston Porter visited Mr. and Mrs. Allen Cobb Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Satterwhite visited Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Cobb Sunday.

We had a nice singing Sunday afternoon. The directors were too numerous to mention. We thank everyone for coming out to help us.

Ruth Cobb visited her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Collum, at Oak Hill Saturday.

Willie Jean Northcutt visited Lucile Crumpton Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Z. R. Wells, of Kansas City, and Marseilles, Ill., the former home of the late Mr. N. Laurell and family until 1906, are visiting Mrs. N. Laurell and son, Adolph N. Laurell, and wife. They have visited here three times and like the South. They have a home in Florida, near Orlando, but are going from here to Atlanta, Ga.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our many friends and relatives for the sympathy and kindness shown us during the illness and death of our loving wife and mother, Mary Atkinson. And also for the beautiful floral offerings.—W. G. Atkinson and Daughter.

Editor Union-Banner:

On last Friday afternoon the Farmers Union of this section was favored with a visit by the president and secretary of the State Union. A representative audience was present. The meeting was called to order by the writer, who after invocation, introduced the County President, Hon. B. L. Cobb, who presided over the meeting. Mr. Cobb then introduced Mr. Gresham Smith, County Union Organizer, who made an earnest address, portraying his deep interest in unionism, and devotion to its cause. His talk was interesting.

Next the State Union President, Mr. Burkett, of Walker County, was called to the floor. He made an enthusiastic talk on what the order is doing, its militant growth and undying principles. Next was State Secretary, Mr. Stewart, who stressed some union tenets, chiefly its opposition to the Credit and Mortgage system, stressing self denial as a means to success.

Last, was our own B. L. Cobb; he set forth a vast array of facts, and evidence, as to the benefits of unionism among "Dirt Farmers." Facts, that reached home to the average farmer; evidence portraying what had been accomplished right here among us recently, and what was in our reach for the future.

It was a real good meeting, bringing hope and cheer for the farmer and his family. The meeting carried conviction with it, causing others to think, and take on new life, as they became more educated as to the program of the F. E. and C. U. of A.

Finally we thanked those gentlemen for their timely visit to West Chilton, and most cordially invite them back again.

Over in West Chilton we are discussing our candidates, and the general political situation. We find we have a lot of worthy Republican candidates out, and not one of them but what we can rally to their support in November, if they should be nominated. That is as it should be.

After nearly five years of the "New Deal" we are still in a hard time, but the light is dawning, and we hope to be able through united effort to make changes for the better in 1938.

This is a good time for the army of job holders, while the common people suffer.—Z. J. Jones.

CLIFFORD M. MANNING FOR TAX ASSESSOR

A short time ago I read in The Union-Banner that Clifford M. Manning is running for Tax Assessor in Chilton county. For some time I have known Mr. Manning, and I can truthfully say I have never known a finer, more upright young man. He is one who thinks clearly and acts fearlessly upon his convictions. Besides being mentally alert, he has high ideals and definitely high standards of moral integrity. He is temperate, and although very young he is what we call "level-headed."

Those who know him best need not be reminded of his industrious nature. He does well the work at hand, he goes out to seek more work. His qualities would promote success in any field he might choose. I do not vote in Chilton county, but I do not think you could find a more honest, loyal, or more capable person for Tax Assessor than Clifford Manning.—John R. West.

P. M. MARTIN WRITES

Here we come again, from Union Grove. Well, Spring has come again, some folks are plowing and some are cutting stalks. By the way, some folks are not done gathering corn yet, that proves that there is plenty of corn in Beat 12. Beat 12 is known as a bad place, but don't fool yourself, for there are plenty of good folks up here.

I announced at Sunday school last Sunday for help to make some changes in our church. Monday morning by the time I got a fire going, I saw ten men coming with hammers and saws and we went to work; we worked all day Monday and half the day Tuesday. All who don't believe we are doing some good work at our church, just come next Sunday to Sunday school and see what we have done.

We are planning on doing some work on our cemetery, and if you get a letter for a little help, just send a check for five or ten dollars and say, "It is my cemetery and my loved ones are buried up there and I am going to help."

Well, I see by the adv. in the Union-Banner that we will have plenty of candidates. Come on boys, we need some good men, and you need our vote; and we are going to push you in November. So get busy, Beat 12 has a lot of new Republcians who want to vote a straight Republican ticket. I see some of the Democrats have got mighty high already, they are on the air. Those who get high at first will have best chance to fall. —P. M. Martin, Beat 12, Jemison, Rt. 2.

House Of David Plays Mitchell Dam Feb. 18

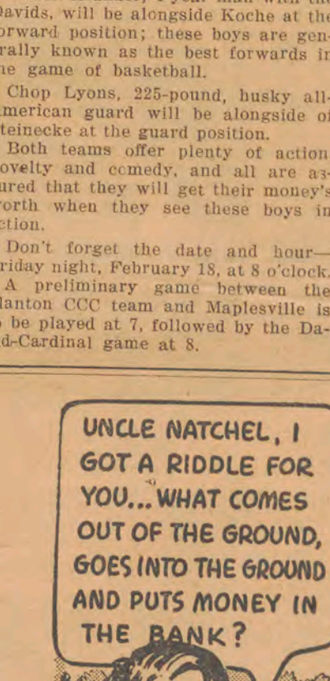
Bearded Team One Of Nation's Best. Won 151, Lost 8 Last Season. Good Show Is Guaranteed.

At exactly 8 o'clock Friday night, February 18, the Mitchell Dam Cardinals will tip off against the famous House of David basketball team, one of the best on the continent. This team won 151 games last year, losing only 8. Mitchell Dam has a good, fast team, as teams go, but they will be the under dog in this contest.

The Davids play the strongest teams to be found throughout the United States, Canada and Mexico. The fans will be in an uproar when they see Tiny Malone, giant of the team, and Steinecke, the clown of the clan. The boys are bearded, leaving the impression that they are a bit too old for basketball, but beneath the shrubbery are a set of youthful faces, and a more genial bunch of boys never smiled out from beneath a camouflage of whiskers such as these boys sport. Every boy is fast and versatile. The team as a whole is noted for fast passing, ball handling, long shots, comedy and novelty.

The local team is far from a weak organization, and the Cards are holding intensive practice in preparation for their game with the Davids. The game promises plenty of action, comedy and novelty, as well as basketball ability, and all basketball fans should see the boys in action in this game.

KOCHE and MALONE



The David line-up contains such men as Tiny Malone, 7 foot 3 inch all-conference center, of Missouri; he is also a star athlete in football and track; although he weighs 200 pounds, he really can move across the floor and play basketball. This is his first year as a professional player, as he finished college only the past season.

STEINECKE

Bill Steinecke, playing manager and diminutive guard, as well as best long shot in the game, will be with the Davids again this year, this being his ninth year with them. He finished college at DePaul University and has been active in sports ever since; he has played with the Pittsburgh Pirates of the National League, as a catcher, and was manager of the Savannah baseball club of the South Atlantic League, being sold to Jacksonville to manage the baseball club there the past season. He is the clown of the team, and he and Malone alone will warrant a good turn-out of fans; they drop-kick the ball, dribble low, and keep the fans in an uproar with their antics.

Bill Koche will be back with the Davids, having played three years with them. He is known as one of the fastest passing forwards of the day.

KLUNDER

Chuck Klunder, 4-year man with the Davids, will be alongside Koche at the forward position; these boys are generally known as the best forwards in the game of basketball.

Chop Lyons, 225-pound, husky all-American guard will be alongside of Steinecke at the guard position.

Both teams offer plenty of action, novelty and comedy, and all are assured that they will get their money's worth when they see these boys in action.

Don't forget the date and hour—Friday night, February 18, at 8 o'clock.

A preliminary game between the Clanton CCC team and Maplesville is to be played at 7, followed by the David-Cardinal game at 8.

REFUGE

Sunday school is progressing nicely at this place, something for which we are proud. Every class was well represented Sunday and also several visitors. Sunday night Rev. Lockhart preached for us. His subject was, "Righteouness Exaltheth a Nation, But Sin is a Reproach to Any People." His message was enjoyed by a goodly number.

Rev. Lockhart will preach here on the third Sunday and three Sunday nights a month. Everybody is cordially invited to all the services.

Next Sunday at 11 o'clock Bro. McMinn will preach for us. Everybody be sure and come to hear him.

IT'S no riddle why Natural Chilean Nitrate is so good for your crops.

The natural balance of nitrogen and other vital elements makes it thoroughly dependable—safe and sure. It is the natural top-dresser for your grain—the natural nitrogen for your mixed fertilizer—the natural side-dresser for your cotton and corn.

Chilean Soda is natural. Its nitrogen and all its vital elements—boron, manganese, copper, zinc, calcium, iodine and so on—are Mother Nature's own. And the big point is that these elements are all blended together in natural balance.

YESTERDAY, TODAY and TOMORROW

YESTERDAY—telephones were serving a comparatively few residences and a small number of business concerns. The service was often interrupted; research and experience were needed to solve the myriad problems of the industry. But the vision was there, for a Bell document of the 70's foresaw the extension of service to all parts of the known world.

Today—the telephone is an accepted necessity, and the quality of Bell telephone service is known as the best in the world. Long distance telephone service is available to almost everywhere on the earth, even to many liners at sea and to some passenger airplanes.

The public demand for service now requires a plant investment totaling 251 millions of dollars in the South. In 1937 telephone employes received about 26 million dollars in wages, and the business paid some 7.9 million dollars in taxes.

Tomorrow—telephone service may reasonably be expected to continue to keep a step ahead of changing conditions. The physical apparatus will change—largely through the dependable efforts of the Bell Telephone Laboratories. But the spirit of telephone people will remain unchanged, and their aim in 1938 will continue to be an unceasing effort to provide more and better telephone service, at the lowest cost consistent with the financial safety of the business.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR PARDON

State of Alabama, Chilton County.

Notice is hereby given that an application will be made to the Governor of the State of Alabama for the pardon of Otto Burnett, convicted and sentenced by the Circuit Court of Chilton County, Alabama, on January 31, 1929, for manslaughter, and sentenced to hard labor for four years in the penitentiary.—OTTO BURNETT. 2-3-2t-ch

IN MEMORY

On Friday night, January 28, 1938, at 7 o'clock, the death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Sims and took from their midst their beloved father, Joe Smith. He had been in declining health for the last few years. He was 86 years old. He was born in Coosa county near Weogufka in 1851. He had lived in Chilton county for the last 40 years.

He united with the Baptist church and lived a true Christian until his death. He was loved by all who knew him.

Funeral servies were conducted by Rev. Wood at Weogufka Baptist church in Coosa county Sunday at 11 o'clock.

Pallbearers were: Willie Smith, Raymond Smith, George Harris, Charlie Harris, and Len Dennis Smith.

He leaves to mourn his death six children, ten grand children and six great grand children; one brother, Jim Smith.

The highway building project adopted in 1935 called for the connection of all county seats by State roads. This called for the building of 6,500 miles of road. While the proceeds of the big $25,000,000 bond issues have been exhausted the project is not yet completed. Seven hundred miles are yet to be built. Five hundred miles were completed during the past year.

THE STATE BANKING EPARTMENT

The State Banking Department was created by an Act of the legslature in 1911, and is charged with the execution of all laws relating to corporations and individuals, doing or carrying on a banking business in the State of Alabama. Its chief officer is the Superintendent of Banks. He is appointed by the Governor with the approval of the Senate for a term of four years. He has to assist him a Deputy Superintendent and an Office Assistant.

There are four bank examiners whose duty it is to examine every State bank at least twice each year as directed by the Superintendent and Banking Board. The Banking Board consists of four members appointed by the Governor. Their term of office is for four years and runs concurrently with that of the Superintendent.

At the time the Banking Department was created there were 222 banks in the State which came under the supervision of the Superintendent of Banks. (In this article reference is made to State banks only. There are 66 National Banks located in Alabama, which are supervised by Compiroller of the Currency, Washington.)

These banks were capitalized at $16,992,983.60 and their total assets amounted to $62,827,751.66. There were no branch banks at that time, but two years later the records show that there were 28. The number has gradually decreased until there are now only 15 of these branch institutions.

The largest number of State Banks in operation at any one time was in 1914, when the number reached 273. There are now only 151. Many of the banks were forced to close between 1928 and 1933, and some of those closed during the moratorium in March, 1933, were never allowed to re-open.

Seventeen of the State banks are now members of the Federal Reserve System and practically all of them have their depositors protected by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

Not a State bank has failed in Alabama since the present Superintendent took charge in 1934.

When the Banking Department was created in 1911 the total deposits amounted to $37,791,892.24. The highest point reached was in 1925 when the records show a total of $135,458,073.27. During the depression deposits dropped to $44,517,719.57 in December 1932. From that point they have gradually risen to $72,671,934.98 in September 1937.

The records show that at the close of business on December 31, 1937, deposits amounted to $81,739,909.23 and total assets were $96,991,417.85.

MRS. W. G. ATKINSON DIED

Mrs. W. G. Atkinson, of Jemison, Ala., age 65, died at a local infirmary in Birmingham, Saturday a. m., February 5, at 11 o'clock. Funeral services were held at Jemison Baptist church Sunday, February 6, at 2:30 o'clock; Rev. Maurice Hodgens assisted by Bro. H. O. Hester officiating.

Pallbearers were: Ensley and Ardis Atkinson, Hugh Shaw, Clinton Ray, Erastus Cleckler, Hurlan Cobb, Pernis Hicks and Houston Lawrence.

Flower girls were: Mrs. Ella Cruise, Clara Mae Fields, Emma Cofer, Miss Mary Elizabeth Walker and Mae Merk.

She leaves to mourn her death—a husband, three daughters, six grand children, two great grand children and four sisters.

Alabama was honored by 21 workers of the Alabama Experiment Station and Extension Service appearing on the program of the 39th convention of Southern Agricultural Workers in Atlanta, February 2-4.

Prof. R. B. Johson, of Thorsby, was in Clanton Saturday.

Lesson for February 13

CONSERVING THE SABBATH FOR MAN

LESSON TEXT—Mark 2:23-3:6.
GOLDEN TEXT—And He said unto them, the Sabbath was made for man—Mark 2:27.
PRIMARY TOPIC—God's Holy Day.
JUNIOR TOPIC—God's Holy Day.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Shall I Do on Sunday?
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Using the Sabbath for the Whole Man.

"A man's soul is in a bad state when he begins to regard man-made rites and ceremonies as things of superior importance and exalts them above the preaching of the gospel. It is a symptom of spiritual disease. There is mischief within. It is too often the recourse of an uneasy conscience . . . No wonder St. Paul said to the Galatians, 'Ye observe days, and months, and times, and years. I am afraid of you, lest I have bestowed on you labor in vain.'" These are the comments of John Charles Ryle, Lord Bishop of Liverpool, on the lesson of today.

The formalists of Christ's day, the Pharisees, had overlooked the heart of God's law and the holy living which it was intended to produce, and had bound up even the observance of the Sabbath (which was intended to be a day of rest and gladness) in such a mass of technical "thou shalt nots" that it was a day of fear. They had a false outward profession of worship and had entirely missed the true spirituality of God's law, a fact which drew upon their heads the anger and rebuke of our Lord.

While we as Christians do not observe the Jewish Sabbath, there are principles of doctrine and life bound up in this lesson concerning the Sabbath which we may with profit apply to our day of rest—the first day of the week—the resurrection day, often called "the Lord's Day."

I. False Spirituality Unmasked.

The two incidents in our lesson reveal that under the cloak of earnestly observing the law of the Sabbath the Pharisees were actually covering their own hypocrisy and their hatred for Christ.

The accusations against the disciples because they had taken and eaten grain was not on the ground that they had stolen, for the law (Deut. 23:25) guaranteed that right to the one who had passed through his neighbor's field. They contended, however, that the disciples had worked on the Sabbath in picking and hulling the grain.

The healing of the man with the withered arm revealed that back of their professed concern for the Sabbath was a real hatred for Christ. It is an appalling thing that in the house of worship on the very Sabbath day these men, outwardly so religious, were plotting against our Lord. "They watched him," and even so the enemies of the cross watch us who are his followers.

II. True Spirituality Defined.

Jesus cuts across human hypocrisy and hatred to declare that the true keeping of the Sabbath is to do the work of God. No work of necessity (like plucking the grain) or of mercy (like healing the withered arm) is ever out of place on the day of rest.

How shall we know what we may do on the Lord's Day? Two guiding principles appear in our lesson. (1) Know and follow God's Word. Note the use that Jesus made of it in verses 25 and 26. No man will misuse the Sabbath or the Lord's Day who understands God's Word and obeys it. (2) Live in accordance with the spirit of the Lord Jesus. When tradition stood in the way of the best interests of man, He broke with tradition. If He could do good on the Sabbath He did it.

A word of caution is needed, for some have sought to interpret this lesson as providing biblical ground for doing all sorts of things on their day of rest. That day is for man's good, not for his destruction. His greatest good is served by rest, worship, spiritual development, Christian fellowship, and the doing of deeds of necessity and mercy.

III. Righteous Indignation Manifested.

Our Lord rightly showed His holy anger (v. 5) against his hardhearted critics. He was the Holy One who did not permit His anger to go beyond its proper expression. Man, it must be confessed, seldom is able to control and direct even his righteous indignation. But there is such a thing as being angry without sin (Eph. 4:26), and one could sometimes wish that God's children could be moved to a holy anger against all sin and unrighteousness.

RAINWATER REUNION

The descendants of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Rainwater, of Pletcher, surprised them with a visit Saturday, February 5th, the day being their 56th wedding anniversary. Each of the family brought a basket of lunch, which was spread on a table in the yard. The bountiful dinner was greatly enjoyed by all present.

Pictures were taken of different groups—one being a group of the six great-grandchildren.

Mr. Rainwater, a native of Lawrence County, came to Chilton when a young man. He married Tippy Cornelia DeRamus, a native of this county. He is now 80 years old; she is 70. They are both still able to carry on their farm duties.

All of the children were present except one, Mrs. Maudie Owens, of near Pletcher. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Rainwater, Mr. and Mrs. Erbie Rainwater, of Montgomery; Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Rainwater and children, Chester, Evelyn, Frankie and Bill. Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Rainwater, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Rainwater and children, S. B. Rainwater and children, Mrs. S. A. Stewart and children, of Autauga; Mr. and Mrs. C. M. DeRamus and son, Charles Owen, of near Maplesville; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Rainwater and son, Johnny Morris, Jr., of near Jemison.

The visitors were Mrs. C. H. Cox and children, Annie, Marie and Ella Sue, of Montgomery.

MULBERRY W. M. U. MEETING

The Mulberry W. M. U. held its regular meeting at the church Wednesday, February 2, with a large number of ladies present. Also Mrs. M. I. McLeod and Mrs. J. D. Griffin of Thorsby, as visitors.

The meeting was opened by a song and prayer, also, the W. M. U. watchword for the year. Then regular reports and business meeting was held, with each one giving a good report.

Mrs. M. I. McLeod brought to us the program from February Royal Service, with Mrs. Griffin reading the devotianal, which each one enjoyed very much.

We were sorry that all the members were not present to help us enjoy the day; we also had a delightful lunch. Be sure and come to our meeting in March. — Mrs. E. C. Grooms, Sec.

MAPLE SPRINGS

Sunday school was well attended Sunday, so let's everybody keep our Sunday school going, and come back next Sunday with a well prepared lesson.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Glenn were the past week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Glenn and children, Virdie, Virgil, Delene and Ottis.

We are glad to hear that Mr. Sam Davis, who has been in the hospital with a cut is back home again and is improving nicely. We hope that he will soon be to where he can start back to work again.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Jones spent Sunday night with Mr. W. F. Glenn and children.

Mrs. W. F. Glenn spent Sunday night with Mrs. Jack Jones who is seriously ill.

Messrs. Ottis Glenn and Kern Sandlin made a trip to Montgomery last Monday.

Mrs. Ellen Lewis and Mrs. Myrtle Lewis spent a few hours last Thursday afternoon with Mrs. W. F. Glenn and daughter, Delene.

Miss Jean Ratliff was the Saturday night guest of Miss Esther Lee Dennis.

Mr. Alton Deloach and Raymond Jones spent a few hours Sunday with Mr. Ottis Glenn.

Mr. Lee Mitchell visited Mr. Jimmie Ratliff Sunday.

Mrs. Lawton Wilson spent a few hours Sunday with Mrs. Fannie Griffin.

Mrs. Bessie Jones and daughter, and Mr. Jack Jones were in this community a while Sunday afternoon.

Ozell Atkins has been made leader of the hill culture project being conducted by the Alabama Experiment Station and Soil Conservation Service to determine and develop superior erosion-resistant plants.

OAK GROVE

We had a large crowd out at Sunday school. We had a wonderful sermon rendered to us on Saturday night, Sunday and Sunday night by our pastor, Bro. Green.

They have brought little Mary Alice Ellison from the hospital to her grandparents', Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Cobb.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Cobb are improving after a long illness.

Misses Grace and Ciller Robinson visited Mr. and Mrs. Robinson Sunday.

Willie Frank Northcutt was the dinner guest of Misses Roberta and Gladys Satterwhite Sunday.

Miss Mary Jim Sutley visited her parents during the week end.

Mrs. Clyde Lucas and Miss Mildred Durban visited Mrs. Jim Cobb and family during the week end.

Mrs. Ida Mathews visited Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Northcutt Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Houston Porter visited Mr. and Mrs. Allen Cobb Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Satterwhite visited Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Cobb Sunday.

We had a nice singing Sunday afternoon. The directors were too numerous to mention. We thank everyone for coming out to help us.

Ruth Cobb visited her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Collum, at Oak Hill Saturday.

Willie Jean Northcutt visited Lucile Crumpton Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Z. R. Wells, of Kansas City, and Marseilles, Ill., the former home of the late Mr. N. Laurell and family until 1906, are visiting Mrs. N. Laurell and son, Adolph N. Laurell, and wife. They have visited here three times and like the South. They have a home in Florida, near Orlando, but are going from here to Atlanta, Ga.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our many friends and relatives for the sympathy and kindness shown us during the illness and death of our loving wife and mother, Mary Atkinson. And also for the beautiful floral offerings.—W. G. Atkinson and Daughter.

YOU hear a lot about 1938 models . . . 90-horse power engines . . . longer wheel base . . . unisteel bodies . . . four wheel brakes, etc. But let us tell you about our engines and cars . . . Locomotives, —hundreds of them—with 1600 horse power and more "under the hood" . . . Coaches and Pullmans with all the "new car" features—no-draft ventilation —dust proof—completely air-conditioned.

Steel bodies? We have had them for years! Brakes —the best kind built—air compression. Safety is our watchword, you know. Why, we haven't killed a passenger in a train accident for over 20 years.

What about economy, you say? 2 cents a mile in coaches, 2¼ to 3 cents a mile in Pullmans. We figure all these features just about make train travel the cheapest and most satisfactory you can use.

Editor Union-Banner:

On last Friday afternoon the Farmers Union of this section was favored with a visit by the president and secretary of the State Union. A representative audience was present. The meeting was called to order by the writer, who after invocation, introduced the County President, Hon. B. L. Cobb, who presided over the meeting. Mr. Cobb then introduced Mr. Gresham Smith, County Union Organizer, who made an earnest address, portraying his deep interest in unionism, and devotion to its cause. His talk was interesting.

Next the State Union President, Mr. Burkett, of Walker County, was called to the floor. He made an enthusiastic talk on what the order is doing, its militant growth and undying principles. Next was State Secretary, Mr. Stewart, who stressed some union tenets, chiefly its opposition to the Credit and Mortgage system, stressing self denial as a means to success.

Last, was our own B. L. Cobb; he set forth a vast array of facts, and evidence, as to the benefits of unionism among "Dirt Farmers." Facts, that reached home to the average farmer; evidence portraying what had been accomplished right here among us recently, and what was in our reach for the future.

It was a real good meeting, bringing hope and cheer for the farmer and his family. The meeting carried conviction with it, causing others to think, and take on new life, as they became more educated as to the program of the F. E. and C. U. of A.

Finally we thanked those gentlemen for their timely visit to West Chilton, and most cordially invite them back again.

Over in West Chilton we are discussing our candidates, and the general political situation. We find we have a lot of worthy Republican candidates out, and not one of them but what we can rally to their support in November, if they should be nominated. That is as it should be.

After nearly five years of the "New Deal" we are still in a hard time, but the light is dawning, and we hope to be able through united effort to make changes for the better in 1938.

CLIFFORD M. MANNING FOR TAX ASSESSOR

A short time ago I read in The Union-Banner that Clifford M. Manning is running for Tax Assessor in Chilton county. For some time I have known Mr. Manning, and I can truthfully say I have never known a finer, more upright young man. He is one who thinks clearly and acts fearlessly upon his convictions. Besides being mentally alert, he has high ideals and definitely high standards of moral integrity. He is temperate, and although very young he is what we call "level-headed."

Those who know him best need not be reminded of his industrious nature. He does well the work at hand, he goes out to seek more work. His qualities would promote success in any field he might choose. I do not vote in Chilton county, but I do not think you could find a more honest, loyal, or more capable person for Tax Assessor than Clifford Manning.—John R. West.

P. M. MARTIN WRITES

Here we come again, from Union Grove. Well, Spring has come again, some folks are plowing and some are cutting stalks. By the way, some folks are not done gathering corn yet, that proves that there is plenty of corn in Beat 12. Beat 12 is known as a bad place, but don't fool yourself, fo. there are plenty of good folks up here.

I announced at Sunday school last Sunday for help to make some changes in our church. Monday morning by the time I got a fire going, I saw ten men coming with hammers and saws and we went to work; we worked all day Monday and half the day Tuesday. All who don't believe we are doing some good work at our church, just come next Sunday to Sunday school and see what we have done.

We are planning on doing some work on our cemetery, and if you get a letter for a little help, just send a check for five or ten dollars and say, "It is my cemetery and my loved ones are buried up there and I am going to help."

Well, I see by the adv. in the Union-Banner that we will have plenty of candidates. Come on boys, we need some good men, and you need our vote; and we are going to push you in November. So get busy, Beat 12 has a lot of new Republicans who want to vote a straight Republican ticket. I see some of the Democrats have got mighty high already, they are on the air. Those who get high at first will have best chance to fall. —P. M. Martin, Beat 12, Jemison, Rt. 2.

House Of David Plays Mitchell Dam Feb. 18

Bearded Team One Of Nation's Best. Won 151, Lost 8 Last Season. Good Show Is Guaranteed.

At exactly 8 o'clock Friday night, February 18, the Mitchell Dam Cardinals will tip off against the famous House of David basketball team, one of the best on the continent. This team won 151 games last year, losing only 8. Mitchell Dam has a good, fast team, as teams go, but they will be the under dog in this contest.

The Davids play the strongest teams to be found throughout the United States, Canada and Mexico. The fans will be in an uproar when they see Tiny Malone, giant of the team, and Steinecke, the clown of the clan. The boys are bearded, leaving the impression that they are a bit too old for basketball, but beneath the shrubbery are a set of youthful faces, and a more genial bunch of boys never smiled out from beneath a camouflage of whiskers such as these boys sport. Every boy is fast and versatile. The team as a whole is noted for fast passing, ball handling, long shots, comedy and novelty.

The local team is far from a weak organization, and the Cards are holding intensive practice in preparation for their game with the Davids. The game promises plenty of action, comedy and novelty, as well as basketball ability, and all basketball fans should see the boys in action in this game.

KOCHE and MALONE

The David line-up contains such men as Tiny Malone, 7 foot 3 inch all-conference center, of Missouri; he is also a star athlete in football and track; although he weighs 200 pounds, he really can move across the floor and play basketball. This is his first year as a professional player, as he finished college only the past season.

STEINECKE

Bill Steinecke, playing manager and diminutive guard, as well as best long shot in the game, will be with the Davids again this year, this being his ninth year with them. He finished college at DePaul University and has been active in sports ever since; he has played with the Pittsburgh Pirates of the National League, as a catcher, and was manager of the Savannah baseball club of the South Atlantic League, being sold to Jacksonville to manage the baseball club there the past season. He is the clown of the team, and he and Malone alone will warrant a good turn-out of fans; they drop-kick the ball, dribble low, and keep the fans in an uproar with their antics.

Bill Koche will be back with the Davids, having played three years with them. He is known as one of the fastest passing forwards of the day.

KLUNDER

Chuck Klunder, 4-year man with the Davids, will be alongside Koche at the forward position; these boys are generally known as the best forwards in the game of basketball.

Chop Lyons, 225-pound, husky all-American guard will be alongside of Steinecke at the guard position.

Both teams offer plenty of action, novelty and comedy, and all are assured that they will get their money's worth when they see these boys in action.

Don't forget the date and hour—Friday night, February 18, at 8 o'clock.

A preliminary game between the Clanton CCC team and Maplesville is to be played at 7, followed by the David-Cardinal game at 8.

Sunday school is progressing nicely at this place, something for which we are proud. Every class was well represented Sunday and also several visitors. Sunday night Rev. Lockhart preached for us. His subject was, "Righteouness Exaltheth a Nation, But Sin is a Reproach to Any People." His message was enjoyed by a goodly number.

Rev. Lockhart will preach here on the third Sunday and three Sunday nights a month. Everybody is cordially invited to all the services.

Next Sunday at 11 o'clock Bro. McMinn will preach for us. Everybody be sure and come to hear him.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Mims and little daughter, Vera Nell, of Sylacauga, were visitors here last week end.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Towns dined with Mr. and Mrs. Willie Mims Sunday.

Mrs. Angline Minor spent the afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Mims Sunday.

IT'S no riddle why Natural Chilean Nitrate is so good for your crops.

The natural balance of nitrogen and other vital elements makes it thoroughly dependable—safe and sure. It is the natural top-dresser for your grain—the natural nitrogen for your mixed fertilizer—the natural side-dresser for your cotton and corn.

Chilean Soda is natural. Its nitrogen and all its vital elements—boron, manganese, copper, zinc, calcium, iodine and so on—are Mother Nature's own. And the big point is that these elements are all blended together in natural balance.

"Dat's de secrut, folks," says Uncle Natchel. "Natchel balance an' blend. Dat's whut counts."

SOCIETY

Mrs. L. F. Gerald Hostess—

Members of the Thursday Contract Club enjoyed a spend-the-day party at the home of Mrs. L. F. Gerald Thursday of last week.

The home was decorated with baskets of spring flowers. The table was covered with a lace cloth, and centered with a crystal bowl of red carnations, on either side of which stood crystal candelabra holding white lighted tapers. The Valentine idea was carried out in decorations and place cards.

Bridge was enjoyed before and after the luncheon hour. High score prize was awarded Mrs. J. Hugh Jones. Guest prize fell to Mrs. N. S. Johnson.

The club members and guests enjoying this delightful affair were: Mesdames J. P. Hayes, J. Lee Smith, Dick Hayes, Hugh Jones, H. M. Simpson, Arthur Johnson, Joe Mullins, Frank Scott, John Mullins, Grady Reynolds, N. S. Johnson, Claude C. Craig.

Clanton Study Club Meets With Mrs. Joe Mullins—

Members of the Clanton Study Club met with Mrs. Joe Mullins on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The home was effectively decorated in a profusion of jonquils and other spring flowers.

After a short business session, presided over by Mrs. Mullins, club president, a most interesting program on Alabama poetry was enjoyed. Mrs. Omar Reynolds, in her usual charming manner, gave a most interesting paper on Martha Lyman Shillite. Mary Henderson Hay and other poets were discussed most charmingly by Mrs. J. Hugh Jones.

Roll call was answered by each member responding with highlights of Alabama.

Mrs. Mullins served tempting refreshments to her guests. The members welcomed Mrs. J. W. Fant and Mrs. V. J. Gragg into the club as new members.

The members and guests present were Mesdames J. Watts Moore, J. P. Hayes, Hugh Jones, Dick Hayes, John Mullins, J. E. Gowan, Horsley White, M. F. Jones, M. L. White, J. W. Fant, Frank Scott.

Wednesday Contract Club Entertained by Mrs. L. F. Gerald—

Mrs. L. F. Gerald was hostess to members of the Wednesday Bridge Club at 2:30 o'clock last Wednesday afternoon.

Three tables were arranged for bridge in the spacious living room and music room, which were decorated in spring flowers.

High score prize was awarded Mrs. John Deramus. At a late hour delicious refreshments were served to Mesdames Grady Reynolds, Omar Reynolds, John Armstrong, Hugh Simpson, Frank Callen, Arthur Johnson, John Deramus, J. Watts Moore.

Mrs. Hugh Jones Entertains Thursday Contract Club—

Mrs. James Hugh Jones was hostess to members of her card club on last Thursday afternoon.

Two tables were arranged for bridge in the living and dining rooms, which were decorated in baskets of jonquil and flowering quince.

High score prize, two dainty guest towels, were awarded Mrs. James Wade. Guest prize, a pretty tea pot, fell to Mrs. John McSwean.

Tempting refreshments were served to Mesdames J. P. Hayes, J. Lee Smith, Arthur Johnson, James Wade, John Mullins, John McSwean, John Deramus, Dick Hayes.

Mr. Howard Mahaffey of LaGrange, Ga., spent the week end here with friends.

Miss Edna Williams of Verbena spent Friday night with Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hayes.

Mr. Floyd Smith, who has been in Clanton for the past three months, has been transferred to Prattville. Mr. Smith left Monday, and will still be connected with the health department.

Mrs. John McSwean was a visitor in Montgomery Friday.

Mrs. John Deramus Hostess—

Mrs. John Deramus entertained the members of the Wednesday Contract Club at her home last Wednesday afternoon.

The spacious living room was effectively decorated with jonquils and flowering quince.

Three tables were arranged for bridge. High score prize was awarded Mrs. Hugh Simpson.

Delicious refreshments were served at a late hour by the hostess, assisted by her sister, Mrs. J. Watts Moore.

The guests included Mesdames J. C. Burnett, J. Hance Alred, Omar Reynolds, John Armstrong, Frank Callen, N. S. Johnson, Arthur Johnson, James Wade, J. P. Hayes, Hugh Jones, Dick Hayes, Hugh Simpson.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hayes returned Monday from a few days visit with Mrs. Hayes' parents in Andalusia. They will leave February 15 for Pasadena, Calif., where Mr. Hayes will train with the Chicago White Sox. Mrs. Hayes will be away about two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Mullins and little son of Eufaula were the week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. Reese Mullins.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hayes spent Monday in Birmingham on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Rother Harris of Birmingham spent the week end here with Mr. and Mrs. Archie Harris.

Mrs. James Wade, Mrs. J. Hance Alred, Mrs. Dubb Huddleston, and Mrs. J. C. Burnett are spending two weeks in Ft. Myers and Miami, Fla.

Mrs. Jack Hayes and Mrs. Claudie Pipes were visitors in Montgomery last Friday.

Mr. Bill Suttles, who operated the Clanton bowling alley here for several months has moved to Selma.

Mr. James Wade and Mr. Dubb Huddleston spent the week end in Tuskegee with Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Huddleston, Sr.

Dr. and Mrs. V. J. Gragg and little granddaughter, and Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Downs are spending some time in Miami, Fla.

Little Misses Pat and Anne Huddleston are spending two weeks in Tuskegee with their aunt, Mrs. Howe, while their mother is in Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wood have moved into the Guy Higgins home in Candles Terrace.

Mr. W. A. Reynolds is suffering from an accident which occurred last week near Luverne. Mr. Reynolds is in St. Margaret's Hospital.

Mr. Lawrence Gerald, Jr., a student at Tuscaloosa, spent the week end here with his parents.

Mr. Barney Burnett of Montevallo was a visitor here last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Mullins and little daughter, Mary Elizabeth, Mrs. George McCain, and Mrs. C. C. Craig spent Monday in Montgomery.

Mr. G. D. Broadhead of Montgomery was a visitor here Saturday.

MT CARMEL

Mr. Tom Foshee came home Monday after several weeks in a Selma hospital. He is doing fine at this writing.

There was a good crowd present at services Saturday night and Sunday.

We were very glad to have the ten visitors and eight new members at Sunday school.

The W. M. U. met Saturday evening with eight members, two visitors and one new member. Let's do better next meeting, which will be February 19th.

We regret Mrs. Nix was sick and could not be with us. We wish her a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McKee and the latter's parents spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Davenport.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Oden of Isabella, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Silas Oden.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Mims visited Mr and Mrs. T. R. Sims Sunday afternoon.

Mr. T. R. Sims left Monday for the veterans hospital in Tuscaloosa. He is expected to be gone for some time. However, we hope he will improve fast.

Mr. and Mrs. Sewell attended the veteran's meeting at Clanton Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. J. C. Scott and children spent last Saturday with her parents.

There will be a quilting at Mrs. Silas Oden's on Thursday of this week. The ladies are all invited.

Miss Wilodean Ratliff spent Wednesday night of last week with Miss Gladys Oden.

Friends of Miss Helen Diefenderfer will be glad to learn that she was able to return to her school in Georgia, after an illness.

FIRES PLAY HAVOC WITH FOREST PINES

The Alabama Experiment Station has definite proof that loblolly, slash and shortleaf pines are almost entirely destroyed by annaul burning and that longleaf pines are badly damaged, according to information just received by County Agent, J. W. Fant, from Lyle Brown. forester of the Alabama Extension Service.

"At the end of the fourth year the loblolly, which is our most common "old field" pine, showed 86 per cent of the unburned plot were alive," says the report. "The plot burned once at the end of its fourth year had 19 per cent living, while the plot burned the second and fourth year had 8 per cent alive and the one burned every year did not have a single tree alive.

"The slash pine had 82 per cent alive on the unburned plot, 40 per cent living on the one burned at the end of the fourth year, 21 per cent alive after two fires, and 1.2 per cent surviving after four annual fires.

"The shortleaf had 99 per cent alive on the unburned plot with only 6 per cent living on the plot burned annually for four years.

"Longleaf on the protected plot had 73 per cent living, 52 per cent after one burn at the end of the fourth year, 42 per cent after two fires at two and four years of age, and 48 per cent on the annually burned plot. The longleaf does not begin height growth until several years after planting and is able to stand fire better than the other three species."

Saturday night and Sunday was our regular preaching dates, and we really had some good preaching. We wish everybody could have heard the sermon.

We are starting a Bible class Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. Everybody come and enjoy our class.

Rev. Gray is going to preach at this place the 3rd Sunday in this month. He has preached here once before and he sure did deliver a good sermon.

Everybody remember Rev. J. R. Cost will be back with us next 1st Saturday night and Sunday. If you don't go to church any place else, remember, Robinson Springs always welcome you.

Late reports from Birmingham say that Clarence Mullins, Jr., who was injured in an automobile accident a month ago, is still in a serious condition in a Birmingham hospital.

Lewis Is Boomed For White House

Suggestion Made At Mine Workers' Parley At Washington Recently

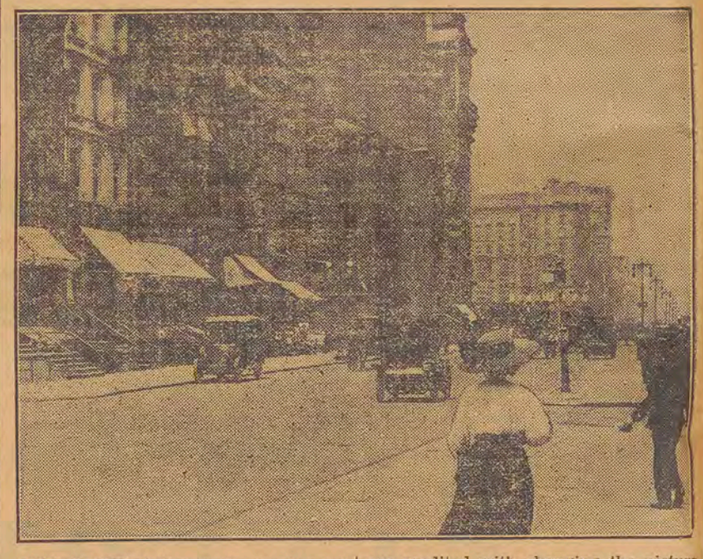
Washington, Feb. 3.—Two thousand shouting delegates to the United Mine Workers thirty-fifth convention heard John L. Lewis boomed for the presidency Thursday.

Frank Hayes, lieutenant governor of Colorado and Lewis' predecessor as president of the miners, expressed hope that some day the union would place one of its members in the White House. He added that the union had the material in Lewis.

When the delegates cheered this remark, Hayes said he wished the miners' convention was the Democratic national convention.

Just before the convention adjourned Thursday, Lewis said the union's policy for the next two years would be to support "any logical course of action to protect our republic".

The convention directed Lewis to demand a 30-hour week in the 1939 wage and hour negotiations with the soft coal operators. An anthracite district convention will determine demands to be presented to anthracite operators.



The miners picked Columbus, O., for their 1940 convention because the union was organized in that city in January, 1890, by consolidation of Knights of Labor locals and the National Federation of Miners.

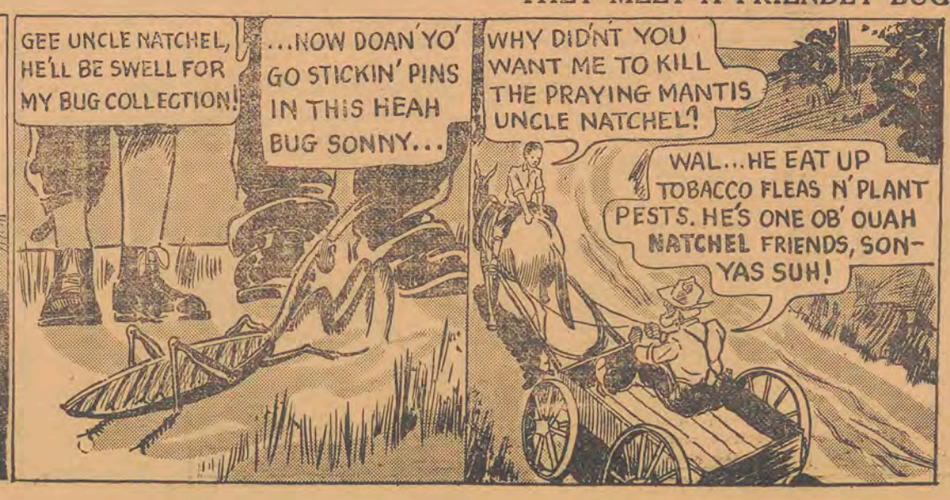
World's Busiest Street?



JUST LOOK at that traffic roaring by! Yes, sir, that's New York's famous Fifth Avenue, looking toward 42nd Street. And the lady in the stylish white shirtwaist and the snappy little straw skimmer had better be careful when she gets to the corner because you know how those horseless carriage drivers swing around the turns. With the national automobile show approaching, Consumers Information dug out this picture, taken in 1907, to show what a difference 30 years can make. The picture below shows Fifth Avenue as it is today. Advertising which created the demand, and research which perfected the product, are credited with changing the picture from that of 1907, when only a few thousand cars were on the country's roads, to that of today, with almost 30,000,000. The few small manufacturers of 30 years ago advertised to sell their primitive cars, which cost around $3,000 for a "medium-priced" model. They created a bigger demand than they could fill, and so bigger factories, increased employment, and constantly better automobiles resulted. And today we can buy an infinitely superior car for about one-fifth of the price, while half a million men are directly employed in the industry, compared to a few thousand at the time this picture was taken.

Utility Purchase Parleys Renewed

Alabama Power Officials And Governor Graves Confer Again

Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 3.—Governor Graves and Thomas W. Martin, president of the Alabama Power Company, renewed discussions Thursday of possibilities of state or federal agencies acquiring private electric utilities operating in Tennessee Valley Authority territory.

The conference, third within less than a month, continued half an hour after capitol closing time.

Hugh White, Fitzhugh Lee and Grant Harrison, members of the Alabama Public Service Commission; A. J. Carmichael, attorney general, and Horace Wilkinson, Birmingham lawyer, sat in with Graves on the conference. Martin was accompanied by Jerry Turner, power company general counsel.

Martin recently voiced approval of a suggestion by Wendell L. Willkie, president of Common-wealth & Southern Cooporation, that states or TVA purchase private utilities in the Tennessee Valley area. Commonwealth & Southern, a holding company, controls the Alabama Power Co.

Governor Graves said recently discussions had been under way 6 months on a proposition of state and federal agencies "joining hands" in acquisition of utilities under one or more of a state "New Deal" acts passed by the 1935 Legislature.

CENTER HILL

We were very sorry to hear of the death of Mrs. Mary Jane Atkinson, wife of Mr. W. G. Atkinson of Jemison. Mrs. Atkinson had been sick for some time and had been carried to a Birmingham hospital about a month ago. She leaves to mourn her death—a husband and three daughters, and a host of other relatives and friends. She was buried in Pine Hill cemetery Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Leo Cobb is here from Washington, where he has been employed the past year in a florist shop. He says that work is scarce there, and many people are walking the streets hunting work.

Mrs. Lloyd Cobb and daughter, Peggy Sue, spent the week end in Montgomery.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernice Lowery and sons, and Miss Imogene Cobb spent Sunday in Providence community.

Mrs. Harvey Gentry and sons, of Birmingham, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Gentry went home Thursday.

Mr. Frank Leslie spent Saturday in Montgomery.

Mrs. B. L. Cobb went to Clanton Monday, and while there visited her daughter, Mrs. Lewis Gillespie.

The party given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Cobb Wednesday night was greatly enjoyed by all who attended.

Mr. V. T. Cobb was able to go to church Saturday. We are glad to have him out again.

Mr. Fred Lowery is staying with his sister, Mrs. J. E. Cobb, and Mr. Cobb.

Mrs. J. E. Cobb, Miss Mable Cobb, Mrs. Lonnie Cobb and sons, and Charles Reilus visited Mrs. Rufus Aldress Thursday.

The Farmers' Union meeting Thursday p. m., was very interesting, and as a person who doesn't belong to the union, I think that I can say that they told the farmers some very good things. If the farmers would organize and then stick, they could have things going their way. And if farmers don't do something for themselves, no one else will—you may be quiet sure.

Next Sunday is our regular preaching day. We invite every one to come and be with us.

Mr. and Mrs. George Thornbro, of Birmingham, and daughter, Jeanette, of Birmingham, spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. Comer Lenoir, and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Alphus Dennis.

Mr. and Mrs. Euell Price, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Neal and Miss Bernice Sprawlings of Green Springs, were the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Price Sunday, and attended Mrs. Atkinson's funeral Sunday p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Cobb of Brierfield, spent Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. V. T. Cobb.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cobb spent Sunday p. m. with Mr. and Mrs. V. T. Cobb.

LET US HONOR ABE LINCOLN

Saturday of this week, February 12th, is the birthday of that statesman and champion of American ideals, Abraham Lincoln, and we should do his great name the honor of pausing and pondering some of the lofty principles which he enunciated and brought into being. Let us read the Gettysburg Address of the great president:

Lincoln's Gettysburg Address

"Fourscore and seven years ago our fathers brought forth upon this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this. But in a larger sense we cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we cannot hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note, nor long remember, what we say here; but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us, that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain; that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people, and for the people, shall not perish from the earth".

MAKE IT PLAIN, MAJOR

(From The Selma Times-Journal)

In the current issue of the Chilton County News, published by the energetic Billy Smith, appears a big political puff for the expected gubernatorial candidacy of Major Frank Dixon. In streamer type, readers of the News are informed that the cause of Major Dixon is gaining state-wide support and that Montgomery's Mayor Gunter is among those planning to back the Birmian.

As far as we know, this article may have been written strictly on its merits as a news story, but it is likely that it will do Major Dixon more harm than good when reports that the name of Publisher Smith has just been added to the payroll of the state Beverage Control Board gain wider circulation.

While a complimentary political story in a newspaper published by a state employe does not necessarily mean that it was printed under orders, voters will be hard to persuade that a commitment of this kind would be made without sanction from high places. And any conviction in the minds of voters that Major Dixon is being boomed by the Graves machine would offset in large measure recent persistent reports that the pie eaters are without a candidate and are desperately trying to develop one.

At the present time, the Times-Journal is still in mourning for Miller and is not interested in any cadidate beyond scanning each for anti-pie crusade potentialities. But to the end that everybody concerned gets a fair break, it intends to report any indications of political maneuvering to mislead the voters.

Therefore, it repeats past admonitions to Major Dixon that he put himself completely in the clear if he intends to run, as he asserts, independent of the Graves machine.

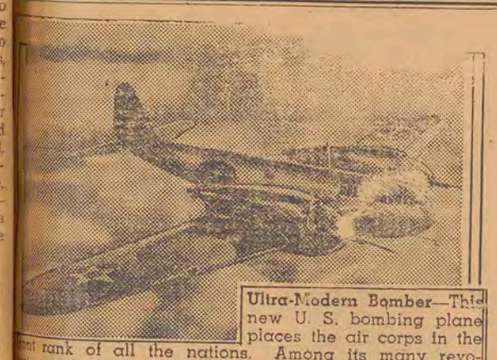
A BIRTHDAY DINNER

Last Friday, February 4, children, grand children and friends met at the home of Mrs. F. E. Courtney to celebrate her 85th birthday.

There was plenty of entertainment for everybody. In the morning and at the noon hour a bountiful dinner was served under the shade trees to a great host of friends and relatives.

At four o'clock, everybody left wishing her many, many more happy birthdays.

NOTICE TO NON-RESIDENT



The State of Alabama, Chilton County. Circuit Court in Equity. No. 1494. February, 1938. James Loomis Kelley, Complainant, vs. Helen Kelley, Defendant.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of Raymond Mims that the Defendant is a non-resident, and that her place of residence and post office address is unknown, and that such address cannot be ascertained after reasonable effort; and, further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the Defendant is of the age of twenty-one years:

It is therefore, ordered by the Register that publication be made in the Union-Banner, a newspaper published in the County of Chilton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring her, the said Helen Kelley, to plead, answer, or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 14th day of March, 1938, or, in thirty days thereafter, a degree pro confesso may be taken against her.

TIGERS TRIPPED ISABELLA HIGH FOR SEASON'S THIRTEENTH WIN

Floor Show Put On In Grand Style As Locals Take Hard Luck Hurdle Easily By 42 To 15 Count

A Tiger basketball machine showing as much class and polish as anything seen in this section of the state in years took the hard luck hurdle, their 13th game of the season, in grand style last Thursday night, beating back the well known "unlucky 13" superstition by polishing off the Isabella quint easily, 42 to 15.

It looked for a few minutes as if that unlucky 13 might live up to its name and give the Tigers some trouble, as the determined Isabella team kept within striking distance almost throughout the first quarter. But to begin the second quarter, the Orange and Blue machine got all oiled up and slipped away from their rivals, and from then on it was merely a question of how big the score would be.

Late in the game, with the fans calling "Roll that ball", the Tigers gave them an exhibition of their curious, exciting, but very effective formation in which all passes are made by rolling the ball on the floor. This play is spectacular, and never fails to get a hand from the fans. When the boys start "rolling the ball" local fans have come to expect just one thing—two more points. It never fails to end by being rolled directly under the basket, where there is always someone to ease it over the ring.

In winning their 13 games, the Tigers have scored 432 points to 243 for their opponents. They are pointing for the Selma tournament, and many local fans are making preparation to follow them down and watch them "do their stuff".

RABBIT HUNT AT SHOULTS

The Shoults annual rabbit hunt will take place February 12 at 7 o'clock. We will meet on top of Okmulga hill. Boys under 8 years of age will not be allowed in the hunt. We have 24 dogs for the rabbit race. We will elect a hunt advisor and secretary. No one will be allowed to carry a gun. The one showing the most rabbit tails at the end of the hunt will receive The Union-Banner for 6 months. — Uncle Remus.

NOTICE

To all officers and leaders of 4-H Clubs of Chilton County:

On Saturday, February 12, a meeting will be held in the city hall for the purpose of organizing a County 4-H Council. This council will be a joint council for both boys and girls, and we are anxious to have a strong organization that will meet the needs for developing our future program of work, making plans for our 4-H rally, our camp for the summer, and any other plans we see fit to develop.

Won't each of the clubs please endeavor to discuss this with your officers and leaders, help find ways to get each other to and from this meeting, and make your plans to be here by 9:30. Bring a light lunch with you, for it might be necessary that we continue to meet for a while in the afternoon.

Looking forward to having you, and trusting our new County Council will be both interesting and profitable.—Meta E. Grace, Home Demonstration Agent; B. N. Ivey, Assistant County Agent, in 4-H Club Work.

ANTIOCH

Our Christian Endeavor met Sunday night with a large attendance. The meeting was called to order by our president, Mr. Arthur Crane. Miss Willie Pearl Rasberry rendered a good program, after which Miss Ruthie Nell Hayes gave out the program for next Sunday night. We were then dismissed by Rev. R. M. Stillwell.

Our Christian Endeavor is growing rapidly. The young people seem to be taking greater interest, and we hope before the year is over to have a 100 per cent Christian Endeavor.

Our Sunday school is not doing so well at present. We urge everyone to come and help.

Rev. R. M. Stillwell and family were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. Grady Culp and family at Pleasant Grove.

Mr. and Mrs. Hand were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Sunday.

Mrs. Bessie Sewell and Lois Sewell were guests of Mrs. Hand Monday.

Miss Willie Pearl Roseberry was hostess to several guests Sunday.

Mrs. Emma Ratliff had as her guests Sunday afternoon, her son, Earnest Ratliff, and family.

Mr. Leon Hayes, of Tuscaloosa, was the week end guest of Mr. W. E. Hayes and family.—Pauline Stillwell.

STATEMENT FROM DR. V. J. GRAGG

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me to make a statement to the public:

I disliked very much to leave several patients in the hospital, as well as others in my private practice who were depending on me, but I had been expecting since first being severely sick in the earlier part of December, that the hospital would find an idle spell when it would not miss my presence.

Then the hospital needs some repairs and renovation, so I had thought maybe we could close down for a few days for renovation and much needed repairs. However, the hospital kept nearly full in spite of my being really too sick to do much. For several days last month there were only one to three vacant beds.

Being forced to leave, because of again getting down in bed, we secured the services of Miss Annie H. Gardner as superintendent, who will, we feel sure, see that everything pertaining to the hospital is properly conducted until my return, which I hope will be on or before February 20th. In the meantime anyone going to the hospital will be amply provided for.

If I am in better health, as I hope to be, and it is the will and pleasure of the directors; we will make very extensive repairs in the hospital and give it a general "overhual" such as will meet the requirements of the most fastidious patients. Hoping to soon be back with you, I am,

Yours Truly,
Dr V. J. Gragg.

MULBERRY W. M. U. MEETS

Mulberry Baptist church W. M. U. spent a most delightful and profitable day Wednesday, February 2, in general assembly. Mrs. J. Wells, president, presided over the morning session, at which, after a short devotional, officers made reports and outlined plans for the coming year.

After a refreshing lunch, Mrs. M. I. McLeod and Mrs. J. D. Griffin, who were our delightful guests, rendered the Royal Service program, Mrs. Griffin reading the devotional and Mrs. McLeod discussing the program. It was a most inspiring day. Our deep appreciation to Mrs. McLeod and Mrs. Griffin, and we hope to have them with us again soon.

PROVIDENCE—BEAT 13

Next Sunday afternoon, February 13, is our singing date. We wish to extend to every singer and listener a cordial invitation.

Our Sunday school is progressing nicely. We had several new members last Sunday.

Attending the State Republican Committee meeting last Friday in Birmingham were: J. N. Dennis, J. O. Middleton and T. E. Wyatt from Chilton county.

Rep. Albert Thomas of Texas is going to base his campaign for reelection to congress on his outstanding record in getting federal money for his district. He says that's half the job of a member of congress. And is the other half getting enough taxes out of the rest of the country to pay the costs?—Kansas City Times.

Col. Leonard P. Ayres, the well known economist, remarks that "probably it is true that no country stricken by a depression ever before faced a recovery problem that was so simple in its economic terms and so complex in its political terms". Well, the lesson of it is that a dreadful mess can be made of economics when politicians turn economists.—Kansas City Times.

Evidently the business world didn't catch its breath during the last breathing spell.—Charleston Mail.

GOVERNMENT BY SPITE

Save as a political red herring the president's extreme attitude toward the utilities has never made sense. At the present time it is as damaging to labor as it is to everyone else. The president is surely not going to insist that the nation spiral downward into a prolonged depression; yet a death sentence upon the utilities can look in no other direction. The only reasonable explanation is to classify his stand with his other intensely personal actions which have cut across every principle of policy and self-interest and to ascribe it to some deep-seated prejudice.

The point seems to us important. For, as the Supreme Court battle disclosed, neither congress nor the country relishes government by spite. If no one loves a utility, neither does anyone like presidential actions to be the product of sheer wilfulness. We hope that the president's latest descent to the level of personal rule will receive the rebuff in congress that it deserves.—New York Herald-Tribune.

GOVERNMENT COMPETITION

The proposal made by Wendell Willkie, head of the Commonwealth and Southern, which operates utilities in the Tennessee Valley, that the government purchase CS properties to protect the thousands of investors in the utility's securities against losing their investments, due to the TVA, has served once more to call to the attention of the public the deadliness to private business of government competition. It is generally believed that Mr. Willkie's offer was made in good faith, yet there is serious doubt whether it will be accepted by congress.

But the government power activities in the Tennessee Valley and the present developments only go to show that government interference in private business with its unfair competition can lead only to federal ownership and socialism. The unfairness is not only to the utility investor but to the taxpayer. Government funds, raised in every state in the nation, are invested, without hope of adequate return, in the Tennessee Valley for the purported benefit of those who use electricity there. Nobody expects the government to get the money back. But the citizens in New England, California, Florida and the Middle West are compelled to put up the cash to give cheaper electricity to those who live in the Tennessee Valley.

Meanwhile, there is a demand for congressional investigation of the whole TVA federal adventure because of charges of extreme inefficiency and extravagance. Whether such investigation will be made is problematical, but it should be made. As the Philadelphia Sunday Dispatch said recently:

"For a long time there have been rumors of irregularities in the operation of TVA, starting with the sensational disclosures of ex-Comptroller McCarl concerning waste and inefficiency. It has been said by men in position to know that TVA's system of bookkeeping makes it next to impossible to judge, from the bare records, precisely how much money is spent in many instances.

"If it is true that there has been an excessive amount of preventable waste in the operation of the TVA, the public, which pays the bills, is entitled to know about it. If it is not true, the rumors should be dissipated in the interest of fairness to the TVA directors and employes.

"Under any circumstances, it will be interesting to see how the senators vote if and when a resolution for investigating the TVA is offered. Congress has always been more than willing to investigate and condemn the private utility industry, and often on the flimsiest pretexts. It has done this, according to spokesmen, in the public interest. Will it be as zealous of the public interest when it comes to disclosing the truth and the whole truth about its own creature, the TVA?"

London has been plagued with the worst fog in years. Where it came from is not certain, but a good many people suspect it spread from the foreign office.—Norfolk Virginian-Pilot.

Sometimes it seems to us that the heartless New Deal doesn't understand our plight. Our pressing need is minimum work and maximum wage.—Stamford Advocate.

Great Britain, according to cable dispatches, is cheered by the increase in the number of new babies and building permits. Maybe they planned it that way.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

BY FRANK P. LITSCHERT

Observers in Washington and elsewhere are pointing out the change that has come over the political as well as economic picture in one short year of the second four years of the New Deal. When Roosevelt was swept back into office by a landslide in November, 1936, it seemed that we were riding a second wave of prosperity. Extra dividends and bonuses were common news in every publication. Warnings by some economists that the excess profits tax would lead us into trouble were dismissed as the croaking of confirmed pessimists. It seemed also that the political opposition to the New Deal had been smashed and we were entering into another era of good feeling.

Now when 12 short months have passed the economic and political situations have changed. We have gone into another business depression, or at least into a recession. The "pump priming" theory of restoring prosperity seems to have backfired and the unbalanced budget continues as unbalanced as ever. There seems to be a general difference of opinion as to what ought to be done, and congress and the administration are marking time.

We will soon be on the edge of another congressional election. Primaries will be upon us within a few short weeks. Politically the picture has changed as well as economically. It is apparent that the New Deal will have no "push over" in the coming congressional elections. Clouds have appeared on many state horizons. In Kentucky, for example, the political picture of Sen. Barkley, the majority leader, seems to be threatened. There are indications that Gov. Chandler, personally popular and a good campaigner, may go after the Democratic senatorial nomination and precipitate a nasty political fight. In Illinois, many Democrats are after the political scalp of Sen. Dieterich, and there may be a 3-cornered fight over the senatorial nomination. From New York state comes rumors of impending trouble unless something is done about it. Frequently the report has gone abroad that President Roosevelt plans to back for governor Assistant Attorney General Robert Jackson, who has been thrust into the spotlight on several occasions recently by the administration. Such an intention, it is said, will prove distasteful to the politically powerful Gov. Lehman, who broke with the president in the Supreme Court fight. It is stated also that Jackson will not prove any too acceptable to Postmaster General Farley, who is credited in some quarters with wanting the nomination himself. In Ohio, Sen. Bulkley will be opposed in the primary by Gov. White, and from Pennsylvania too comes the report that all is not peace and harmony within the Democratic ranks. It is known also that in New England anti-New Deal sentiment among the Democrats has grown.

Of course it is too early to predict what will happen with any degree of certainty. It is possible that the Republicans will get themselves into shape to profit by these prospective battles in the ranks of the opposition. If so, the next congress is bound to show some startling changes. On the other hand, a business pick-up in the fall, plus the proper application of presidential diplomacy and proverbial Roosevelt luck, might straighten out most of the trouble before the election. But it can at least be said that there have been some sweeping changes in the national picture since the general elections of 1936.

CAPTAIN BOXES THE COMPASS

As the good ship of state flops about in the storm, waiting for Capt. Roosevelt to get over his peeve at having a depression named after him and to make up his mind what to do about it, if anything, an old ballad of the sea comes to mind. It runs:

Said Captain Porgy on the bridge,
To his mate in the mizzen hatch,
"How goes our good ship head tonight?
"How lays our gallant craft?"
"She heads to the east-south-west-by-north,
"And the jibboom lies abaft."

The name of the mate is not given. Was it perhaps Ickes? Or Jackson? Those two super-loyal seamen must surely feel as dizzy as the rest of the country over their chief's gyrations. They gave their all to rouse the mobs against monopoly—only to see the president foster monopoly by inviting big business to sit down with Mr. Roper and fix everything. No merry-go-round could describe a circle more swiftly.

As for the jibboom, which should have been at the bow, pointing onward (toward victory in 1938 or 1940) it seems to be just where it belongs, lying "abaft". If Capt. Roosevelt goes on boxing the compass with his policies, the New Deal will never make port again. As a good sailorman, not to say former Assistant Secretary of the Navy, the president knows that. Or if in his present confusion of mind he doesn't, let him ask the cabin boy. Farley knows!—New York Herald-Tribune.

"Sleeping in a tree will cure insomnia," says a physician. So, for that matter, will sleeping in bed.—Washington Post.

Mr. Ickes says that 60 families rule the nation. He might subtract 59 from that number. One family seems to be running the country now, and it is the same one that runs Mr. Ickes.

Of course the administration will cooperate with business. It will even throw in a kick in the pants for good measure.

Speaking of monopolies, maybe it is about time to break up the New Deal political monopoly at Washington.

It is said that one way to stimulate business would be to get rid of about 7,000,000 second hand cars now cluttering the market and the roads. Why not have Uncle Sam purchase them and give 'em to those folks on relief who don't have a car?

They are talking about issuing an order in Nazi Germany for efforts to make the girls more beautiful. Well, we are willing to wager on one thing—it won't be difficult to get the girls to try to cooperate.

While the New Dealers were drawing up their plans for a newer and more prosperous America we belivee it would have been better had they eliminated that part of the plan which called for a recession.

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

"You can do anything you ought to do", the writer tells the students in the Bob Jones College. I am not an old man, but I have lived long enough to see some things work out in practical, everyday life. If a man cannot do a thing, then he ought not to do it. If he ought to do it, then he can do it. If he ought to, then he can do it. God has a way of putting omnipotence back of His will for a human life. "I never had a chance to be a missionary, but I was called to be a missionary, but I never had a chance to go to the foreign field," an old lady said one time. "If you were called to be a missionary, there would have been a chance for you to go to the foreign field," I answered. There is always some way to do the thing that God wants us to do. The trouble with most of us is we are too easily stopped. When we meet difficulties we give up. God never uses "quitters". In the last 11 years I have seen students of our college who stayed on the job in spite of difficulties and opposition of every kind. They went through. They would not stop. They are out in life succeeding. They are succeeding.

When discouragements come, I read the life of Paul. That little Jew, to me, is the most fascinating character in history. He was since before he met Jesus on the Damascus road. God will not leave a sincere soul in doubt. So he struck Paul down and told him, "You are persecuting me when you persecute my children." Paul was not disobedient to the heavenly vision. He began to transact business for God. The persecution he had heaped upon others was heaped upon him. He had made others to suffer. So he understood the satanic hatred in the hearts of the enemies of the cross. Paul would not stop. Build a prison on his pathway and he would walk through it and come out on the other side with converts under one arm and prison gates under the other. What this nation and the world need is uncompromising, fearless Christian leadership. There are too many time savers. "You are an evangelist, Bob Jones. You can tell folks what they ought to know. I am a pastor. It have to be careful what I say". That was said to me one time by a certain pastor in a city where I was holding an evangelistic campaign. A pastor can say anything it is his duty to say. A Christian can do anything it is his duty to do. To fail to say and do what we should do and say means we are cowards and weaklings. God wants us to be courageous. Of course, He wants us to mix brains with our courage. We should have good judgment, but God never uses timid souls. I tell the ministerial students in our college, "It takes brains, grace, and grit to be a real preacher".

University News

A survey of the entire weekly newspaper field of Alabama will be made in the next three months by students of the Weekly Newspapers course of the Department of Journalism at the University of Alabama.

Principal project for the 17 students in the class will be a detailed study of a weekly newspaper—one weekly will be assigned to each student—and an investigation of the nature of the individual town in which the newspaper is located.

The students will write brief histories of their major papers, get lists of their equipment, learn the names and duties of its employes, and will make analyses of the contents of the newspapers.

Stating that every student will be required to get copies of eight or nine other Alabama weeklies, University journalism teachers have expressed hope that, in this way, every weekly will be studied.

Publications chosen for major reports are: The Green County Democrat, Eutaw; Scottsboro Progressive Age; Aliceville News; Wetumpka Herald; Hackleburg Sentinel; Anniston Times; LaFayette Sun; Troy Herald; Collinsville New Era; Alexander City Outlook; Thomasville Times; Jasper Advertiser; Ashland Progress; Baldwin Times; Ozark Southern Star; Andalusia Star; and one paper in the Birmingham area.

Near the close of the semester, the students will rank the papers according to excellence in several respects.

Ray Randolph Fort, who worked several years on a weekly newspaper before the time of his employment by the Associated Press, teaches the class.

The papers, published in various sections of the state, were chosen because the individual students had means of obtaining detailed information about them.

Advanced registration for dormitory rooms for the 1938 session of the University of Alabama summer course is 193 per cent ahead of that of the same time last year, and officials have announced that plans for the session are being completed rapidly.

"Plans for the 1938 summer session provide for more courses and more instructors than for any previous session," said Dr. John R. McLure, summer school director.

Two additional dormitory units for women and a new dining hall, which will be open to both men and women, are the results of expanded facilities at the University since last last summer.

According to Dr. McLure, one of the new and outstanding features of the summer session will be a conference of the Educational Policies Commission of the National Education Association during the week beginning on June 13. This will be a regional conference for Alabama and surrounding states.

Among other meetings planned for the summer are: Tenth annual state education conference, eighth annual conference of the Alabama Congress of Parents and Teachers, and the fourth annual Institute of State and Local Affairs.

The first term of summer school begins June 6, the second July 16. The summer session closes August 19.

Spirit of the red hills of Bessemer followed William Allred of that town to the University of Alabama, where he si a sophomore.

He recently startled one of his professors when he turned in an examination paper written completely in red ink.

The first spring meeting of the alumnae of the University of Alabama will be held shortly, when they come to the campus for an all-day gathering.

The date of the meeting has not been definitely set, but Mrs. Truman A. Smith, Mobile, president of the University Alumni Association, said here last week that the women would gather on a Saturday.

Students in pre-medicine at the University of Florida and four Alabama colleges were guests Friday, February 4, of the faculty and students of the University of Alabama School of Medicine and the Alabama chapter of Alpha Epsilon Delta, pre-med fraternity.

Approximately 20 students came from Florida, and other delegations represented Auburn, Birmingham-Southern, Howard and Spring Hill.

The University of Alabama's freshman basketball team is running up an impressive record this season. The yearling Tide cagers are unbeaten their first four starts, and have w all of their 1938 tilts by wide m gins.

ACCIDENTAL DEATHS HIGH IN CHILTON DURING 1937

Violent and accidental deaths ranked second among the leading causes of death in Chilton county during 1937, reports from the County health department was revealed today. A total of 24 deaths was attributed to this cause which was exceeded only by heart disease with 28 deaths. There were five in this group, however, which were non-residents or occurring among persons living outside of the county.

Automobiles were responsible for "6 deaths;" among these were four in which pedestrians were struck by cars. Two persons were killed by trains and one by a tractor. One death was attributed to a fall and another to an accidental blow from a baseball bat. In addition to the 24 accidental deaths four from homicide and three from suicide were recorded.

The number of deaths attributed to other leading causes were cerebral hemorrhage 21, pneumonia 20, disease of early infancy 15, cancer 11, tuberculosis 7, congenital malformation 7.

FAVORS TOM TAYLOR FOR TAX COLLECTOR

Nothing which has appeared in the columns of this paper in recent weeks, has met with such hearty approval as the announcement of T. M. Taylor for Tax Collector of Chilton County. The reaction is spontaneous, it is encouraging evidence that popular sentiment is still strong behind this good man, that has served his county well.

He is a Chilton county boy reared near Clanton, and for several years he has owned and operated a wholesale business in Clanton.

I've known him in a business way for several years. I have found him to be a clean moral man of high inteligence and keen wisdom. A man capable of serving his county well. His honesty and integerity is not to be questioned. He is fair in business and loyal to every cause. His highest ambition is to serve his fellowman at all times. As friend, neighbor or as County official, I feel sure he will fill the office with dignity and service.

He will appreciate the votes and support of citizens of Chilton county. If elected, I feel sure we people can put implicit faith in him.—A Voter.

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Zuber and daughter of Birmingham spent a few days this week with Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Miskelley.

Mrs. J. H. Goddard had as her dinner guests Tuesday evening, Mr. A. A. Fuller, Mr. C. W. Kelley, and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hayes of Clanton.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Seay of Clanton, Mr. Frank Lessley of Jemison, Mr. Willie Scott of Montgomery, and Mrs. Sam Cobern and children were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lessley and Mr. and Mrs. Scott Sunday.

Mrs. W. B. Hamilton of Birmingham called on Mrs. N. Laurell Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Reinhardt and son, Jon Mac, and Miss Mary Louise Reinhardt spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Reinhardt.

Mrs. Pauline Pate spent Tuesday in Jemison with Mrs. Grover Bice.

Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Thompson had as their guests over the week end Mr. and Mrs. Guy Sharpe, and Miss Amy Jasperson of Birmingham.

Mr. Bobby Foss of Clanton spent Saturday with Dwight Mixson.

Mr. H. L. Collins of Howard College spent the week end in Thirsby.

Mrs. Irene Rasberry, Mrs. Earl Gray and Mrs. Thelma Harbison of Clanton visited Mrs. H. L. Walker Monday.

Martin J. Soberg

The passing of Mr. Martin J. Soberg removes from the life of the Thorsby community another good man, good citizen, good neighbor. For 38 years his friends have watched him come and go in their midst. He has been trusted with some of the most important tasks of citizenship so far as this little town is concerned. He has been a member of the City Council, Mayor of Thorsby, President of the Thorsby Bank, and member of the Board of Trustees of Thorsby Institute. His life has been full.

Mr. Soberg was born in Norway on November 1, 1862. He came to the United States when he was 19 years old. He lived for a time in Dane County, Wis., where he was married in 1887 to Miss Anna Lee. They moved to Alabama in 1899.

Mr. Soberg has been a member of hte Lutheran church through all the years he lived in Thorsby, and his funeral was held from that church. Rev. Lawrence L. Stanley conducted the service, and Martin of Clanton was in charge.

Card Of Thanks

The sons and daughters of the late Mr. M. J. Soberg wish to express through your paper their heartfelt thanks and appreciation for the many kindnesses shown to our beloved father during his last illness and death. Especially do we with to thank the Rev. Stanley, Dr. Franklin, Miss Mabel Johnson, J. Mell Martin, Mr. Reuben Foss, and the pallbearers.—(Signed) Clara S. Henderson, Olga S. Morgan, Carl J. Soberg, Edwin J. Soberg, Arnold M. Soberg.

Thorsby Institute News

The music recital which was to have been given in the Thorsby Institute auditorium by the pupils of Miss Kathryn Foss last Saturday afternoon was postponed until Saturday of this week and will be given at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Everyone is invited. No admission charge will be made.

The annual declamatory contest of Thorsby Institute will be held in the Thorsby Institute auditorium on Saturday night, February 19. There will be no admission charge, and everyone is invited to be present.

The following are in the First Honor Roll of Thorsby Institute for the first semester—this means an average of 90, and no grade on their report card below 85: Sarah Nelle Collins and Frances Conway of Thorsby, Martha Green, Leesburg; and Mae Anniece Polk, Clanton.

Those on the Second Honor Roll, which requires an average of 85, no grade on their report card below 80, are: Fred Blankenship, Thorsby; William Callen, Clanton; Mary Christ, Hayneville; Ruth Clarke, Montgomery; Inez Duke, Randolph; Frances Wood, Lay Dam; and Ouida Wright, Florala.

Those who have a perfect attendance record for the first semester are Mildred Wayne Adams, Leonard Bosworth, Elaine Burdette, William Callen, Louise Clark, Frances Conway, Inez Due, Earl Flournoy, Mabel Gibbons, Edwina Helton, Maurice Higgins, Howard Minor, and Hazel Pate.

Basketball News

Thorsby's independent basketball team split even in two games with Jemison last week. We lost the first game 30 to 21, but the Thorsby Yellow Jackets were hot Saturday night, and defeated Jemison 45 to 37.

Arnold ("Bull") Littleton's independent girls' team defeated Marbury on the latter's court 14 to 10 last Friday night. All the girls played well, and we would like a game with any girls' team close around. Write to Arnold Littleton, Thorsby, Ala.

Isabella Loses To Tigers

The Isabella five played a very good game, but they are just not in the class with C. C. H. S. Each team played well, but when the final whistle blew Clanton had 41 points while Isabella had only 15. Just before this game the B team played Enterprise. This was a hard fought game, and the Tiger kittens had to really scrap for their 34 to 32 margin. This was an extra good game.

Accompany The Tigers In Conquest For Victory

The Tigers have made a name for themselves this season, and our fans must not let them down when they go away for games. Go with them! It helps them play better when someone is pulling for them. The following games are away from home: With Dallas County High at Plantersville, Friday night, February 11; the Sidney Lanier Poets at Montgomery Saturday night, February 12, at Montgomery.

Home Games Next Week

Two very important games are on the Tiger schedule for next week, the hard fighting Ensley team of Birmingham, and the Sidney Lanier Poets of Montgomery. These two are top rank teams, and will be trying hard to stop those snarling Tigers. See both of these!

HIGH SCHOOL F. H. A. MEETS

The F. H. A. had its regular meeting Friday. At this time the pledge members, 24 in number, were admitted into the club.

The club was very glad to have as its guest Miss Rebecca Pate, assistant supervisor of Home Economics, from Montevallo.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Annie Pearl Honeycutt. The roll was called by the secretary, Mildred Maddox. The pledge service was carried out, which was presided over by the president. Delicious punch and crackers were served.

In the afternoon the regular members and the pledges got together to make pictures. If these pictures are good, they will be put in the club's scrap book.—Ola Mae Parrish, reporter.

Maynard's Chapel

We had a good Sunday school last Sunday. We hope to have a larger crowd next Sunday, as it is our regular preaching day. Bro. Cost will preach Saturday night and Sunday.

Mrs. Addison Barns of Mobile, is visiting her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nelson.

Mrs. George Bailey and son, George, Jr. and wife, spent several days with Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Maynard and Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Maynard. last week.

Mrs. Maynard's nephew and wife, of Birmingham, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Chambers, spent Sunday afternoon with Mrs. Maynard.

We had a teachers training school here a couple of weeks ago. Bro. W. E. Robinson did the teaching. There were 13 that took the course, and all of the passed the examination. It was a great inspiration to all that attended.

Mr. Charlie Barrett had a fine colt to fall in a ditch and break his hip last Friday.

Mrs. W. G. Maynard is going to Birmingham on business today.

Mrs. R. M. Williams has had a very sick baby, but is better at present.

Taxes Are A Factor In Present Recession

Excessive motor taxes, prohibiting or discouraging people from buying used cars, and thereby preventing the selling of new cars, are viewed by C. E. Anderson, Executive Secretary of the Automobile Dealers Association of Alabama, as a real factor in the present business recession.

Mr. Anderson said that the costs of Federal, State and local (1936) gasoline taxes, plus registration and other fees, add up to more han $21,000,000, which must be considered by the marginal consumers who buy the nation's used cars.

"A fact long evident to the service station operator is that the vast majority of motorists are 'marginal buyers'," Mr. Anderson said. "They are not people who carelessly spend dollars, but folks who must watch the pennies. And whenever a penny must go for tax, that is a penny which they cannot spend for things they need.

"It is evident also that unless there is a continuing sale of used cars, the kind of automobile purchased by the vast majority of motorists, it will be impossible to put new cars on the road. Now if we measure business conditions by new car sales, and say we have a recession when new-car buying stops, we are forced to look as conditions in the used-car market. Today, it is being discovered all over the country that people suddenly stopped buying used cars, which means that the new cars cannot be sold.

"Repeal of the duplicating Federal gasoline and automobile taxes by the present Congress would be a very helpful means to that end. Repeal would cut the Alabama motorists annual bill about $3,336,000."

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

Do you feel that nothing is good, but all is bad; that nothing you try to do ends at the intended goal; that all efforts become only disappointments, and life itself a failure? Then you feel that there is nothing blessed about living. Do you try to blame God for it all, or do you try to pray, and can hardly have faith that God hears and cares? Do you try to feel differently by trying to count your blessings and find that the faith destroyer is trying to keep you from remembering anything for which to be grateful? Do you ever spend worrying hours thinking of life's hardships and how to cope with them? Maybe the trouble is for only the present house, maybe it is of long standing and will continue to have to be borne. Whatever it is, do not stop praying and trying to reach God. Abandon yourself to Him and cast all care on Him, then "stand still and see the salvation of the Lord". "Be careful for nothing, but in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made unto God, and the peace of God which passeth all understanding shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus".

Sunday school and church services were well attended and thoroughly enjoyed last Sunday. May all who attended last Sunday be back for each service next Sunday, and may last Sunday's absentees be present along with as many visitors and new members as can be found.

KITCHEN CONTEST

Forty-two local club leaders of the County studied pastry and bread making last Thursday, at the home economic building at Clanton. Miss Grace, the Home Demonstration Agent, led the song "Dixie" and gave a short talk, evplaining the County broadcast to be given at the city hall next Thursday. She then introduced Miss Helen Kennedy, the state food specialist, who had charge of the demonstrations for the day.

Miss Kennedy first pointed out the purpose of the meeting to be: (1) Develop leaders for the clubs. (2) To get information and material for their local demonstrations. A lengthy and instructive lesson on pastry making was given. Coffee of different grades was made in three different type pots. A social hour was enjoyed at which time the coffee and pastry goodies were eaten and proclaimed delicious.

The afternoon session was on bread making. Waffles, corn sticks, baking powder biscuit and cheese biscuit were all made with good success. These were served during a short business session. Plans for making money and the kitchen contest were discussed.

Selling flavoring was adopted for the money making.

All those interested in the kitchen contest will find some very helpful information and illustrations on page forty of the February Progressive Farmer.

A Birmingham carpenter received the first unemployment insurance check issued in Alabama when Gov. Bibb Graves last week presented a check for $15 to Manley J. Owen, of 1024 Princeton Ave., Birmingham, in a ceremony held in the executive office in the presence of Social Security Board members and other state officials.

Distribution of the gasoline tax collected during the month of January on December sales and withdrawals, gives to each county the sum of $8,199.65 for use in highway construction and maintenance. This compares with $7,955.24 a year ago, and $6,517.09 two years ago. It is estimated that each county will receive from the gasoline tax collections during the present fiscal year a little more than $100,000.

Under the present plan of spending this gasoline tax money allocated to the 67 counties, the State Highway Department is matching part of the money with other state highway funds and federal funds.

Alabama's steel production has not fallen below 60 per cent of capacity during the past three years, though the average for the nation is now only 32 per cent, Gov. Graves revealed this week.

Unemployment Data For Chilton County

Chilton County has 1,535 persons totally unemployed and who want to work, 214 employed in Federal emergency projects and 579 who are partly employed and desire more work, according to the census on total and partial unemployment recently made public in Washington. In the entire State there are 291,385 men and women who are entirely or partially unemployed or are working on WPA, NYA, CCC or other emerency work. Figures for the Nation show 5,821,035 totally unemployed and desiring work, 2,001,877 emergency workers and 3,209,211 part time workers who need additional employment, making a grand total of more than 11 million men and women in the army of unemployed and partly employed.

Legislative proposals to control hours and wages by the Federal Government are now pending in Washington and are advocated by their sponsors as a remedy for un-employment. However, many labor leaders fear that the application of Federal administrative law to wage rates, hours of work, and working conditions would have the opposite effect and prevent normal, peaceful negotiations between labor and employer. This threatened deprivation of freedom led the American Federation of Labor to oppose basic provisions in the proposed Fair Labor Standards Bill in the last session of Congress and brought forth the following declaration from a high Federation official in an address delivered in Philadelphia last December: "Labor is unalterably opposed to any department of government attempting to control or direct the relations of labor and industry from a Washington office." Such opposition is well founded for the power to fix a minimum wage either carries with it or will lead to the authority to fix maximum wages and the garduation of wages between the minimum and maximum.

Employers of labor in a recent meeting in New Orleans declared that the passege of any such legislation would result in serious economic disturbances, create more unemployment and would in effect place both labor and industry under bureaucratic control. This conference also pointed out that every similar effort to control wages and hours by law in foreign countries signally failed except under complete dictatorships and then with a total loss of freedom of action by labor and lower living standards.

Farm groups oppose Federal Control of hours and wages on the ground that the inevitable increase in production costs would result in a lower price the farmer receives for his raw materials and an incresed price for the finished products he purchases. Southern Congressmen led the fight which blocked passage of this measure.—Rev. J. Earnest Stack, Editor the Christian American, Houston, Texas.

Federation Officers Busy

Reorganization of the conservation councils and increased activity among sportsmen's groups in Alabama received impetus in recent weeks from a statewide tour of Dr. Walter B. Jones, President of hte Alabama Wildlife Federation, and Tom Ford, Secretary. The two federation officers visited groups in all parts of the state, making talks and assisting with reorganizing and enlarging the various clubs and councils.

Places visited included the Etowah County Hunting and ishing Club at Gadsden, the Blount County Wildlife Conservation Association at Oneonta, the Jackson County Sportsmen's Association, the Clarke County Conservation Club, and many others. All of these clubs are affiliated with the Alabama Wildlife Federation, which in turn is affiliated with the American Wildlife Federation.

Outwit Mr. Crow

First, find a crow's nest in a tree. Then place a collar around the neck of an ordinary cat and tie him in the tree near the crow's nest. Equip yourself with a shotgun and plenty of ammunition. Stand under the tree and await developments. According to H. E. Major, of Birmingham, writing in the current Alabama Game and Fish News, it won't be long until crows begin to arrive by the scores. Start firing and continue until all of your shells are gone. Dead crows will fall, but others will fly in to take their places, paying no attention to the gunfire. Majorand a companion killed almost a hundred before their shells ran out and crows still were black around the trees. Crows, among other depredations, destroy quail nests and eggs.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK...

By Lemuel F. Parton

NEW YORK.—If a prisoner hadn't jumped out of a two-story window and escaped, 123 years ago, newspapers today wouldn't be front-paging the description of the biggest star in the universe, 3,000 times larger than the sun. They should have named the star Napoleon, instead of Epsilon Aurigae. His was the touch-off of events terrestial which finally ranged out 3,000 light years and brought news of the giant star. Chronologically, as the astronomers would put it, it was like this:

Biggest Star Traced to 2-Story Leap

Freiderich Georg Wilhelm Struve was a studious German youth who wanted to be an astronomer, but lacked opportunity for study. For no apparent reason, a ranging band of Napoleon's scouts seized him and locked him in a prison on the banks of the River Elbe.

He timed his high window-dive to the passing of a queer-looking ship, made a long, hazardous swim and was pulled aboard. The ship was homeward bound to Russia. The czar was a patron of astronomy.

The young man was encouraged and became not only director of the observatory of the University of Dorpat, but one of the founders of modern astronomy, with Herschel and Bissel.

His sons and grandsons became famous astronomers and it is his great-grandson, Dr. Otto Struve, who, with his assistants at Yerkes observatory of the University of Chicago at Williams Bay, Wis., discovers the facts about Epsilon Aurigae.

He is director of the observatory. He arrived here in 1921, after fighting with the white armies in Russia and fleeing to Turkey with their collapse. He became director of Yerkes observatory five years ago at the age of thirty-four.

IN THE new movie, "Hollywood Hotel," Bennie Goodman, trumpeter and swingster, again demonstrates that he gets all the college trade. The boys whinny with excitement at Mr. Goodman's most off-hand toot. Expeditions sent by this department into the far domain of youth say it's that way all over the country, particularly among the collegians. The Dossier says he does it with his "gut-bucket, barrel-house, screw-ball and grunt-iron music." Be that as it may, it nets him $100,000 a year.

'Grunt-Iron' Music Makes Kids Whinny

At the age of ten, he was a semi-pro vaudeville musician, earning around $2 a week in Chicago's Ghetto. He was the eighth of eleven children of a tailor who earned $20 a week. He bought a mail order clarinet on the installment plan, and, by the time he was thirteen, was a full-fledged journeyman musician, but still in short pants.

He first got out in front in California, running his first band in 1931. He slumped down to $40 a week in 1934, moved in with Billy Rose, hit his stride again, and, via radio, is a recent arrival in the top-money brackets.

He is twenty-seven, tall, dark, athletic, good-looking, with rimless octagonal glasses, and, the more savage his music, the more money he makes.

FRANKLIN MOTT GUNTHER, American minister to Rumania, decorously, and quite unofficially, he says, challenges the new anti-Semitism in Rumania. He is a suave career diplomat who once pulled headlines as big as a Rumania war would get today. That was in 1914, when there was less news.

Mr. Gunther Created Big News in 1914

He was a guest on a yacht anchored in Christiania harbor. The harbor master told him that spot had been saved for Kaiser Wilhelm's yacht.

There was an argument and the harbor master said Mr. Gunther had clipped the cap off his head and wouldn't pick it up. It boiled up into a big international story, but Mr. Gunther came through it nicely to continue representing his country in many foreign ports.

President Coolidge made him minister to Egypt in 1928. He is a native of New York, fifty-two years old, an alumnus of Harvard.

Author of "God Save the King"

The origin of "God Save the King" has been wrapped in mystery for centuries. It was first sung by Harry Carey at a dinner to celebrate the capture of Portobello by Admiral Vernon in 1740, according to Pearson's London Weekly. Carey admitted authorship of the words, but refused to commit himself about the music. The song achieved instant success on the wave of patriotism that followed the declaration of Bonnie Prince Charlie as king. English citizens sang it everywhere as a retort in favor of the legitimate monarch, and it was first sung in the presence of the monarch, at Drury Lane in September, 1745.

Oratorical Contest

The oratorical contest on "Jefferson and Marshall" is getting under way in good shape at Stanton Junior High School, Isabella High School, and at Jemison High School, in this county.

At Stanton Junior High, Mr. Wm. F. Stone, principal, give the following students' names as participants: Cleo Jones, James Woodrow Bradley, Lennie Laverne Lenoir, and William Creighton Ruddick, Jr.

At Jemison High, according to J. A. Peterson, principal, the following are participating: Arnold White, and C. W. Wells.

The contest is sponsored by the Birmingham News-Age-Herald, with Artemus Calloway, of the News-Age-Herald staff, directing it for the entire state.

Cash prizes will be awarded at the state finals to be held at Birmingham April 29, and railroad fare and hotel bill for each state finalist and chaperon will be paid by the sponsors.

Schools which have not as yet enrolled are reminded that there is only a short time left in which to do this.

Sport

Last Thursday night the Enterprise basket ball boys played Clanton at the high school, which furnished plenty of thrills and laughter. Unfortunately, at the end of the game the scores were Clanton 34; Enterprise 32.

Last Friday night the Enterprise boys played the CCC boys at Mitchell Dam. Enterprise also lost this game, the scores being 21 to 19. This game was also thrilling.

Next Friday, February 11, the Calera boys will come to Enterprise to play the local team. The girls are also inviting Cooper girls to play out here. The first game will begin about 1 o'clock. Come out and enjoy some real basket ball.

CHILTON STUDENT AT AUBURN WRITES ABOUT THE FORESTS

Advocates Community Fire-Fighting Clubs On County-Wide Scale To Save County's Woodlands

Following is an article received by The Union-Banner from W. Alton Murrah, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Murrah, of this county, and a student at Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn. The article is very interesting, and runs as follows:

The South has 38 per cent of the forest land of the nation, but 90 per cent of the acreage burned annually by woods fires is in the South. For every acre burned throughout the East, West and North, the South burns 9 acres. These fires are 95 per cent man-made.

With 38 per cent of the forest area of the United States, the South has 58 per cent of the land that is classed as poor or non-restocking (new plants will not come back after removal of old trees). And yet, if protected, trees will grow on nearly any spot in Alabama. (From Lyle Brown, Extension Forester, Auburn).

The farm woods—consisting of relatively small tracts with fields, pastures, roads, and creeks separating them—present a fire problem easy to handle. There is little reason for fire in farm woods unless they are deliberately set.

Every acre which does not produce some crop is a liability and an expense to the owner.

Not many years ago people of Chilton County paid little attention to conservation of their farm woods. Trees were cut for fuel, the branches and tops being left for a fire trap or to rot. But now that the woodland of Chilton County is fast disappearing, and the people of the county are beginning to realize it, the trees are completely utilized, even to the small branches.

The cyclone of 1932 destroyed almost all timber in its path, leaving only small trees. If forest fires are not kept away from these areas we can never expect young timber to get a start and re-stock such areas. Fires damage old timber also, but not nearly so much as it does young. This cyclone came only once, but forest fires are continually consuming our woodlands, even where there has never been a cyclone.

The people of Chilton County can completely control their fires by organizing to fight them. The first and most important thing is to prevent fires from starting.

Any man who has set at home on a dry autumn night and watched his woodland burn and heard the crackle of the fire, has witnessed a feeling that is hard to describe. Realizing that his present fuel supply is being consumed by the flames, that young trees are being killed, yet he is powerless to fight the fire alone, he thinks that if only he had some help he could stop the thief of his woodland.

We need organized fire fighting clubs in each community of our county to fight these fires. Each landowner should be glad to join such an organization, knowing that if fire gets into his forest, he will have help from his neighbors and fellow members to control it. In return for this service from other members, he should be willing to render the same service them. In this way we can control fires ni our county, and allow our to re-stock itself with timber tha at present becoming scarce ev where.—W. Alton Murrah.

EXPORTS INCREASE

Exports from the United States Chile during the first eight mon of last year increased 44 per cent compared with the similar period 1936, acording to a report made p lic today by the Chilean Consul G eral in New York.

The value of American merchand and raw materials sold to Chile f January to August, 1937, amounte $15,116,517 as compared with $10,5 881 last year. These exports cons ed chiefly of cotton goods, woo goods, fuel oil, rolled iron and steel machinery. Almost every branch American industry was in some w either directly or indirectly, affec by these Chilean purchases.

Approximately 25 per cent Chile's annual foreign purchases ing the last ten years have been f the United States, amounting to m than $241,000,000 for that per Through the use of these Ameri products, especially machinery raw materials, Chile has been a substantially to modernize her ind tries, improve her standard of liv and consequently increase her p chasing power.

The annual crop summary of Alabama Crop Reporting Serv shows that 1937 was the great year in the history of the Stat agriculture from the standpoint crop production. More corn was p duced than in any year except 1 and 1921. The cotton crop was ceeded only twice—1911 and 1 The production of hay, Irish potat and pecans was the largest on rec The cash income from all these cr was only slightly larger than that the proceeding year, the income 1937 being $101,700,000 and that 1936, $100,950,000.

BANKERS HELPING WITH ALABAMA FARM PROGRAM

Auburn, Feb. 7. — Alabama bankers are cooperating in launching a program for helping framers increase their income in 1938 and future years.

Roland Adams, chairman of the Agricultural Committee of the Alabama Bankers Association, has written key bankers of the state, urging them to confer with county agents and assist in formulating and recommending an agricultural program of work. "The Agricultural Committee is quite hopeful that each of you will be able to do something worth while," he says.

P. O. Davis, director, Alabama Extension Service, also has written key bankers urging that they "give first consideration to livestock development which requires adequate financing for livestock needs", he says. "Unless our farmers have access to adequate funds necessary for livestock development, they will cling to cotton, thereby practicing an unbalanced agriculture in the face of an over-supply of cotton.

"I wish to urge you, therefore, to give careful consideration to livestock financing. It should not be the only subject, even though it is the most important. Starting with it, we should cover the entire field with a view to maximum economic development of Alabama agriculture."

A plentiful supply of grain and other feeds has encouraged farmers and feeders to put more cattle into feed lots this fall and winter than they did last year.

Data for the 12 months on income from sales of farm products and Government payments to farmers indicate a total cash income for 1937 of $8,521,000,000.

FARMERS AND CONSUMERS MEET ON CURB MARKETS

Auburn, Feb. 7. — Alabama ruralists continue using the curb market as an excellent method of selling farm products directly to consumers.

Records reveal that during the past years farmers, farm women, and boys and girls sold $366,777.08 worth of products on curb markets in the state. This makes a total of $3,712,616.30 worth of farm products sold on Alabama curb markets since the first was organized in Gadsden on November 17, 1923.

There are at present year-round curb markets at Anniston, Athens, Auburn, Decatur, Dothan, Florence, Gadsden, Huntsville, Jasper, Mobile, Montgomery, Selma, Tuscaloosa, and Tuskegee. During the summer months markets are operated at Eufaula, Talladega, and Troy.

Montgomery ranked first during 1937 with total sales of $127,088.92; Gadsden second with $110,346.00; and Tuscaloosa third with $65,479.00.

Much of the popularity of the Alabama markets is due to the friendliness of the seller, the choice products sold, and to the fact that all types of farm products are sold, says Helen Johnston, state home demonstration agent of the Alabama Extension Service.

ALABAMA ALLOTTED SIX MILLION PLANTS

Auburn, Feb. 7. — Cooperating farmers in four regular soil erosion control projects and 10 CCC camp areas in Alabama have been allotted over 6,000,000 trees, shrubs, and kudzu plants for planting during the next two or three months.

The plants include 4,700,000 trees, nearly half a million shrubs, and 1,052,000 kudzu plants, reports O. C. Medlock, state coordinator for the Soil Conservation Service.

Farmers in the demonstration areas will plant the trees on badly eroded parts of their farms to show how trees will check erosion, and to put such land to its best use. They will plant the shrubs in gullies, on badly washed areas, on woodland edges, and in other places to control erosion and put useless land to work producing food and cover crops for wild life.

The kudzu plants will be planted on badly eroded spots, in gullies, on road banks, on abandoned spots, and to establish strips of permanent vegetation on steep, badly washed parts of good fields. Kudzu is a rapid growing vine that is fast approaching a very effective erosion control plant, as well as a heavy producing hay crop, reports J. C. Lowery, agronomist, of Alabama Extension Service.

VALENTINE PARTY AT ISABELLA

Come to Isabella High School Friday night, February 11, at 7 o'clock, for an evening of fun. The home demonstration club women of the Isabella community are giving a Valentine party, and invite all of you to be there to enjoy the fun with them. A small admission of 5 cents will be charged everyone.

FARMERS WARNED AGAINST LOW GRADE FERTILIZERS

Auburn, Feb. 7. — Because of low priced cotton, many farmers are likely to make the mistake of using low grade fertilizers this year, warns Dr. J. W. Tidmore, head of the department of agronomy and soils, Alabama Experiment Station.

"If cotton is to be grown economically as possible, a good fertilizer program is essential," he says.

"We are not trying to interest farmers in a greater total cotton crop, but rather we are interested in economical production of cotton. The proper use of fertilizers is one of the most effective means of reducing the cost of production."

The Alabama Experiment Station recommends that farmers fertilize their cotton with fertilizers carrying 36 pounds of nitrogen, 48 pounds of phosphoric acid, and 24 pounds of potash per acre. This amount of plant food may be applied by using 600 pounds of 6-8-4 per acre or home mixing 225 pounds of nitrate of soda, or the equivalent, 300 pounds of superphosphate, and 48 pounds of muriate of potash. It may also be applied by using 600 pounds of 4-8-4 with a side dressing of 75 to 100 pounds per acre of nitrate of soda, or by using 600 pounds of 3-8-5 and side dressing with 112 pounds of nitrate of soda or the equivalent.

The station also has found that corn following a satisfactory crop of winter legumes needs no fertilizer, while corn not following winter legumes should be side dressed with about 225 pounds of nitrate of soda, or the equivalent, about 35 or 40 days after planting.

CONTOUR FURROWS

Putting contour furrows in pastures may be a new "wrinkle" in farming operations, but it is serving to rejuvenate pastures in the Soil Conservation Service area near Clanton, Ala., according to Mr. Wood, Superintendent.

Contour furrows help to control erosion in two ways, Mr. Wood said. First, they reduce run-off and increases absorption of rain water. Secondly, the increased moisture promotes better growth of pasture grasses, which in turn provide a more erosion-resisting sod.

On moderate slopes, small, relatively flat furrows at close intervals are recommended, Mr. Wood said. They They can be constructed by two back furrows with a plow, leaving a balk 8 to 12 inches wide to be broken out with a light disc harrow or other suitable implement that will leave some loose soil in the bottom of the furrow and spread soil on the sloping sides.

These furrows should be constructed over the entire surface of the pasture area so that a series of low ridges and broad furrows, over which a mowing machine can be operated, will result. The plowing necessary for furrow construction will prepare the land for seeding, Mr. Wood explained.

On very steep slopes, where the shallow type furrow would probably not be sufficient to prevent severe erosion during heavy rains before sod is well established, larger ridge type furrows constructed on about a two-foot vertical interval are usually required. The intervals between these furrows may be covered by the broad, shallow type furrow, he added.

ISABELLA F. H. A.

The Isabella chapter of the F. H. A. met last Wednesday, January 26, in the home economics department. The meeting was called to order by the president. Roll call and reading of the minutes were given by the secretary.

We had six girls with us who wished to pledge to the club. These girls were given the pledge service in order that they might be initiated at the next meeting.

Madge Williams gave a report on the ararngements of the flowers which the club has adopted as a yearly project. Madge also gave a report on what the committee has done in planning the flower garden which the club has adopted as a yearly project. The members of this committee are: Frances Kendrick, Madge Williams, and Evelyn Veazey. They expect to begin work in the near future.

TYPHOID FEVER STATISTICS

Montgomery, Feb. 7. — Last year's reported cases of typhoid fever in Alabama totaled fewer than the number of deaths from this disease in 1927, according to the records of the Bureau of Vital Statistics and the Bureau of Preventable Diseases of the State Department of Health. These records show that 319 persons died of typhoid fever in this state in 1927 and only 317 typhoid cases were reported during the past year.

In spite of a marked increase in population, last year's total or reported cases was less than one-sixth the 1937 total of 1,985 cases. The 1936 death rate for htis disease, the latest available, was only 3.0 per 100,000 population, compared with the 1927 death rate of 12.4 per 100,000 population.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cofer had as their guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Jade Cofer, Mr. and Mrs. N. Posey and children.

Miss Rubye Smith spent Wednesday with Miss Vesta Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Crumpton visited Mr. and Mrs. Only Smith Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Only Smith and daughter spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Martin and family.

2 Steps in Fighting Discomfort of

COLDS

It usually costs to relieve the misery of a cold today—is 3¢ to 5¢ — relief for the period of your cold 15¢ to 25¢. Hence no family need neglect even minor head colds.

Here is what to do: Take two BAYER tablets when you feel a cold coming on — with a full glass of water. Then repeat, if necessary, according to directions in each package. Relief comes rapidly.

The Bayer method of relief is the way many doctors now approve. You take Bayer Aspirin for relief — then if you are not improved promptly, you call the family doctor.

Cardinals Have Won 4 Straight

Will Play Mignon Here February 14, And Red Diamond at the Dam Tuesday Night, February 15

Manager Steve Stanley reports that his Cardinals have been going great guns for the past few days, winning four games without a loss.

They went to Bessemer Friday, February 28, and beat the "Y" team of that city 41 to 34, in a game that saw Gabby Tiffin burn up the boards with 16 points to lead both teams in scoring. Stevens led for Bessemer with 10.

On Tuesday, February 1, the Cards went to Richville, in Coosa County, and beat a good team 38 to 23, with Tiffin again leading the Cards with 10 points; Thornton led the Richville team with 10.

The Bessemer "Y" team came down to Mitchell Dam Friday night, February 4, and were plastered with a 55 to 38 defeat. Dutch Baker led the Cards in this game with 13, closely pushed by Cobb, who registered 12, while playing his usual good game. Moody led the visitors with 9.

Saturday night they went to Bemiston, near Talladega, and nosed out a fine team 31 to 30, in what Manager Stanley declares is the best game his boys have played this year. Mr. Stanley said the Bemiston officials were putting on the dog, with a swell public address system to announce names of various players as they handled the ball, etc., and the Cards were credited with being one of the best seen there this year. Manager Stanley stated it was anybody's game right up to the final whistle, with never over two or three points separating the two teams at any time; he stated that the final score, 30 to 31, just about told the story of the game from beginning to end—a hot one.

Manager Stanley announces that his team will meet the Mignon (Sylacauga) team on Monday night, February 14, here in Clanton at the C. C. H. S. gym. All proceeds of this game go to the high school athletic association. You will want to see this one.

On Tuesday night, the 15th, the Red Diamond Mines team from Leeds do battle with the Cards at Mitchell Dam. The Red Diamond team is leding the red division of the Birmingham industrial basketball league, and show lots of class.

And then there is the "game of games", the House of David affair, which no basketball fan in this territory can afford to miss—this comes on Friday night, February 18. There will be a preliminary game on that night between the Clanton CCC and Maplesville, beginning at 7 o'clock, with the Davids-Cards go beginning promptly at 8. Read more about this game and the visiting team in another article in this paper, but be sure to see it. But come early. The Card gym will accommodate only about 400, and the house is sure to be jammed. Be on hand early, and get a seat.

BAPTIST TRAINING CONFERENCE

The Inter - Associational Baptist Training Union Conference will be held in Thorsby Baptist church Friday, February 18, beginning at 2:30 p.m. It closes Friday with an evening session. The State Baptist Training Union forces will be there with several outstanding workers for conferences and speakings. Pastors and other workers from this area will also attend. It is hoped that a fine group from each church will attend this inspirational meeting.

GRAND JURY MET LAST WEEK END

Body Considered 15 Cases, Examined 51 Witnesses; Returned 9 True Bills

The Chilton County Grand Jury was empanneled last week by Judge Arthur Glover, and made the following report to the court:

State of Alabama, Chilton County.

To Hon. Arthur Glover as Judge of the Circuit Court of Chilton County, Alabama:

We, the Grand Jury, empanneled for the January term of the Circuit Court, after receiving your Honor's able and instructive charge, entered upon our investigation of the matters that came before us as Grand Jurors, and herewith submit the following report:

During our investigation we have considered 15 cases, have examined 51 witnesses, and are returning herewith 9 true bills.

We have made a personal inspection of the county jail and believe it to be sufficiently safe for the keeping of the prisoners, and find that the prisoners confined therein are being well fed and cared for with reasonable comfort.

We have examined the fee book of the Probate Judge and find it neatly kept and correct insofar as we were able to ascertain. We have examined the bonds of the various county officials and find that they are ample for the protection of the public; and in our examination of the sheriff's account with the state for feeding prisoners we find that it is being kept in accordance with the law. On our examination of the office of the County Superintendent of Education we find that his books, records and papers are neatly kept, and insofar as we ascertained were being kept fully in accordance with the law.

The Grand Jury wishes to express its appreciation to Sheriff Hardy and his deputies, and to our bailiff, Mr. Best, for the many courtesies shown us during the week, and the efficient manner in which each of these officers discharged their duties in getting for us the necessary witnesses that we needed.

We wish to thank your Honor for the very able charge given us when we were first empanneled, and for the thorough and efficient manner in which you outlined our duties as Grand Jurors.

Having complied with your Honor's able and instructive charge to the best of our ability, we respectfully ask that we be recessed until such time as your Honor deem it proper to have us again convene.

February 11, 1938.

F. J. CALLEN, Foreman.

A LETTER FROM E. W. BUTLER

The Union-Banner has an interesting letter from Rev. E. W. Butler, now in Canandaigua, N. Y. Our friend writes: "Some day before long I want to write a bit of a general letter to our friends in Chilton County about our situation here. I was talking to a man this morning a bit about politics; asked him whether the Congressman from this district was Democrat or Republican, and he answered: 'This district is always Republican. Ontario County (ours) is one of the strongest Republican counties in the U. S." So, now what have we run into here?

We are sure that this general letter from Mr. Butler will be a great treat to his friends and our readers. We hope that he will take time to write to The Union-Banner a long interesting letter about his surroundings in Canadaigua, and that he will tell us a lot more about Ontario county. That little bit certainly sounds interesting, Mr. Butler.

NEW FIRESTONE-APPLIANCE STORE TO OPEN THIS WEEK

Mr. Curtis Billingsley, for several years operator of Billingsley Service Station here, announces that this week end his new Firestone and Electrical Appliance store will be open for business. It will be located in the Hayes corner building formerly occupied by the bowling alley, underneath the Exchange Hotel.

Besides Firestone tires and automobile supplies Mr. Billingsley will handle Westinghouse and Kelvinator electric refrigerators, Electrolux oil-burning refrigerators, and Maytag washing machines.

The business will be known as Billingsley Service Store, and the formal opening will be held early in March. Watch this paper for further announcements of the opening and other particulars of the store.

NEW SONG BOOKS OUT

The new song books are off the press The Stamps books were used at a singing at Maple Springs last Sunday afternoon. Prof. Devaughn has a few of the new books at The Banner office for anyone who wants one. It is expected that there will be some of the new Showalter books here by Saturday of this week.

HILL'S FLOUR SALE

Mr. Stewart at Hill Grocery Company wishes especial attention called to his flour business—and coffee too. He is well pleased with the sales in these items, but he wants others to get some of the goodness too. Mr. Stewart handles White Tip and Grandma's Wonder flour and Circle H coffee. He believes in these brands strongly.

TIME DRAWING NEAR FOR NOMINATIONS TO CLOSE

March 1st is the dead line for candidates to announce for office to run in the primaries of May 3rd and June 14th. These dates are set by the state statutes for all candidates for all parties. Everyone interested will be governed accordingly. If you are thinking of getting in the swim, you will have only a little over one week to definitely make up your mind.

RADIO PROGRAM WENT OVER BIG

The radio program broadcast from the city hall in Clanton last Thursday noon over WAPI was a stupendous success. The hall was filled as long as there was standing room, and the program was interesting indeed and entertaining. The music furnished by the Comer band from Alexander City was most appropriate, as well as the parts taken by local speakers and entertainers.

DR. GRAGG WILL RETURN SOON

A card from Dr. V. J. Gragg, written Monday p. m. in Miami, Fla., says that they hope to arrive back in Clanton about Thursday, February 17. He was accompanied on the trip by Mrs. Gragg and Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Downs.

CITY WILL RUN SCHOOL ONE MORE MONTH

The city council has voted and Mayor C. Fenn Jones has made arrangements for the city to take care of the grammar school for one more month. Instead of closing on March 25th, the school will close on April 22nd. It is not likely that the city will come in and take care of the school situation after this year, unless an additional tax is levied to raise the money for that purpose.

T. M. ROOS

T. M. Roos, 69, died at his residence in Clanton Thursday night, after a short illness. The body was prepared by Spigener and shipped Friday night to Jeffersonville, Ind. Funeral services were held there Monday afternoon. He is survived by one daughter, Miss Nina Roos.

LOCAL CAGERS ARE ON ALL-AMERICAN

Dock Baker, George Chambers Only Alabamians Named On 1937 Select List

According to A. B. (Steve) Stanley, he has just received a notice from the award board of the Gold Medal Basketball Tournament Association, that two local boys were the only ones named on the select list for 1937 from Alabama in All-American ratings of players participating in Gold Medal tournaments last year.

Vernon (Dock) Baker was voted All-American honors for the year, and so was listed as one of the best taking part in Gold Medal tournaments in the country. He was a member of the 1937 Cardinal team, and is with them again this year.

George Chambers was on the "honorable mention" list of players taking part in Gold Medal tournaments for junior high schools for the year. Although not making the coveted "All-American" grade, George has the distinction of being the only Alabama boy named for "honorable mention." This year he is one of the strong Tiger quint at Chilton County High School.

Nice little bouquets for the home boys, for which they have every right to feel proud.

SERVICES AT ADVENTIST CHURCH NEXT SATURDAY MORNING

Rev. W. H. Westermeyer, of Montgomery, will preach Saturday morning, February 19, at the regular Sabbath services at 9 o'clock at the Seventh Day Adventist church in Clanton. His topic will be: "God's beautiful plan to keep the church free from corruption". Rev. Westermeyer will visit Clanton regularly. Watch for the announcements.

W. M. DEVAUGHN BACK ON VISIT

Prof. W. M. Devaughn came back home last Sunday from Dalton, Ga., where he has been teaching singing school for several weeks. He will spend a few days with home folks, and will go to Sylacauga the last of this week. From there he will go back to Dalton, and will begin a six-weeks school there next Monday night.

Prof. Devaughn says that a Showalter quartet will be formed within a few weeks, and they will sing over the air from Chattanooga. The personnel of the quartet and the hours over the air will be announced as soon as the arrangements are completed.

4-H CLUBS WILL BROADCAST OVER WAPI, FEBRUARY 26

The 4-H Clubs of Chilton County will broadcast over WAPI, February 26, from 7 to 7:30 o'clock.

All people interested in hearing this program that has been worked up by Meta E. Grace, 4-H Club girls and Miss Kathryn Foss will tune in.

Mr. Adolphus Martin of Thorsby has recently graduated from the Coyne Electrical School in Chicago.

Roosevelt, Big Business and Little Business

For five years Mr. Roosevelt and his New Deal lockeys have been trying to convince the public that American business is divided into two separate and distinct classifications. First, "Bib Business", pictured as selfish, grasping, and destructive to the public welfare. Second, the little business man, portrayed as a nice little fellow who loves Roosevelt and keeps his commandments. The purpose of the New Deal high command is quite obvious. It realizes that it cannot control the country solely through the support of its radical allies. It has tried to drive a wedge into the ranks of business, by filling the small manufacturer and merchant with jealousy and hatred of the big bad boys. In actual practice, in matters of regulation and taxation, the New Deal has been as rough on the small business man as on the big interests; but it has tried, by rendering lip service, to get the little fellow on the radical side.

How completely this New Deal propaganda has failed was made clear at the recent conference of "little business men" held in Washington to consider the state of the nation. Vigorous objection was voiced to government interference with business. The sessions were marked by what the press dispatches called "anti-administration vehemence" and waxed so stormy at times that several of those in attendance were forcibly ejected. Twenty-three resolutions were adopted and sent to the White House, most of them calling for repeal of New Deal measures that have failed to work. Opposition to the Wagner Act and to federal control of wages and hours, repeal of the undistributed profits tax, and making employer and employe equally responsible for carrying out labor agreements, were some of the recommendations.

American business, big and little, is coming out of its stupor, like a man coming off of a drunk. Business men of all calibres are realizing that after all the billions expended by the New Deal, we are right where we started. That the effort to cure our economic ills by giving all the jobs to the Democrats has failed as utterly as similar quack prescriptions in the past. When this realization penetrates through the entire mass of our population, we can look for a clean sweep of the rabble-rousers, whose power is already definitely on the wane.

What business, right here in Alabama, thinks of the New Deal was clearly evidenced at the recent banquet of the Montgomery Chamber of Commerce, at which William D. Anderson, of Macon, Ga., flayed the Roosevelt regime. He made what is probably the most outright and unqualified charge against the New Deal that has yet been brought to our attention. Said he: "My own belief is that Mr. Roosevelt and those associated with him in his administration have fully determined to destroy the America that you and I know and love, and substitute therefor some sort of state in which the principles for which our forefathers labored so valiantly, and which were embodied in our great Constitution, will be emasculated". The esteemed Montgomery Advertiser, staunch champion of the New Deal, reported that at the conclusion of Mr. Anderson's speech the audience of 250 business and professional men "stood and cheered lustily".

What happens to a town when the radical wing of labor takes charge is shown by the fate of Akron, Ohio, which has the dubious honor of being the birthplace of the sit-down strike. Ten years ago, Akron employed 70,000 hubber workers; now 25,000 is normal. Once, Akron produced two-thirds of the nation's tire output; since the CIO took charge, it is down to one-third, and still dropping, as industry seeks a more congenial home elsewhere.

One manufacturer recently said that he could build a branch plant somewhere else and pay for it in three or four years by what he would save by getting out of Akron. This is what happens to a community when any one class or faction is allowed to dominate it and exploit it for the benefit of that particular class.

SAYS REPORT OF ARREST WAS INCORRECT

Mr. Erby Popwell asks The Union-Banner to make a statement for him regarding the arrest of himself by Patrolmen Henley and Waites as reported in last week's Union-Banner. Mr. Popwell says that it was a mistake about his car nearly running over a child at the cotton mill, also about his tire being punctured by a shot from the patrolmen. He says that his tire was flat before the patrolmen shot into the back end of his car, and he had a picture taken of the back end of the car, from which it appears that the main load did go into the rear end of the body of the car rather than in the tire.

SINGING AT MAYNARD'S CHAPEL

There will be a singing at Maynard's Chapel Sunday afternoon of this week. The new books will be used. All singers are invited to come and bring your books.

C. L. WILKINS FOR SCHOOL BOARD

Mr. C. L. Wilkins, of Beat 6, Enterprise, has entered his announcement for re-election to the school board of Chilton County.

Mr. Wilkins is an old head at the school business in the county. He had been a trustee in his district for years and years before he announced for the county board. He is now closing his first term to that elective office.

The Union-Banner is glad to present Mr. Wilkins to the voters of the county. He has had experience in school matters, and is no doubt fully competent to handle the duties of the office again.

QUICK APPROVAL GIVEN NEW RELIEF

House Subcommittee Votes Roosevelt Plan

Washington, Feb. '2.—President Roosevelt's request for $250,000,000 to provide a "reasonable measure" of relief for recession victims won speedy approval of a House appropriations subcommittee late Saturday.

After hearing officials testify the money was needed immediately to provide work relief for 950,000 persons, the sub-committee approved the appropriation without any attempt to reduce it.

Chairman Taylor (D), Colorado, said the vote was along party lines. He added the bill would be considered Monday by the full committee and would come up for house debate either that day or Tuesday.

Secretary Morgenthau, Daniel Bell, acting budget director; Chairman Arthur J. Altmeyer of the Social Security Board and other Federal officials testified before the sub-committee.

Aubrey Williams, acting Works Progress Administrator, also told the group the fund was needed to permit the addition of 500,000 persons to relief rolls and to prevent the discharge of 450,000 others between now and June 1.

He said WPA had about $450,000,000 available for work projects, but that the heaviest relief load would have to be borne during the next two or three months. The need is particularly urgent, he said, in industrial centers like Detroit and other large automobile manufacturing areas.

A CANDIDATE FOR THE LEGISLATURE

Hon. Percy M. Pitts has this week officially entered the race for Representative in the Legislature by qualifying with the various party and public officials and by placing his announcement in The Union-Banner.

It is useless for us to make many introductory remarks about Mr. Pitts, for the reason that he is known to the voters of the county. He has already served the people of the county in the same office before. Mr. Pitts has a letter on another page of this paper; among other things, he says: "Should I be nominated and elected, I will sponsor and support a bill to repeal the local Act of the Legislature providing for a road supervisor . . . . . I believe in local self government, and contend that those in charge of the county's finances and roads should be elected by the people rather than appointed".

Mr. Pitts's past record in the Legislature bears proof that he not only speaks and writes in favor of local self government, but that he acts that way when he is called upon to vote upon those important legal questions. He did great service to Chilton County when he was in the Legislature before by blocking several attempts to have officials here elected by the people removed from office. We can depend on him to do the same again, and surely the county needs some such representation just now.

BAPTIST TRAINING UNION TO MEET AT THORSBY

Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 15.—Baptist Training Union members from the bounds of four or five counties will meet in Thorsby at the First Baptist Church on Friday, February 18, at 2:30 p. m., for the second annual inter-associational conference, according to Chester L. Quarles, secretary of Baptist Training Union work in Alabama. Rev. M. I. McLeod is pastor of the hostess church.

The program, which has been arranged by Mr. Quarles, includes a number of state and southwide workers. O. K. Radford, of Winter Haven, Fla., State Training Union worker, will speak and lead a conference. Mrs. T. M. Floyd, of the Alabama Baptist Book Store in Birmingham, will speak and will present a preview of interesting features of 1938. Other speakers and conference leaders include: Chester L. Guarles, Mrs. Garfield Goodwin, of Bessemer, vice-president of the Alabama Baptist Training Union Convention, and Miss Martha Sconyers, Associate Secretary of the State Training Union Department.

Rev. Sam Heath, pastor of the First Baptist Church, of Lanett, will bring the principal message of the evening session.

One special feature of this annual meeting, which includes an afternoon and evening session, will be an Intermediate Sword Drill. This Bible drill will be conducted by Miss Sconyers. All intermediate B. Y. P. U. members within the bounds of these several counties are eligible to take part. The winner of this drill will go to the State Assembly, which meets at Shocco Springs, June 19-24, to take part in a state-wide drill there.

An attendance of approximately 250 persons is expected.

COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION HERE FIRST SUNDAY IN MAY

Prof. W. M. Devaughn, chairman, and T. E. Wyatt, secretary, announce that the spring session of the Chilton County Singing Convention will be held at the courthouse in Clanton the first Sunday in May, and Saturday night before. All singers everywhere are asked to make note of the date and arrange to attend. There will be further announcement later.

METHODIST MISSIONARY CIRCLE

The monthly business meeting of the Methodist Missionary Circle met at the church on February 7.

An interesting program had been planned by Mrs. Joseph Mullins.

There were six members present from Circle No. 1 and No. 2, and four members from the Clara Mullins Circle.

YOUNGEST CANDIDATE OUT

CLIFFORD M. MANNING

The above is a likeness of Clifford M. Manning, of Beat 3, Isabella, who so far is the youngest candidate to appear on either ballot in the approaching primaries. He is running on the Republican ticket for Tax Assessor, and is a son of the late Duncan O. Manning, a prominent citizen and a staunch Republican.

IT'S A BOY

Mr. and Mrs. Willie L. Mims are receiving congratulations upon the arrival of a 11-pound baby boy on February 3, whom they will call William Kenneth. Both mother and baby are doing nicely.

HOUSE OF DAVID AT MITCHELL DAM

Bearded Team One of Best in the Nation; Has Tall Boy and Fancy Shot Man

Although full notice has been given for several weeks of the coming game on next Friday night, February 18, and no doubt most basketball fans around here are all set to attend the game, this reminder is published to keep you from missing out on the House of David affair at Mitchell Dam on this date.

The seating room is limited, and you will need to be on hand fairly early; but don't miss attending for fear you won't get a seat, as every available inch of space has been fixed up to accommodate spectators.

The Davids are an exceptionally fine team—one of the very best in the country. They carry some of the best players available anywhere. And they mix a lot of comedy in with their game, too, that will keep you laughing, even if you should not care for the game itself.

The preliminary game will be between Maplesville's independent team and the local CCC outfit, beginning at 7 o'clock. The long awaited game with the Davids showing their skill comes at 8 o'clock sharp. Be sure to see these.

Remember, the Davids carry with them that boy Malone, who rises full 7 feet and 3 inches right up into the air, and he can just lay the ball in the basket when he wishes. Other members of the team will no doubt pull a few fancy ones, as the nation's champion fancy shot artist is with the troupe. Make a date with yourself to see this show. And don't forget—it's tomorrow (Friday) night, February 18.

FROM W. A. REYNOLDS

Editor Union-Banner:

I take this means of thanking my friends in Chilton, Macon, Crenshaw and Montgomery Counties for the many kindnesses shown me during my present illness. It has been a great comfort for me to know that my friends were so thoughtful of me in my suffering, all of which has gone a long way toward helping me bear this my portion of earthly troubles.

I want my friends to know that I am doing well under the circumstances, and I have fond hopes that the time is not far distant when I will be able to be out attending to my business and mixing and mingling with my friends again. Respectfully,—W. A. Reynolds.

TWO YOUNG MEN KILLED IN WRECK

Henry E. Sandlin and Joe Ware Fatally Injured Late Last Saturday Night

The lives of two young men were snuffed out last Saturday night just after midnight in an automobile accident half a mile south of Coopers. The two were Henry E. Sandlin, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Sandlin of Ramblers Rest, and Joe Ware, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Ware. The car, a Dodge coach, owned by Elbert Sandlin, was driven by Henry Sandlin. From reports it seems that a tire must have blown out, causing the car to leave the highway. It landed in a shallow ditch against a high bank, and turned completely around. Both boys were thrown clear of the car, and were dead when reached only a few seconds after the accident.

Funeral services for Henry Sandlin were held at Chestnut Creek Monday morning at 11 o'clock, conducted by Rev. J. W. Jones of Columbiana; burial was in the adjoining cemetery, Martin & Sons directing. Pallbearers were: Jerrell Miller, Lamar Hand, Herschel Hand, Samolen Thornton, Odell Thornton, and Kyle Smith. Surviving are the father and mother, seven brothers and one sister.

Funeral services for Joe Ware were held at Clanton Prebyterian church Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Anderson of Montgomery. Burial was at Isabella, Martin & Sons directing. Pallbearers were: Virgil Weldon, Carl Martin, Walter Roper, Roy Arant, Billie Popwell, and Harvey Armstrong. Surviving are the father and mother, one brother and one sister.

SHELBY SINGING CONVENTION TO BE HELD SUNDAY, FEB. 20

The Shelby County singing convention will be held in Calera high school auditorium on February 20, the third Sunday, and promises to be a grand affair. All Chilton singers are invited. —H. H. McDaniel, President. 1-3-3t

COSBY-HODGES AND JAZZ HAD WRITE-UP IN ALABAMA

In last week's Alabama magazine there was a big double spread write-up about Cosby-Hodges Milling Company and its personnel in its Birmingham office and plant. This was a very creditable and we might say most deserving mention of Cosby-Hodges.

This is a concern which Alabama should be and is proud of. It fills a place in our State that should be filled, doing a business that has long been needed. Jazz Feed has become almost a family password among the farmers of Chilton county and Alabama.

We are proud of Cosby-Hodges and the business they are operating in Alabama. May they continue to expand both in scope and usefulness.

REPORT OF ARRESTS MADE DURING THE PAST WEEK

A report from state and county officers for the past week shows 14 arrests for various offenses.

Chilton County now has four highway patrolmen, officers Morris Jones and Julius Smith having been transferred here from Dallas County. The patrolmen's report was as follows:

Speeding, 1; bond.

Public drunkenness, 3; one was released on bond, while the other two were released in the Justice of the Peace's court on payment of fine and costs.

No driver's license, 1; in jail.

Driving while intoxicated, 3; two of these made bond, and the other was released on payment of fine and costs.

No tail light, 1; in jail.

The sheriff's force report as follows:

No driver's license, 1; bond.

Public drunkenness, 1; in jail.

Assault, 1; in jail.

Sunday gaming, 1; in jail.

Abusive, indecent and obscene language, 1; in jail.

S. J. M. WEBB ANNOUNCED FOR MEMBER SCHOOL BOARD

Announcing for re-election as member of the County Board of Education this week is Mr. S. J. M. Webb of Liberty Hill community. By way of explanation, The Union-Banner wishes to say that it was only at the urgent solicitation of many friends that Mr. Webb decided for his name to be entered as a candidate. He did not intend running again, inasmuch as he has served in this capacity three terms already; but many people interested in the educational matters of the county prevailed on him to announce for re-election. He did so with reluctance—not because he was tired of serving but because he does not want to be held in the light of seeking to stay in office too long.

The services of S. J. M. Webb, his experience in educational matters, and his ability to get things done judiciously are needed to Chilton county. No doubt, he had rather turn the job over to someone else, but we doubt that the voters of the county are ready to give him leave of absence. We all know that he is tried and true, a Christian gentlemen, and a public servant worthy of many times his hire. His many friends will be pleased to learn that he has graciously consented to have his name appear on the Republican ballot for re-election as member of the board of education.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT FOR WILLIAM R. SMITH

Hall of Clanton Lodge No. 423, A. F. & A. M., Clanton, Ala., February 5, 1938.

To the Worshipful Master, Wardens and Brethren of Clanton Lodge:

We, the undersigned committee heretofore appointed to draft suitable resolutions upon the death of Brother Wm. R. Smith, beg leave to submit the following:

Brother Smith was born near Rockford, in Coosa County, Alabama, May 14, 1858, and lived there until about 1923, when he moved to Chilton County, where he continued to reside until his death. Brother Smith was a man to whom his fellow man could appeal for an honorable and upright opinion in all moral questions, and in whom the whole community had the utmost confidence and respect. He was a consistent member of the Methodist Protestant church, which he joined in 1870, and to which he was faithful until his death.

Brother Smith was married to Miss Abbie Wilson in January, 1880, and to whcih union was born nine children, three sons and six daughters. Six of htese children survive him. His faithful wife preceded him to the great beyond some two years ago.

Brother Smith was made and entered Apprentice in May 1904, passed in June, and raised in July, 1904, in Proctor Lodge No. 571, and from which he demitted and affiliated with Clanton Lodge June 19, 1928, where he continued membership until his death. Brother Smith departed this life near Clanton, Alabama, on the 23rd day of January, 1938, and was buried at Walnut Creek church, with full Masonic honors. Therefore, be it resolved, that the removal of a noble life leaves a vacancy in our Lodge and the hearts of the brethren, and a shadow that will be deeply realized by his friends and the members of this Lodge.

Second, that with the deepest sympathy with the bereaved relatives of the deceased brother, we express the hope that even so great a loss to us all may be overruled for good by Him Who doeth all things well.

That a copy of these resolutions be spread on the minutes of this Lodge, and a copy be furnished his beloved family, and to the county papers. Respectfully submitted,—W. H. Sartor, L. E. Little, R. W. Lowe, Committee.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our deepest thanks to our friends and relatives for their faithful love and care durthe long illness of our dear daughter, Lera.

We especially thank Dr. C. O. Lawrence, his nurse and St. Margaret Hospital for their services. Lera is doing fine now.

May God's richest blessings fall upon each and every one of you is our prayer.—O. D. Bone and Family.

Mr. W. N. Connell of Refuge community was operated on at St. Margaret's hospital for appendicitis Monday, the 14th. Late reports say that he is getting along nicely.

Contribution and other reports due under the unemployment compensation law are not delinquent if they bear postmark not later than midnight of the due date. If the due date falls on Sunday or a legal holiday reports may be mailed the following day.

R. H. TAYLOR

R. H. Taylor, age 67, passed away at his home in Clanton Tuesday night. He is survived by: his wife, Mrs. Ada Taylor; one son, R. R. Taylor; one daughter, Mrs. C. E. Seibert; one grandson, all of Birmingham; three brothers—Jack Taylor of Columbus, Ga., Aaron of Montgomery, and Walter of Coopers.

Funeral services were held Thursday at 11 o'clock at Chestnut Creek church, Coopers, Revs. Truett, Ezell, and Hughes officiating; Spigener directing.

Active pallbearers were Grady, Hugh and William Taylor, Charlie Rasberry, and W. W. Wingard.

Honorary pallbearers were Judge J. Lee Smith, Dr. T. J. Marcus, Dr. J. P. Hayes, and Ed Kemp.

WARNING AGAINST WHOOPING COUGH SOUNDED

Chilton county parents were urged today by the local health department to take special caution against the danger of whooping cough in young children during the spring months. Of 137 deaths from whooping cough recorded in Alabama during 1935, 83 occurred during the first five months of the year, it was pointed out by Dr. S. D. Sturkie, county health officer.

"This childhood disease," he added, "is far more dangerous than most parents suspect. This is particularly true of the occurence of the disease in children under 3 years of age . Of the 137 deaths in 1935, there were 122 victims in the toddler age-group, under three years of age. The greatest loss of life from whooping cough occurs in the ranks of young infants under one year of age, there being 89 such deaths in Alabama in 1935.

The disease is characterizzed by onset with cold, tight dry cough and slight fever within 10-14 days following exposure. The cough becomes gradually worse occurring in spells and the rapid drawing in of the breath produces the familiar whoop. Mucus is often finally coughed up or there may be vomiting. The disease is contagious during the earlier stages resembling a "cold" and for 3-4 weeks following the development of the whoop. All children with suspicious coughs should be placed under the care of the family physician.

On the appearance of a case in a home," he declared further, "it is safer to send the young baby brother or sister to the home of a relative or neighbor where there are no children than to risk infection. Children with whooping cough should be excluded from school for a period of three weeks dating from the onset of the whoop and other non-immune children in the family should be kept out for 10 days. A vaccine has been developed which is being recommended by many physicians as a means of preventing the disease, but reports indicate that protection develops slowly and not within three months after administration of the vaccine.

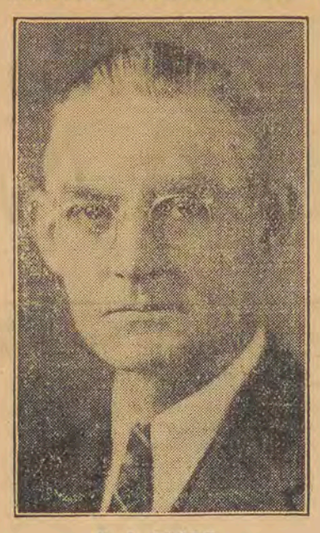
JUST FROM SHOULTS

Uncle Mose Abram passed away last Saturday night, February 12th. Uncle Mose was known all over Chilton county.

The rabbit hunt was almost a failure; too many boys, too many dogs. Three boys tied in rabbit tails, so, they will miss the Union-Banner.

I am getting ready to shake the hand of Will Culp in my new grown hope, he won't tarry long when he comes. I am very busy just now, good luck to all.—Uncle Remus.

CARD OF THANKS



We wish to take this means to express our thanks and appreciation to each and every one of you that helped in any way ddring the illness and death of our father, J. H. Collins.

May the Lord bless each one of you is our prayer.—The Family.

Money given to employes as Christmas presents by their employers must be counted as wages under a ruling of J. Eugene Foster, general counsel of the Alabama unemployment compensation commission. Foster said the law requires contributions on all wages, bonuses, etc., regardless of the form. He said a Christmas present is a bonus.

Mrs. Dewey Eubanks left Sunday for Key West, Fla., to visit her daughter, Mrs. J. W. White)Dewey Rene Eubanks).

ANNOUNCES FOR GOVERNOR

R. J. GOODE

In making his announcement for Governor of Alabama, Mr. Goode says:

"If I were asked to point out what I consider the first essential to the state, it would be friendly understanding, open conferences, and a united body of citizens.

"My commitments will be made publicly to all the people.

"I shall promise no office.

"I have no hostilities to carry on.

"I harbor no bitterness.

"I would not care to be governor unless I felt that I could, from my first day in office until my last, have the confidence of our people, regardless of class or station in life, and help to reconcile the class differences and misunderstandings of the past.

"With this conviction and this motive, I shall not be moved nor deceived to serve the purposes of any political machine, any class or pressure group, nor any wasteful or ulterior purpose."

PRESS WILL MAKE WASHINGTON TRIP

Alabama Press To Again Invite Outsiders To Enjoy Pilgrimage To National Capital

Washington is the city which the Alabama Press Association has chosen as the objective of this summer's trip, and the latter part of June will find several hundred Alabama newspaper men, their families and friends, on their way toward this goal.

A gala time is in store for them. Several days in the capital of the Nation, with sightseeing and many courtesies, among them being a visit to the White House, will be but one part of this interesting trip, as the party is planning to visit Annapolis, Mt. Vernon, Arlington, and possibly to go on to New York and home by water.

The trip will be a week of pleasure and sightseeing, at a very moderate outlay.

Two years ago the Press visited Havana, the capital of Cuba, and opened the trip to those others who desired to take advantage of the pleasures arranged for the newspapermen. This June's trip will also include those others who desire to accompany the Press Association, and this newspaper will shortly have full details for those of its friends who are interested in making the trip.

Complete itinerary is now being made up and as soon as it is available, the details of the trip will make interesting reading.

CARDINALS LOST TO MIGNON MONDAY NIGHT, 50 TO 41

The Mitchell Dam Cardinals lost to a heady and skillful Mignon (Sylacauga) team here on the high school floor last Monday night, 50 to 41.

The visitors showed a fast breaking offense that the Cards were never quite able to solve. Besides that, the locals were not taking them off the board, with King, lanky Mignon center, coming out best in this department of the game. Too, the Cards seemed a little jittery, making several bad passes right into waiting hands of their opponents. They played brilliantly in spots, but never put on a consistent offense, although they were leading at the half, 21 to 19.

RUBINOFF AND HIS VIOLIN VISIT BIRMINGHAM ON FEBRUARY 20th

Rubinoff and his $100,000 Stradivarius violin will visit Birmingham on February 20, when he appears in a popular concert at the Temple theatre.

Except for several engagements of a special nature, Rubinoff has not toured the country in seven years. He has been featured on the broadcasting networks during this period, as well as conductor of the New York Paramount Theatre orchestra, where he established a record for a long time engagement on Broadway, but it was his dynamic music on the air that made him a national favorite.

Reports from other cities where radio's dynamic maestro has appeared, promises something new in musical technique. Considered the dean of radio soloists, his accustomed brilliance and originality have received the plaudits of the critics and audiences wherever he has performed on his nation-wide tour.

Sharing the program with Rubinoff are the celebrated piano duo of Fray and Bragiotti. These two brilliant young men have been internationally acclaimed, and are certain to create widespread attention with their work at the two pianos when they make their appearance here.

Rubinoff has become a name known in every home that boasts a radio, and his tremendous popularity has resulted in capacity audiences in other cities visited.

Tickets can be obtained by mail from Temple Theatre; prices of tickets: orchestra, $2.24; dress circle, $1.68; first balcony, $1.12; second balcony, 87 cents; gallery, 56c cents. Make checks payable to Temple Theatre.

Percy M. Pitts Writes Voters

To the Republican Voters of Chilton County:

In announcing my candidacy for the nomination in the Republican primary to be held on May 3rd and June 14th, 1938, as nominee on the Republican ticket for Representative in the Legislature from Chilton County, by reason of you having honored me with this office before, I realize the importance of the position that I am seeking at your hands. I believe from the experience that I have had in previous sessions of the Alabama legislature that I am better fitted, by reason of said experience, to intelligently represent the people of Chilton County in this lawmaking body.

I will seek this nominatoin and this office not on the merits or demerits of my opponents, but on my past record in the legislature as your representative.

Should I be nominated and elected, I will sponsor and support a bill to repeal the local act of the legislature providing for a road supervisor as passed by the 1935 legislature. I am a great believer in local self-government, and believe that the party or parties who have charge of county finances, roads and so forth should be elected by the people instead of by appointment. During the time I had the honor of serving you in past years, there was a bill passed through the state senate to abolish the Commissioners Court of Chilton County, and creating in lieu thereof a Board of Revenue to be appointed by the governor, thereby abolishing the offices of our Commissioners Court, all of whom had been duly elected by the people. As your Representative, I defeated this bill by an overwhelming majority in the House.

Never have I seen before in Chilton County more enthusiasm and determination on the part of the Republicans of Chilton County to put forth a united effort to nominate and elect a Republican ticket and place our local government back in the hands of the people, than apparently is manifested at the present time. All of them are vitally interested in our local governmental affairs. We have capable, energetic and trustworthy candidates offering for nominations in the coming Republican primary.

Assuring you of my appreciation of any consideration you may see fit to give my candidacy for this nomination, and with best wishes for the election of the Republican ticket in Chilton County in the November election, I am respectfully yours,—Percy M. Pitts.

CHILTON TRIPS MONTEVALLO HIGH FOR VICTORY NO. 14

The Chilton High Tigers made it 14 in a row Wednesday night, taking the Montevallo team in tow for the second time this season by a score of 45 to 19.

Seemingly back to their old form after a let-down during the past few weeks, the Tigers toyed with their visitors from the very first whistle. The individual scores are not at hand as this is written, but, any way, the boys don't care about that—they are satisfied with a victory—cleanly won—and are not so particular about starring. They play as a unit, and this fine team play has so far turned back all comers. The season's total is: Chilton 477, opponents 262.

The Montevallo team was game enough, but were no sort of match for the keen, polished machine that goes to make up the Tigers.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday school attendance last Sunday was good. We enjoyed having the visitors, and hope to be honored again with their visits, or, if possible, their membership and regular attendance. We have a place for everyone at any age in our Sunday school, and we are always glad to have visitors and new members. And we could have better attendance from some of our present members. We solicit your presence next Sunday morning at 9:45. Be there for your devotional and class. Then hear Mr. Elmore's message at the general assembly.

Attendance at the preaching service, we hope, will be much better next Sunday. Let's each of us do his or her bit in getting a large crowd to church to hear our pastor's good messages at 11 A. M. and 6:30 P. M.

Good things are being heard about our young people's organization, of which we are proud. The young people who do not attend are missing something fine at 5:45 p.m. each Sunday. We'd be happy to have every young person in town in this organization. How about it, young people?

MITCHELL DAM CARDINALS WON PAIR THIS WEEK

The Mitchell Dam Cardinals set some kind of new high in scoring last Saturday night when they met the Gorgas team of the Alabama Power Company. Believe it or not, the score was 97 and 56. Several of the Cards shot scores up in the teens, and one Gorgas man shot 22.

According to Mr. Stanley, Card manager, after the Mitchell Dam boys were out of danger, they shot from all angles, and seemed able to make every shot count. Mr. Stanley says his boys were "hot" that night.

This game was called by "Ivy Paul" Andrews, big league baseball pitcher, whose home is at Dora, Ala.

Bronchial Coughs Need Creomulsion

Just a common cough, a chest cold, or a bronchial irritation of today may lead to serious trouble tomorrow. They may be relieved now with Creomulsion, an emulsified Creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medicinal combination designed to aid nature in soothing and healing infected mucous membranes by allaying irritation and inflammation and by aiding in loosening and expelling the germ-laden phlegm.

The Medical Profession has for many years recognized the beneficial effect of Beechwood Creosote in the treatment of coughs, chest colds, and bronchial irritations. A special process was worked out by a chemist, for blending Creosote with other ingredients and now in Creomulsion you get a real dose of genuine Beechwood Creosote which is palatable and can even be taken frequently and continuously by both adults and children.

Creomulsion is one preparation that goes to the very seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm. When coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles—due to common colds—hang on, get a bottle of Creomulsion from your druggist, use it as directed, and if you are not satisfied with the relief obtained, the druggist is authorized to refund every cent of your money. Creomulsion is one word—not two, and it has no hyphen in it. Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief that you want. Adv

2 WAY RELIEF FOR THE MISERY OF COLDS

Take 2 BAYER ASPIRIN tablets and drink a full glass of water. Repeat treatment in 2 hours.

If throat is sore from the cold, crush and stir 3 BAYER ASPIRIN tablets in ⅓ glass of water. Gargle twice. This eases throat rawness and soreness almost instantly.

All it usually costs to relieve the misery of a cold today — is 3¢ to 5¢ — relief for the period of your cold 15¢ to 25¢. Hence no family need neglect even minor head colds.

Here is what to do: Take two BAYER tablets when you feel a cold coming on — with a full glass of water. Then repeat, if necessary, according to directions in each package. Relief comes rapidly.

The Bayer method of relieving colds is the way many doctors approve. You take Bayer Aspirin for relief — then if you are not improved promptly, you call the family doctor.

THE USED CAR BUSINESS

The used car business in this country is a $2,000,000,000 industry. In 1936 and last year it averaged nearly 7,000,000 cars. The annual dollar turnover in the used car business is greater than that of food, clothing, or the combined jewelry and furniture business.

A host of comparisons may be made with this recent giant in commercial circles, but they wouldn't make it any smaller. The used car business is truly a giant.

It has not been appreciated in its true size until recently.

When there was much national concern, during the early winter, about the slowing down of the automobile factories, with subsequent unemployment ripples that swept over most of the business surface of the country, mention was made that used cars were responsible. There was a jam in the sale of used cars, it was said, and that stalled the new car market. The resulting unemployment from the automobile and supply factories shutting down or curtailing their work, still further jammed the used car market.

Many have asked, are used cars that important in our industrial life?

According to W. E. Holler, general sales manager, Chevrolet Motor Division of General Motors, they are. The automobile industry is based upon used cars. They are a by-product of the automobile industry. Whereas, the new cars are manufactured or fabricated in a plant, the used cars are manufactured by nearly 29,000,000 motor vehicle owners.

Of the 29,000,000 owners in this country, it is approximated by the Petroleum Institute that 10,000,000 of those owners have never owned a new car.

STATE HEALTH DEPARTMENT

Montgomery, Feb. 15.—Alabama deaths from motor vehicle accidents increased from 525 in 1934 to 698 in 1936, the increase amounting to slightly less than 33 per cent, as compared with an increase of approximately 5½ per cent for the United States as a whole, according to figures obtained by the State Department of Health from the Bureau of the Census of the United States Department of Commerce.

This State ranked in nineteenth place among the states of the Union in the number of motor vehicle deaths occurring in 1936. It ranked in seventh place among Southern states, its deaths from this cause being greater than that of any other state in this area except Georgia, Kentucky, North Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia.

CHOOSING COMPANIONS IN SERVICE

LESSON TEXT—Mark 3:7-19, 31-35.
GOLDEN TEXT—For whosoever shall do the will of God, the same is my brother—Mark 3:35.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Twelve Men Who Went With Jesus.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Twelve Men Who Went With Jesus.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Working With Others for Christ.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Comradeship in Christian Service.

"God can save a man who is all alone on the top of the Alps." So spoke one who sought to discourage another who wanted to give his life for Christian service. No one questions that God could thus carry on His work in sovereign power, and that there are times when He does that very thing. But ordinarily God works through men. It was "the sword of the Lord, and of Gideon" (Judges 7:18).

What a glorious, inspiring truth it is that God calls men into companionship with Him for service. Sinful and weak though they be they may become strong and holy, and do valiant service for Him.

I. The Need of Christian Workers (vv. 7-11).

Although the hostility to Christ was growing apace among the religious leaders, the people thronged about Him in the hope they might have deliverance from the devil and from disease. The need was so great that the Lord Jesus now prepared to call those who were to be His fellow-servants.

The multitudes are in just as desperate need of Christ and of the ministry of His church today. Why, then, do they not crowd the churches and press in around His servants? That is the question over which leaders of the church are puzzled. There may be many reasons, but we suggest two as being at least worthy of careful thought. The first is that we live in a time of apostasy. In the time of Christ men had only begun to hear His message of deliverance. In our day men have heard and heard again and have hardened their hearts.

Another reason is that in many, perhaps most, instances, the church has so far separated itself from the Lord that it has no power. Needy men are not interested in the dead observance of religious forms. They want to see the workings of the power of the Most High God!

Whether men know their need or not, whether they throng our churches or not, their very need of Christ should impel us to serve the Master in reaching them. The love of Christ should constrain us.

II. The Call to Christian Work (vv. 12-19).

Much might be said at this point but we must limit ourselves to two thoughts. Note that the Lord chooses his own workers; we do not choose to work for Him. Then be encouraged by the fact that He chose men of widely differing gifts, temperaments, and personal characteristics.

Then we note that He called some of unusual ability, others with little ability; some learned, and some unlearned—fishermen, a tax-gatherer, and others of various occupations. Note that none were by profession preachers. What a comfort it is to those who are in Christian work to remember that it is not what we are or may have been that counts; it is what Christ is and what he can do through us!

III. Preparation for Christian Work (vv. 31-35).

God has many ways to prepare His servants—but it seems that they all experience the heart-breaking disappointment of misunderstanding and the heart-warming joy of intimate fellowship with the Lord.

Look at verse 21 and you will realize that the family and friends of Jesus thought He was crazy because He devoted Himself so wholeheartedly to the service of His Father. Is it not strange that if a man becomes a scientist he is honored if he ruins his health in zealous research? If he is a business man he may burn the lights late in the pursuit of wealth, but if he chooses to give his life to the greatest of all occupations open to man—service for Christ—his friends and relatives try to deter him by calling him a fanatic.

Beautiful beyond words is the other side of our picture. Those who serve Him are "to be with Him" (v. 14). He sends them forth to preach, and gives them power. Yes, they even become the members of the most intimate family circle. "Behold . . . my brethren" (v. 34).

Vain Regrets and Grief

Forgive!—the years are slipping by, and Life is all too brief—A time will come when it's too late for vain regrets and grief.

Come Apart and Rest!

Even the busiest lives must have their breathing times, when the ordinary strain of effort is relaxed.

Unconscious Benefaction

It may well be that the good we unconsciously do exceeds the sum of all our purposed benefactions.

Mt. Pleasant Yellow Jackets Sting Montevallo "B's" 28 to 8

Coach Burt Curlee Has Another Good Junior High Team; Jackets Above Average For Junior Highs

Coach Burt Curlee's fast Mt. Pleasant Junior High Yellow Jackets stung the Montevallo High "B" team with a 28 to 8 defeat in the preliminary before the Montevallo-Tiger game at the high school court here last Wednesday night.

The little boys from Montevallo never had a chance with the Jackets, who led the visitors in every depa.tment of the game—passing, guarding and shooting. Capt. Johnson, lanky Jacket center, shared scoring honors with Jones, each shooting 11 points. The other Jackets were all right in there all the time, too, playing the usual type of heads-up game which always seems to characterize a Curlee coached team. Those Mt. Pleasant lads seem to grow up cutting their teeth on a basket ball; Coach Curlee is rated one of the best coaches the county affords; and all taken together, the Mt. Pleasant Jackets manage to come out year after year with a championship contender.

For Montevallo, Lovelady and M. Finley shared the scoring honors, each getting one field goal and two foul goals for four points each for their team's total score.

Coach Curlee plans on turning out several more good players within a year or two; all of them, more than likely, will wear the Orange and Blue of Chilton High when their days at Mt. Pleasant are over. Burt Curlee is an old Chilton grad, and he likes to watch his boys get in there and win for his Alma Mater. Who wouldn't?

State Capitol News

Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 15.—For the first time since enactment of the state's budget control act seven years ago, all appropriations were paid in full during the last quarter of 1937 and Comptroller Charles W. Lee announced this week that appropriations would "also be paid 100-cents on the dollar during the ensuing quarterly period."

The budget control act was enacted in 1932—seven years ago—but despite reduced appropriations by the legislature, the proration of funds ranged from less than 25 per cent to about 50 per cent until Governor Bibb Graves assumed office in January, 1935.

Comptroller Lee estimated Alabama's schools would receive $12,222,894 from the state during the present fiscal year (1937-38). Probable receipts of the public school fund were placed at $3,793,894, and the special educational fund, $8,428,000

Without revealing his platform, Commissioner of Agriculture R. J. Goode, of Gastonburg, told capitol newsmen late last week that he would make his formal announcement as candidate for Governor on Thursday, February 17.

Meantime, political seers had finally agreed that the governor's race would be confined to four aspirants, only two of whom have formally qualified. The quartet is Chauncey Sparks, Eufaula attorney; James H. Arnold, Birmingham merchant; Commissioner Goode, and Frank M. Dixon, Birmingham attorney and runner-up against Governor Graves in 1934.

Sunday is Rev. Dewey Robinson's regular preaching day at 11 o'clock. Let's all try to come.

Mrs. Gladys Woods, Miss Wilma and Clearise Lucas of Siluria, spent the week end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Lucas.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Nabors of Birmingham, spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Nabors.

Reports indicate that many Alabama farmers are profiting by 1-variety cotton communities. Growers in 103 1-variety communities last year earned $450,000 in premiums for quality cotton and from increased yields, says a report from the AAA to J. C. Lowery, agronomist, Alabama Sxtension Service. There are at present 781 1-variety communities in the cotton producing states.

TRUCK ECONOMY RECORD

Detroit, Feb. 10. — Chevrolet's truck slogan, "Thrift Carriers for the Nation", was given further factual backing today, on receipt from Washington of official AAA figures showing that the truck in which Harry Hartz drove from Ottawa, Can., to Mexico city established a fuel economy record of 67.04 ton-miles per gallon. The unit is a 1½-ton stock Chevrolet model carrying a "pay load" of 4,000 pounds of steel.

W. E. Fish, manager of the Chevrolet commercial car department, released the official data, covering the 12-day period which began January 14, and summarizing the log maintained by AAA observer Stanley Reed, who was riding the truck on its run. The "vital statistics" on the trip show that the truck covered 3,022.2 miles between the two capitals, averaging 252 miles a day, and completing the journey in an actual driving time of 97 hours 21 minutes. Average speed was 31.04 miles an hour.

It took 208.73 gallons of gasoline, costing $40.46, to make the trip, which works out at a fuel cost of $.01339 a mile. The gasoline cost per ton-mile was $.00289. These figures reveal the remarkably high ton-miles per gallon figure of 67.04, based on the vehicle's gross weight of 9,260 pounds.

Oil economy figures were similarly striking, Fish pointed out. Oil actually consumed totaled 2.92 quarts in 3,022.2 miles, the cost of the oil being $1.07, he said. Total cost of gasoline, oil, and lubrication, Ottawa to Mexico City, was $43.84, for a total per-mile cost of $.0145 and a per-ton-mile cost of $.00313.

Special interest attaches to the results, in Chevrolet officials' opinion, by reason of the fact that the run was by no means laid out in favor of the truck. The first several hundred miles were made through snow and near-zero weather, the intermediate stages through rain, with occasional stretches of mud, and the last 265-mile leg was a mountain climb which necessitated 61 miles of driving in second and third gear. Hartz reported it only necessary to fall back on second gear 10 times in the course of the entire trip, and third gear 63 times. No repairs or tire changes were needed in the 3,022 miles.

After delivering good will messages from Canadian officials to those in Mexico City, Hartz and Reed retraced their way as far as San Antonio, Tex. The truck will add 300 miles or more to its speedometer daily for a week or two in Texas, before turning east.

Alabama employers who have been subject to the unemployment compensation law cannot claim exemption until they have operated one full calendar year with less than eight employes. They must furnish proof that they have not had eight employes for a calender year before they can be relieved of contributions.

Mrs. Lillie left Sunday for her home in Bangar, Pa. She has been visiting her people in Beat 11 for the past several weeks.

ENDORSES REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES

Editor Union-Banner:

I want to say a few words in regard to the Republican candidates. I am especially interested in T. M. Taylor and J. Dewey Rockett, but I can say further that we will make no mistake in electing Mr. W. G. Culp as our sheriff and Mr. Ralph Grant as our superintendent. All of the rest of the Republican candidates are good men, and we must stand behind them one hundred per cent in November.

If you wanted information about farming, naturally you would go to a man who has been successful in raising plenty of corn, cotton and other stuff. The selection of officials for our county is very much like that. These men have made a success of their own businesses. I have known these two men all my life, and have done business with both of them. I have never heard of them beating anybody out of a penny. I believe that if they are honored with the offices they ask for, they will make a success for the county.

This letter is not written at the request of anyone; so, let's all remember them at the polls in the coming elections.—A Beat 16 Voter.

Christian Endeavor News

The Executive committee of the Christian Endeavor society met Sunday afternoon, February 13, in the fellowship room of the church. Coworkers were chosen for each committee. Fred Blankenship was elected chairman of the Press committee. It was voted that a letter of appreciation be written to Mr. and Mrs. Manning for their kindness in opening their home to the C. E. for a social last Saturday night.

The society met Sunday evening for its regular program. Miss Lillian Smith was the leader of a program entitled, "My Own Master." The entire society joined in discussion of ways of attaining self-mastery. Special music was given by a group of girls.

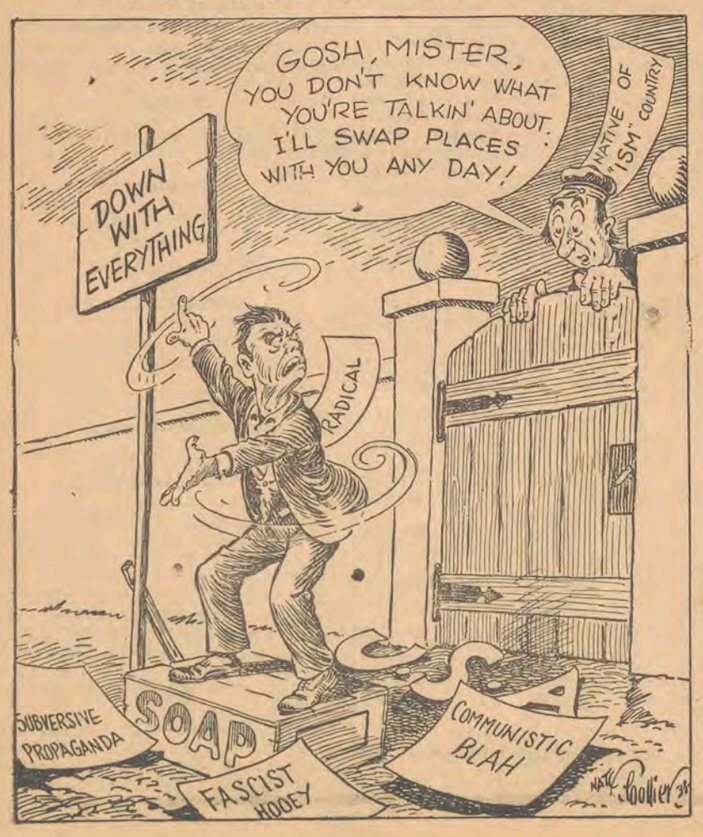
Thorsby Institute News

The musical recital given by Miss Kathryn Foss' older pupils was held in the auditorium Saturday afternoon. Grace Mixson, though a younger pupil, was on the program because of the fact that the Mixsons are planning to leave Thorsby soon. Aside from playing two solos, she gave a reading and did it very well. She is one of Miss Lois Townsley's pupils in public speaking.

The music recital was one of the best ever given at the Institute.

Two weeks from Saturday at three o'clock, the younger music pupils will give a costume music recital at the dining hall to which every one is invited.

Next Saturday night at 7:30 in the auditorium, the Annual Declamatory Contest will take place. Every one is invited. No admission will be charged.



Some of Miss Lois Townsley's public speaking pupils gave a short play at chapel Monday morning. It was entitled "The Ghost of a Freshman." The scene was a room in a dormitory. Betty Jean Rowell was Mary, Florine Mims, Gertrude; Kathleen Honeycutt was Diane Reynolds, a freshman; Ruth Cox, Rhoda; Miss Townsley Helena, the school monitor in the dormitory. The play was very well given.

Coalition Note Is Sounded By G. O. P. In Radio Speech

Dissatisfied Democrats Are Urged To Join Republicans Against New Deal

Leaders of the Republican party joined Saturday night in inviting dissatisfied Democrats to vote with them in the next congressional and Presidential elections, but they disagreed over some policies of their own party.

The coalition note was sounded in address commemorating the birthday of the party's first president, Abraham Lincoln.

Senator Vandenberg, of Michigan, who has been frequently mentioned for the Republican presidential nomination two years hence, complimented "many a sound Jeffersonian Democrat." Then he said that if saving "the American system" necessitated "altering the Republican identity, I would do it."

Speaking at Boston, Vandenberg added:

"We can win in 1938; we can win in 1940."

He discussed "this Roosevelt recession" and asked for a showdown between "collectivism and the American system."

Governor George D. Aiken, of Vermont, whose state was one of the two which went Republican in the 1936 presidential election, asserted that henceforth the people "will stand for neither the erratic wanderings of the New Deal nor the self-satisfied smugness of the old guard Republicanism."

In an address at New York Aiken criticized the makeup of the recently created Republican program committee. He said that, in a total membership of 217, organized and unorganized workers were represented by "just four labor men" and agriculture by only 21.

The governor counseled:

"Forget your hatred for the president. Stop crying 'Fascist' every time he makes a move. Stop worrying about Reds in the White House. Because of your reckless hatred the minds of many American men and women are shut against your honest criticisms."

Like Vandenberg, John Hamilton, chairman of the Republican National Committee, directed some of his remarks to "Jeffersonian Democrats."

"The Republican party is more Jeffersonian today than those who pay mere lip service to his name," Hamilton said.

Bruce Barton, new Republican member of the House from New York, found some fault with Republican methods of combating Roosevelt policies.

"When we talk," said Barton, "it is in self-sounding phrases—the undistributed profits tax, the capital gains tax, balanced budgets, economic laws."

"These are not words of meaning to the common man. The words that mean something to him are honest, steady jobs; cheaper, more wholesome food. . . . . the removal of the fear of old age."

Business Procession Is Laid To "Fear Of Rooseveltism"

Georgian Deplores President's Lack Of Consistency; Says Legislation Is Vicious And Unfair

Montgomery, Feb. 6. — Scoring the policies of the federal administration, William D. Anderson, president of the Bibb Mfg. Co., of Macon, and former president of the American Cotton Manufacturers Association, today had laid down a 3-point program for citizens to follow in opposition to further governmental regulation of business.

Referring to the present business recession, Anderson declared before a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce here last night that President Roosevelt was right when he said fear was the cause, but the manufacturer added:

"The fear was the fear of Rooseveltism".

Reviewing Mr. Roosevelt's first campaign speeches, Anderson declared:

"My own view is that many policies he has inaugurated and much of the philosophy which has marked his administration had not been dreamed of by him until after he took office. I believe that very promptly after he became president, influences surrounded him that have dragged him out into a current of thought and activity not previously considered and from which he will probably never be able to extricate himself. I doubt if he could get back to shore if he tried."

As for the recent attacks by high government officials on business, Anderson said "It bears strong resemblance to the scheme of burning down a fine and impressive structure in order to kill a few large rats in the cellar, and the question arises in our minds as to whether the real desire is to destroy these dangerous pests or whether planned incendiarism is the real purpose."

As a means of halting what he termed "a campaign to substitute bureaucracy for local self-government, government regulation for business initiative, and federal control for independence of action", Anderson offered the following program:

"We should make an appeal to the congress of the United States to desist from further regulatory legislation and to cease to centralize power in bureaus and departments in Washington. We should ask them to repeal a lot of the vicious legislation that has already been put on the state books.

"The business men of this nation and the workers of the nation—the real toilers—those who are underneath the load—should take steps to see that congress is more responsive to the needs of the people, as they can be inteligently interpreted. In recent years, some of us have been foolish enough to boast that we took no part in politics. We are now reaping our reward.

"We should give free expression and rein to something which I think is boiling in the breast of every business man and citizen. I refer to a keener and deeper appreciation of the spiritual values in life and in business."

CIRCLE 5 MET WITH MRS. COX

Circle 5 of the Baptist Missionary Society met with Mrs. Bama Cox last Monday, February 14th, the latter serving as hostess. The circle chairman, Mrs. E. E. Upchurch, presided. An interesting discussion was led by Miss Alice Powell of Kentucky on the subject, "The Growth of Home Missions."

After the program and a short business session, delightful refreshments were served to 23 members. Three new members were welcomed to the Circle.

BAKER HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB

The Baker Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. J. A. Marcus Tuesday, February 8th, with five members and two visitors present.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. J. A. Marcus, followed by the roll call and the reading of the minutes by the secretary. Miss Grace gave a talk on the kitchen contest that begins January 15th. Miss Grace urged each member to join in the contest and improve their kitchen. Also a committee was appointed to help the ones who entered the contest. This committee goes and checks your kitchen now, and at the end of the contest does the same. The ones appointed were: Mrs. Horace Popwell, Mrs. I. E. Edwards, and Mrs. J. A. Marcus.

After the business session was over the members gathered into the kitchen to study pastry. A delicious butter scooth pie and coffee were served to the members and guests. Next month the members will meet to study bread making. Due to illness, several members were absent, and the club urged that each member try to attend the next meeting.

Misses Amy Gene Sorrell and Mary Cost of Jemison, were the week end guests of Miss Frances Bean.

Basket ball Tournament

The 11 Junior High Schools of the county have accepted an invitation to hold their basket ball tournament here in Clanton, February 25 and 26. The drawing for places has already been held, and a full playing schedule will be announced next week. A double elimination will be played, which means that every team will appear in at least two games before being eliminated.

The Junior High teams will be the guest of the Chilton County High school during the tournament, and the games will be played on the high school's court. Mr. J. T. Searcy is in charge of the tournament, assisted by Coaches, Cox, Spicer, and Varnell.

Clanton To See League Baseball

The Birmingham baseball team of the southern league is arranging a game with the Montgomery team of the southeastern league to be played in Clanton Saturday, April 9. A game between these teams was scheduled for Clanton last year, but was rained out. It is hoped the weatherman will be more kind this year.

MRS. NEAL TURNER HONORED AT LAY DAM

One of the prettiest courtesies extended Mrs. Neal Turner, a recent bride, was the shower given in her honor by Mrs. H. L. Thomason and Mrs. Crit Jones on Friday afternoon, January 11, at the home of Mrs. Thomason.

The hostesses, with the honoree, greeted the guests in the living room, which was effectively decorated in red and white carnations. After registering in the bride's book, the guests were conducted to the living room by Mrs. Bill Murphy. The lace covered table was centered with the punch bowl, surrounded by red japonicas. Red tapers burned in crystal holders, and the Valentine motif was also carried out in the dainty sandwiches and sweets served.

About 30 guests called during the afternoon, and this lovely bride was the recipient of many useful and attractive gifts.—Mrs. B. R. Wall.

COLLINS CHAPEL

All persons interested in the cemetery at this place are asked to meet at the church Friday morning, February 18, to help clean off the cemetery. —Mollie M. Sessions.

Mrs. Joe Grooms is very ill; she is at her home in West End.

"THE WILD OATS BOY" AT COLLINS CHAPEL

Come to Collins Chapel Junior High School Saturday night, February 19, at 7:30 p.m., for a full evening of entertainment.

"The Wild Oats Boy" is one of Lillian Mortimer's most popular rustic comedy plays. This fact, coupled with the following list of characters and their respective parts, promises you an evening of entertainment that will leave you with a feeling that your time and money was well spent, and that it was good to have been there.

The characters are:

Virginia Carroll as Aunt Anne, the housekeeper.

Lorene Jackson as Della, the maid.

Thomasine Lecroy as Judy, adopted daughter.

Herman Lecroy as Danny, the cook, who dresses as a woman and impersonates his sister, Nora.

Helen Hubbard as Pat, a friend of Judy.

Hildon Bussey as Eve, the girl who gets a jolt.

Gilbert Littleton as Eddie, the wild oats boy.

Arthur Davis as Jake, the cousin from New York.

Paul Davis, as Prue, "the countrified widder".

Hershel Smith as Chuck, the ex-prize fighter.

Curtis Bean, as Trout, the boy with the 'idees".

Maurice Hodgens as Uncle Seth, the "bygosh" farmer.

Osmond Gore as Mose, the darky who sees ghosts.

Admission, only 10c and 20c. Benefits go ot Parent-Teachers Association.

The girls basketball team of Collins Chapel Junior High won over the Enterprise Junior High girls team Saturday night at the Clanton gym by the score of 17 to 9. The Chapel girls' main team, composed of Virginia Carroll and Helen Hubbard as forwards, Eva Mae Marcus and Lorene Jackson as guards, Clara Nell Davis and Hildon Bussey as centers, have made a rather unusual record, in that they have not been defeated this year. They have won over the following teams. Union Grove 2 games, Coopers 2, Thorsby independent team 1, Thorsby Junior High 1, and Enterprise 1.—Mrs. M. Hodges.

FROM T. V. MIMS

Please allow me a space in your paper. I would like to say to my many friends in Chilton County that I am not interested in running for sheriff. I make this statement since I have had a good many letters from different parts of Chilton County urging me to enter the race. I am very grateful to my friends for the confidence they have in me.

I have a job that pays me almost as much as the sheriff's office, and I am on duty only eight hours a day. A sheriff is supposed to be on duty 24 hours if needed.

In conclusion, I would like to say that I am interested in who is elected to serve the people of Chilton County. Thanking you all,—Thomas V. Mims.

Maynard's Chapel

Sunday was our regular preaching day, and there was a good crowd out to hear Rev. Robert Cost. In the afternoon there was singing, with good attendance.

Next Sunday is our regular singing day, with sniging starting at 2 o'clock. We hope to have a good crowd, and all lovers of good singing and all good singers are cordially invited.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Williams spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Beasley.

Mrs. Mildred Boles held a quilting at her home Monday. Those helping were Mesdames R. M. Williams, Ruby Maynard, Elders, Fletcher Blackmon, and Houston Blackmon.

Sunday night, February 20, we are expecting Union Grove to put on a B. Y. P. U. program for us, and hope to have a good crowd out to welcome them at our church.

Mrs. Ruby Maynard was in Clanton Tuesday on business—her first trip to Clanton.

Mrs. Allison Barnes of Mobile, and Miss Anna Nelson visited with Mrs. W. G. Maynard last Friday evening.

Quite a bit of farming is going on in this section, and the fruit trees are in full bloom. We hope there is not a cold spell to kill it.—Mrs. W. G. Maynard.

ANTIOCH NEWS

Our Christian Endeavor met last Sunday night, with the largest congregation we have had in a long time. Our Christian Endeavor is growing rapidly under the leadership of our president, Mr. Arthur Crane.

The meteing was called to order by the president. Miss Zannie Hayes, secretary, called the roll and read the minutes. Miss Ruthie Nell Hayes presented the program, which was rendered in a fine spirit by all of the participants. We then had a song and were dismissed by Mrs. J. R. Scott.

We had several visitors last Sunday night whom we were glad to see, and urge them all to come back next Sunday night, when we will render another most interesting program.

Our Sunday school was well attended last Sunday, and the lesson was most interesting.

Mr. C. W. White and family were guests to several guests Sunday.

Miss Myrtice Owen had as guests Sunday Misses Eva Crane, Pauline Stillwell, and Louise Sewell.

Rev. and Mrs. R. M. Stillwell were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Durbin.

Mr. W. E. Hayes and family spent Sunday with relatives, Mr. Tyre Landers and family, of Selma.

Mrs. Emma Ratliff and family visited Mr. Earnest Ratliff and family Sunday.—Pauline Stillwell, reporter.

The sixth grade pupils from Enterprise School visited the Union-Banaer last Wednesday.

LIBERTY HILL

Next Saturday and Sunday are our regular preaching days. All members are urged to attend, and we invite visitors at any time. Bro. Holland always delivers uplifting and inspiring sermons.

If you have not been to see the improvements that have been made on the church, do so real soon. It has made the church look better to folks who pass by and will be much more convenient for the Sunday school when it is finished. If you have not had a part in this work and would like to do so, you may hand your money to any of the deacon's or the clerk of the church. As soon as we have enough money, we want to finish the front.

Mrs. Lottie Johnson went to Birmingham Thursday to see her father, Mr. Cleve Scarbough, who has had an operation upon his knee. She reports him doing fine, however, he will not be able to work again in several months.

Mrs. E. P. Littlejohn and children, J. L. and Sybil, Mrs. A. G. Littlejohn and Nina Fay spent Saturday in Montgomery shopping.

Mr. and Mrs. Zack Lowery and son, Zane, spent Sunday in Thorsby with Rev. and Mrs. W. P. Lowery.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Moore and family spent the week end in Birmingham with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Littlejohn had as their Sunday dinner guests, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Lowery, and son, Mr. Hiram Littlejohn and Margaret Lowery.

Come to Sunday school next Sunday at 10 o'clock, you will enjoy it.

FRIENDSHIP

The church, with all of its organizations, is still doing excellent work at this place. If you live in our community and are not in Sunday school or B. T. U., we would be glad to have you join us.

Last Thursday night a large delegation of the church assembled at the pastor's home, bringing good things to eat, and we gave him a nice pounding as a token of our appreciation for his services.

The seniors of the B. T. U. will have charge of the program at the court house next Sunday afternoon at the associational meeting.

You always have a welcome at Friendship, the church with a friendly spirit.—Reporter.

LEE GLADDEN VISITED BY RELATIVES FROM ARKANSAS

Lee Gladden, of near Clanton, was seriously injured in an automobile wreck February 5. His right leg was broken twice, and his hip dislocated, as well as several cuts and bruises.

On February 10 he was visited by: a sister, Mrs. Dovie Blankenship, of Rover, Ark.; two brothers — Wesley Gladden of Konawa, Okla., and Riley Gladden of Texarkana, Ark. They left for their homes the following Monday.

SINGING AT SHILOH

The singing society at Shiloh met last Sunday afternoon, with a large crowd present, but not so many singers.

Directors for the afternoon were: Carlos Owen, O. C. Billingsley, Toy Mullins, C. M. Billingsley, Gladys Popwell, and Evelyn Owen. Pianists were Gladys Popwell, C. M. Billingsley, and Mrs. C. M. Billingsley.

We have the promise of the Prattville quartet to be with us next second Sunday, and many other singers are expected. Everyone remember the date and attend.

PLEASANT HILL

Saturday night and Sunday are the dates for our regular preaching services; however, there will be no services Saturday night, at we have no lights. But come Sunday for Sunday school, and preaching by our pastor, Rev. J. R. Cost. We need more help with our Sunday school. We hope the absent ones will be back with us soon.

Last Sunday afternoon was our regular singing date. We had a large crowd; lots of help from Center Hill, Jemison, Union Grove, and other places. We were glad to have them, and hope they will be back to help us again.

Misses Mary and Louise Hilyer of Collins Chapel spent the week end with Miss Dotha Cleckler.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Brasher were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Cleckler.

Mr. and Mrs. Fate Cleckler were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Sammons.

Miss Jessie Cleckler was the Sunday dinner guest of Misses Daisy and Lizzie Martin.

FUNDS FOR PROPAGANDA

One of the reasons why Dr. Stanley High, in his "Roosevelt—and Then?" described the New Deal as self-perpetuating in that much of its funds go into various forms of propaganda to advertise the virtues of the present administration. Millions of dollars collected from the people of the nation are thus spent to convince those same people that the men now at the head of our government should be kept there. Dr. High cited the fact that more than 40 seperate federal agencies produce motion pictures, and he estimated that not less than 14,000,000 feet of government films are available in Washington. The Department of the Interior, under Secretary Ickes, has issued a list of some of these films, which are rented without charge. They include sound and silent pictures, showing, for instance, the activities of the CCC, the "rebuilding" of the Indian country, the "rebuilding" of the Virgin Islands sugar industry, the conservation of natural resources, the construction of Boulder Dam and Grand Coulee Dam, the "taming" of the New Mexican desert, and "organized camping for the under-privileged". The administration that issues such films seems determined that the forgotten man shall not forget it.—New York Sun.

MUST IT BE SALE OR RUIN?

It is not difficult to understand the state of mind of Wendell L. Willkie to suggest as "a last resort in a desperate situation" that the government buy and operate the public utilities in the Tennessee Valley field. As president of the Commonwealth and Southern, Mr. Willkie has to consider the interests of his thousands of stockholders and of even more thousands of employes. He cannot be idle and indifferent in the face of a government policy which seems to him to spell eventual disaster for his companies, the loss of millions of dollars on the part of investors, and the loss of jobs on the part of workers. It is his duty to salvage what he can.

From the Willkie standpoint, then, the advice he now gives is doubtless practical and realistic. But it will be a sorry day for private enterprise and the American system if this counsel prevails. It will mark the beginning of an adventure in government ownership the end of which no man can foresee. Once embarked on this program and experiencing the political advantages to be gained from it, the New Dealers may be expected to push further ahead their plans for concentrating all authority in Washington. Already they are seeking the privilege of establishing little TVA plants in seven more sections of the country and of producing electric power in competition with the private concerns. Who knows what other business worlds they plan to conquer?

Mr. Willkie's offer to the president seems to be predicated on the assumption that sale or ruin are the only courses open to the Southern utilities. Sometimes, after one of Mr. Roosevelt's impetuous statements, this must indeed appear to be the case. But there is still a possibility that the common sense of the nation will assert itself and that both people and congress will resist the efforts now being made to drag us into socialism. The cool reception so far accorded the administration's bill to provide regional planning and more government power plants gives us some ground for hope.—Boston Transcript.

The little boy across the street tells us that he saw Santa Claus Christmas Eve, in fact got almost close enough to him to read what three-letter agency he was working for.

In his message to congress, President Roosevelt said that he would not let the people down. But judging from the stock market reports, unemployment figures, car loadings, and bank clearings, a lot of the folks are already down.

Many New Deal leaders say the spread between what the producer gets and what the people have to pay for farm products is too great. Probably so, but it isn't any greater than the spread between Democratic platform pledges and New Deal performances.

The Chinese government fired a couple of generals and transferred some other military leaders recently, and then the army immediately seemed to get better. No doubt this is what might be called a shake-up in the batting order.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

BY FRANK P. LITSCHERT

One of the most interesting economic developments of the season, and one which may have real political effect, is the apparently growing schism between the American Federation of Labor and the CIO. There have been many attempts to heal the breach between the two labor factions, but up to the time this is being written, these attempts have failed of their purpose. The latest move seems to have gone awry in the refusal of President Green of the AFL to agree to the plan for reconciliation suggested by Father Haas on the ground that it is well intended but impractical.

The political possibilities of the present trends in labor thought are far reaching and important. In 1936 the New Deal had the undivided support of labor. This did not elect President Roosevelt, who would have won anyhow, but it assured victory for the Democrats in many close congressional districts, and doubtless carried for them the formerly rock-ribbed Republican state of Pennsylvania. If there is not a united labor support for the New Deal in 1940, the breach cannot avoid being detrimental to the cause of the so-called forward lookers, many of whom are now said secretly to be grooming Assistant Attorney General Jackson for the job—providing, of course, he is elected governor of New York this fall. Since it received the solid labor support in 1936, any shifting or change would find the New Deal movement a loser.

In this respect it is interesting to note the broadside fired against the so-called Labor's Non-Partisan League by William E. Green, head of the AFL. It is this League on which New Dealers count for solid labor support in the next presidential election. They are not afraid of a third "labor party" providing its leaders are friendly and will endorse their candidates. But they do not want any real split in the ranks of labor at this time when they seem to have lost support among small business men and white collar workers, to say nothing of the old fashioned liberals who believe in state's rights and the traditional American Constitution.

In criticising the Labor Non-Partisan League Mr. Green denounced it as "nothing more than a CIO agency, a ventriloquist's dummy for CIO leaders", and he recommended that all AFL unions withdraw from it. He declared that its leaders intend to make the League a permanent political body, and have directed overtures toward farmers for the founding of a national Farmer-Labor party.

"Personnel of the League also showed an immediate and significant change", Mr. Green declared. "Droves of crusading radicals and communists joined its ranks". Speaking of the local elections last fall when the League put candidates in the field in some cities, Mr. Green added: "It is gratifying to report that in cities where the local organiations of the American Federation of Labor opposed the candidates of the League, the latter were defeated."

It may be repeated that New Deal leaders do not fear the organization of a political labor bund, if it is controlled by friendly leaders, and will come to their support at the right time. What might worry them would be a split in labor's ranks in which conservative labor leaders and their followers might not go along with the program. Here is the real danger of the New Deal in the present labor trend. If it develops into anything tangible, its influence will be measured before 1940 — in the 1938 congressional elections, when personal emotionalism will be less appealing than it generally is in a presidential contest.

SOME BARRIERS

Public interest in the forthcoming trade pact between the United States and Great Britain continues. It is coming more and more to be realized, however, that the drawing up of a satisfactory trade pact will be no easy matter. In the first place the British dominions are not sold on the idea because they believe it will discriminate against their produce in favor of agricultural commodities raised in America, by removing some of the present barriers against importation from America. On the other hand, many industries in the United States are not sold on the idea from the American standpoint.

It is pointed out that the British by making a trade treaty expect to get a bigger market in the United States for their manufactured goods, and to take some of our farm produce in exchange. If this should turn out as hoped, the flood of British goods into the United States would displace American made products and would so cripple the American market for our farmers at a time he was hoping to get greater markets in England. At the same time, it is remembered that at this very moment when Mr. Hull is trying to get a bigger foreign market for our farmer, the Agricultural Department through Mr. Wallace and his aides, is seeking to curtail the American agricultural output, which will raise production costs and give the farmer less produce with which to satisfy the foreign markets. Taken all in all, it is a complicated situation. We have drifted far from old American ideas of political economy.

ENDING POVERTY

The best way to attack the problem of poverty in this country, to raise the standard of living and increase the welfare of those at the bottom of the economic ladder, is to produce more wealth.

The only way to produce more wealth is to see that the primary industries, agriculture, mining, fisheries, lumbering, have enough income and to work through our secondary industries to obtain it.

It is impossible to produce more wealth by placing such enormous burdens upon industry that it cannot produce efficiently. The sound way is to cooperate with them, to aid them, in producing more goods so they can be distributed more cheaply.—Syracuse Post-Standard.

In Babylonia, 4,000 years ago, you could buy a house and lot for $1.75. In these days of the New Deal that amount would just about make the down payment on an electric iron.

REORGANIZATION

The next proposal due for attention by the senate is the administration's bill for reorganization of the government. This measure was submitted at the last regular session of congress, but got nowhere. In its revised form it was one of the four major proposals scheduled for consideration at the recent special session, but it got nowhere then.

Reorganization to prevent overlapping, duplication, waste and inefficiency in a multitude of governmental agencies at Washington has been a recognized necessity for at least 25 years. It is more urgent now than ever before because of the recent marked increase in the number of such agencies. But the administration plan has not been devised primarily in the interest of economy, and the efficiency it would promote is uncertain. More than anything else, it is a plan to concentrate greater authority in the executive. — Kansas City Times.

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

Paul said that he learned to be content in whatever state he might be. We often overlook some given word in the study of a verse of scripture. The interesting word here is "learned". No man in his unregenerate state, if he is moral, is naturally contented. When Adam and Eve gave up their paradise because they had chosen to have their way instead of God's way, they went out into a world to earn their bread by the sweat of their brows. The story of the years is the story of empires built and empires destroyed. Unregenerated men are not content anywhere today. The world is filled with discontent. When a person becomes a Christian he receives the gift of God, which is eternal life. This gift is put into an earthern vessel and this earthern vessel has a discontented "hangover". Our Christians must learn to be content. Contentment is not an attribute of human nature. Paul possibly reached the highest point of Christian experience when he said, "I have learned in whatever state I am therewith to be content."

"Dr. Jones, I am naturally a discontented type boy. I have never been contented anywhere. I am here in the Bob Jones College. My mind tells me that I am in the best place in the world. I am getting the right training to equip me for life. I wouldn't leave here for anything in the world. I believe I am a Christian. Why can't I be contented?" That is what a young man said to the writer after a chapel service at the Bob Jones College recently. I told the young man something like this: "First, you must have faith. If you are a Christian you certainly believe that God is directing your life. He has promised to do it. He said, 'the steps of a good man are ordered of the Lord'. He said if we would yield ourselves to Him He would direct our path. Now, if you are yielded to God and believe God, then you are where God wants you. Now, what you need to do, if you believe God and are a Christian, is to readjust your mental processes. Say to yourself, "I ought to be content here. I am preparing myself to do the work of God". A great many Christian people, by adjusting their mental processes, could solve their problems of worry. I have spent my life meeting emergencies. When an emergency comes, I endeavor to think it over calmly. If there is no escape from the emergency, and I have to go through with it, I always magnify the good features of the emergency. As I look back over the years of my life, most of the things that looked dark to me when I had to meet them proved to be the greatest blessings that ever came into my life. God has a way of making the wrath of men to praise Him. Even sorrows and disappointments may be turned into wheels for the chariot in which a Christian rides.

MARS HILL

There will not be any singing here next Sunday afternoon, but everyone remember to come one month from next Sunday and bring all new books.

Our Sunday school is propressing nicely, and our attendance was very good last Sunday.

A singing was held at the home of Miss Rubye Smith Sunday night. A good time was enjoyed by all who attended.

Miss Elizabeth Smith entertained a number of friends with a party at her home Wednesday night. A good time was reported by all.

On March 5th, a play will be given here at this place, which will last two and one-half hours. A quilt will be given to the holder of the lucky number. The admission will be a small amount. Every one come out and see a good play. The proceeds will go for payment on the piano.

On last Thursday night, the death angel found it best to take away Mrs. Emma Poe. She leaves to mourn her loss—a husband, five children and a number of relatives and friends. We express our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved, but let's remember our loss is Heaven's gain.

NOTICE TO NON-RESIDENT

The State of Alabama, Chilton County. Circuit Court in Equity. No. 1494. February, 1938. James Loomis Kelley, Complainant, vs. Helen Kelley, Defendant.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of Raymond Mims that the Defendant is a non-resident, and that her place of residence and post office address is unknown, and that such address cannot be ascertained after reasonable effort; and, further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the Defendant is of the age of twenty-one years:

It is therefore, ordered by the Register that publication be made in the Union-Banner, a newspaper published in the County of Chilton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring her, the said Helen Kelley, to plead, answer, or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 14th day of March, 1938, or, in thirty days thereafter, a degree pro confesso may be taken against her.

Done at office in Clanton, this 8th day of February, 1938.—SALLYE JOHNSON ROBERTS, Register. 2-10-4t-ch.

AVIATION CAREERS WITH THE UNITED STATES ARMY

The U. S. army air training center at San Antonio, Texas, is open to young men who are single and between the ages of 20 and 27, and who have satisfactorily completed one-half or more of college credits leading to a degree.

This schooling is free, and candidates receive board, lodging, uniforms, equipment, and $75 per month at government expense while in training.

All young men who possess the required education and who are interested in aviation as a career can secure full details and necessary application blanks by applying to the army recruiting agent in the Post Office Building at Montgomery, Birmingham, Dothan, Gadsden, and Decatur.

The first tenant loan under the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Act was made to Wiley J. Langley and family of Walker County, Ala., on February 12. The loan totaled $3,800 for purchasing a 180-acre farm, repairing the home and outbuildings, fencing pastures, and buying farm equipment.

Mills that buy cotton seed on the basis of official grade help themselves as well as the farmers from whom they buy the seed, reveals a study made by the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure.

When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.

Frequent, scanty or burning passages may be further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.

The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

KUDZU REPRODUCED FROM VINE CUTTINGS

Auburn, Feb. 14. — Using kudzu vine cuttings instead of crowns proved an effective and economical method of getting kudzu established on the farm of B. M. Lightfoot, who is cooperating with the Soil Conservation Service and the Alabama Extension Service in the erosion control program in the Brundidge CCC camp area.

The plantings were made to control erosion on a 10-acre field by laying off 10-foot rows and making a bed of four furrows. The bed was opened with a shovel plow and vine cuttings 4 or 5 feet long were laid end to end in the furrows. A ridge of two furrows was thrown over the cuttings.

The stand from the vine cuttings averaged 57 per cent on the basis of a plant every six feet in the rows, O. C. Medlock, state coordinator of the Service, reports. The kudzu vines, where there was any top soil left, made unusually good growth. Some of the vines produced runners 20 to 25 feet the first year.

Although cuttings were gathered almost 10 miles from the farm, four hands obtained enough cuttings in two days to plant the 10 acres, Mr. Lightfoot said. One day was required for the four hands to prepare the land, and one day for planting the cuttings.

Personal property has not always been taxed in Alabama. The Constitution of 1875 brought into operation for the first time the general property tax. Prior to this time the ad valorem tax was restricted to lands. Some personal property was taxed, but it had to be specifically mentioned in the revenue law, and was not taxed unless so specified.

TREATING COTTON SEED IS OFTEN PROFITABLE

Auburn, Feb. 14. — Chemically treating cotton seed with mercury dusts often results in much better cotton stands and yields, reports J. C. Lowery, agronomist, Alabama Extension Service.

"Experiments and farm demonstrations in several states, including Alabama, have shown this to be true, especially when poor quality seed are used and the seasons are unfavorable to growth during the seedling stage," he says.

It is best to use organic mercury dust especially prepared for treating cotton seed for planting, he says. It is sold under the trade name of "2% Ceresan" and may be obtained from wholesale druggists or through the local county exchange. Ceresan is used at the rate of 3 ounces per bushel of cotton seed. One pound will treat 5 1|3 bushels of seed, making the cost of the treatment around 15 cents per bushel. The dust is poisonous, and should be handled with care.

"The Ceresan dust can best be applied with a home made mixer, made with a barrel, oil drum, or tight box fitted with a lid. A shaft is run through the container at an angle and fastened tightly. The ends of the shaft extend out to a pair of saw horses. A handle for turning is put on one end of the shaft.

"The mixing machine is filled about half full of seed and the proper amount of dust added. It is then very tightly closed and turned until each seed is covered with the dust. The seed may be planted right away, or stored in a clean place until ready to plant.

"For small acreages of cotton, and where a mixing machine cannot be had, a fair job may be done by putting seed and dust in a tight barrel and rolling or rocking it back and forth for several minutes.

"A machine may be made and used by several neighboring farmers. Power-driven commercial mixers are available for ginners, seedsmen, and others who want to treat large quantities."

RURAL WOMEN AND GIRLS PRODUCE $8,250,000 WORTH FARM PRODUCTS IN 1937

Auburn, Feb. 14. — Over $8,250,000 worth of farm products was produced by 54,781 rural women and girls in 61 Alabama counties during 1937, reports Helen Johnston, state home demonstration agent, in summarizing reports from county home demonstration agents.

The reports show that $6,832,377.92 worth of products was produced and consumed at home, and $1,457,399.08 worth was sold for cash.

Cash sales included: $366,777.08 on 16 curb markets, $216,293 of fruits and vegetables, $301,066 of eggs, $206,345 of poultry, $256,818 of dairy products from home dairies, $63,920 of food products, $10,116 of home industries, $6,305 in prizes, and $29,759 in other ways.

Products produced and consumed at home included: $2,271,000 of fresh fruits and vegetables from home gardens, $1,736,012.92 of fruits, vegetables and meats conserved for home use during the winter, $1,305,700 of dairy products from home dairies, $1,082,053 of poultry products, $317,042 saved on garments made at home, $37,188 saved by home dry cleaning, and $82,452 saved through home management and home furnishing program.

At Wildlife Conference

Four official delegates from the Alabama Wildlife Federation, laymen's organization of wildlife and natural resource conservationists, are attending the third annual North American Wildlife Conference in Baltimore, Md., this week, February 14-17. Headed by Dr. Walter B. Jones, of Tuscaloosa, president of the Alabama Federation, the group includes William D. Partlow, Jr., Tuscaloosa, secretary of the Tuscaloosa County Conservation Council; R. C. Porter, director of the State Federation; and Thomas A. Ford, secretary of the Alabama Federation.

Thursday, February 17, will be devoted to session of the General Wildlife Federation and election of new officers. Dr. Jones is vice president for Southern states, regional representative from Region 4, and state representative on the council from Alabama. More than 1,000 conservationists from the several states, Canada and Mexico, were to attend.

Fish Planting Completed

Planting of fish raised for restocking purposes at the state and federal fish hatcheries in Alabama has been completed for the current season, and no more fish will be available until early in the fall, the Conservation Department announces. Figures compiled by J. M. White, department fish culturist, show a total of 3,108,311 fish placed in the public lakes and streams of the state last season. Nearly half of this number—1,477,298 fish—were produced at the Marion federal hatchery and distributed by the state. The Alabama hatcheries at Eastaboga and Aliceville produced 1,283,127 fish, and the department's agents rescued 347,706 fish from overflow areas and dried up ponds.

Tennessee Invites Quinn

The Tennessee Wildlife Federation has extended an invitation to Commissioner I. T. Quinn, of Alabama, to make the principal address at a dinner meeting in Knoxville on March 4 before the opening of wildlife restoration week. Commissioner Quinn has accepted the invitation to speak, which is in the nature of a "return engagement", as he addressed the Tennessee Wildlife Regional Conference last summer.

The 1935 legislature passed what is referred to as the "deficiency judgment bill". This bill provides that when a mortgage is foreclosed the mortgagor must have credit on his indebtedness for the reasonable market value of the property foreclosed. Methods are provided for ascertaining the reasonable market value. This prevents the mortgagee from buying in the property at the sale at a very low figure and then going into court and obtaining a judgment against the mortgagor after he has recovered the property. The law is an emergency measure, and expires on October 1, 1939.

ALL-STEEL FARM BUILDINGS

A definite trend to prefabricated all-steel farm buildings was forecast, and a signal honor given to Birmingham and Alabama ingenuity and foresight today, when the Farm Security Adminstration announced the opening at Greenbelt, Maryland, for Friday, February 11, of a new type of all-metal design group of farm buildings. This group consists of a five-room house, a barn, a poultry house, smoke house and sanitary privy, the material for all of which was produced by the Tennessee Company and fabricated by the Decatur Iron and Steel Company of Decatur, Alabama, as an example of what can be done with steel in the government's effort towards the production of low cost permanent farm buildings.

Resulting from the Farm Security Administration's desire to secure a complete group of farm buildings which are permanent, inexpensive and easy to erect, Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company's engineers and the Decatur Iron & Steel Company, planned, designed and constructed the units, shipped the sections to the Greenbelt farm project and erected them under the watchful eye of government farm authorities. All shop fabrication was electrically welded and assembled in the field wholly by the use of bolts.

A far cry from the conventional type of farm structures, the all-metal buildings, as viewed today, are not only permanent and good looking, but are fireproof, vermin proof and can be dismantled at any time and moved to another location.

Largest of the units is the dwelling house, size 20 by 40 feet, containing living room, three bedrooms, combination kitchen and dining room, front and back porches. Steel joists support a wooden floor. The roof and exterior sides are made of 24 guage Galvanized V Crimped Copper Bearing Sheet Steel and the frame is 14 guage Copper Bearing Steel. Steel footings are placed every four feet under the walls and partitions to support the house. Glass windows are fitted in steel casements with screens attached. A steel fireplace with jacket enclosure and circulating air provides a central heating system that assures winter comfort. The chimney is made of sheet steel. Year round comfort is provided by four inches of mineral wool insulation in the ceiling and one-half inch insulated boards on the walls. The barn, erected complete from unloading to finished building in 250 man hours, is composed of 78 stell panels. The barn contains a corn crib, two mule stalls, two cow stalls, a compartment of implement storage, and a hay loft.

Although 8 by 12 feet with 3 foot shelter, the smoke house is composed of only 10 side wall and 6 roof panels and was erected in 25 man hours.

The poultry house, 12 by 12 feet, is made from 17 panels.

SARDIS

We are proud to say that the health of this community is fine at present.

We were happy to know that Bro. Trice was able to fill his regular appointment Saturday and Sunday. He has a severe cut on his foot, but delivered two wonderful sermons.

Misses Kermon and Ermon Trice were the Sunday dinner guests of Misses Melda and Gladys Sansom.

Mr. J. D. Minor spent the week end with relatives in this community.

Mr. Sol Sansom attended church at Antioch Sunday night.

Quite a number of people from the community attended the funeral of Mr. Mose Abram, which was held at Mt. Carmel Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Sansom and son, Charles Edward, visited Mr. and Mrs. Tyie Landers Sunday of near Selma.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Ward of Clanton visited Mrs. A. E. Trice Sunday.

Mrs. W. H. Trammel and son, G. W., spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Sansom.

Rev. A. E. Trice was the Sunday dinner guest of Mr. W. W. Klinner.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Smith and children, Johnnie, Julius, and Thelma Inez, were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr and Mrs. G. W. Sansom.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Davis and Mrs. Daisy Crane spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Sansom.

COMING! COMING! COMING!

Coming to Collins Chapel Junior High School Saturday night, February 19, at 7:30, a play, "The Wild Oats Boy".

This is a first rate 3-act comedy, crammed full of wisecracks and laughs from beginning to end. It is all about an old uncle who wanted to find out about his relatives, and chose a very unique way to do so.

Two hours and 15 minutes of good, clean fun. This play is being sponsored by the Parent-Teachers Association of Collins Chapel. Admission only 10c and 20c, benefits to go for payments on school piano. Everybody invited.

MAPLE SPRINGS

Sunday and Sunday night were our regular preaching days. Bro. Carroll brought to us two wonderful sermons, which everyone enjoyed. Sunday school was also well attended.

We had a fine singing at Maple Springs last Sunday and we hope every body will come back again.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Glenn was the past week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Devaughn.

Mr. Carlos Ratliff of Selma was in this community Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Rollan and Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Devaughn were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Devaughn.

Mrs. Jack Jones spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Glenn and children. She returned home Friday night.

Mrs. W. F. Glenn and children were the Saturday dinner guests of Mrs. Curtis Jones.

Mr. T. J. Ratliff visited friends and relatives of near Pool's Cross Roads Sunday.

University News

Being a student in a school of home economics isn't so bad after all, Lewis "Jack" Davis, University of Alabama student from Gordo, has found in recent weeks.

Transferring to the University School of Home Economics from the College of Arts and Sciences, Davis has decided his surroundings in the new school are, to say the least of it, desirable, since all of his school mates are girls,save one, Sam Scalzi, Yorkville, Ohio.

And, too, he often receives special attention from the teachers.

Davis doesn't think too highly of his feminine classmates' culinary abilities. The lonely male says, "they just don't know how to cook", but the girls hint he makes such rash statements just to hide the nervousness aroused by his surroundings.

If all goes well, he will next year become the University of Alabama's first male graduate from the School of Home Economics. He plans to become a research nutritionist.

Four new members, all from small Alabama towns, have been initiated into Phi Beta Pi, professional medical fraternity, at the University of Alabama.

They are: Brooks May of Greensboro, James Williams and Luke West of Jacksonville, and J. H. Thomas of Lynville.

With its enrollment officially listed at 5,200 students, the University of Alabama this semester has the greatest number of students in the history of the institution.

Registration for the second semester shows an increase of more than 15 per cent over that for the same period last year, and approximately 350 students who were not enrolled during the first semester have registered for the second semester, according to an announcement made by Dr. Richard C. Foster, president of the University.

Since its opening in 1831, the enrollment of the University has grown from 94 to the present figure.

In 1875 the enrollment was 111; in 1900—244; in 1920—1,661; in 1930—4,104.

Members of the Southern Interurban Clinical Club will visit the University of Alabama during their annual meeting in Birmingham February 18-19, Dr. Stuart Graves, dean of the University School of Medicine, said this week.

The doctors will drive from Birmingham to the campus Friday morning, February 18, and after being welcomed to the medical school by Dean Graves, will hear several talks, among them two by University professors, Dr. Allen D. Keller, professor of physiology and pharmacology, and Dr. John M. Bruhn, instructor in physiology and pharmacology.

For the first time in the history of the University of Alabama, a woman student has been given membership in the school's Million Dollar Band.

Miss Elizabeth Black, freshman saxophonist from Dothan, is the first coed to gain admission to the concert group as a regular member.

So, when the 84 men musicians gather regularly to honk and beat in their private practice room in the large dome atop the Union building, they now have the company of the lone miss.

She will play with the band in its concerts for the remainder of the year. Director Carleton K. Butler has issued her a uniform just like those of the other players except that it has a white skirt rather than white trousers.

Mrs. Albert Holman, Tuscaloosa, mother of three high school children, enrolled at the University of Alabama in 1931—and is still attending the institution.

Taking only 6 hours college work each semester since her registration (16 hours is the normal student load), she expects to be graduated in three more years. She attends only six classes a week.

Mrs. Holman first began taking University courses because she was active in several civic organizations and felt that she needed to know more about parliamentary law in order to conduct meetings. Her principal subject studied has dealt with American government.

Emergency crop and feed loans for 1938, as authorized by joint resolution of congress, approved February 4, will be available to farmers within the next few days, reports the director of the emergency crop and feed loan section of the Farm Credit Administration. The largest amount which any one farmer may borrow from the emergency crop loan offices in 1938 is $400. The interest rate on the loans is 4 per cent a year.

IT IS DANGEROUS

It is dangerous to sell a SUBSTITUTE for 666 just to make three or four cents more. Customers are your best assets; lose them and you lose your business. 666 is worth three or four times as much as a SUBSTITUTE.

HOW OUR LAWS ARE MADE

There are no doubt many people in Alabama who do not know just how our laws are made. They do not know the process through which a proposed measure must pass before it becomes a law. The purpose of this article is to give some information along this line.

The legislature is composed of two branches, the House and the Senate. The House is composed of 106 members elected by the people for a term of four years. The Senate is composed of 35 members, likewise elected for four years. A bill to become a law must pass both branches of the legislature and be approved by the Governor, or if the Governor returns it to the house in which it originated without his approval, it may become a law if the majority of the whole number elected to that house votes for the passage of the bill.

Any member of either house may draft a law and offer it in the form of a bill, except that a proposed revenue measure must be proposed by a member of the House.

The membership of each house is divided into standing committees, and each bill introduced must be referred to one of these committees by the presiding officer, which is the Speaker in the House and the Lieutenant Governor in the Senate.

We will take a bill introduced in the House and follow it through to final enactment. The caption is read by the Clerk, and it is referred to a standing committee. The author of the bill, or any person interested may appear before that committee and argue the merits or demerits of the bill. The committee can give the bill a favorable report, or an adverse report, or can decline to act upon it. When the committee takes action on the bill it is reported back to the House and the caption is read for the second time and the action of the committee noted. If the report is favorable it is placed on the calendar for passage on the next legislative day. After it is placed on the calendar it is ordered engrossed and read for a third time, but all amendments must be proposed before it is engrossed. The bill must be read at length before it is voted upon. If a majority of a quorum present votes for the bill it is declared passed and goes to the Senate, where it must go through the same process. If it passes the Senate without amendments it must then be signed by the presiding officer of each house. Any amendments must be agreed to by both houses. It then goes to the Governor for his approval. If he approves it, it becomes a law at such time as is provided in the bill.

The Governor may decline to sign it. Or he may suggest certain amendments which if adopted will meet with his approval. If these amendments are approved by both houses, then the Governor signs the bill and it becomes a law. But if either house declines to accept the amendments suggested by the Governor, it may still become a law if each house by a majority of the whole number elected to that house passes it. This is what is called passing a bill over the Governor's veto. This happened only a few times during the three sessions of the legislature held during the present administration. One of the bills that became a law in this way was the Alcoholic Beverage Control Act, in which the Governor suggested an amendment which would have required a majority of those voting in a state-wide referendum voting "wet" or for the bill to put it into effect. This proposed executive amendment was voted down by two-thirds majority in both houses and the bill was passed over the Governor's veto.

This is briefly the process through which each bill must pass before it becomes a law.

Alabama farmers received $10,287,079.43 in benefit payments for participation under the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program. Alabama received more payments than any other state except Texas.

WILL RELNOLDS IMPROVING

Late reports from Mr. W. A. Reynolds, who is in St. Margaret's Hospital, Montgomery, suffering with a broken leg and other injuries sustained in an auto accident two weeks ago, say that he is slowly but satisfactorily improving.

Mr. Reynolds and the family wish to thank all their friends everywhere who have visited Mr. Reynolds during his illness or have extended aid in any way. Their friends have been mighty thoughful of them and have visited the hospital in great numbers, all of which they appreciate greatly.

WORK PROGRESSING ON ORGAN RESONATOR AT BAPTIST CHURCH

Work is being rushed this week on the resonator or sound producing facilities of the new Hammond electric organ at Clanton Baptist church. The sounding box to the organ will be placed up above the choir platform and a grill constructed to come inside the large arch already in the front end of the auditorium. Underneath the grill will be folding paneled doors which will be kept closed when the back of the stage is not being used. The architecture as well as the construction work is being done by Messrs. Hollis and Wayne Hiten. It is expected that it will be all finished in time for services next Sunday.

OLD AGE INSURANCE PAYMENTS

Lump sum payments now being made by the Social Security Board under the old age insurance provisions of the Social Security Act are based on wages received by workers in covered employment. These payments are made to employees who have reached the age of 65 after January 1, 1937, and to hte estates of those who have died.

Is a payment due you? Ask your Social Security Board field office for information and assistance in filing a claim. Such an office is located in Birmingham at 621 Chamber of Commerce Building. This office handles this work in the counties of Jefferson, Franklin, Lamar, Shelby, Marion, Fayette, Chilton, Winston and Walker.

Martin C. Folmer is manager of the Birmingham office.

Organ Concert At Baptist Church On Next Friday Night

Nationally Known Organist To Appear With Local Artist; Fine Program Has Been Prepared For Event

Circles No. 2 and 5 of Clanton Baptist Missionary Society will present Mr. J. Leslie Hall and Miss Kathryn Foss in concert Friday evening, February 18, at 7:30 o'clock at the Clanton Baptist church.

Mr. Hall is a nationally known artist, having been organist for Amos 'n' Andy programs over nation-wide radio hook-ups; he has also been staff organists of the National Broadcasting Co., and Assistant Director of Roxy's Symphony Orchestra at Roxy's Theatre in New York. He is a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music, at Boston, and holds B. M. and D. M. degrees from the Milan Conservatory, Milan Italy. Mr. Hall has studied under some of the greatest teachers the world affords, and is, himself, one of the greatest musicians living today.

Miss Kathryn Foss is widely known around Clanton, having been reared and educated at Thorsby, where she now teaches music in Thorsby Institute. Miss Foss is an accomplished musician, of whom Chilton County may well feel proud.

No admission charge will be made at this concert, but an offering will be taken, according to those in charge of arrangements.

The program will be as follows:

Poet and Peasant, overture — Van Suppe.
Valse in E-flat — Durand.
Sextet from Lucia.
Estrellita — Panee.
Prelude No. 7, Op. 28 — Chopin.
Selections from the pen of Johann Strauss and Franz Lehar—Echoes of Vienna, Blue Danube, Waves of the Danube, Over the Waves.
Intermezzo (from opera Cavalleria Rusticana — Moscogni).
The Rosary, Ethelbert Nevin.
Selections from Victor Herbert — Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life; March of the Toys, Babes in Toyland, Gypsy Love Song.
Light Cavalry overture—Von Suppe.
Keyboard Capers.
La Golandrina.
Selections from the pen of R. Freml Indian Love Call, Pale Moon, By the Waters of the Minnetonka.
Song of India—Rimsky Korsakov.
Londonderry Air.
Evening Star, from opera Tannhauser — Wagner.
— Concluding — Organ Taps.
When day is done.

Mr. Hall will be assisted by Miss Kathryn Foss, talented vocalist of Clanton; Miss Grace Ezell, playing a group of organ numbers, with Mr. Hall at the piano. Mr. Hall will give a 30-minute request program of the popular hits of the season.

Vocal solos by Miss Kathryn Foss will be as follows:

The Rosary.
Just A Song At Twilight.
Gypsy Love Song.
Danny Boy.
Morning.
Kiss Me Again.

Mayor Writes Again To Property Owners

The following is a copy of a letter which Mayor Jones has written to those who are behind with their payments to the city on paving assessments. Mayor Jones says that this, the second letter in regard to this matter, will very likely be the last, after which summary action will be taken by the city to collect the assessments if his plea is ignored. The letter is as follows:

Clanton, Ala., Feb. 14, 1938.

On January 29, I wrote you on the subject of paying the assessment placed on your property for sidewalk and street paving now long past due. I requested you to call at my office and arrange to make monthly payments if you could not pay all now. You have not seen fit to give attention to this appeal from me in the interest of our city, and I regret very much you have assumed that attitude, but thinking possibly you just forgot about this important matter, I am writing you again.

It is my duty to collect this money, and it is my duty to conserve the interest of the city in all matters of public concern. This I shall do, but I will act in every instance with due and friendly consideration for the property owner; however, you have had about 13 years in which to pay this claim, and it is most unfortunate for you that you failed to make yearly small payments.

It is unfair to the city, and it is not fair to those who have paid their assessments, and to those now making monthly payments, to allow you to escape your duty and responsibility in this matter any longer.

As stated in my former letter, the individuals now owe about $8,000 of the $17,000 yet due on the sidewalk and street paving. If you will help pay this $8,000, we would take up $8,000 of bonds due by the city, and at the proper time we could sell $8,000 of new bonds at a lower rate of interest, and with the money pave one mile of street. The city needs the credit, and to get more credit we must pay what we owe. This is your business; it is our business; and I hope you will take an interest in it—now.

If I do not hear from you in a very few days I shall dispose of the matter in as fair and just manner to all concerned as is possible for me to determine the right course to pursue. Let us work friendly together for the greatest good to the entire city. Yours truly,—C. Fenn Jones, Mayor.

THE STATE STEPS IN

(From the Clarke County Democrat, Grove Hill, Ala.)

To say that the proposition of the state taking over the properties of the Alabama Power Company in the TVA area has been received coolly by the rank and file is stating the case mildly. It probably is fortunate that the problem has been reduced to this status, as it enables the average citizen to better understand the various issues involved. So long as the project was directed from Washington the average taxpayer regarded it merely as another experiment in which he was only incidentally interested, but when it is proposed to conduct this same experiment from Montgomery, the thing assumes a different aspect.

There is probably no essential difference in power being sold and distributed by the national government and by the state government, but when reduced to terms of state management the average taxpayer knows it means inefficiency, waste, graft and corruption. With the federal government going into the red at the rate of a billion dollars a year and with the state government constantly having to impose new and burdensome taxes and still unable to raise enough funds to feed its horde of pie-eaters and at the same time operate the schools for normal terms, it would appear highly questionable as to whether it would be the part of wisdom or economy to turn over a vast, technical and exacting system to the muddling hands of politicians.

And the above does not take into account the moral question of the government competing with private industry and destroying the investment of thousands of citizens.

A Memorable Fact About Herbert Hoover

(From The Montgomery Advertiser)

It has been rumored for some time that while in the White House Herbert Hoover never accepted any compensation from the government. Instead, his salary, which in the four years totaled $300,000, went for charity and to assistants in the government whom Mr. Hoover considered underpaid.

Furthermore, it has now been made known that Mr. Hoover never accepted pay for his services in Belgium nor as Secretary of Commerce under Presidents Harding and Coolidge.

When questioned about these facts the other day, just before sailing for Europe, the former president replied: "That statement has frequently been made, and I can only say that it is generally accurate."

This is a side of Mr. Hoover's nature with which the public has not been familiar. What a magnanimous thing it was for Mr. Hoover to work in the public service without compensation! He was a rich man, and he was willing to give unstintedly of himself to the nation which had made him wealthy.

JEMISON F. H. A. MEETS

The Jemison chapter of F. H. A. met Friday, February 11. The purpose of the meeting was to initiate 27 girls who have met the qualifications for first degree girls of 1937-1938.

The initiating committee — Audell McCarty, Juanita Maddox, Eunice Lowery, Mildred Crowson, and Marie Benson, had charge of the activities at this meeting.

After this period, Kathryn Green, president of F. H. A., read and explained the Constitution to the initiates, and they pledged to keep the secrets of the club and strive to be good and worthy members of the club.

Then refreshments were served to all by Louise Bowling, Willie Frank Northcutt, and Doris Martin.—Juanita Maddox, F. H. A. Treasurer.

BOUGHT OUT GOODMAN BEAUTY SHOPPE

Mrs. Bessie Fiquett has recently bought out the Goodman Beauty Shoppe in Clanton, and will continue to operate the place at the same location in the future. There will be no material change in the business and the service given, as Mrs. Fiquett has been working in the shoppe for the past two years or more. Mr. and Mrs. Fiquett are living in the building formerly occupied by Mrs. Goodman, and will be there at any time to do beauty work.

CHILTON MAN HIT BY TRAIN IN MONT'Y

(Little) Andrew Johnson Had Fractured Skull In Crash At Montgomery

Montgomery, Ala., February 21.—The L. and N.'s southbound Florida Arrow, crack passenger train, yesterday afternoon about 1:30 o'clock rammed a truck at the Procter Street crossing in North Montgomery, injuring the driver, (Little) Andrew Johnson, of Clanton.

According to the investigation of Policemen W. M. Stanley, Jr., and Abie Newton, the train had begun to slow down for its Montgomery stop when the wreck occurred. Johnson, driving a Ford truck loaded with lumber, approached the crossing on the blind side of Engineer J. D. Armfield.

The firemen apparently was engaged in firing the boiler and likewise failed to see the truck, Policeman Stanley thought. The cow-catcher caught the truck about the middle, knocking it onto the right-of-way.

Splintered lumber clung to the locomotive as it drew to a stop, which although quick, was so skillful that most passengers knew nothing of the accident until they detrained and viewed the wreckage.

Johnson was not knocked from the truck cab. However, he was left unconscious and was taken to St. Margaret's Hospital for treatment of shock and a possible skull fracture. His condition was not regarded as grave.

Damage to the truck was relatively moderate. The locomotive's cow-catcher was rent, but the train was able to continue in 15 minutes, Stanley said. It was not derailed.

WENT TO TENNESSEE AND BOUGHT FINE ANIMALS

Recently Dr. W. L. Parrish, J. W. Fant, and Mr. Hollingsworth went up in Tennessee and purchased a fine stallion and jack, both of which will be brought to Clanton in the near future for the inspection of the stock enthusiasts of this section.

The stallion is a registered Tennessee Walking horse, measuring 15 hands and 3 inches; color, solid bay. The jack is black with white points, measuring 16 hands. He is a registered Tennessee animal. Watch for further announcements.

MAN KILLED SELF WITH A SHOTGUN

Using a 12-guage shotgun, George W. Hayes, age 54, took his own life last Thursday about 1:30 o'clock. He lived with his father-in-law, George W. Mullins, in Mt. Pisgah community. Hayes killed himself by placing the muzzle of a single-barrel shotgun in his mouth and pulling the trigger. Nearly the entire contents of the man's head were blown out through the top of his skull. No motive is known for the act.

Funeral services were held Friday at 11 o'clock at Maple Springs, conducted by Elders Tucker and Kelley; burial was in the adjoining cemetery, Martin directing.

Surviving are the wife, one daughter, one son, mother, five brothers, two sisters.

W. L. SANDERS ANNOUNCED FOR REPRESENTATIVE

Mr. W. L. Sanders, of Clanton Route 1, near Lomax, is this week announcing for the office of Representative in the Legislature from Chilton county, on the Republican ticket.

Mr. Sanders is not new in politics in this county. He served as a member of the County Board of Education for six years ending two years ago. Four years ago he was in the race for Representative and was defeated in the second primary. He made a good record while a member of the school board, coming out plainly on a number of important questions.

He is a farmer and a comparatively young man; owns his farm and has operated it for the past several years. At the present time Mr. Sanders is working on a government job at Tuscoloosa.

Mr. Sanders asks The Union-Banner to inform the Republicans of the county that he will make a declaration of principles in next week's paper. He says that he will have to work all the time during the campaign, and will not be able to do much canvassing. But he is going to let the folks know what he stands for anyway.

DR. CAMPBELL AT BILLINGSLEY

The Union-Banner has been informed recently that Dr. V. O. Campbell is maintaining an office and doing practice at Billingsley. Dr. Campbell will be remembered as a practicing physician and surgeon in Clanton twenty-five years ago. His friends here will be glad to learn where he is.

Dr. Campbell is in fair health now, except that he is somewhat crippled from an accident some years ago. He answers calls, but has to be carried to and from his patients. He asks that anyone of his old friends from here coming to Billingsley please call to see him.

He is located in the old Dr. Downs office building.

TIME DRAWING NEAR FOR NOMINATIONS TO CLOSE

March 1st is the dead line for candidates to announce for office to run in the primaries of May 3rd and June 14th. These dates are set by the state statutes for all candidates for all parties. Everyone interested will be governed accordingly. If you are thinking of getting in the swim, you will have only a little less than a week to definitely make up your mind.

MOORE — HUBERT

Mrs. P. M. Moore, of Clanton, announces the engagement of her daughter, Sara Frances, to Thomas Hadaway Hubert, Jr., of Birmingham and Knoxville, the wedding to take place in May.

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR TAX COLLECTOR

TOM TAYLOR

Above is a likeness of Tom Taylor, Republican candidate for Tax Collector of Chilton County. Tom is an original Chilton countian, who grew from the ground up. He farmed until some 20 years ago, when he, with his brother, Lonza Taylor, started up a little produce business in Clanton. Later he got into the wholesale grocery business, and is now owner of the oldest business of that kind in the county.

He is now, for the first time, asking the voters for an office. His friends argue that he has made a success of his personal business, and they believe he will make a success of the office which he is seeking. Tom thinks so, too, and he hopes the voters will give him the chance to show them. Time will tell.

BILLINGSLEY SERVICE STORE NOW OPEN FOR BIG BUSINESS

The Billingsley Service Store opened for business last week end in the Hayes building across the highway from Hayes Chevrolet Company. In charge of the place will be Messrs. W. J. Billingsley and Rufus Gann. On the road representing the electrical appliances will be J. R. Tucker, formerly with Hayes Chevrolet Company.

Mr. Gann will have charge of the Firestone end of the business, including the Firestone budget plan. He will be pleased to explain the details of this plan to any who confer with him.

Mr. Tucker will cover the territory in the interest of Westinghouse, Kelvinator, Maytag, and other electrical appliances.

Mr. W. J. Billingsley, father of Curtis Billingsley, will have general charge of the store. Curtis Billingsley is owner and general manager of the business.

The Billingsley Service Store is a jam-up business, and will serve a good purpose in Clanton once it becomes known and established. All the men behind it and connected with it are seasoned business men, all of whom can be depended upon to make the business go in a manner satisfactory to themselves and to the general public.

JOHNNIE EASTERLING IN RACE FOR TAX COLLECTOR AGAIN

Added to the list of Republican announcements this week is the name of Mr. J. E. Easterling, of Sunshine or Refuge community. Mr. Easterling lives on Clanton Route 5, and is a citizen of Beat 4, Box 1.

Mr. Easterling ran for this same office four years ago, and received a total of 842 votes. Eight years ago he ran for Tax Assessor. Working for the county, he operated the gasoline truck for two years back in 1934 and 1935. He is a farmer and a successful one, owning his own farm and personally supervising same.

As to political record, he is above reproach, always voting for and supporting the entire Republican list of nominees. He comes from a family consistently Republican from days dating back several decades Although defeated twice in the past, he has not lagged in supporting the men who were chosen by the party in the primaries, but has fallen right in line and done his best toward electing the ticket in the general election. The Union-Banner takes pleasure in submitting his name to the voters of Chilton County for their disposal in the coming elections.

SERVED HIS COUNTRY WITHOUT PAY

Former President Herbert Hoover has gone to Belgium to receive the thanks of a grateful government and nation for his services to them when stricken by the ravages of war. At the time of his departure, something leaked out concerning the past life of the former president which has created a profound and novel impression. So far as we know, no such exposure has ever before been made in the annals of the land. It has been revealed, and finally admitted by Mr. Hoover, that during his four years as President of the United States, he served entirely without pay, his salary, totaling $300,000, going to charity or to under-paid assistants in the government. Likewise, Mr. Hoover did not accept pay for his services as Secretary of Commerce under two administrations, or for his relief work in Belgium.

It is characteristic of the man that this generous public service was rendered without shouting from the housetops or blaring of trumpets. A lesser man would have long ago heralded his act of self-denial throughout the land, like the Pharisee of old, and would have sought to win popular favor through the act. Although five years have elapsed since Hoover left the White House, it was only recently, under pressure of questioning, that he admitted it. A man in comfortable financial circumstances, he preferred to serve without pay and to give his salary checks to others who needed it more.

Herbert Hoover is a man who will grow in stature as the years pass. A man of unquestioned ability and high ideals, it was his misfortune for the world-wide post-war depression to descend upon the earth during his tenure of office. He was no more responsible for it than he was responsible for drought or boll weevil; but the fact that it happened while he was at the helm gave the rabble-rousers a target. Hoover strove to combat the situation with sane, conservative measures; but the stress of emergency made the time ripe for a demagogue. In the minds of millions of the people there was planted a vision of a new and greater America; an America where nobody worked and everybody received $200 a month; a vision of a great and benevolent Uncle Sam, solving all our problems and providing for our every need; taxing only the wicked for the benefit of the virtuous; dividing up "our wealth" and sternly punishing those guilty of thrift and progress.

Herbert Hoover was too honest to stoop to such appeals. He knew, as every sound statesman knows, the futility of seeking to amend the laws of nature and make everybody happy by federal edict. He stood for the Constitution and the American system, and he went down in the temporary wave of hysteria that engulfed the land.

Today, after five years of class government and fake formulas, the American people are getting a new appraisal of Herbert Hoover. They are coming to appreciate the courage it took to refuse to be stampeded into a mad chase for the rainbow's end. With our liberties curtailed by the entrenched bureaucracy that is running the nation, we still have found no substitute for character and honest endeavor. In the American mind today is a growing appreciation of the futility of New Deal quack prescriptions, a realization that the people have been deceived, deluded with false promises and plundered by a bunch of self-appointed saviors who have used the public plight as an excuse to entrench themselves and feather their nests.

People are coming to realize that the New Deal really was old when the cave man shouldered his club and set out to take from the other fellow by force something that he wanted for himself.

In times of stress and misfortune the people are ever prone to cast out the statesman and take whatever demagogue can make the most attractive promises. It is in later years, when history is seen in its true perspective, that the statesman comes into his own.

CALERA MAN DIES FROM GUN WOUNDS

Wounds By Self And Neighbor Fatal To W. T. Burnett Monday Afternoon

Calera, Ala., Feb. 21.—W. T. Burnett, 65, cobbler, spent about an hour this afternoon shooting at his wife and neighbors and never hit anyone but himself, according to Chief of Police, J. H. Bentley.

A neighbor, C. H. Woodward, 68, ended the informal target practice, the chief declared, when he shot Burnett through the chest and abdomen with a load of buckshot. Burnett died before reaching a Birmingham hospital.

The chief said it happened like this:

"Burnett, apparently despondent, was drinking. He went around town about 3 p. m. telling his friends farewell, saying he intended killing himself. He went into his favorite barber shop and told the boys 'goodby.' Then he went to a cafe, ate oysters and told the proprietor 'these will be the last oysters I'll eat here.'

"Then he headed home."

Shoots at Wife, Neighbors

"Burnett next attracted attention," the chief declared, "when he began shooting at his wife, Addie, about 35, with a .22 rifle. He shot at her four or five times but missed. Neighbors, among whom was Mortis Robertson, rushed to the rescue and Burnett fired at him—twice—and missed."

"Then he turned the rifle on himself and put a bullet over his heart. This, however, hit a rib, glanced out and emerged under his arm. Apparently unhurt. Burnett started toward the home of a neighbor, C. H. Woodward, at whom he shot several times—missing."

Chief Bentley said Woodward called to Burnett, warning him to stay away. When this went unheeded, he ran in his house, took his shotgun and fired a warning shot at Burnett. When Burnett kept coming, Woodward fired at him twice—and missed.

Neighbor Brings Him Down

Taking a shell loaded with buckshot, Woodward brought Burnett to earth with a shot into his chest. Burnett fell, critically wounded.

Officers, who had arrived at the scene, set out with him to a Birmingham hospital, but he died before they reached Birmingham.

Woodward was arrested by Chief Bentley and Sheriff Claude Fore and charged with "assault to murder," "because," the chief said, "of a reported neighborhood feud between the two men." Woodward is in jail at Columbiana pending a hearing in the case and the outcome of Burnett's wound.

The alleged feud, Chief Bentley said, grew out of a bit of trouble two weeks ago when Burnett swore out a warrant charging Woodward with using profane language in the presence of ladies.

Both men are married. Woodward is a mechanic and plumber at Calera.

About 20 shots were fired in the melee, Chief Bentley said. Only two of them took effect—both in Burnett—one by himself and the other by Woodward.

B. LAWRENCE RE-ARRANGED INTERIOR OF HIS STORE

Mr. Buford Lawrence, who operates a store on the Maplesville road a mile out of the city, wishes to announce to the trading public that he has recently changed up the interior of his place of business considerably. Some of the petitions have been removed and a larger space thrown together, permitting a much nicer display of the various goods carried.

Mr. Lawrence has in his stock a complete line of staple and fancy groceries, light and heavy; feeds of all kinds, and baby chicks.

Especial attention should be called to Mr. Lawrence's line of feeds. He handles everything that Jazz puts out, including dairy and poultry ration. Everyone knows what Jazz means.

A special invitation is extended all to visit this store and see just what jam-up service it is able to offer. You will always find a welcome awaiting you at Lawrence's.

"HAPPY-HITTERS" TO SING AT COURTHOUSE FRIDAY NIGHT

The Happy-Hitters are sponsored by the Stamps-Baxter Music Co., of Dallas, Texas, and Chattanooga, Tenn., and have hundreds of regular listeners to their Sunday morning broadcasts every Sunday over WBRC, Birmingham. Admission will be 25 cents for adults and 15 cents for children.

TIGERS LOST FIRST GAME OF SEASON

Locals Run Win Streak To 16 Before Losing To Sidney Lanier By A Margin Of Two Points

The Tiger pack from Chilton High were finally beaten last Saturday night at Montgomery by the Sidney Lanier Poets.

The boys seemed to have stage fright or something, according to reports, and were trailing at the half 14 to 7. With the beginning of the second half, however, they began hitting the net, and two minutes before the end were tied at 19-all with their hosts. Here a Lanier man shot a long one from near mid-court, and the Tigers were never able to work in for a goal to match it, losing this heart-breaker, 21 to 19. This was their 17th game of high school competition this season.

Earlier in the week the Tigers had won Nos. 15 and 16. On Tuesday night they went to Billingsley and defeated that team 43 to 23. On Friday night they went to Plantersville and beat the Dallas High team 34 to 19.

This brings the season totals for the year to: Chilton 573; opponents 325.

Reports are that our boys had them sitting up to take notice in the last half of the Montgomery game, and the Tiger squad is expected to go far in the tournament at Selma which takes place within the next few days.

READ DR. TOY WILLIAMS'S LETTER ABOUT THE WAR CONDITIONS IN FAR CHINA

On another page of this paper is a most interesting letter from Dr. J. Toy Williams, Baptist missionary to China. Dr. Williams arrived back in China only a few months ago, and he paints a very graphic word-picture of conditions in the Orient and the appearance of things as left by the ravages of war. Turn to the article and read it; you will enjoy every word of the story.

PAUL C. MIMS ENTERS THE RACE FOR REPRESENTATIVE

Entering the race for Republican nomination to the office of Representative in the State Legislature this week is Mr. Paul C. Mims of Clanton. Mr. Mims is a young man and is already very well known to the voters of the county. He was in the race for county treasurer two years ago, and was defeated only in the second primary, receiving a very creditable vote in both primaries.

PAUL C. (CHESTER) MIMS

Mr. Mims is at present an employee of The Union-Banner, and has been connected with this firm in various capacities since September, 1924. Prior to working for The Banner he was employed in the accounting departments of Avondale Mills and the Wisconsin-Alabama Lumber Company, of Sylacauga. He received his education at Chilton County High School.

Mr. Mims bases his party affiliation upon a long Republican family record, it extending back to the days when there was only one vote cast in the county for a Republican, the same being cast by Uncle John Baker, the great-grandfather of the subject of this article. There can be no question as to his loyalty to party principles.

Elsewhere in this paper is printed a kind of platform enunciated by Mr. Mims; some of the salient points in his platform are:

Immediate repeal of various local acts recently passed, relative to county government.

Repeal or revision of various tax measures.

Parity for schools in appropriation of state funds.

A pledge to support all economy measures consistent with good government and adequate control of the various departments of the state.

This full platform, as well as a letter to the voters will be found on another page.

COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION HERE SECOND SUNDAY APRIL

Prof. W. M. Devaughn, chairman, and T. E. Wyatt, secretary, announce that the spring session of the Chilton County Singing Convention will be held at the courthouse in Clanton the second Sunday in April, and Saturday night before. All singers everywhere are asked to make note of the date and arrange to attend. There will be further announcement later.

An error was made in the date of this convention last week. The above date is correct.

THIRD CONTENDER ENTERS RACE FOR BOARD OF EDUCATION

A third entrant into the Republican column for Member of the Board of Education is the name of S. D. Deloach of Beat 6, Enterprise community. There are only two members of the Board to be elected, and three have announced already. As it now stands, the high man will be nominated and the other two will run off for the other place in the second primary.

Mr. Deloach is well known in his community and in most of the southern portion of the county. He was born and reared in Coosa County near Rockford, and married in that county; he moved to Chilton County 35 years ago, and settled at the place where he is now living.

As to his past public life, Mr. Deloach has served on the board of trustees in his school district, was a deacon in his church for several years, and has always taken an active and leading part in his church activities. He is now a member of the Bethany Landmark Baptist church.

Mr. Deloach is no doubt well qualified for the office which he seeks, and should the voters of the county see fit to honor him with nomination and election, we feel sure that he would fill the place with credit and satisfaction.

3 MEN NABBED FOR BURGLARY

Cornelius Lewis, Alphus Grant and Elzie Patterson Were Lodged In Jail

Sheriff Hardy and his force of deputies, assisted by patrolmen Waites and Henley, searched the home of Alphus Grant near Coopers Monday and found 1 gallon and 1 pint of wildcat whiskey. Also, the officers found in the home a mattress, portable talking machine, blankets, clothing, dishes, lamps, double-bit axe, and other articles said to have been taken from different fishing camps on the river. Grant stated, officers said, that he had bought all the stuff from another fellow.

Grant was arrested on a charge of violating the prohibition law, and was placed in jail. He is being held pending further investigation regarding the missing articles from the camps and which were found in his home.

Equipment had been mysteriously getting away from nearly a dozen different camps for the past several months, including those of Dr. J. P. Hayes, Frank Calloway, W. P. Lynch, Sid Gibson, Hance Alred, W. M. Polk, G. C. Powell, Bob Sumner, Dr. Gragg, and Dr. John Hayes of Birmingham. All these camps are located on the river in the vicinity of Walnut and Cargyle Creeks.

Two Other Arrests Follow

Running down further clues resulted in the arrest of Cornelius Lewis and Elzie Patterson, various articles thought to have been stolen being found in their homes. Both these men lived near Coopers also. These two men were also lodged in jail here, with the probability that charges of burglary and grand larceny would be placed against them.

Bonds in each case were set at $1,000; Patterson has made his bond, but Grant and Lewis remain in jail at this writing Wednesday morning. All three have waived preliminary, demanding a jury trial.

Other arrests during the past week include: 1 indictment for rape, 3 for driving while intoxicated, 2 for public drunkenness, 1 for reckless driving, 1 for embezzlement, one for abusive, indecent and obscene language, 1 for assault, and 1 for violating the prohibition law.

4-H CLUB GIRLS TO SING OVER WAPI

The Protective Life Insurance Company has invited the Chilton County 4-H girls and Meta E. Grace to be their guests over WAPI at 7:30 p. m., Saturday, February 26th. At this time facts and information concerning the 4-H clubs will be given by Meta E. Grace relative to the work now in progress in Chilton County and Alabama. The program will be interspersed with choruses including a number of club songs by the girls and special quartets will also be given. Among the numbers to be used will be: "Club Work Boys, Club Work Girls" "Oh, Me! Oh, My!", "The More We Get Together," "Dreaming," "Trees" and "The Beautiful Dreamer."

Those taking part on the program include: Miss Mary Pearl Griffin, newly elected County Council president; Miss Helen Patterson, song leader for the council; Catherine Schurter, pianist for the council; Josephine Stanley, Mr. Woodfin Littlejohn, violinists, Miss Kathryn Foss, choral director and Meta Grace, Home Demonstration Agent.

Honorary guests on the program will include: the newly adopted 4-H'er, Sue Ann Powers, who will sing "I Double Dare You" and J. Leslie Hall, who will play Amos and Andy's famous theme song: "The Perfect Song."

The Protective Life officials are inviting the guests to visit the city and offer their services at their disposal through-out Saturday for such intertainment as they may desire.

Miss Joan Prosch, "Little Miss Birmingham" will welcome the visitors in behalf of the Birmingham Mickey Mouser's.

JUNIOR HIGH BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT FRI. & SAT.

Teams representing the several junior high schools of the county meet at the C. C. H. S. gym for their annual tournament on Friday and Saturday fo this week. These games are always very interesting, and everyone who likes basketball is urged to attend.

COBB BROTHERS INSTALLED MODERN MARKET AT JEMISON

A modern meat market has recently been installed by Cobb Brothers at Jemison. This progressive firm is now in position to fill all requirements where the choicest meats are wanted.

Cobb Brothers say: "We invite our friends ond customers to come and inspect our new store and get our prices on feed, seed, fertilizer and groceries."

This store in Jemison is really a nice place—everything attractively arranged, and located so as to be most accessible to the trade. You will not regret calling to see these boys.

The Union-Banner, One Year, $1.00

A. A. JACKSON WRITES

Editor Union-Banner:

Just a few words to the farmers, voters, merchants and tax payers of Chilton County:

First, I want to call your attention to the "un-American" two per cent tax law that was passed by this present administration at Montgomery. This law forces the merchant to collect on all sales from three cents and up, and keep a complete record of said sales and keep separate records of the following: cash, credit, tobacco, gasoline, motor oil, and exempted articles.

This method of collecting the two per cent tax forces the merchant to do all this work of book keeping and accounting without compensation under penalty of criminal prosecution, if he fails or refuses to collect this tax. The merchant who does four or five hundred dollars worth of business per month puts in as much time or more looking after the State's two per cent, as he does his part of the business. If this method by which the merchants of Alabama has to collect this sales tax doesn't put him from a constitutional standpoint where the negro was before he got his freedom, will someone tell me why?

Brother merchant, farmer, voter and tax payer, wake up, and let's be Americans and put Americans in office who will give us American lives.

The greatest problem that is before the Chilton County voters this year, politically speaking, is the selection of a representative to represent them in the State Legislature. It's the laws that are passed by the states and nation that are gradually putting the masses in servitude and slavery.

Brother voter, let's be careful in picking our Representative.—Yours for American Lives and Laws, A. A. Jackson.

CONSUMERS TAXPAYERS ASS'N

Montgomery, Feb. 21. — The Consumers Taxpayers Associatoin of Alabama, in a questionnaire mailed to all candidates for state offices, has called upon aspirants for public office in this state to declare exactly where they stand on some pertinent issues in the forthcoming campaign.

The association asked candidates to state their positions on such significant issues as continuation or repeal of the consumers sales tax, parity for schools, elimination of the spoils system and the pernicious parole system, reduction of automobile license tags, and similar issues.

Making it plain the entire statewide organization, with active and functioning units in each of the 67 counties, is behind the program, and that specific answers are required to be made a matter of public record, the association declares, in part:

"On behalf of the people this association is asking you and all other candidates for state office where they stand on these matters of vital public concern. It is the nearest approach we know to effectuation of a democratic form of government."

In addition, the association is calling upon candidates to state their position on such questions as an adequate report on the part of public officials with reference to salaries, expense account expenditures and money received, consolidation of state, county and municipal offices, "where practical", and similar questions.

TROY COLLEGE ALUMNI FORM COUNTY UNITS

Secretary Is Organizing Grades Into Local Chapters

Troy, Ala., Feb. 18. — Graduates of Troy State Teachers College are being organized into county groups, according to Mrs. Dora Haynes Parker, of Montgomery, secretary of the alumni association of the college.

Units have been formed in 22 counties of the state, Mrs. Parker said, and organization of the other counties is proceeding rapidly. The movement, Mrs. Parker declared, is in line with the general college expansion program. "It is our plan to help in bringing Troy College to the forefront of the South's teacher colleges," she said.

Heading the organization in Chilton County is Miss Elizabeth Cobern, of Maplesville, who has already begun, as county chairman, the job of contacting each graduate.

Organization by counties of the alumni of the institution has a 2-fold purpose: (1) It will aid promotion of the graduates' Alma Mater; and (2) It will keep the graduate more closely in touch with the institution. Both are expected to aid greatly in the enlargement program to come

The college has been making great strides in the past years, and it is believed the alumni movement will very greatly accelerate that advancement. This organization plan is aimed at the thousands of Troy graduates who have lost touch with the institution but who have never lost interest in its welfare.

To those, Mrs. Parker suggests: "Get in touch with your county chairman and find out about the college's new program. If, in the meantime, your county hasn't been organized, get in touch with Mrs. Parker through the college. She then can give you any desired information."

Paul C. Mims Writes To Voters

To the Voters of Chilton County:

During the past three years the people of this county have had an ample opportunity to fully realize just how important to all the people is the post of Representative, and just how much general confusion can be brought about through mistaken ideas of one man when that man is in the right position to do the most harm. In this position of Representative a man may make or break his own county government: He may manage their legislative affairs as they desire them managed, promoting harmony among all, regardless of party affiliations, to the general welfare of all concerned. If there are new measures to be passed, it is quite easy for the Representative to ascertain those popular desires and be guided thereby; in this case the people are satisfied, even if the the things they thought they wanted turn out to be undesirable: at least they have no one but themselves to blame. But for the most part, the will of the whole people is right. Let a Representative truly "represent" his people and their desires and they will be satisfied with the results, whatever they may be.

On the other hand, if a Representative takes into his mind to back his own judgment, although contrary to that of his people, to pay no heed to them, to pass laws that seem worthy to him, but which the people oppose, his efforts are foredoomed to failure, no matter how fine the principles involved; the results of such can be nothing but distasteful when such acts are rammed down people's throats. A conscientious Representative of the people tries to do the bidding of these people, even if against his own best judgment. He has been elected to do the bidding of those whom he represents—not to effect laws to his own particular liking.

In making my announcement for Representative, I do so with what I believe is a clear idea of what the people of this county want. I have talked to hundreds of you during the past three years. I have heard you express your several ideas. I have heard you express your opinions regarding strictly local affairs, as well as measures to affect the whole state. Road and tax measures have had full discussion within my hearing. State affairs — taxes in general, sales taxes, schools, auto tag regulations, and numerous like subjects have all come in for their share of discussion. And, may I add, it is not all difficult to find out what our people want, if one really desires to know.

After studying all of these problems and the people for whom they must be solved, I have drawn up a kind of platform or program upon which I am basing my bid for election to represent you and to get for you those things you most desire. I believe this platform, in one of its parts, touches just about every subject near and dear to you all. This platform includes:

1. Immediate repeal of the local act relative to the county road system; submission of the question as to whether the people desire a road supervisor (under the direction of the Commissioners Court) in a referendum, allowing further action on the subject be guided by this vote.
2. Immediate repeal of local act increasing salaries of employees of the farm agent's office.
3. Extension of State Homestead Act to include county taxes as well as state taxes.
4. Immediate repeal of luxury sales tax act.
5. Repeal or revision of the beverage control act.
6. Repeal or revision of the state absentee ballot law, especially; also thorough investigation and revision of state's voting laws in general.
7. Parity for educational department in appropriation of state funds.
8. Provision for a set percentage of state's income as a sinking fund to meet state outstanding obligations as they fall due.
9. Adoption of a budget for state government, to fall within the state's income, with strict compliance, removing any chance of further state indebtedness.
10. More strict supervision of the penal system, relative to abuses of the parole privilege.
11. Support any and all so-called "economy measures" which will not interfere with or curtail the proper management and operation of the several state departments.
12. Tightening of regulation regarding issuance of driving licenses; enforcement of law demanding all applicants for driver's licenses pass actual driving test before being issued a license, this examination to be undergone once, with reference made for future licenses issued; in this manner driving licenses to be issued only to competent drivers of motor vehicles.
13. Lowering of charge for auto license plates.
14. Automatic group accident insurance, such as is carried by several other states.

The above is a general outline of the measures which I believe our people would favor. Of course there might be other questions to arise, but in such case it would be my policy to find out what Chilton County's people wanted in the matter, and vote accordingly.

I give all the above, not as a mere promise, but as a binding pledge. I am not so optimistic as to say that all of the above could be secured, but it would be my policy to sponsor such, or to support such if sponsored by another. In short, I would try to be Representative of Chilton County—not a dictator.

Now, it may be that I cannot see every one personally before the primary. My duties at the Union-Banner demand most of my time. When I can do so, I will get out and meet as many as possible. In lieu of a personal talk in the matter of your next Representative, I will appreciate the favor if you will allow the above platform to govern you in your vote. If you favor the above, then I will appreciate your vote and influence. I will be glad to see any of you at any time to talk over any of these matters in which we are all vitally concerned. — Paul C. Mims.

Effects Of Local Municipal Gasoline Taxation

In connection with proposals for municipalities to levy or increase local gasoline taxes, the following figures are compiled. A glance at this information, which is based upon actual facts, will definitely disclose the evil effects of local municipal gasoline taxes.

It is definitely proved that such taxes are responsible for large amounts of business being driven from the municipality levying and collecting such taxes, as the following will disclose:

In Ft. Deposit, Ala., on January 1, 1937, the 1 cent municipal gasoline tax was repealed. The average monthly gasoline business in Ft. Deposit during the months of January, February and March increased from 11.806 gallons to 14,581 gallons, or 23.55 per cent. During the same months, the sales for the state of Alabama as a whole decreased from 18,209,814 gallons to 16,593,100 gallons, or 8.36 per cent. It follows that normally, the sales in Ft. Deposit should follow those of the state as a whole. Consequently, from the above, it is indicated that the removal of the 1 cent tax in Ft. Deposit accounts for a return of 31.91 per cent of business which had been driven out of town by the tax.

In Demopolis, the 2 cent city gasoline tax was reduced to 1 cent per gallon on January 1, 1937. The average monthly gasoline business in Demopolis during the months of January, February and March increased from 26,301 gallons to 30,915 gallons, or 17.54 per cent.

In Ozark, the 2 cent city gasoline tax was reduced to 1 cent per gallon on July 1, 1937. The average monthly sales of gasoline in Ozark during the first three months following increased from 20,742 gallons to 37,613 gallons, or 22.3 per cent. After the tax was reduced, the school officials asked that the Ozark gasoline tax be again levied at 2 cents per gallon in order for the schools to complete the full term. The question was finally submitted to a vote of the people, and the result was: 62 votes for the tax, and 228 against it.

In reverse order to the above, we have the instance at Talladega. On April 1, 1936, Talladega increased its tax from 1 cent to 2 cents per gallon. This extra 1 cent tax was collected for only 5 months, and during that period of time, the average monthly sales of gasoline in Talladega increased from 62,335 gallons to 64,407 gallons, or only 3.25 per cent, while during the same period of time, sales for the state of Alabama as a whole increased from 14,127,562 gallons to 16,891,842 gallons, or 19.5 per cent. Normally, sales in Talladega should follow the same trend as for the state of Alabama as a whole. Hence, the above indicates that the 1 cent increase in the Talladega tax caused a loss of business in the amount of 16.25 per cent.

All of the above instances, and many others, apply to Alabama, but the same experience is being had in other states. Newspaper stories and editorials disclose that in 1936, Deland, Fla., levied a 1 cent city gasoline tax, and the gasoline business there suffered average monthly losses of 28.2 per cent. In the same newspaper stories and editorials, we find that Cottondale, Fla., had a similiar experience. There the losses given were 32 per cent.

From the above it can be seen that a 2 cent gasoline tax will not bring in anything like double the amount of revenue that a 1 cent gasoline tax will provide. It also discloses that municipal gasoline taxes are destructive and extremely costly to citizens generally, aside from the comparatively few motor vehicle owners of the city.

It should be added that the service station dealer is not the only one who loses business. Other businesses as well suffer the loss of sales because people buying their motor vehicle requirements elsewhere will also buy their other needs elsewhere.

Only about 15 to 20 per cent of the service stations are owned by oil companies; the balance are owned by individual citizens, and since most service stations are rented or leased on a basis of the number of gallons of gasoline sold through them, the service station property owner stands to lose large amounts of revenue.

There is no emergency which can justify the levy of a local gasoline tax for school or any other general purposes. It is agreed that schools should be kept open to educate Alabama's children, but a gasoline tax is not the way out. All business and all citizens should provide the finances.

1937 ALL TIME LOW IN FOREST FIRE LOSSES

Montgomery, Feb. 21. — The year 1937 exhibited a forest fire hazard slightly higher than the average, but the losses sustained were far below the average, according to statewide statistics for the year. Most of the Southern states are seriously hampered by lack of funds for forest fire protection. None of the states in the gulf region are able to extend the protective system over their entire woodland territory. Texas and Alabama led in the acreage covered, and also in the proportion of woodland included within the protective system. In Alabama the net woodland acreage so included amounts to approximately 8,400,000 acres out of a total of about 21,000,000 acres of such land. Detailed plans have been prepared to cover practically the entire woodland acreage of the state, but their fulfillment must await favorable financial provision by the legislature. The land included in the protective system is known as the organized territory, while the remaining land to which for lack of funds it is impossible for the Commission of Forestry to assign local field workers is known as the unorganized territory. The latter is not overlooked entirely in the protective program, but shares in the statewide educational and promotional work conducted by the Commission. This aids materially, but, of course, is nowhere nearly so effective as the more intensive work carried on in the organized territory.

During the past year the proportion burned by forest fires on hte 8,400,000 acres of net forest land comprised within the organized territory in 37 counties amounted to approximately 1.7 per cent. This constitutes an all time low in the history of the state. The nearest approach to the 1937 record was in 1929 when the corresponding figure was 2.1 per cent. The year 1929, however, was an exceedingly wet year, with a consequently much reduced hazard over both organized and unorganized territory. On the organized territory during 1937, the proportion burned over by forest fires was approximately 5 1|3 per cent. This means that slightly more than one acre out of every 20 burned over in the unorganized territory contrasted with less htan one acre in 50 for the organized territory for which the Commission of Forestry has a small fund for fire protection work. The total number of fires for the entire state was 17,027, the area burned over in both organized and unorganized territory was 732,437 acres, and the total damage for the state amounted to $472,309.

In achieving the results for the organized territory, the state has been greatly aided by the constructive assistance of the landowners themselves. The owenrs of smaller forest holdings who are not always situated so that they can contribute funds to the work have turned out by the thousands to assist in fire suppression and otherwise advance the protection of their holdings and those of the entire community. Large owners, including nearly all of the principal lumber operators, have contributed a very heavy proportion of the cost of the work, both in funds and in active effort.

SARDIS DEMONSTRATION CLUB

The Sardis Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. G. W. Sansom February 17 with 11 members present, and 2 visitors. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. H. L. Ratliff. We began our meeting by singing two songs. We added one new member to our list. Our club has agreed to sell flavoring to get money for our treasury.

Miss Grace gave a talk on the kitchen contest that began January 15, and urged each member to join in the contest and improve their kitchen. Two committees were papointed to help those who enter; they go and check your kitchen now and at the end of the contest; those selected were Mrs. H. L. Ratliff and Mrs. G. W. Sansom. After the business session, the members were served with a delicious chiffon pie and hot chocolate. The members will study bread making next month. Our club urges that each member try to attend the next meeting.—Mrs. C. E. Sansom, reporter.

PROFITS FROM USE OF CHILEAN NITRATE

During the crop year 1937 the Chilean Nitrate Educational Bureau through the cooperation of Vocational Teachers and F. F. A. chapters conducted 124 two-and-one-half-acre demonstrations were in Alabama. Results from 65 cotton and 38 corn demonstrations were received. The cotton was fertilized with a low nitrogen fertilizer such as 3-8-5, 4-8-4, 3-10-3, etc. before plnating and after chopping and before squaring two acres of the 2½-acre demonstration were side-dressed with 200 pounds of Chilean Nitrate per acre, one-half acre being left as a check. From 65 of these demonstrations in 1937 the average per acre increase from 200 pounds of Chilean Nitrate was 328 pounds of seed cotton. On the 38 corn demonstrations the average increase per acre for 200 pounds of Chilean Nitrate was 14.6 bushels per acre.

These demonstrations have been conducted over a period of four years and the average increase for 230 demonstrations on cotton on which results were received from 1934 to 1937 incl., was 316 pounds of seed cotton per acre for 200 pounds of Chilean Nitrate.

These increases are in line with Alabama Experiment Station results and clearly indicate the advantage of side-dressing low nitrogen mixed goods such as 3-8-5, 4-8-4, 3-10-3 and 4-10-7. An ample supply of nitrogen is essential for high yields. Profits and high acre yields go together.

VERMONT 4-H CLUB

The Vermont Club met Friday, February 11, with 38 members present. Six members of the club took on program and discussed corn yield, tending of farm land, and how to make better profit from the year's work. Mules and horses were also discussed in the program.

Willie Nell Owen, of Livingston State Teachers College, was the week end guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Owen.

SORE THROAT WITH COLDS Given Fast Relief

Take 2 Bayer Tablets with a full glass of water.

Crush 3 Bayer Tablets in ⅓ glass of water—gargle twice every few hours.

The speed with which Bayer tablets act in relieving the distressing symptoms of colds and accompanying sore throat is utterly amazing . . . and the treatment is simple and pleasant. This is all you do. Crush and dissolve three genuine Bayer Aspirin tablets in one-third glass of water. Then gargle with this mixture twice, holding your head well back.

This medicinal gargle will act almost like a local anesthetic on the sore, irritated membrane of your throat. Pain eases promptly; rawness is relieved.

You will say it is remarkable. And the few cents it costs effects a big saving over expensive "throat gargles" and strong medicines. And when you buy, see that you get genuine BAYER ASPIRIN.

ENTERPRISE 4-H CLUB

The Enterprise Club met Friday, February 4th, with 23 members, one visitor and two new members present.

During the first part of the period the boys and girls met together, at which time a short play was given. Afterwards the boys went to their room, at which time Calvin Wilkins, William Griffin, Earl Wilkins, Chester Jones, Bunyan Yeargan, Red Patterson and Samuel Burkhalter gave talks on seed selection, fertilizing, cultivavation, planting, controling weeds and diseases of corn.

The meeting adjourned until March.

MT. PLEASANT 4-H CLUB

The Mt. Pleasant Club met Wednesday, February 2nd. There were 51 members and four new members present.

The meeting opened with a club song and was followed by the club pledge. The meeting was then turned over to the program committee, chairman Jr. Edwards, at which time seven members gave parts on corn culture. A rabbit hunt was planned for February 22nd.

University News

University, Ala., Feb. 21.—Moon-gazing and picnicking may go hand in hand this spring, if outing planners follow the rule set by a University of Alabama professional fraternity.

Delta Sigma Pi, professional commerce fraternity at the University, decided last week to have a boat-trip picnic, with "dates." All plans were quickly made except one: the day for the event.

After solemn deliberation, the Delta Sigs chose April 30.

The reason? A full moon shines upon Tuscaloosa's Warrior river that evening

When the 2,000 University of Alabama military students snap through their drills at the Federal inspection this spring, the field examination will be enlivened by trick drills executed by Pershing Rifles, honorary military organiation on the Alabama campus.

Four squads will be chosen from the membership roster to form a platoon which will perform the drills. Their training is to begin this month.

The date of the federal inspection has not been announced.

Seven first-year women students at the University of Alabama from small Alabama towns were last week chosen for membership in Alpha Lambda Delta, honorary scholastic society at the school.

Membership in the society is considered the one of the highest honors attainable for wome in the freshman class of the University.

Eight of the 24 candidates for positions on the University of Alabama Women's Student Government in the elections held Monday were from small Alabama towns.

Approximately one-third of the women students at the University of Alabama who were named to the dean's list are from small Alabama towns.

The list, issued from the office of Miss Agnes Ellen Harris, Dean of women, last week, is composed of those who made exceptionally high scholastic records in the first semester of the 1937-38 school year.

MUST BE TRUTHFUL

The following advertisement appeared recently under "Positions Wanted" in the classified section of a Minneapolis newspaper:

"Young man, unreliable, dishonest when he thinks he can get away with it, lazy, desires good position as credits, finance, real estate sales; wants short hours, big pay, has poor references. I really don't want to work, but I have to support myself, and prefer to be decent".

He must have been truthful, so he didn't mention it.

MEASURING A MAN'S WORTH

LESSON TEXT—Mark 5:1-17.
GOLDEN TEXT—How much then is a man of more value than a sheep!—Matthew 12:12.
PRIMARY TOPIC—A Man Who Went Home Well.
JUNIOR TOPIC—What Is a Man Worth?
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Am I Worth?
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Putting People Before Profit.

Awful is the scene that meets us as we go with our Lord across the sea of Galilee and draw up to the shore of the country of the Gadarenes. Distressing beyond words is the plight of the man who is under the power of a legion of the demons of Satan; inspiring is the assurance that Christ is victor over the devil and his hosts; soul-searching is the disappointing picture of the men as they evaluate their brother's spiritual need over against personal gain.

The same mighty conflict between the two great spiritual kingdoms, of good and evil, God and Satan, goes on in our day. Jesus Christ is still "greater . . . than he that is in the world" (I John 4:4). Equally true is it that we must each one of us choose what is to be our attitude toward the conflict, and especially toward the Christ.

I. The Power of Satan (vv. 1-5).

Foolish men sometimes speak boldly about Satan as though he were only a weakling, or perchance but a creature of legend.

The devil, who is but one being, operates through many evil spirits, or demons. They are everywhere active, and it appears from Scripture that they seek a physical body through which they may function. Demon-possession, which was so common in our Lord's day, still exists, especially on the mission field. There are some who believe that the almost unbelievable cunning and brazen wickedness of modern gangsters is an expression of demoniacal control.

The text graphically portrays what becomes of a poor soul who has gotten into the clutches of Satan. It is a dark and terrifying picture known to us even in this year of 1938. But, thank God, there is a way of deliverance.

II. The Victory of Christ (vv. 6-13).

The command of Jesus (v. 8) evidently preceded the cry of the demons (v. 7). Notice that the demons who hated our Lord had no doubts about His being the Son of God. They knew Him. How strange it is that many voices that deny His deity come from the pulpit, the professor's chair, or over the radio, in the name of Christianity!

The demons knew His power, also, for though they adjured Him not to torment them, they realized that they must obey His command to "come out of the man." They asked permission to enter the swine.

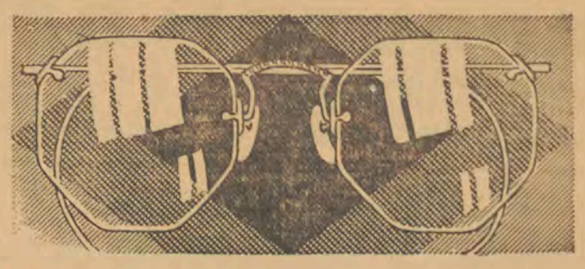
III. The Perversity of Man (vv. 14-17).

The keepers of the swine fled to tell the owners. They and others came to see what had happened. They saw the demoniac seated, clothed and in his right mind, "and they greatly rejoiced and magnified the name of the Lord." Did they? No, indeed! "They were afraid" (v. 15), "and they began to pray him to depart" (v. 17).

Why were they afraid? Two reasons are suggested. In the first place they wanted no spiritual activity that would interfere with their business. Swine were of more value in their sight than the liberation of demon-possessed men. They have their successors in our day. Such are the men who rent their buildings for taverns and dance halls because they want money. Akin to them are those who counsel against the expenditure of money to keep the church open, the Sunday school operating, and for the sending of missionaries into fields white unto harvest.

A tract entitled "Suppose" asks the pertinent and searching question, "Suppose I were offered $10,000 for every soul I led to Christ; would that impel me to do more than I now do because of the constraining love of Christ?"

Another reason for their fear was that they did not want to be disturbed in their state of spiritual somnolence. Someone has said that the reason the church of our day does not have a revival is because it doesn't want it. If revival fires began to burn crooked things would have to be made straight, worldliness would have to be put away, the pursuit of money would have to be set aside while men sought souls.



Careful Planning

Just the difference in the way the two men use their heads makes the difference in the way they conduct their business. Misdirected, systemless work will make any business management ineffective,, while careful planning, simple, effective system, will aid even moderate ability to accomplish vast results.

THE STATE TAX COMMISSION

From a financial standpoint the Tax department is the most important of all departments of the State government. It is charged with the duty of seeing that all revenues for the operation of the State, and some of those for County and Federal functions, are collected. These revenues must be collected if appropriations are to be paid. It is therefore important that efficiency be maintained and that men of experience be placed in charge.

It is not the purpose of this article to deal with all the different phrases of the department but to acquaint the public with those whose duty it is to see that taxes are paid by those who are due to pay under the law.

The Commission itself is composed of Henry S. Long, John P. Kohn, Sr., and W. W. Ramsey, with Mr. Long as Chairman, Mark L. Tucker is assistant to the Commission in charge of Motor Vehicle Licenses. Miss Julia Kling is Secretary to the Commission.

The duties of this department are so varied and so great that it is necessary to have a chief clerk in charge of each of the eleven divisions, and he is made responsible for the operation of his division.

Henry T. Knight is in charge of the Public Utilities Division.

James H. Nelson is in charge of the Tobacco Tax Division.

The collection of Ad Valorem taxes and Sales taxes is being directed by John C. Curry.

The Franchise tax is in charge of C. G. Abercrombie.

Collection of the State Store tax is being directed by Meyer Lieb.

J. T. Carlton is in charge of the Land Redemption Department.

The Gasoline Division is directed by A. B. Tucker.

The Automobile Division is in charge of Ray Henson.

Harry Simon has charge of the Privilege License Division.

James S. Freeman directs the collection of the Mileage Tax.

The Income Tax Division is being handled by J. A. Stephens.

Future articles will deal with the operations of these different divisions.

NEW SALEM

Sunday was our regular preaching day, but we had no preaching, on account of the bad weather, but we did have Sunday school. There were several absent, but we had a good meeting. Our Sunday school is growing rapidly and doing fine.

At the first of the year the Sunday school divided into two groups — the Red and White sides, and at the end of the quarter the side that loses must give the other side an entertainment. If the Whites don't mind they will have to entertain the Reds, for they are certainly winning every Sunday.

Our B. Y. P. U. is not progressing very rapidly, but we hope that it will soon pick up. We are urging all members of the Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. come out regularly and help us with our work.

Remember, if you do not go to Sunday school somewhere else, New Salem always welcomes you.

Plan To Control State Democratic Committee Bared

Group Who Hand-Picked Convention Delegates Last Time Are Now Lining Up Their Forces

By RALPH HURST
Birmingham News Staff Writer

Montgomery, Feb. 21. — Control of the powerful State Democratic Executive Committee for the next four years is being sought by the forces that engineered the handpicking of Alabama's delegates to the Phliadelphia convention.

Such control, which would mean control of the party machinery in Alabama, could mean not only the handpicking of delegates to the next convention, but the handpicking of candidates for various offices from governor on down. And it could be extremely embarassing to all public officials by enunciating platforms or policies to be followed by the officials, or in the filling of any vacancies in office.

Working quietly under cover of the excitement over other offices, the handpicking manipulators are qualifying their candidates daily. It costs but $10 to qualify for this important office and it is not customary for candidates to make a campaign, but in the past it frequently happened that not enough candidates qualified to fill all the posts, in which instances those who do qualify and get elected are permitted to appoint others.

Each of the state's nine congressional districts elect eight members to the committee which is all-powerful in party matters and which can take the nomination of candidates away from the voters and into its own hands at any time it desires. New committee members will be elected in the regular primaries May 3 and June 14.

Unless enough citizens become interested to put up the required $10 fee and run for these offices, the handpickers will control the next committee and all that goes with it, regardless of whom the next governor may be.

Political circles in Montgomery hear that Pitt Tyson Maner, secretary to the governor, will qualify before the deadline and become a candidate for chairman of the committee. This report recalled an article by a Washington political writer for a New York daily newspaper asserting that a trade was made in obtaining the support of Pennsylvania's Gov. Earle in behalf of Maner's candidacy for national president of Young Democrats, whereby Alabama's delegation to the next Democratic national convention would surrender its No. 1 position on the roll call to Pennsylvania so that Earle could be the first man to be placed in nomination for president.

Several members of the present committee who voted for disfranchising the voters by handpicking the convention delegates are seeking reelection, although their handpicking as an issue in the subsequent election of a Democratic national committeeman was repudiated by every county of the state with a near 90,000 majority.

A reminder of the handpicking perpetration was sounded Saturday by David S. Anderson, committee member from Jefferson, in announcing his candidacy for reelection. Anderson, whose own county repudiated handpicking by a 10,000 vote majority, helped lead the fight against the handpicking in both the first and second meetings.

"I expect to have more to say later against this outrageous disfranchisement of the voters by the political ringmasters in and out of the committee, and in favor of the small group of Democrats on the committee who rendered loyal support to our unsuccessful efforts to rescind the resolution at a subsequent meeting," Anderson said.

SUMTER SMITH HERE

Capt. Sumter Smith, of Washington, D. C., landed at Clanton airport Tuesday, amid all the mist and fog. Captain Smith, formerly of Birmingham, but now with the government aviation department in Washington, had been to Montgomery and had headed back north. The bad weather caused him to think it best to land here for a spell.

ROBERTA CURRY'S PICTURE APPEARED IN WILMINGTON NEWSPAPER RECENTLY

The picture of Mrs. Paul R. Minthorn (Roberta Curry) appeared in the Wilmington Morning News, Wilmington, Del., dated February 3, 1938. The notes accompanying the picture said:

"Mrs. Minthorn, of New York City, has recently joined the faculty of Delaware School of Music, and will make her first appearance in a faculty concert on February 27th. She has sung in Broadway productions and on the radio."

A letter from Mrs. Minthorn to her mother here, Mrs. Clara B. Curry, says that all indications of spring are present now in New York. The birds are all flying north from their hibernations, and the chilly winds are moderating. The many friends of the former Clanton lady will be pleased to hear from her and to learn that she is doing well.

GRAVES ENDORSES D. H. RIDDLE FOR GOVERNOR'S CHAIR

Montgomery, Feb. 21. — Gov. Graves' reported endorsement of the candidacy of State Senator D. Hardy Riddle, of Talladega, for governor, places Riddle in a formidable position in the forthcoming gubernatorial contest, in the opinion of Atticus Mullin, veteran political writer of The Montgomery Advertiser.

"So far there is no vital issue," Mullin writes, "but Riddle has the backing of the smartest political brain in Alabama—that possessed by Bibb Graves. So, in the writer's opinion Riddle will become a serious contender in the race for governor. Gov. Graves never sleeps in a political campaign, and is always about two weeks ahead of his nearest political opponent's moves."

PROVIDENCE—BEAT 13

Preaching Saturday and Sunday was well attended. Our pastor, Bro. J. N. Green, delivered two wonderful messages.

We have a good Sunday school, but we want everyone to come out and help us to make it better.

Miss Irma Blewster gave a quilting last Thursday. Those present were: Mrs. Iona Harrel, Mrs. John Gay and daughter Lennie, Mrs. Marvin McGraw, Mrs. Bob Green, Mrs. Kirk Blewster and daughter Margaret, and Mrs. Cecil Horton.

Several from Providence attended the singing at Calera Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Green and family ha das their week end guests: Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Scott and baby, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald McClinton.

Miss Ruth Horton and Miss Syble Horton visited hteir parents Sunday.

Miss Clara Beam visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Beam, this week end.

FIDELIS AND Y. W. A. PARTY

Mesdames Sara Mullins, Agnes Lowe, Misses Dorothy Manning and Elizabeth Cobern were joint hostesses at the home of the former, entertaining members of the Fidelis Sunday school class and Y. W. A. Monday evening, February 21.

Games and contests carrying out the St. Valentine and George Washington ideas were enjoyed, in which prizes were awarded to Miss Alice Powell and Mrs. Mary Charles Larrimore.

A tempting dish was served to the following: Mrs. J. R. Mullins, Alice Powell, Hazel Gray, Ruth Gray, Euna Powell Gladys Roper, Margaret Johnston, Janie Beth Johnston, Mildred Hawton, Nell Rockett, Mary Charles Larrimore, Judy McDaniel, Willie Maude Kelley, Gertie Fiquette, Thelma White, Mary Frances Duke, Ruby Abbott, and the hostesses.

JEMISON PANTHERS ADD THREE VICTORIES TO SEASON'S TOTAL

The Jemison High School Panthers added three more victories to their season's total last week.

On Wednesday, February 16, they went to West End, Birmingham playing West End High and West End Y. M. C. A. Teams both the same night. The score for the West End High game was 24 to 18.

On Saturday, February 19, they went to Verbena and won from the Verbena High team by a score of 53 to 3.

This was the last scheduled game for Jemison High this year.

AGENTS ARE GETTING FACTS ON NEW PROGRAM

County Agent J. W. Fant and W. C. Wingard, assistant in Agricultural Conservation, are spending Wednesday and Thursday in Auburn obtainings of the new farm bill.

Immediately upon returning to the county they will hold a meeting of community committeemen and give them the details of the 1938 program. Community meetings will then be held throughout the county for giving the farmers all the information about the new program.

"With a state quota assignment of 2,097,000 acres, Alabama will move promptly at top speed in application of provisions of the new agricultural adjustment act," says P. O. Davis, director, Alabama Extension Service, in a letter to County Agent, J. W. Fant.

The 2,097,000 acre quota is Alabama's share of the national allotment of approximately 26,500,000 acres which the U. S. Department of Agriculture estimates will produce this year with normal yields a crop of 10 to 11 million bales. In 1937, Alabama's quota was 2,366,000 acres.

The state's allotment will be apportioned to the counties principally on the basis of the acreage planted in cotton together with the acreage diverted from cotton during the past five years. The Act. however, provides that no county's allotment for 1938 and 1939 will be less than 60 per cent of the acreage planted to cotton in 1937, including 60 per cent of the acreage diverted from cotton in 1937.

Not more than two per cent of tu state's arceage allotment will be assigned to new growers—growers on farms which did not grow cotton during the past three years.

Marketing quotas for cotton will go into effect this year if approved by two-thirds of the producers voting on the quotas in a referendum which will be held within 30 days.

A producer's marketing quota will be the actual production on his allotted acres or the normal production on his allotted acres, whichever is higher. This means, the extension director said, that "a farmer who does not plant more than his acreage allotment may sell all of the cotton he produces without penalty regardless of the amount."

Sales in excess of marketing quotas will be taxed two cents per pound during the first marketing year and three cents per pound if sold in a subsequent year. The tax will be collected by the buyer at the time of the sale.

The penalty, however, does not apply on any farm where the production is 1,000 pounds of lint or less, provided the producer submits a work sheet and receives an allotment.

If a farmer plants cotton in excess of his acreage allotment he will lose all soil conservation payments, his cotton price adjustment payment and the chance to obtain a full loan on the marketing quota for his farm.

The act provides special provisions for small growers, including increase in all payments less than $200.00.

Payments are to be divided between landlord and tenants in proportion as they share in the crop except that paymentsp for soil-building practices are divided in the proportion that the landlord and tenant contribute to the carrying out of the practices.

In the referendum on cotton marketing quotas, all farmers who produced cotton in 1937 will be eligible to vote. The election will be under supervision of the county committees who will announce the polling places in communities where cotton is grown. The ballot will be secret.

The county allotments will be apportioned fairly among all producers of the county, but this work cannot be completed until the work sheets have been obtained from all 1937 nonsigners and from all farms the size of which have been changed since 1937 by sale, purchase, or rental.

SOCIAL SECURITY INFORMATION

Is a lump sum payment due under the old age insurance provisions of the Social Security Act? The Social Security Board is now making payments on such claims to eligible workers and to the estates or relatives of deceased eligible workers. Any Social Security Board field office will furnish you with detailed information and will assist you, free of charge, in filing your claim. Such an office is located in Birmingham at 621 Chamber of Commerce Building, and serves the counties of Jefferson, Franklin, Lamar, Shelby, Marion, Fayette, Chilton, Winston and Walker. Martin C. Folmar is manager of the Birmingham office.

Your social security account number will help to determine the amount due you when you file your claim for a lump sum payment, so keep your social security account card in a safe place.

MISS MARY LOU FRASIER WEDS QUENTIN KELLY

The marriage of Miss Mary Lou Frasier to Quentin Kelly last Monday afternoon, February 21, came as a surprise to their many friends. They were married at the home of O. Z. Kelly, in the presence of only a few close relatives, Rev. J. S. Kelly, officiating.

The bride is the lovely daughter of Mrs. A. G. Frasier, and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Edwards, a family widely known in this county.

Quentin is the son of Mr. and Mrs Ed Kelly of near Verbena, who formerly lived in South Clanton for a number of years. He is a graduate of the Chilton County High School, and is now employed in the office of Mr. J. W. Fant, county agent.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelly will make their home in South Clanton.

INCREASED GASOLINE TAX BILL OFFERED

Earl M. Hearne, Secretary, of the Alabama Petroleum Industries Committee, Montgomery, Ala., issued a statement today urging all users of fuel oil for the purpose of generating heart or power to file protests against (H. R. 3134) introduced in Congress by Representative Boland of Pennsylvania, levying a tax of 1 cent per gallon on all such fuel oil.

Hearne said, "that this tax, if levied, will place a sales tax of from 15 per cent to 50 per cent on users of fuel oil It would increase the cost of operating ships and railroads tremendously, and would add approximately $21 to the annual heating bill of thousands of Alabama home owners. He pointed out also that it would also tend to increase office and apartment rentals due to increased costs of fuel to owners.

Mobile Chamber Of Commerce Adopt Resolution

Cooperation Of Business and Government A Program For Business Recovery

Whereas, apprehension which has been growing for several months past has been increased by the recent attacks on business made by Federal officials, and

Whereas, if the present recession is allowed to drift it is a serious threat to business recovery and employment, and

Whereas, we are in sympathy with many of the objectives of the Federal Administration when those objectives can be obtained through sound measures commensurate with pratical business operations, and

Whereas, the development of this nation has been made possible through the encouragement of business initiative, and

Whereas, we believe a new spirit of cooperation between Government and business will materially aid recovery and substantially increase employment.

Therefore Be It Resolved that the Mobile Chamber of Commerce strongly urges upon the President and the Congress the immediate adoption of the following program which will restore confidence i nthe business future of the Nation:

1. The Undistributed Profits Tax should be repealed. It restricts normal and necessary business expansion.

2. The Capital Gains Tax should be repealed or sensibly modified. It retards the flow of private investments into productive facilities.

3. The budget must be balanced through sound economics in the Federal Government. Such economies are possible without seriously hampering the necessary functions of government, neglecting those of our people in need of relief or adversely affecting business.

4. The Wagner National Labor Relations ct must be revised, clarified, and its terms made equitable to both employer and employee.

5. The so-called Wages and Hours Bill should be dropped. Such legislation would be unenforceable except under a virtual Federal dictatorship over labor, business and industry. It would create chaotic conditions, raise what would in effect be state tariff walls and foster sectional ill will.

6. Congress should again take for itself such of its constitutional rights and powers as were given up in the name of emergency.

7. Government and business should encourage and maintain mutual respect and confidence in each other. Bickering and fault-finding now going on do not encourage business stability, but rather encourage industrial conflict and class hatred.

We believe that this Program for Business Recovery would restore confidence to the busniess interests of the Nation, both Employers and Employees, and we pledge our support to these principles.

Adopted by the Board of Directors of Mobile Chamber of Commerce, February 11, 1938.—H. M. Stanfill, Pres., R. D. Hayes, General Mgr.

GENERAL CLUB NEWS

The Isabella Home Demonstration Club sponsored a fine community entertainment Friday, February 11th, and raised funds for their club treasury in addition to having a jolly good time. Games were played under the direction of Miss Callan, president of the club, and assisted by Miss Dorothy Manning. As their special guest for the evening they had Mr. J. Leslie Hall, who played several selections, and was greatly enjoyed. The crowd of over 100 enjoyed contests and were served eats.

The Sardis Club met with Mrs. Sansom in the Sardis community Twenty ladies met and sang songs and enjoyed a demonstration given on pastry by the leaders and Miss Grace. Afterwards the kitchen contest was organized. It is believed the ladies of this community are going to accomplish things through this contest. Look out you other clubs, you had better get busy. We had two men to sit in on our meeting and they are getting interested along with the other men.

The Mt. Creek Club women are cooperating with the Clanton study club in donating crepe myrtle for their roadside planting. Several have donated plants.

The kitchen improvement contest is gaining momentum every day. Let's get going ladies, remember, the contest is now on—and will last until June 30. Remember to keep a record of everything you do to the kitchen and your expenses. These prizes look good, and these Clanton merchants are interested in helping you have better kitchens So, look for the list of prizes that will be given next week.

Don't forget to tune in and hear the Chilton County broadcast this Saturday evening at 7:30—give our home girls a boost, and remember the 4-H'ers would be happy if you called or wrote Station WAPI, Protective Life Insurance Building, Birmingham, in their behalf.

Every year college deans pop the routine question to their undergraduates, "Why did you come to college?" Last year one co-ed unexpectedly confided: "I came to be went with—but I ain't yet."

DAVIDS NOSE OUT CARDINALS 46 TO 43 IN FEATURE GAME

Bearded Basketeers Put On Swell Display For Local Fans At Dam Last Friday Night

The long-heralded feature match between the bearded House of David basketball team and the Mitchell Dam Cardinals has come and gone, leaving the Cards trailing their famous rivals by three points—46 to 43.

The Davids showed a smooth-working team, seeming able to score almost at will. The Cards put up a good game, too, but were no match for the big team, although this is taking no credit from the Mitchell Dam team. It must be remembered that the Davids are one of the finest in the country, and those who saw the game were well satisfied with the game the local team put up.

Once out in front by a few points, the visitors put on the monkey-shines for the visitors; and let it be said in all truth that they know a bunch of tricks. Funny shots, curious passes, crazy antics—they know all the fancy ones, and kept the crowd in an uproar all the way. The Davids had as much fun out of the affair as any of the spectators, and joked with individuals in the crowd throughout the game.

Manager Stanley states that he was highly pleased with the turn-out, in spite of the bad weather, as the gym was running over, any way.

Cobb led the Cardinals with 13 points and Dock Baker had 11. Klunder had 13 to lead his mates.

In the preliminary, Maplesville High School trimmed the Clanton CCC camp 28 to 17 in a good game. Baisden led Maplesville with 10 points, Lovelady getting 9, while L. Hicks led the CCC team with 8.

RE-ORGANIZATION OF 4-H COUNTY COUNCIL HELD

Saturday, February 12, the officers of the 4-H clubs in Chilton county met in the city hall in Clanton with Miss Mc a Grace, Home Demonstration Agent, and Mr. B. N. Ivey, Assistant County Agent in 4-H Club Work, for the purpose of re-organizing the County Council for 4-H clubs.

After a few words of greeting from Miss Grace and Mr. Ivey, Mr. Littlejohn, a teacher at Stanton, intertained us by playing and singing several guitar selections. Then Miss Grace introduced T. A. (Dad) Sims from Auburn. We were very fortunate to have Dad with us. He made a very interesting and enjoyable talk about the purposes of a County Council and also offered several helpful suggestions on the various things discussed during the meeting. After the program, Helen Patterson, former president of the Council, took charge of the meeting and the officers elected as follows:

President, Mary Pearl Griffin, of Enterprise; vice-president, J. C. Broadhead, of Enterprise; secretary, Inez Williams, Enterprise; treasurer, C. E. Cagle, Stanton; reporter, Mitcheline Mims, Enterprise; song leader, Helen Patterson, Verbena; pianist, Catherine Schurter, Maplesville.

Dad Sims had each of the new officers to stand before the Council, raise the right hand and pledge to do the duties required and really try to accomplish things.

n Some of the things discussed during the meeting were the rallys and the camp. The rally is to be held at the High school in Clanton, April 2. We are planning to have a float to lead the parade through town. One representative from each club will ride on the float. We will have as the main speaker one of the three State 4-H leaders from Auburn, Dad Sims, Mr. Lumpkin or Miss Elizabeth S. DeLoney.

Come on 4-H club boys and girls, let's make this the greatest rally ever held in Chilton county. Be on the grounds at 9 o'clock. Greetings will be given at 10 o'clock, then the real fun begins. Plans for the camp will be announced later.

Let's keep the pledge in mind, officers, and really strive to make the best better. Watch for the announcement of the next meeting and be there.

CLIFFORD M. MANNING WRITES CONCERNING FAIR THIS FALL

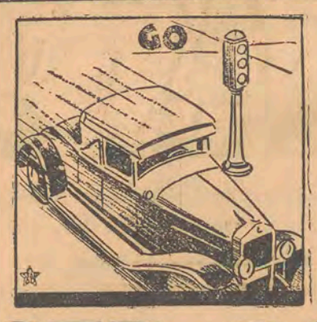
To the People of Chilton County:

You have noticed from your County papers that there will be another County Fair this fall. Dr. Gragg wrote a piece concerning it not so long ago. In order that we may make this fair a success, plans are being made by the fair committees. The County Fair is for the people of the county and should be put on by it's people.

A fair shows what is being grown in the county and shows what is being accomplished to the advancement for any county. There are a number of clubs and organizations in the county that some people do not know about. In this county we have the 4-H Club, Calf Club, F. F. A., F. H. A., Home Demonstration, Kiwanis and Pilot Clubs, which are the major organizations of the county. Members of each of these organizations should start working now for an exhibit for the organization of which they are a member. The boy's 4-H Club and Calf Club should start planning an exhibit on foreign products.

Ordinarily it would take from now until the fair in October to grow the products that should be shown in their exhibit. The Calf Club should be growing and building calves to be shown, and getting their old cattle in shape to show. The F. H. A. and Home Demonstration clubs should be planning on canning a variety of different things; also, making needlework and home furnishings and their arrangements. Since the Kiwanis Club and Pilot Club are the advancement of all, they should work with the other organizations in helping them to choose exhibits worthy of being shown at the fair.

A catalogue of the fair will be published this time. We hope to get the catalogue out in plenty of time for planning the fair. Some of the contents of the catalogue will be naming the different booths and exhibits, stating prizes and bonuses of each.



So far as we know now the Littlejohn expedition will be back with us again this year, also a number of other side shows. Plans are also being made for a horse show.

If everything goes as smoothly as it has started, the fair of this county will be a permanent, annual affair. It is hoped that everyone will cooperate with the committees and make better the second annual fair than the first.—Yours for a Better Fair, Clifford M. Manning.

Meeting Of Operators Of Businesses Called

Operators of all restaurants, lunch stands, meat markets, soda fountains and candy factories, were urged to convene at the city hall on February 28th, at 7 p. m., with local health officials and a representative of the State Health Department in a statement made by Dr. S. D. Sturkie, county health officer.

"This is the first step in the inauguration of the new health permit system for food handling establishments. It will be the purpose of this meeting to afford an opportunity to familiarize all local proprietors with the new regulation requiring them to obtain a permit from the local county board of health before city and county privilege licenses can be issued. This is provided for in Section 1146 Code of Alabama of 1923 as ammended in September 13, 1935 and is expected to become active in October, 1938, at the regular time for issuance of State and County licenses for the year, 1937. "It is the intention of State health officials," he continued, "that this program will result in more efficient supervision of establishments serving the public and lessen the danger of disease transmission by food, beverages, ect. Certain standards insanitation and methods of handling food have been set up which must be met if an operator is to be eligible for a permit. It will behoove all local proprietors who will be affected by this regulation to be present an given a through understanding of the program.

Measles Reported

Chilton County's first outbreak of measles during 1938 occurred last week when 14 cases were reported to the county health department from the local CCC Camp according to the latest weekly news release from the health officer. Strict isolation of all the affected youths and rigid quarantine of all boys in the camp who have never had measles had been imposed it was reported. Alabama regulations require isolation of each case for one week and quarantine of non-immune contacts for two weeks, it was pointed out by Dr. Sturkie, local county health officer.

"This news need not cause alarm among parents," commented the local health officer, "but measles like whooping cough should not be taken lightly, especially by parents of chil- under 3 years of age. The greatest of folly is for the mother to needlessly expose the young child to masles. Not infrequently this seemingly harmless childhood disease is complicated by broncho-pneumonia resulting in death.

"Parents," he continued should be on the alert for signs of the onset of measles which usually takes place 14 days after exposure and is characterized by symptoms of an ordinary cold with nasal discharge, slight fever and watering eyes. Early in the course of the disease, physicians may make a diagnosis from the so-called tiny white Koplik's spots in the lining of the mouth. The rash usually appears in the 4th day and is a thick erruption of large red papulons bumps appearing first on the face, and then on all he skin surfaces. The family physician should always be called at the first sign and good nursing care should be given every case.

Prompt reporting of all cases of measles to the health department was urged by the local health officer.

REFUGE

Sunday school at this place is improving greatly.

Rev. Lockhart filled his regular appointment here Sunday and Sunday night. He will be at New Cedron next Sunday and Sunday night.

There was a little error in last week's news. Instead of being B. B. Garrett to help in the revival, it should have read M. D. Garrett.

Saturday only, we will pay $1 in trade for 100 pounds of Sweet Potatoes, sacked.—Cobb Brothers, Jemison. 1-c

Thorsby Institute News

The Annual Declamatory Contest of Thorsby Institute was held Saturday night in the auditorium. The girls' prize of five dollars was awarded to Lucille McCain; the boys, prize of five dollars was awarded to Fred Blankenship. Both are Sophomores in the Institute. Ruby Raybon sang "Jeanie with the Light Brown Hair" by Foster.

Next Saturday afternoon at three o'clock in the dining hall, the Junior music pupils of Miss Kathryn Foss will give a costume recital. Several public speaking pupils of Miss Lois Townsley will also give readings. Every one is invited. No admission will be charged.

A week from Saturday night in the Institute auditorium the Helen Keller Literary Society will present a pageant entitled "Toward the Light," in honor of Miss Helen Keller for whom he Literary Society was named, and whose picture hangs in the auditorium. Miss Keller gave the picture to the school several years ago as a Christmas present. Every one is invited to the program. Admission will be 10 cents.

Christian Endeavor News

The Christian Endeavor Society met Sunday evening in the Fellowship room for its regular program period. Miss Inez Duke was the leader of the program, which was a very niteresting one. Miss Townley read an article from the Highroad entitled, "And I Haven't Seen Her Since," and the Society discussed the problems that arose. Several visitors were present for the meeting.

Tenant: "Janitor, you could cool our apartment nicely if you would run ice water through the radiators."

Janitor: "Can't be done, madam."

Tenant: "Well, what did you have in them last winter?"

"What do the three balls in front of a pawn shop mean?"

"Two to one you don't get it back."

Neighbor: "Jones is planning a big Christmas celebration. I see they're carrying in a yule log."

Wife: "That's not a yule log. That's Jones."

HIGHLIGHTS OF E. J. H. S.

Sixth Grade Visits Clanton

Last Wednesday, February 16, the 6th grade class of Enterprise school visited many interesting places in Clanton. Among the places visited were the depot, post office, Union-Banner, Chilton County News, city hall, and courthouse.

Everyone found the post office very interesting. One of the clerks showed the pupils how all the outgoing and incoming mail is assorted.

At the Union-Banner office they were in time to see the type set and the paper printed.

In the city hall they saw the city jail and the auditorium. The fire engine was interesting to them, also.

About 12 o'clock they all went to lunch at one of the cafes.

The Chilton County News office was very interesting. Mr. Hand showed them how the paper was printed from beginning to end.

Everyone enjoyed the day very much.

Sports

The boys basketball team won another victory over Calera on February 11. This game was played at Enterprise, the scores being 39 and 33.

They won a victory over the Collins Chapel team Saturday night, scores for this game being 25 to 12.

The Enterprise girls lost to Collins Chapel in their game Saturday night, 17 to 9, but several of the main team for Enterprise could not be in this game. Both Saturday night games were played on the Clanton court.

Enterprise boys and girls went to Marbury Tuesday night, February 15. Our teams lost both of these games, but only by the closest of scores. The boys lost 22 to 20, and the girls lost 10 to 9 to the Marbury teams.

The boys played Verbena at Clanton Thursday night, February 17, winning over Verbena, 37 to 22. They will play Concord at Clanton Wednesday night, February 23.

Our Enterprise boys will enter the Junior High School tournament, beginning Friday, February 25, at 1:00 o'clock. We are expecting them to gain high honors.

MINERAL SPRINGS

In spite of the disagreeable weather we had a goodly number out for Sunday school, but we hope for a better crowd next Sunday.

We are glad to state that Mr. Ulmer Ashcraft, who recently underwent an operation for appendicitis is at home from South Highland hospital, and is speedily recovering.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Peters were visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Vinzant Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gilmore and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gilmore of Tuscaloosa visited their parents Saturday and Sunday. Both the Gilores are employed on the project in Tuscaloosa.

Those visiting at the home of J. P. Bean Sunday were: Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Bean, Mr. and Mrs. Luby Gore, Mrs Olys Smith, Mr. Edom Gore, George Gilmore, Clarence Gilmore and Milton Retherford.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Gore visited Mr. and Mrs. John Gilmore Sunday.

A wedding of much interest to their many friends was that of Mr. Lowell Bean and Miss Irene Martin, which was solomnized by the Rev. W. I. Davis of Union Grove, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock p. m.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Martin. The groom is the son of J. P. Bean of the Mineral Springs community.

Those witnessing the ceremony were: Mrs. Rubye Peters and daughter, Doris Evelyn, Miss Magdelene Morris, Mrs. Olys Smith, Miss Helen Willis and Mr. Clarence Gilmore.

After a short wedding trip the couple will be at home with the grooms parents.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

Those who attended Sunday school last Sunday enjoyed not only the usual interesting discussions at the class period, but also the rare pleasure of hearing Mr. J. Leslie Hall at the organ about 15 minutes; and then a pretty solo by Mrs. Stanley. You members, visitors, new residents of our city, be sure to attend Sunday school next Sunday morning at 9:45.

Preaching services were again mighty fine last Sunday. We have a good preacher and pastor. Let's each and every one hear him next Sunday at 11 o'clock and 6:30 o'clock in the evening.

We look forward to the presence of each member of the choir next Sunday in person contributing his and her best to the worship services.

Young people, we are taking notice of your organization in a big way. All you young people, attend your organization at 5:45 next Sunday. You will enjoy the program.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Carolyn Klinner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Klinner, was honored with a party on her sixth birthday last Friday afternoon at her home.

Many of her little friends came bringing lovely gifts. After games were enjoyed, the little guests found their places around the table, their names being on place cards tied on dainty mint baskets. A pink and green color scheme was carried out in the refreshments and flowers.

The birthday cake was white and pink with green candles and holders. Carolyn's little guests were: Janet Ross, Polly Webb, Sylvia Sturkie, Mary Elizabeth Mullins, Peggy Wade, Christine Sims, Beelie Sims, Donnie Klinner, John Will Pitts, John Deramus, James Heflin Taylor, Joe Phillip Klinner, John Edd Scott and Jimmie Bell.

MT CARMEL

"Old Man Winter" came sneaking around here the past week end, causing folks to hunt their coats and wonder if he would destroy the early gardens and fruits. It reminds us of some folks who are always popping up when we are wishing they were some where else.

Mr. Tom Foshee is still improving very much. He is able to sit up some now, and hopes to be on his feet within the next few days.

Miss Gladys Oden is able to be back in school this week, after having accidently cut her right hand very badly at school last Thursday. It will very likely be a few weeks yet before she will be able to use the hand again.

The W. M. U. met with six members present last Saturday afternoon. It was decided to meet only once each month instead of twice as we have been meeting. We hope that all the members will be with us on Thursday, March 4th, to observe the week of prayer. Bring your lunch and spend the day.

The W. M. U. will have a quilting on Thursday of this week, and will appreciate your help even if you are not a member. Each one will furnish a certain part of the dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Sewell spent Sunday with Mrs. J. A. Childress.

Rev. and Mrs. Nix were the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sid Higgins last Sunday.

Mr. Lawrence Eiland is on the sick list.

Several ladies enjoyed the day last Friday quilting at the home of Mrs. Hattie Lenoir.

Mr. and Mrs. Royce Smith have moved into this community.

First Customer: "Waiter, bring me a plate of hash."

Waiter (calling back to the kitchen): "Gentleman says he'll risk it."

Second Customer: "Waiter, I'll take the same."

Waiter (calling back to the same kitchen): "Another sport!"

Judge: "Who was driving when you hit that car?"

Drunk (triumphantly): "None of us; we was all on the back seat."

"If the dean doesn't take back what he said to me this morning, I am going to leave college."

"What did he say?"

"He told me to leave college."

WISE KALAMAZOO

Last November, when its last outstanding bond was paid off, the city of Kalamazoo, Mich., achieved the distinction of becoming the only community of more than 50,000 people in the United States to be entirely on a pay-as-you-go basis and completely free of bonded indebtedness.

It took a number of years of an undeviating policy of not borrowing to bring this condition about, for when the policy was established, Kalamazoo, for its size, had a staggering debt, one which was eating up 23 per cent of the city's income every year.

The course that Kalamazoo followed is open to any solvent community in the land. It involves no magic. It demands no superhuman intelligence. It demands only a will on the part of those running a city to stop borrowing money, or at least to reduce borrowing to a minimum, so that more debt is cleared off each year than is created.—Providence Bulletin.

GOVERNMENT TAX EVASION

An advertisement of the Washington Water Power Company says: "On October 17, 1933, Mr. David Lilienthal, power director of the Tennessee Valley Authority, and a favorite of the present federal administration, said in his speech delivered at Memphis: 'A public power system should bear the burden of taxes which it would pay if it were privately owned. A public power system should contribute its share of taxes to the general fund'. The correctness of this statement should be beyond controversy".

Unhappily, publicly owned business properties rarely carry any tax burden at all, much less a fair burden. In the state of Washington, for instance, all transportation systems are taxed except those owned by two cities. All electric light and power properties are taxed except those owned by 17 cities and towns. Most of the water systems are owned by municipalities. Most of the water front property used for docks, warehouses and similar purposes, is likewise owned by cities or port districts, and is not on the tax rolls.—Ansonia Sentinel.

The Jewell Republican publishes a 50-year-old item which says: "President Cleveland in his message complains that the surplus revenue in the treasury is $55,258,701, and will likely reach $140,000,000 by next June. He advocated means to reduce the unnecessary surplus." It may be added that no such problem has ever bothered any subsequent Democratic administration.—Osborne (Kan.) Farmer.

"What are the people of this country coming to?" asks a writer. The answer is easy. They're eventually coming to the point where they will have tried all plans and panaceas in an unsuccessful effort to get something for nothing, and then they are going to have to roll up their sleeves and go to work for a living.—Washington Post.

The colleges are urged to turn out whole men. And from the viewpoint of the alumni a few good halfbacks will not come amiss.—Lowell Leader.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

BY FRANK P. LITSCHERT

The conference of "small business men" with the president in Washington has come and gone. A great many newspaper commentators were inclined to regard its session as "funny". Yet it may be said in all seriousness that the conference was not humorous. It developed some interesting facts and made some recommendations which ought not to be ignored by the administration in planning its way out of the recession.

There were reports that the delegates were handpicked and that the program had been cut and dried before the business men got together. Whether or not there is any substantial basis for this report, it may be said that if the delegates were hand picked they quickly got out of the hand which picked them. It is said also that the names of the delegates were selected from the letters that had come in to the White House from business men in all sorts of enterprise all over the country, and that the only effort to pick them was to choose from the various groups represented in the letters. David Lawrence, the news commentator, blames the "riotous" session on lack of preliminary preparation and organization by the Department of Commerce.

But the significant facts do not lie in the way meeting was or was not organized with hand picked delegates. They will be found in the evidence that the resolutions adopted show so-called "little business men" do not think differently from their big business brothers. Attempt has frequently been made to separate a supposed 90 per cent of good little business men from a 10 per cent of "big bad wolves". The conference recently conducted proves that no such line of demarcation exists. It shows that the little fellows in business have the same ideas about what the government ought or ought not to do, as do the big fellows. The resolutions of the "little business men" are opposed to a wage and hours law, approve the housing act, but oppose the excess profits tax, recommend investigation of the NLRB, and asks that union labor be made responsible before the law equally with the employer. The resolutions also advise reduction of public expenditure and the return of relief to states and local units. In most of their recommendations and criticisms the "little" fellows are practically as one with their big brethren.

After the heated sessions which were the rule among the thousand delegates in Washington, the mildness of the resolutions adopted are worthy of notice. It may be added, however, that much of the mild quality was injected into the resolutions by the committees who whipped them into shape. For example: newspaper men who attended the sessions tell us that the resolution recommending the government continue to cooperate with business, as first drawn, demanded that "unwarranted and malicious attacks on business by administration representatives should be permanently stopped", while a resolution that flatly opposed all forms of wage and hour legislation by the federal government was toned down to read that "we question the merit of a standard wage and hour bill because of geographical differences". The conference first recommended a repeal of the Wagner Labor Relations Act, but this was modified to a suggestion for an investigation.

"Little business" has conferred and gone home, and it developed a program worthy of study, despite the turbulence of its sessions. Its work indicates there is little difference of opinion between branches of business—in fact, less than exists in the ranks of labor.

TAXES AND RENTS

A Milwaukee landlord, increasing rents $1 a month per tenant in one of his apartment houses, tells his tenants why. The increase, he says, exactly covers increased taxes. If taxes are at any time reduced, he adds, "the saving will be passed on in a rent reduction."

The landlord's purpose here, it may be supposed, is two fold. In the first place, he wants to put responsibility for the increase in rent where it belongs. In the second place, he wants to awaken tax consciousness in his tenants. If the landlord's figures are right, the tenant may discover for himself that he is this year paying something like $130 in taxes on the apartment he occupies.

In other words, more than 25 per cent of what he is paying as "rent" is actually going to the tax collector. That is something for him to keep in mind when he considers his attitude toward government extravagance and waste.—Milwaukee Journal.

A TOUGH JOB

The farm bill contemplates the withdrawal of 40,000,000 acres from the soil depleting crops. These diverted acres are to be used for soil building crops, the farmer to receive pay on this diverted land. But the crops raised must not be used to feed livestock. The dairy interests claim if this alfalfa, soy bean, clover, and other similar crops were fed to livestock it would subsidize farmers everywhere to go into the dairy business. It would seem strange if a farmer might not feed the crop he raises on his own farm to his own cow. The wheat farmer is especially in need of these diverted crops if he is to have any useful occupation during the winter months, the dairy farmers say. It shows how difficult it is to regulate everybody's business. —Jewell County (Kan.) Republican.

BILLION DOLLAR INTEREST

An item which may not be extensively publicized, but which is of peculiar importance, is that during the year 1939, interest on the public debt will have reached almost one billion dollars per annum; to be exact, $976,000,000. It will be remembered that the nation trembled when the first "Billion Dollar Congress" was in session under the administration of Woodrow Wilson.

IMPORTANT TO ALL

The conflict between the private and the public utilities in the Tennessee Valley area is of significance, not only to the security holders in the threatened private systems, but to the owners of utility securities everywhere and to the taxpayer who contributes the generous subsidy that has enabled the TVA to sell power at much less than its real cost. If the administration can cut the throat of private enterprise in the Tennessee Valley, what is to keep it from giving the death blow to utilities in other parts of the country?—Hartford Courant.

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

Man in his natural state does not wish to admit that he is a fallen creature, but in his actions he has to admit that the race died in Adam. We hear a great deal of talk about disarmament. They tell us that if we have a big army and a big navy we will fight. We have war. If we have to disarm to keep from fighting, that is all the proof we need that the nations of this earth are composed of men and women who belong to a fallen race. A Christian man will have no greater temptation to fire a cannon than he would a small pistol. If nations were Christian and the citizens were not naturally depraved, then you could put a soldier every eighteen inches around any government in the world and he would have no temptation to shoot people. Men are naturally sinners. Some are thieves, some are murderers, some are adulterers, and David said in his haste, "All men are liars." Some wag said, "He didn't have to be in a hurry to say it. He could take his time and it still would have been true." All sins are simply branches which grow on the tree of fallen nature. The only hope for man is a new birth, "Except we be born again we cannot see the kingdom of God." Unregenerated men have no spiritual apprehension. They think in the terms of self—self-preservation, selfish interests, and selfish pleasures.

The old preachers used to talk a great deal about total depravity. Men say now they do not believe in total depravity. All orthodox people believe in total depravity whether they realize it or not. When we say a man is totally depraved, we do not mean that man under our present civilization commits every kind of sin. We simply mean that man born in this world is minus God. There is no divinity in him. Any sin ever committed by any man could under the proper provocation and temptation be committed by any other unregenerated man. "Why did I do so and so?" I have heard men behind prison bars say. Women from fine families in my evangelistic meetings have sobbed out their hearts in inquiry rooms and said, "How could I commit such sins?" We forget that the greatest sin that man can commit is the sin of not loving God. Man in his natural state does not love God. He has no affinity for God. When man is born again he becomes a child of God and has an affinity for his Father. He loves God. Only a Christian can sing, "Oh, how I love Jesus". A sinner may dread God. He may look up into the sky and think of judgment day when he has to face divine justice. But a Christian can look up into the face of a just God and call him "Father." Remember, man in his unregenerated state is not a child of God. He is a child of the devil. We become children of God by the power of a new birth. The Bible nowhere calls any man God's child unless the man has been born again.

Birmingham Dog Show

April 9 and 10 are the dates for the Birmingham Kennel Club's annual dog show this year, and advance indications are that registration will exceed that of 1937 when a Southern record was set. Exactly 508 dogs were shown last year and the club's goal this year is in excess of 600 dogs. Weekly meetings are being held and President Hugh Seales reports much enthusiasm on the part of members for putting the show over. Collection of trophies closed on Monday, February 21, and from now until the show opens on April 9 a campaign of education will be conducted to make Birmingham dog show conscious.

30,000 Wild Ducks

A sight to make the duck hunter's trigger finger itch for a gun was reported from south Baldwin County this week by Chief Game Warden W. G. Wharton. Approximately 30,000 wild ducks were seen on Choccolotta Bay, a small arm of Mobile Bay with an area of about nine or ten square miles. There were canvasbacks, pintails, mallards and other kinds, including a pair of black mallards. Wharton spent an hour with his field glasses watching the ducks feeding. He said that he walked up to within a hundred feet of large flocks of ducks and they did not fly away. Canvassbacks, which have been scarce in recent years, were prodominant.

Field Trials Postponed

Alabama sportsmen and bird dog breeders will be interested to know that the national championship field trials at Grand Junction, Tennessee, have been postponed on account of the scarcity of quail in that section. This is the second time in 43 years that the trials have not been held as scheduled. Association Reuben Scott said, "We plan to resume the running next year. There is a decided scarcity of quail here this year, and we just didn't figure there were enough birds to furnish fair trials for the entries. For that reason we have called them off."

Under the present law Boards of Education are no longer permitted to incur deficits for current operating expenses. Clanton's Crepe Myrtle Trail—

Members of the Clanton Study Club began several years ago a project "to make Clanton crepe myrtle conscious". Several hundred trees were planted by individuals in their respective yards.

This year the civic committee had as their project "a crepe myrtle trail". Through the cooperation of the Kiwanis Club and the Music Study Club a fund was started. This was added to by the committee, and last week, the state highway department and the city planted 100 watermelon crepe myrtle trees and 85 rose bushes on the Birmingham - Montgomery Highway.

The trees reach from Ellis Grove to the bridge on the north, and from Mullins Gin to the Bearcat Filling Station on the south.

The Kiwanis Club members were most generous in donating $25 to the committee. Others who contributed their bit to the trail were: Mesdames J. Watts Moore, J. E. Gowan, Horsley White, Omar Reynolds, John Mullins, Dick Hayes. M. F. Jones, M. L. White, V. J. Gragg, J. P. Hayes, Jack Hayes, Claude Craig, Dewey Rockett, Joe Mullins, J. R. Electrify Now — Electricity Is Cheap In Alabama

NOTES FROM CHINA

By DR. J. TOY WILLIAMS

Back in China again and glad to be here. I left my family in Tuscaloosa, Alabama, on December 6th and turned toward China. The American steamer on which I sailed did not call at Shanghai, so I had to stop five days in Kobe, Japan, and wait for a British steamer. After an uneventful journey I arrived in war-torn Shanghai on January 2nd, 1938. There was no difficulty in landing.

War-torn is the correct word to use concerning Shanghai. As our steamer went slowly up the Whanghpoo river to Shanghai, I stood with a fellow passenger on the top deck of the ship and viewed the destruction of war. Residences, stores, factories, farm houses as far as one could see across the flat country were shot up with cannon fire, blown to bits by bombs from the air, or burned to the ground. We stood on the deck and talked of the destruction for a while, but soon the terribleness of it all bore down upon us so heavily that our feelings were too deep for words. We just stood and gazed in awe as the gloom of it all settled down upon us.

But feeling of gloom was too terrible to be allowed to last for long. Finally the steamer tied up to the wharf down the river over on the other side from the city proper. We go into a steam launch and soon were at the "Customs Jetty" where we were to go ashore in the International Settlement. As we neared the shore, what did we see? Not a crowd of depressed and gloomy looking people, but the smiling faces of a large number of friends who had come down to wave a hearty welcome and give a glad hand shake to the returning missionary. In the midst of this wonderful welcome from friends, the gloom that had settled down upon us was forgotten for a while.

Really, we human beings are wonderfully made by the wise Creator. Here were these brave missionaries who had been in the midst of war and destruction for months and yet they could put it all behind them and with smiling faces and joyful hearts give a happy welcome to a returning comrade in the Master's service.

Time, space and the inadequacy of language forbid me describing my feelings and thoughts as I went about during that first week in Shanghai viewing the ruins left by the war and establishing contact with missionaries and Chinese co-laborers in the Kingdom. Furthermore, it could not mean to the reader what it has meant to me. In spite of the difficulty of doing so, I would like to tell you of two occasions and something of my thoughts at the time.

One afternoon I went out to three places where formerly stood thriving Baptist churches which were literally bee hives of activity for the Master. Every day in the week saw some kind of worship and teaching services in these churches. But, now? Desolation! Piles of broken brick, cracked walls with parts of window frames hanging on, bits of roof twisted out of shape, but still hanging on as though loathe to leave its resting place where through many seasons it has sheltered happy boys and girls and devout men and women from the mid-day summer sun and the cold blasts of winter's storm. But where are the people? GONE! Refugees from war! Their homes around the churches have also been destroyed.

From the ruins of these churches I went to the Baptist Compound. I passed through about three miles of what was once a crowded city giving homes and employment to tens of thousands of people. I did not see a single house that had not been seriously damaged or entirely destroyed. Here at the Baptist Compound once stood a high school for girls and one for boys. But now — destruction! One large building had been burned to the ground. Others had great gaping holes in the walls, parts of the roof torn off and inside walls shattered by exploding shells. One of the seven missionary residences had been blown to bits by a bomb and others severely damaged by shell fire. Destruction, destruction! How did I feel as I walked around and looked at these things? One lady in the party occasionally sighed sadly and exclaimed "Hell on earth." That came as near expressing my feelings as I could describe them.

After looking around at the other buildings I walked into the wreck of my own house where I left all our household furniture, books, and year's of accumulated family keep-sakes when I went to America on furlough. Windows were smashed, doors torn down, furniture gone, bits of our piano lying on the floor, and a dug-out made under one room and lined in the mud with some of my best books and covered over with three feet of mud on the floor. Other books, torn to pieces and covered with dirt and slime, were scattered about on top of the mud covering of the dug-out.

The empty rooms with plaster from the walls, broken glass from the windows and bits of broken furniture scattered over the floor was bad enough, but I went up into the attic. Here, when I went to America, I left our dishes, some clothing, bed and table linen, pictures from the walls, and many other little things that accumulate through the years. These were all securely packed in big boxes. In an old trunk was packed old and precious letters, out-grown baby clothing and all those precious little things that are dear to a mother's heart. These were there, but not now. Not a thing of value was left. Broken picture frames were dumped helter skelter into a corner, but the pictures and photographs that can never be replaced were all gone. Letters, torn books, bits of broken dishes, glass shattered from the windows, plaster torn from the walls by exploding bombs, smashed-in boxes, pieces of destroyed toys, all were mingled and scattered in wild confusion over the attic floor. Yes, and all the little keep-sakes dear to a mother's heart were gone. But why linger among scenes of such destruction? Let us crawl out a huge hole in the roof and be gone.

A few days later came Sunday. The air was crisp on a fine winter day and the sun was shining. I walked a mile through winding and crowded streets, and finally came to an old two story residence. It was crowded with Chinese who speak the Cantonese dialect. Up stairs was a children's service in which "Jesus Loves Me" and other songs of the Master's love were being sung with zest and evident pleasure by happy children. Down stairs in two rooms and the hall were crowded—sitting and standing—about two hundred adult Christians faithfully and devoutly worshiping their Master. It was the Cantonese Baptist Church whose church home had been destroyed.

Having had some difficulty in find-the place, I arrived late. By squeezing in I did find standing room in the hall, though I could not see the speaker. The heads of the different departments of the church work were being installed for the new year, and each one gave a brief message. All were full of thanksgiving and hope for the new year. Deep in by heart I praised God for what I saw and heard.

With their country torn by war, their church building destroyed, the homes and earthly possessions of some of them gone, these brave souls are carrying on in the Master's name. They did not miss a single Sunday of worship on account of the war. On Sunday after that terribly bloody Saturday in Shanghai a little group of them got together for worship. That Sunday when it was my privilege to worship with them a note of courage, determination, hope, joy in the Lord ran all through the service.

This quiet, hopeful joyous worship in the midst of calamity greatly comforted and strengthened my heart. I thought: What are my little material losses compared with my indestructable hope in the living Christ? They are as nothing. Then I thanked God for the privilege of having some part in the Lord's work in China. The fortitude of these faithful Christians greatly encourage me. They are the kind of material out of which the Kingdom of God on earth is built.

Yes, sure, I am glad I am back in China and have a part in the Lord's work here. His Kingdom is going on in the midst of war. By His guidance and in His power some day millions in China will know the exceeding great joy of salvation in Him.

WILL PREACH AT JEMISON

Rev. L. C. Cleckler, of Pinedale community, will preach at Jemison Tabernacle on Sunday, Feb. 27, beginning at 11 o'clock. The public is cordially invited.

Rev. Cleckler was licensed to preach by the District Council of the Assembly in October, 1937. 2-24-2t

LIBERTY HILL

Both our Saturday and Sunday preaching services were well attended and Bro. Holland brought us two wonderful messages. We had several visitors Sunday; we invite them back again.

A collection was taken Sunday to get money to finish paying for the material used in building the Sunday school rooms. Only about half enough money was raised to pay off this debt. We have lots of members who have not given a penny to this building program. Won't you manage to make a small donation within the next few days? Any amount will be appreciated.

Our W. M. U. will meet Monday afternoon with Mrs. E. P. Littlejohn. We gave $50 on the new top for the church, and are now raising money to help finish the front.

We also have a wide-awake B. Y. P. U. which meets every Sunday night at 6:00; Bill Cooper is the president. They are working on a plan to finish raising enough money to paint the church. A few weeks ago the B. Y. P. U. presented a play at Baker Junior High School, "Mrs. Wigglesworth Gets Religion". They received around $22 from the receipts. If you would like to have them put this play on in your school or church, write Margaret Lowery, R 1, Thorsby, Ala.

Bro. Holland was the Sunday dinner guest of Rev. B. Lawrence and family.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. M. Webb and Mrs. Emma Foshee took dinner Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Ward.

Don't forget to come to Sunday school next Sunday at 10:00. Rev. B. Lawrence is our superintendent.

CANE CREEK

Our Sunday school is doing fine at present. Several were absent Sunday on account of the bad weather, but we want each and every one on roll to be present next Sunday and bring some one with you.

Next Sunday is our regular preaching day. Rev. Norris, our pastor, will preach for us. We have two preaching days a month—second Sunday and Saturday before and the 4th Sunday. Come and hear Bro. Norris.

Next Sunday afternoon, February 27th, is our regular singing time. We are looking for Mr. Wilson with some new Showalter books. Come and help us sing and feel at home here, visitors are always welcome at Cane Creek.

On Friday afternoon the W. M. U. will meet at the home of Mrs. Duke. We invite all the women of the community to come and be with us.

You'll have more fun when the SKIN is clear from WITHIN

NO man or woman wants to have a finger poked at them or receive sympathy because of an unhealthy skin appearance.

Some skin troubles are tough to correct, but we do know this—skin tissues like the body itself must be fed from within.

To make the food we eat available for strength and energy, there must be an abundance of red-blood-cells.

S.S.S. Tonic builds these precious red cells. It is a simple, internal remedy, tested for generations and also proven by scientific research.

You, too, will want to take S.S.S. Tonic to regain and to maintain your red-blood-cells ... to restore lost weight ... to regain energy ... to strengthen nerves ... and to give to your skin that natural health glow.

Take the S.S.S. Tonic treatment and shortly you should be delighted with the way you feel ... and have your friends compliment you on the way you look. Available at any drug store. © S.S.S. Co.

VERMONT

Due to inclement weather, the attendance was very small at the Farm Bureau meeting at Vermont last Friday night, and we are therefroe calling this meeting to be held next Friday night. We hope to have better weather and a large attendance at this meeting, so everyone come who is interested, and bring some of your neighbors with you. We are planning to have an interesting program, so be sure to be there.

MALARIA IN LIMESTONE COUNTY

Montgomery, Feb. 21. — Attention of the people of the state was called today by Dr. J. N. Baker, state health officer, to the importance of an election to be held on Tuesday, May 3, at which the voters will express themselves on a proposed amendment to the state constitution authorizing the citizens of Limestone County to vote a special tax of one mill to be used for malaria control work in the county.

Dr. Baker, in emphasizing the benefits to accrue to Limestone County, called attention to the good that will result, not only to public health, but to agriculture.

"Indeed," he said, "it would be gratifying if, after the election, which I hope will be favorable, other counties would follow Limestone's example and seek legislative authority to pursue a similar course in their respective jurisdictions".

A Kansas farmer stopped at a bank to see if he could get a loan on his farm.

"It might be arranged," said the banker. "I'll drive out with you and appraise it."

"You won't need to bother," said the farmer, noticing a huge cloud of dust rolling up the road. "Here it comes now."

VISITING IN KEY WEST, FLA.

This was taken from The Key West Citizen, Key West Fla.:

Mrs. D. H. Eubanks arrived here by bus Monday p. m. to spend a few weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Wilson White, at 716 Fleming Street.

This is Mrs. Eubanks's first visit here and she is greatly delighted with the climate, scenery and beautiful surrounding waters.

CLANTON F. H. A. MEETS

The Clanton chapter of F. H. A. met last Friday, February 18. At this time one of the most interesting meetings of the year took place. We were very glad to have as our guests the Home Economics advisors and representatives of the Isabella and Jemison chapters of F. H. A.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Annie Pearl Honeycutt, who welcomed the guests. Brief reports of programs and achievements for the year were given by a member of each club. Our club girls were very glad to hear these reporst from older clubs.

We were very glad to have as our guest speaker, Mr. Hicks. He gave a very interesting talk on a few of the bad traits of the American people.

Everyone was invited into the dining room, where corsages were pinned on each of the guests and officers of the Clanton chapter of F. H. A., by Margaret Allen. Refreshments were served by Annie Cordelia Smith and Loudelia Clackler.—Ola Mae Parrish, reporter.

FASHION SHOW AT JEMISON HIGH SCHOOL

On Wedesday night, March 2, 1938, the Home Economic's II and III classes of Jemison High school will feature a "Fashion Show" at the Jemison High school auditorium.

The program will be as follows: "Modeling of school dresses", by the Home Economics II class; "Modeling of afternoon dresses, long and short," by Home Economics III class.

After the fashion show a short one-act play entitled, "Elmer" will be presented.

The winners in the dress contest will be awarded their ribbons at the close of the play.

The show starts at 7:30; admission 10 cents.

ETOWAH G. O. P. CLUB FORMED

Republicans Begin Drive For Members To Back Candidates

Gadsden, Ala., Feb. 21.—Hoping to obtain enough strength to back a candidate of their own in the near future, Republicans of Etowah County are conducting an intensive campaign for members in the Etowah County Republican Club.

The move to organize was initiated at a Lincoln Day meeting on February 12, at which plans were made for a rally to be held on Washington's birthday. B. L. Noojin, member of the state executive committee of the Republican party, is expected to be the guest speaker.

Mell E. Trammell, president of the newly formed club, said today. "All Republicas in the county are urged to join, and we're even willing to accept others that may have, so to speak, seen the error of their ways."

Mr. Trammell did not divulge the number of members to date, but said that new applications being received daily would soon reach a "surprising total."

He said that a complete organization of the county will be effected within a month, with club members electing a chairman from each beat in the county.

J. T. ROPER DIED

Gadsden, Ala.—Funeral services for J. T. Roper, 32, Gadsden painter and decorator who died at his home here Sunday, were held this morning at the Brown-Service Chapel. Services were conducted by the Rev. L. O. Leavell, pastor of the First Baptist church, and the Rev. V. L. Wyatt, pastor of the East Gadsden Baptist church. Burial was in the Reid cemetery. Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Cecil Gray Roper, and two sons, Benny and Tommy Roper, all of Gadsden.

Note—J. T. Roper was a former resident of Mitchell Dam, he having lived there not long after the plant began operation. His father and a brother, Curtis Roper, died within the past two years.

POULTRY MEETING

We are calling a meeting of all farmers who are especially interested in poultry production at the courthouse in Clanton on Monday, February 28, at 10 a.m., for the purpose of discussing some of the problems farmers have to face in the production of poultry.

It will soon be time to brood baby chicks from which you expect to produce pullets. If you get good chicks and brood them properly, you are assured of good pullets to start laying in early fall.

Pullets that start producing about September 1 are the ones from which you will realize the most profit during the months to follow. Chicks should be started about March 15 to April 1, to produce pullets that will start laying about September 1.

Mr. J. E. Ivey, Extension Poultry Specialist, will be with us at the meeting, and will discuss brooding problems and answer other questions you may have in reference to poultry problems.

Don't forget the date February 28 — and the hour — 10 a.m. — at the courthouse in Clanton. If you know of anyone else interested in poultry production, bring them with you.—J. W. Fant, County Agent; B. N. Ivey, Assistant County Agent in 4-H Club Work.

ANOTHER YOUNG REPUBLICAN

Word comes of the birth of a fine son to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Baker of Clanton Route 2 several weeks ago. That makes grandpas out of both Matthews Miner and Steve Baker. Papa Clarence says that'll be another Republican vote just 21 years hence.

Our regrets for not reporting so important an event before.

RETURN FROM FLORIDA TRIP

Dr. V. J. Gragg, Mrs. Gragg, H. F. Downs and Mrs. Downs returned on Thursday of last week from a two weeks trip to Miami, Fla. They encountered a slight accident down a few miles below Monticello, Fla., when a tire blew out and caused the car and house car to capsize. None of the occupants were injured more than bruises and cuts on the head and other minor hurts. The accident happened Wednesday, and they were delayed some on account of it.

Dr. Gragg is quite improved from his illness. That Florida sunshine and salt water seem to agree with him right along. He expects to be back in his office by the time our readers get their paper.

CIRCUIT COURT CONVENES HERE NEXT WEEK, FEB. 28

The regular term of Circuit Court of Chilton County convenes at the courthouse in Clanton next Monday morning, February 28, and the criminal docket will consume the entire week. Then one week later, on March 7th, the civil docket will be taken up. This docket is an exceptionally heavy one and will last for two weeks, including the week of March 14th.

DEMOCRATIC ANNOUNCEMENT FOR REPRESENTATIVE

I hereby announce myself a candidate for Representative of Chilton County, subject to the action of the Democratic primaries of May and June, 1938.

Your vote and influence will be greatly appreciated.

Eufaula Judge Spoke Here Monday A. M.

Judge Chauncey Sparks Outlined Some High Points In His Candidacy

At the opening of court here Monday morning, Judge Chauncey Sparks, of Eufaula, Ala., spoke for about thirty minutes to the people assembled. Judge Sparks supported his candidacy for Governor of Alabama on the Democratic ticket.

Most fitting and flowery remarks of introduction to the speaker were made by the Rev. J. W. Truett, of Clanton, a former resident of Eufaula.

Judge Sparks merely outlined some of the high points of his campaign, touching briefly on a few of the ills of Alabama and his offered remedies. Referring to his past term of office in the State Legislature from 1931 to '35, and of Judge in his home county of Barbour, he stated that he hoped to do further service to the citizens of Alabama, and based his sincerity upon the records made in those two offices. Saying that we have drifted far from "Equal rights to all," the speaker expressed the hope that we might return to those ideals. "A high standard of education is essential to democracy," said Judge Sparks, adding that Alabama should not have less than seven and nine months of school in the grammar and high schools respectively.

Among practices in Alabama that should be clarified, according to the speaker, is the parole system. "We should institute a modern parole system by taking the matter of paroles out of the hands of the executive and other state officials". He condemned the practice of "pie-eating", stating that it was not necessary to change the entire personnel of State employees every time a new Governor was elected. Improved agriculture, reapportionment of representation in the State Legislature as provided by the Constitution, better state government through economy and not extra taxation, abolition of unnecessary bureaus, and care in administering tax money were offered as a solution to many of our governmental worries.

He expressed himself as being unalterably opposed to the sales tax, saying, "It places the burden on the less fortunate". Quoting Governor B. M. Miller, he said: "The State of Alabama can be operated without additional taxation," adding that the State payroll for a certain recent 13 months was 1¼ million dollars, and that 25 per cent of all money earned in the country went to national, state and local taxation. "This accounts for the high cost of living," he added. Closing his remarks, Judge Sparks said: "I propose to give a dollar's worth of service for every dollar spent. Our State expenses can be reduced—our people demand it. This can be done without making the unfortunate suffer. I propose to take care of the unfortunate of our state". He advocated old age pensions, condemning the traveling expenses of State employees. "That is an astounding item of expense", he said.

His concluding sentence was: "Should I be elected to this high office, I will not pay political obligations and debts with tax money".

From all appearance, Judge Sparks made a fine impression upon the large gathering of citizens.

SAVE OLD NEWSPAPERS!

Spring is in the air! "A young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love." Housekeepers are brightening up their homes. Don't throw away your old newspapers and magazines. Load them up and bring them to the basement of the Methodist church. This can be your good turn. Hurry and get them out of your way.—Parsonage Committee of Methodist church.

FOURTH MAN ARRESTED IN CAMP LOOTING RACKET

Officers last Thursday arrested the fourth man in connection with the looting of fishing camps on Lake Mitchell. The arrested man was Claudis Lewis, whose home is near Coopers. A revolver taken from one of the camps led to this arrest. Lewis was placed in jail.

Jule Chapman, negro, who is serving a term in the penitentiary, was brought here this week to stand trial for manslaughter. Chapman si charged with hitting Thomas Sims with a truck last September, resulting in the latter's death.

Other arrests by the sheriff's force this past week were: Driving while intoxicated, 4; reckless driving, 1; violating prohibition law, 2; attempt to murder, 1; burglary, 2; assault and battery, 1.

COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION HERE SECOND SUNDAY APRIL

Prof. W. M. Devaughn, chairman, and T. E. Wyatt, secretary, announce that the spring session of the Chilton County Singing Convention will be held at the courthouse in Clanton the second Sunday in April, and Saturday night before. All singers everywhere are asked to make note of the date and arrange to attend. There will be further announcement later.

An error was made in the date of this convention last week. The above date is correct.

CLANTON IS BECOMING LIBRARY CONSCIOUS

Of late, much has been said and done in Clanton about a library. This is a most worthy move, even though it is a belated one. There is certainly a vacancy in Clanton for a good public library; and those who have undertaken to fill this need are to be commended for their action and efforts. If you have the opportunity to help out in the movement, by all means lend a helping hand. Clanton should have a good public library.

SOMETHING FIXING TO HAPPEN AT THE LEADER

Dame rumor is busy again. This time it is about The Leader, and so far as we were able to ascertain, after reasonable effort, found that Mr. Lande has coming soon a through renovation for the place. None of the details could be dug up, but we know that there is plenty to it. Read The Union-Banner, and you will learn more about the details later. No kidding.

HAS SOLD ONE HUNDRED LOADS OF WOOD THIS FALL

Bob Connell of Refuge community brought The Union-Banner a load of lightwood knots Saturday, which made exactly one hundred loads Mr. Connell has hauled since he finished gathering in the fall. All were hauled with his mule and wagon, over a distance of five or six miles. He will go to farming now, and will not haul wood except on wet days from now on.

Another fine feature of Bob's business is that he has failed to collect only 10 cents on all of his wood. He surely must be a good collector as well as wood chopper and hauler. Mr. Connell wishes to thank all his friends for their patronage in his line of business.

THREE IN MAYOR'S COURT

Three persons appeared before Mayor C. Fenn Jones during the past two weeks, all for public drunkenness. On February 21st one white man was sentenced to 15 days on the streets; one negro was assessed $8.25. On February 28th, one white man was sentenced to 8½ days on the streets.

Hill Grocery Co. Is Celebrating Birthday

Last Year Store Company Paid $80,000 In State and Local Taxes

Hill Grocery Co., with its more than 200 stores in 38 Alabama cities, is a financial institution that ranks with the state's larger industries.

More than 1700 employes work full time for the company and several hundred more work as extras. A total of more than $1,400,000 was paid this group of employes in salaries during 1937.

The company's total city, county and state tax bill last year was more than $80,000. This does not include the amount paid in social security benefits and payments to the Alabama Unemployment Compensation fund.

The company's funds are constantly in circulation in the state. The firm has acquired more than 40 pieces of real estate in various sections of the state. This includes store and warehouse properties. The Birmingham warehouse and main offices occupy a full block on Third Avenue between 16th and 17th Streets, South.

The company also operates a fleet of 25 trucks, in addition to several automobiles used by superintendents and other officials. Tax on the gasoline and oil used in these vehicles amounts to a considerable payment to the state during the year.

TO CORRESPONDENTS:

We like to get the letters from the different neighborhoods, and people like to read them. We wish, however, to make a few suggestions to writers:

See that your letters get to this office by Tuesday.

Do not write about visits made by nearby neighbors. When anyone comes from a distance or goes off on a visit, that's news.

Do not write about the little love affairs of the boys and girls.

Never write anything that will hurt or annoy anyone.

Pay especial attention to school and church matters.

Don't write about the weather—it's practically the same all over the county.

If the general health of your community is good, knock on wood, but don't send a report of it in to be published; if someone is seriously ill, that makes news.

Write your copy plainly, especially proper names. Write on only one side of your paper. If you use a typewriter, double space between the lines.

Always sign your articles. If you want name omitted, say so, but we must have name of writer.

Please take notice, and be governed accordingly, or you may be disappointed when your article appears in print.

THEY'RE LINED UP — LOOK 'EM OVER

All of the Republican announcements are in—there won't be any more. So, the voters of the county can now line them up and begin using the culling process. Or, maybe that is the wrong expression to use in regard to such a fine bunch of men; but our readers will grasp our intention, any way.

The Union-Banner is indeed proud of the list of candidates who have announced on the Republican ticket. We feel sure that the party can make no mistake in its primary, because whichever ones they choose for the various offices they will get good ones. We have a safe and sound bunch from which to make our selection. And we have more than one candidate to select from for nearly all of the offices. That will give all a chance to express their individual good taste.

In the beginning, The Union-Banner anticipates a smooth campaign among the Republican candidates. No one has any intention of any bitterness, but we will go through both primaries with everybody feeling fine and enthusiastic for what the majority want. We will all be behind the ticket to a man.

There may emanate this report and that report, which will more than likely be the case, but no thoughtful and serious-thinking voter will let such throw him or her off the track. We will all just sit steady in the boat and keep our eyes fixed on the goal on yonder shore. No one will let his or her attention be attracted by this ripple or that, but we will all pull steadily together and forward.

Now, the matter of the selection of the nominees is in the hands of the Republican voters. Let us go at it seriously and whole-heartedly. It is all a business proposition, and we must treat it as such.

DOING SOME REPAIRING ON CENTRAL ALA. HOSPITAL

Carpenters are at work doing some repair work on Central Alabama Hospital. The work being done is on the inside walls in the basement. New sills are being put in, and they are being raised up from off the cement floor. A cement wall nearly two feet high will be poured and the sills placed on that. This will keep the moisture from getting to the wood and rotting out. A solid cement floor will be poured for the entire basement.

This is a much needed improvement. Officials of the hospital are contemplating on making other improvements in the general lay-out of the hospital. Announcement will be made later if these plans develop.

BAPTIST MISSION CONFERENCE AT MONTGOMERY MARCH 10TH

Announcement is made by the Baptist State Executive Board that a Mission Conference will be held in Montgomery at the First Baptist Church on Thursday, March 10. There will be two speakings in the morning, beginning at 10 a.m.; there will be two speeches in the afternoon. Speakers are: Dr. J. E .Dillard, Dr. R. S. Jones, Dr. J. B. Lawrence, Dr. B. H. Gray, and Mr. Laeson H. Cooke.

Everybody will furnish own lunch. There are nearby eating places where meals may be procured. Every pastor in the two associations are urged to attend this meeting in Montgomery. All are invited to attend.

The speakers are all outstanding men in the denominational work, and it is hoped that all will avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing them.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY UNION

The Alabama Baptist Woman's Missionary Union Convention will be held in Dothan, Ala., March 15-17, 1938. We hope to have several carloads to go from the Chilton county association. If any of you have a car and can carry it, let me know at once, and how many you can take. If any one wants to go write me.—Mrs. Lee J. Grant, Verbena, Ala., Route 2.

WATTS BUILDING SOLD TO DR. J. P. HAYES

On Monday of this week the Watts building, which houses Watts Hat Shoppe, was sold by Miss Callie Watts to Dr. J. P. Hayes. This is one of the best business corners in Clanton, it being located right in the heart of the city.

For the present, Miss Watts will continue to occupy the building.

GREGORY - HODGES

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee Gregory of Birmingham announce the engagement of their daughter, Jane, to Cosby Hodges, also of Birmingham, the wedding to be an event of April.

BIG BUSINESS IN THE WHITE HOUSE

[AN EDITORIAL]

Announcement that President Roosevelt will write a series of syndicated newspaper articles, for which he will be paid a sum well over $100,000, will come as a distinct shock to his apologists. In the past, friends of the president have argued that he was not personally responsible for the way other members of his family have exploited his position for cash considerations. Now, the president himself stoops to commercialize the highest office in the land, by selling to the highest bidder, for an enormous price, articles which bring a fancy price not because they are written by Franklin D. Roosevelt, but because Franklin D. Roosevelt is President of the United States.

The money-making proclivities of other members of the Roosevelt family are well known. His wife writes a sort of diary that brings her in a tidy sum; and here again the money flows in not because she is Mrs. Roosevelt, but because she is the wife of the President of the United States. One of his sons has a job as secretary to Papa; others of his sons have not hesitated to capitalize on their connection with him for private or political preferment.

In the past, Mr. Roosevelt has benefitted from a widespread feeling of sympathy for a man in his plight. The public is usually generous in its appraisal of a man whose family connections are unfortunate. If an ordinary citizen is married to a shrewish woman, or one who is a publicity seeker, whose actions tend to embarass him, if his sons cut capers not altogether creditable to their parent, the friends of such a man are apt to be indulgent. They will say, "Poor devil. After all, he is not to blame." Just such a feeling has existed in the public mind with reference to Mr. Roosevelt, and has gone far to remove the damage to his prestige by members of his family.

Mr. Roosevelt has definitely deprived himself of a claim to this sympathy, and has put himself in the same category with his money-grabbing connections. It puts the whole family on the same plane, united in capitalizing the high prestige of the presidency for the personal gain of the Roosevelt family.

The assumption in some quarters that Mr. Roosevelt will give part of his winnings to charity does not alter the situation. Everybody, practically, gives something to charity anyhow. If Mr. Roosevelt, by boosting his income $100,000, should give all or part of that sum to charity, he would have that much more left out of his other income to spend on himself.

The money-making traits of the Roosevelt family, their eagerness to cash in on the exalted position he holds, shows that they do not carry their uplift ideals far enough to inerfere with selfish gain. Mighty few of us do, for that matter, but it is to be doubted if many of us would be willing to transform the Presidency of the United States into a racket. So far as we know, it has not been done before.

What a contrast between the Roosevelt policy of "getin' our'n" while the getting is good, and the actions of Herbert Hoover! The last Republican president served four years without pay, and kept his mouth shut about it, so that it was only recently brought to light. Mr. Roosevelt, on the other hand, is apparently determined that he, himself, will never have to go through the humiliation and red tape of getting an old age pension. While preaching security for the underprivileged on a pittance of government dole, he is looking out for Roosevelt on a grand scale.

READ THE ARTICLE ABOUT "OUR ECONOMIC ROYALIST"

There is an article inside this week's Union-Banner which you must read. It is too lengthy to carry on the front page; hence, special attention is being called to it in this way. It bears a double-column heading, "Our Unecomic Royalist", and is borrowed from a recent issue of The American Mercury. It deals at length with "The More Abundant Life — For Dr. Roosevelt". Don't miss reading it. It contains facts that every American taxpayer should know about.

SINGING AT CHESTNUT CREEK NEXT SUNDAY AFTERNOON

There will be a singing at Chestnut Creek church, Coopers, next Sunday afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock, according to announcement made by A. O. Boswell. The new books will be used, and all singers and lovers of music are urged to attend. A number of good singers and quartets have promised to attend. All are cordially invited.

MR. HALL TO APPEAR IN CONCERT AT CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

Mr. J. Leslie Hall, the noted organist and pianist, who has been in Clanton off and on for the past several days, will appear in concert at Clanton Methodist church Friday night of this week, March 4th, beginning at 7:45 o'clock. He will be assisted by local artists, including Misses Mae Anniece Polk and Grace Ezell.

Mr. Hall has appeared in concert at Clanton Baptist church twice since coming to the city, and his renditions were very enthusiastically received He is really a master at the organ. As stated before, Mr. Hall is a graduate of the leading conservatories of the country, and has studied abroad.

Besides a 30-minute request program, Mr. Hall will present a number of popular selections. The entire program will be found elsewhere in this paper.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hogan, of Clanton, announce the engagement of their daughter, Pauline, to James Henry Eley, III, of Montgomery, the marriage to take place March 16.

Mt. Pleasant Wins In County Meet

Curlee's Yellow Jackets Won Second Straight Title; Collins Chapel 2nd

The annual Chilton County Junior High School basketball tournament was held at the Chilton High gym last Friday and Saturday, with Coach Burt Curlee's Yellow Jackets from Mt. Pleasant finally emerging as county champs for the second year in a row.

The championship game was between the Jackets and Coach R. B. Johnson's Thorsby team, and was a good one, although the Mt. Pleasant lads led by a few points all the way, and went on to win, 23 to 15. These Jackets displayed some of the finest guard work ever seen around here. Daniel monopolized the scoring in this game with 12 points, while Littleton and W. Collins led for the losers with 5 each. It was a fighting Thorsby team which went down, only after a determined scrap, and the affair was truly a championship game from start to finish.

It is worthy of note that the only game lost by the Jackets during the regular season schedule of 17 games went to this same Thorsby team.

The defeat of Thorsby in this game left the second place honors in a 3-way tie, with Thorsby, Collins Chapel and Enterprise having lost one game each. On Monday, Collins Chapel defeated Enterprise, and then went on to trim Thorsby in a close game to take second honors for the county.

Twelve teams were entered in the meet this year, Calera being allowed to enter its team. These were: Mt. Pleasant, Concord, Collins Chapel, Baker, Cooper, Enterprise, Stanton, Union Grove, Thomas, Thorsby, Vermont and Calera.

A total of 22 games were required to determine the victor and second place team, the meeting being a double elimination affair, any team having to lose two games before being put out of the running, for second place.

The judges picked a first and second all-tournament team, as follows:

First team — Forwards, Blankenship of Calera, and Daniel of Mt. Pleasant; center, Johnson of Mt. Pleasant; and guards, Hayes of Thorsby, and Neeley of Enterprise.

Second team — Forwards, Brasher of Union Grove, and Jones of Mt. Pleasant; center, Jackson of Collins Chapel; guards, Williams of Enterprise, and Collins of Mt. Pleasant.

The Yellow Jackets received a beautiful silver trophy for first place, and Collins Chapel received the basket ball with which the games in the tournament were played; this was a new $16 ball, and a most valuable prize.

For lack of time, a complete resume of the tournament cannot be given this week, but will be printed next week, scores and all. An attempt is being made, also, to get a picture of the championship team, and if this can be done, a complete discussion of each member of this team, along with the season record, will be given. Watch for this next week.

Circuit Court Is In Progress This Week

Many Liquor Cases To Come Up During The Last Three Days Of This Week

The criminal docket of the Circuit Court of Chilton county is being tried by Judge Arthur Glover, of Wetumpka, this week. On Monday Abe Ray, negro, was tried for manufacturing whiskey and possessing still. The jury found him guilty and he was sentenced to 20 to 30 months. Ray took an appeal, and the bond was fixed at $750.

On Wednesday, at the time we were printing the paper, William Bradley was being tried for murder first degree. The case of Woodfin Littleton, first degree murder, and Lorenza Smith, rape, were set for Wednesday also. Thursday through Saturday the docket consists of a number of minor cases, mostly whiskey cases of one kind and another.

RASCOE MADDOX ANNOUNCES FOR SUPT. OF EDUCATION

Announcing on the Republican ticket for Superintendent of Education this week is Prof. Rascoe Maddox, of Thorsby, Beat 9. Prof. Maddox is one of the foremost educators of Chilton County, having been a teacher at Thorsby Institute for the past thirteen years.

A son of Mr. Alex Maddox of Pates Chapel community, Rascoe Maddox received his early schooling at Pleasant Grove and Pates Chapel. He finished at Thorsby Institute in 1919 and taught one year at Littlejohn schoolhouse. Attending Piedmont College, Demorest, Ga., four years, Prof. Maddox took an A. B. degree at that institution. He attended Peabody College for Teachers at Nashville for two summers, taking special training and administration work. He took his Master's degree at University of North Carolina in 1933, having attended there four summers.

Prof. Maddox lives at Thorsby, is married and has one child.

The Union-Banner takes pleasure in recommending this young man to the voters of Chilton County. It is indeed fortunate that we have a man in the county available for the position of Superintendent of Education who is so well qualified for the place. He has met all the qualifications of the State Department of Education required of nominees for county superintendent. He was named for one of Chilton County's foremost educators of a quarter century ago, Prof. R. A. Rascoe, and this young man has already done credit to his worthy namesake. He bids fair to do much more toward the educational advancement of his county, and is asking the voters of the Co. to carefully consider his candidacy.

We might explain further that Prof. Maddox will be occupied with his duties at the Institute most of the time until after the primary, and therefore will not be able to spend much time among the voters. It is hoped that the people will understand this unavoidable condition.

BEN'S STORE GOING OUT OF DRY GOODS BUSINESS

Announcement is made that Ben's store is going out of the dry goods business. A big sale is announced in connection with the event, all of which you will see in a big advertisement elsewhere in this paper. It may be to your interest to investigate.

S. A. JONES ENJOYS FINE BUSINESS

Starting with a very small capital and stock, aided by a considerable amount of experience and local advertising, S. A. Jones has a nice and promising business of Jones Seed & Feed Co., of which he is manager.

Mr. Jones has a complete line of the best seeds that can be bought, and says if he should happen not to have the seed you are seeking, he will be glad to get them for you in a very short time.

In addition to the seeds and feeds Mr. Jones, usually known as S. A., also has a cream buying station that is one of which to be proud, requiring the work of four people. This company has sold around 8,000 baby chicks during the six months of its existence.

S. A. owes his success to the high quality of seeds and feeds which he carries, also the patronage of his friends of Chilton county.

Read the adv. found elsewhere in this paper.

PROF. FRED ALLEN IN RACE FOR STATE SENATE

On the Republican ticket for the office of State Senate from Chilton, Shelby and Autauga counties will appear the name of Fred Allen, according to a statement made by him to The Union-Banner Friday of last week.

Prof. Allen lives at Calera, and is principal of the school at that place. He has held that position for the past 11 years, and is held with the highest respect and esteem by all those with whom he has associated.

This election is the time for shelby to furnish the Senator, since Chilton furnished that official the last time and Autauga the time before.

The Union-Banner commends Prof. Allen to the careful consideration of the voters of Chilton and the other two counties. He seems to be a man thoroughly capable of handling the office of State Senator.

We had Sunday school and preaching last Sunday. Rev. Gray delivered a fine sermon, using for a subject: "The Second Coming of Our Lord". He brought out some very good points. There were not so many present, on account of the bad weather, but next Sunday we are expecting a large crowd to attend our Bible class.

If the weather is suitable, we are expecting our pastor, Rev. J. R. Cost, to be with us again the first Saturday night and Sunday. Everyone is invited to attend the services. Everybody come out and encourage him as much as we can.

If you don't go to church anywhere else, come to Robinson Springs, where you are always welcome.—Reporter.

ARCADIAN NITRATE PAYS on Cotton say these ALABAMA GROWERS

"PROFITS FROM ARCADIAN PAID FOR HOME IMPROVEMENTS"

"The depression set me back but ARCADIAN has helped bring me back up. I have just built a sun porch and have almost completed the job of putting a new roof on my house. I believe in ARCADIAN because it is the best."

J. L. Edwards, Selma, Ala.

"1/3 MORE COTTON PROFIT FROM ARCADIAN"

"Things have been picking up on our farm since we began using ARCADIAN NITRATE OF SODA. On cotton it has added one-third to our profits. We have built a new home, put in a new windmill, bought a new syrup pan, and other equipment, including a bunch of young mules." J. L. Snell, Pickard, Ala.

"ARCADIAN PROFITS ENABLED ME TO BUILD BRICK BARN"

"I made 120 bales on 66 acres. By using ARCADIAN I made 30 extra bales. I believe in fewer acres and more ARCADIAN per acre. Profits from my cotton increase have enabled me to build my brick barn, buy mules, and a tractor."

Grow Healthy Chicks

By E. S. McConnell, B. S. A. Poultry Disease Specialist Cosby-Hodges Milling Co., Birmingham, Alabama

It is usually about this season of the year when one begins to think of baby chicks. It is our hope that this article will give you a better understanding of brooding, management and control of diseases.

As with other animals, to be successful with poultry, one must have good stock, proper housing, a well balanced feed and follow a system of sanitation and disease control.

One disease that is threatening the poultry industry here in the South, and throughout the nation also, is known as foul paralysis, lecuosis or more technically, neurolymphomatosis. The symptom are the paralysis of legs or wings and other parts of the body, eyes turning gray with the bird eventually going blind. The causitive agent of this disease, according to the latest knowledge, is unknown but believed due to a filterable virus which is a germ that can't be seen with the most powerful microscope. Personally, we believe that a chronic case of coccidiosis or a heavy worm infestation are predisposing factors to this disease. It is believed that resistance to this disease is inherited, so get your chicks from a source known to be free of this condition. Buy chicks from the same place where you or your neighbors have gotten resistance stock with good egg producing qualities before. It pays to buy good chicks and don't hesitate to pay more for them if you know they are good. I will furnish names and addresses when requested of breeders whose stock I believe is good.

Coccidiosis is one of the most common diseases we have. The latest control measure as advocated by several research workers is known as the deep litter method. It is to cover the brooder house floor with four inches of dry shavings, coarse sawdust or other tight-packings, absorbent material. Place all feed hoppers and water devices on wire covered platforms 2 or 3 inches above surface of litter so chicks won't have access to the waste feed and water which falls within this wire enclosure. Three or four times a day, turn the litter with a pitchfork to bury fresh droppings. In such a way, the coccidia are deprived of fresh air and the heat from decomposing manure drys the litter and raises the temperature—all of such conditions being unfavorable for the coccidia to sporulate and reach the infective stags. Immunity to coccidiosis is developed by the birds ingesting a few coccidium oocysts but not enough to cause an outbreak of it. The litter may be used for the first six weeks if it doesn't become wet. Don't crowd your chicks.

Get chicks from pullorum (BWD) tested sources, preferably from one operating under the National Poultry Improvement Plan.

Feed a recognized, well-balanced brand of feed. Don't grow and mature the pullets too fast. If White Leghorns start laying at five and one-half to six months they are maturing at the correct age. Keep young growing pullets away from older hens, on a clean range to combat diseases and internal parasites.

So get disease free, superior chicks from a reliable source, feed them properly on a feed which supplies all their nutritional needs, give good care, and you should have sturdy, well developed pullets going into the laying house next fall to produce high priced eggs.

Correspond with the writer, whose address is Box 911, Birmingham, if you desire further information or have any individual problems. They will receive personal and prompt attention.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

ROOT-KNOT RESISTANT POLE BEAN DEVELOPED

Auburn, Ala.—The Alabama Experiment Station has developed a root-knot resistant variety of pole beans. It is known as Alabama No. 1 and is being introduced to the public in small packages this spring.

Over a period of eight years, the Alabama No. 1 pole bean has proved outstanding as a home garden bean with ability to produce a good crop during hot weather in the South, report C. L. Isbell and Keith C. Barrons, who conducted the experiments. Many seasons it has survived droughts of several weeks duration much better than common pole bean varieties, and under good growing conditions it has produced heavy yields over long seasons.

It is slightly larger than Kentucky Wonder, developing edible pods at about the same time as genuine stripped cornfield beans. "Several persons who have eaten this variety believe it to be equal in flavor and other quality characteristics to any snap bean, while others place it somewhat below Kentucky Wonder and Stringless Greenpod," they say.

The root-knot disease is caused by a soil-inhabiting round worm commonly known as the root-knot nematode, so small it is seldom seen by the naked eye. When attacked by these nematodes the roots of susceptible plants develop galls varying in size from slight swellings to abnormally enlarged, knot-like formations. Because of these structures diseased plants cannot take up moisture and nutrients of quantities sufficient for normal growth.

EGG FERTILITY CAN BE DETERMINED IN 15 HOURS

Auburn, Ala.—It is now possible to determine the fertility of hen eggs after 15 hours incubation and the infertile eggs may removed from the incubator and eaten.

D. F. King, associate professor of poultry husbandry, had developed a method of determining the fertility of eggs after 15 hours of incubation at the rate of about 720 eggs an hour with an accuracy of about 95 per cent, reports Dean M. J. Funchess, director Alabama Experiment Station.

"The economic value of the discovery," says Dean Funchess, "is emphasized by the fact that during a normal hatching season in the United States over 200,000,000 infertile eggs are placed in incubators and are lost annually." In the past it has been necessary to incubate them for 7 to 18 days before detecting infertility.

"Results of our experiments indicate that the cost per chick could be materially reduced and the total output of chicks from a hatchery would be increased 10 to 15 per cent without additional incubator equipment if this method of detecting infertile eggs were employed," says Mr. King.

"From 14 experimental hatches an everage hatch of 90.1 per cent was obtained from all eggs remaining after the infertile eggs had been removed at the end of 15 hours of incubation."

Mr. King announces that he will continue his investigations in an effort to determine accurate means of distinguishing fertile from infertile eggs immediately after they have been laid.

COUNTY AGENT GIVES SCHEDULE OF FARM MEETINGS

I am calling meetings at the places and times listed in the schedule below, for the purpose of discussing the 1938 Agricultural Conservation Program:

Thursday, March 3 — Macedonia Church, 8:30 a.m.; Mars Hill Church, 10:30 a.m.; Isabella Vocational School Building, 3:00 p.m.

Friday, March 4 — Providence Church, Beat 13, 8:30 a.m.; Union Grove Church, 10:30 a.m.; Vocational Department Jemison High School, 3:00 p.m.

Monday, March 7 — Cane Creek Church, 8:30 a.m.; Mt. Zion, Beat 1, 10:30 a.m.; Providence School, Beat 16, 3:00 p.m.; Negro Training School, 7:30 p.m.

Tuesday, March 8 — Thorsby Grammar School, 9:00 a.m.; Shiloh Church, Beat 6, 2:00 p.m.; Court House, Clanton, 7:30 p.m.

Come to the meeting on the schedule nearest you. — J. W. Fant, County Agent.

VARIABLE DEPTH PLANTER IMPROVES COTTON STANDS

Auburn, Ala. — Variable depth planters are proving popular with Alabama farmers, reports John W. Randolph, agricultural engineer of the United States Department of Agriculture.

During six years of experimetal work, Mr. Randolph has found that best stands of cotton may be expected, under all kinds of weather conditions, when the seed are planted at variable depth. He has observed that a good stand of cotton in an adverse season is seldom obtained by one depth of planting.

"As future conditions cannot be predicted at the time of planting," he says, "a system of planting which places seed in a variable depth furrow increases the normal period during which plant seedlings reach the surface of the ground. Furthermore, seed planted at different depths are under different conditions of germination. Therefore, with the combinanations of the two factors, some seedlings should have normal growth."

Mr. Randolph has found that, in the early spring, cotton seed have done best when planted from zero depth to one and one-half inches; for later planting, the best variation is from one-half to two inches.

By insuring good stands with one planting, the planter enables the farmer to get all the benefits from cover crops without running the risk of planting the cotton too late, he points out.

State Capitol News

An increased share in the revenue collected by the State was asked by the Legislative and Executive Committees of the Alabama League of Municipalities in session here last week. The total increased revenues sought by the officials of the 242 cities and towns is estimated at $1,550,000 annually.

The items include one eighth of the sales tax revenue; double the percentage now received from liquor profits; increase in share of funds collected from net earnings, or excise tax; double the share now allocated to the cities and towns from automobile tag taxes.

Advertising mortgage foreclosures in obscure "mushroom" newspapers received a jolt at the hands of the State Supreme Court in a case recently decided which nullified a sale, among other things, on the grounds that the publication was not in "a newspaper of general circulation in the county."

This Supreme Court decision follows many previously rendered to the effect that mortgage foreclosures must be in a newspaper of general circulation in the county, it matters not whether the newspaper is a daily or weekly.

Alabama's WPA quota will be increased from 29,000 to 38,500 families before March 1, bringing an additional allocation of approximately $1,000,000 a month, Governor Graves announced last week.

Establishment of a new $10,000,000 industry at Mobile and a ship-building corporation on Blakely's Island in Mobile Bay tentatively estimated at $40,000,000 were revealed last week by Governor Graves.

Maynard's Chapel

There was a good crowd at Sunday school last Sunday, even though the weather was a little cold.

We had a good singing in the afternoon, with a large crowd attending. We all enjoyed the good singing, and invite all the singers back the third Sunday in March. We had a lot of good singers from Sylacauga. There were two songs by the Morris quartet, one by the Comerdale quartet, and one by these two quartets combined. Mrs. L. E. Rayfield and Mrs. O. A. Parker were pianists for the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Pate had as their dinner guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Parker and children, Mr. Fletcher Parker, Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Cook, Miss Lillie Cook, Mr. Morris and three sons and two daughters, Mr. T. J. Machem and brother, Prof. L. E. Rayfield and family, all from Sylacauga.

We had Mr. Arch Glasscock, from Jemison, with us at the singing Sunday; he directed several good songs.

Mr. Northcutt of Oak Grove attended the singing with his quartet and rendered several good numbers.

We had Mr. Frank Lesley of Detroit, Mich., as a visitor, he taking a part in the Oak Grove quartet.

The Union Grove B. Y. P. U. put on a good program Sunday night. It was well carried out, and everyone enjoyed every bit of it.

Miss Faris Lee Burnett was Sunday dinner guest of Miss Marie Barrett.

Miss Marie Barrett had as her supper guest Sunday night Misses Opal and Virginia Pruitt.

Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Blackmon were dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Houston Blackmon.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Williams had for Sunday dinner guests their son and wife, of Thorsby.—Mrs. W. G. Maynard.

Hill Purchases In Ala. Total Million A Year

Firm Buys Goods Produced In Alabama Whenever Possible

Hill Grocery Co., with a store in Clanton, managed by Mr. L. J. Stewart, buys Alabama produce wherever possible, and pays an average of $1,000,000 a year to Alabama farmers and others for the goods, Mr. Stewart announces.

A "buy-at-home" program is carried out, even to the extent of paying higher prices for Alabama products. Several times, out-of-state producers have offered at lower prices, but the offer was refused in order to buy from state farmers, buyers say.

Alabama's home for the blind draws large sums each year from the Hill stores for floor mops and brooms manufactured by blind inmates. Numerous out-of-state firms offer mops and brooms at lower prices, buyers explain, but the "buy-at-home" policy is carried out in order to aid the inmates and the self-sustenance of the institutions.

690,000 Dozen Eggs

Among the products bought exclusively are pickles, preserves, peanuts, syrups, country sorghum and pecans.

Here's some average yearly purchases from Alabama farmers: eggs, 690,000 dozen, or a total of 8,280,000 eggs; sweet potatoes, 1,500,000 pounds; Irish potatoes, 2,000,000 pounds; green vegetables, 1,250,000 bunches; tomatoes, okra, squash and cucumbers, 4,500 market baskets; beans, butter and string, 750,000 pounds; corn, 66,000 ears; strawberries, 340,000 boxes.

Meats, too, are not overlooked in state purchases. The Hill Co. by its Alabama buying, is encouraging the development of the livestock industry in the state.

Here are some average yearly figures on poultry and meat purchases in the state: chickens, 550,000 pounds; turkeys, 50,000 pounds; hogs, lambs and cattle, 1,000,000 pounds.

Seven Storage Rooms

The Hill warehouse in Birmingham, 100,000 square feet, is used to store products shipped into Birmingham. Trackage around the warehouse is arranged so that 10 railroad cars can be placed alongside the platform for unloading. Two foremen, two clerks and two crews of men each are continually employed in unloading inbound merchandise at the warehouse.

Seven storage rooms of the warehouse are electrically cooled to protect perishable merchandise, including eggs, fresh vegetables, meats, fish and oysters. A crew of 12 is used to inspect the perishable goods at regular intervals.

J. EDGAR HOOVER BARES U. S. CRIME INCREASE

Washington, Feb. 26.—One out of every 91 persons in the United States was a victim of a serious crime in 1937.

J. Edgar Hoover, chief of G-men, in a study of crime reports received by the FBI, said today that last year there was an estimated total of 1,415,816 serious crimes committed. Over 120 such violations were committed every hour of the day during the entire year.

Hoover announced there were 235 more major crimes per day than in the preceding year. These crimes included murder, manslaughter, rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larcency and auto theft, as against 1,333,526 such infractions of the law in 1936.

This represents an increase of 82,290 crimes, or 6.2 per cent.

Every 39 minutes in 1937, a criminal homicide occurred in some sections of the country. A total of 7,859 for the year. A burglary took place every one and three-quarters minutes.

A citizen was robbed every nine minutes, and every 40 seconds a larcency was recorded each day.

An automobile was stolen on an average of every two and one-half minutes. Every 12 minutes someone was the victim of an aggravated assault.

Sex crimes showed a distinct increase in 1937. During last year there were 8,518 criminal assault and rape cases reported. Mr. Hoover's report showed this represented a criminal attack every 62 minutes, or 23 rape cases each day.

Although last year a serious crime occurred every 22 seconds, this calculation does not include such crimes as embezzlement, fraud, receiving stolen property, forgery, counterfeiting, arson, drug violations, carrying of concealed weapons and many other lesser charges.

It is estimated that there were approximately 14,000,000 such lesser crimes last year.

Our Uneconomic Royalist

The High Cost of Dr. Roosevelt
(By Blair Bolles, in The American Mercury)

A favorite complaint of Dr. Roosevelt and his entourage of Lovers of the People, is that all the country's rich are ipso facto Princes of Greed, Economic Royalists, Liberty Leaguers, Tax Cheaters, and Gougers of the Trusting Proletariat. The average American is told daily that the Du Ponts, Fords, Sloans, Morgans, and other villains who can afford to live abundantly without federal assistance are close fisted knaves pocketing salaries huger than decency permits, while the Great White Elephant who smiles wisely in the White House takes but $75,000 a year for his labors, only $10,000 more than Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis receives for acting as the Solomon of baseball. The inference naturally drawn by the citizens is that it is up to the Sloans to level their incomes to the presidential figure, for, after all, who is more important than the president? One item omitted from this hate propaganda, however, is the fact that Dr. Roosevelt personally costs the nation more each year than a whole tribe of Big Business Macauleys. The $75,000 annual pay which congress appropriates for the president is only pin money.

In hard cash and services, Dr. Roosevelt has been receiving the equivalent of $355,785 a year since the day he opened his act at the White House. Indeed, if we were not making every effort to be fair, the figure might be raised to $797,637. Taxation digs every sou of this haute bourgeoisie sum from the pockets and bank accounts of the American populace, yet, except for a federal income tax on his admitted $75,000 salary, Dr. Roosevelt escapes the publican entirely. The Great Friend of the Poor travels at public expense to every state in the Union; destroyers protect him while he fishes; he commandeers a cruiser when the deep sea calls; he demands a ship from the navy for a week end vacation. Yet the man who holds himself lucky if he can pay for a bus trip, the city dweller who knows fish only as a food, the landlubber for whom the deep sea is a blue spot in the atlas, the busy worker who for week end relaxation takes his children to the zoo—these are the ones who shell out so that Dr. Roosevelt can enjoy the More Abundant Life.

From March 4, 1933, to January 4, 1938, just 58 months, the presidency was worth to Dr. Roosevelt the juicy sum of $1,719,685. In that period the president received $362,500 in salary. He was allowed $120,829 for the expenses of travel and entertaining. He drew $241,667 for contingent expenses. He obtained $415,359 worth of service from naval cruisers, $167,996 worth from destroyers, and at least $3,500 worth from a naval airplane carrier. At a cost of $40,000, for 32 months he used the Sequoia, a remodeled Department of Commerce inspection boat, as his private yacht. Finding the Sequoia cramping, he arranged the refitting of the Electra, an old Coast Guard rum chaser. This cost $163,000. The ship was renamed the Potomac, and since November 17, 1935, the day it entered its exalted service, its operating and maintenance expenses have amounted to $80,000. The naval masters of the Sequoia and the Potomac have drawn $29,167 in pay. Another $95,667 has gone to the two naval and army aides who attend the president always, and to the naval physician who is paid by the public not only to take the president's pulse, but to keep well the members of his family.

And $1,719,685 is not all. To staff Dr. Roosevelt's household and office, the government spent $614,231 during the 58 months. The PWA rebuilt the west wing of the White House for $303,087. The PWA remodeled the White House kitchen for $150,000. The PWA renewed the White House electric wiring for $78,000, and replaced a White House cornice for $6,000. In 4½ years, congress consented to the expenditure from the treasury of $832,944 for upkeep of the White House grounds. Eight secret service men and 42 special policemen guard the presidential person and the approaches to the White House; the 58 months' fees of this Muscle Trust amount to $243,393. Add these sums and you discover that while America has been wondering where the next meal is coming from, it has been forking over $3,947,340, not $75,000, a year, to finance the star of the New Deal's divine comedy.

The White House and its spreading park, the home provided by the voters for the president, are assessed at $23,623,170. If this home were Dr. Roosevelt's own, he would have paid in real estate taxes to the District of Columbia from March, 1933, to January of this year, $1,101,008.46. It is reasonable enough that he does not pay the tax—the White House is a national shrine, and there is sense to the argument that the chief executive should be provided with dignified quarters reflecting of this great socialist state. But in the case of Dr. Roosevelt, the money spent in keeping up the White House is Oriental extravagance. Up through January 4, he had been in office 1,768 days, but he was on the road 646 days, more than a third of the run of the show — 84 days aboard cruisers, 97 days fishing, 43 days week ending about Chesapeake Bay aboard the Sequoia or the Potomac, 142 days to, from, and at Hyde Park, 110 days to, from, and at Warm Springs, 144 days in non-campaign land travel, and 26 days in land travel for the 1936 campaign.

The land travel aboard 10-car special trains, crowded with relatives, secretaries, stooges, politicians, and muscle men, each, except the politicians and the relatives (and now one of the latter is on the time sheet) drawing $5 a day in expenses, has been widely publicized. But Dr. Roosevelt has never exceeded his $25,000 travel allowance, even though his 6,500-mile trip in 1937 to the Pacific Coast, during which he referred to the virtues of economy, cost almost $6,000 alone.

The navy department contends that a ship assigned to carry or escort the Commander-in-Chief is responsible for no expenses it would not at the same time be contracting elsewhere. A rider of the rods might introduce this theory into a police court and tell the judge that since the rods were bare, he was putting no extra burden on the railroad by using them for travel. So let us look at this record: Aboard the heavy cruiser Houston, the Uneconomic Royalist, who in all his presidential travels has covered 114,000 miles, went in 1934 from Annapolis, Md., to Hawaii, and in 1935 from San Diego, Calif., to Charleston, S. C. The heavy cruiser New Orleans escorted him to Hawaii, and the heavy cruiser Portland escorted him from San Diego. The U. S. S. Macon, airplane carrier, made a 2-day trip from its Sunnydale, Calif., base to fetch mail to Hawaii-bound Dr. Roosevelt. From November 18 to December 19, 1936, our roving president used the heavy cruiser Indianapolis to convey him to Buenos Aires, where he filled the air with the dogma of Pan-American love, and back to Norfolk, Va. The Indianapolis was an old friend; the Super-Admiral rode it in 1933 from Campobello, Nova Scotia, where he had ended a June fishing trip to Annapolis—four days, $13,742.

Dr. Roosevelt cannot pursue the tuna, the flying fish, and a healthy sun tan unless two destroyers are standing by. Since he arrived at the White House, he has fished in Long Island Sound, by Edgartown, Mass., Pulpit Harbor, Me., Southwest Harbor, Me., Roque Island, Me., Campobello, in the Chesapeake, in Gulf Stream waters from Jacksonville, Fla., to the Leewards, by the Virgin Islands, Cocos Island, Oahu, near Desdemona Sands, Ore., Ocean City, N. J., Block Island, and in the Gulf of Mexico. Witnesses to his angling have been the officers and men of these desroyers, each ship costing $1,368 a day to operate: the Farragut, Ellis, Dale, Monohan, Dickerson, Moffett, Hopkins, Selfridge, and New. On the president's own boat during these trips are usually some members of his family and always his chief military aides (now Col. Edwin Watson and Capt. Walter B. Woodson) and his naval physician, Capt. Ross McIntire (the Roosevelts are the beneficiaries also of free dental service, free barbering, the use of 12 automobiles, and free laundry service). Dr. Roosevelt used to fish from the yacht Nourmahal when he was a Good Neighbor of its owner, Vincent Astor. Lately, he drops his line from the Potomac, which never leaves Washington for a Chesapeake Bay week end cruise without at least four guests aboard, aside from the always present Marguerite Le Hand, Dr. Roosevelt's private secretary, and the president's bodyguard (now Thomas J. Qualters, former Notre Dame tackle). These guests have eaten 800 breakfasts, luncheons, and dinners, and Lieut. A. D. Clarke, U. S. N., commander of the Potomac, draws $3,600 a year in navy pay.

Dr. Roosevelt enjoys a $50,000 swimming pool built in the White House through public subscription, managed by a newspaper a few months after he took office. Steinway provided his official domicile with a $6,000 gold piano, gratis. The president's former bodyguard, Gus Gennerich, set up a shooting gallery in the White House basement. From all parts of the country, from profusive admirers of the Pal of the Proletariat, annually come gifts valued at $50,000. When the president entertained, the War Department assigns to him 10 officers, besides Col. Watson; the navy assigns him 8, besdes Capt. Woodson; and the Marine Corps assigns 2 officers to act as aides and put more of the DeMille touch into his show.

Among the other public paid supporting actors about the White House are 3 presidential secretaries, including eldest son James Roosevelt at $10,000 each, 2 executive officers $7,000 each, 2 senior administration officers $4,000 each, 6 administration officers $4,950 each, administrative assistant $3,100, 6 junior administhative assistants $2,187 each, 3 principal clerks $2,500 each, 1 clerk $2,000, 1 clerk $1,920, 2 assistant clerks $1,740 each, custodial supervisor $1,800, 3 messengers and doorkeepers $1,540 each, 1 messenger $1,440, 1 messenger $1,380, 2 laborers $1,170 each, 3 chauffeurs $2,334 each, 1 assistant chauffeur $1,760, footman $1,560, and 2 car washers $1,320 each. Dr. Roosevelt, from his own pocket, pays his personal servants at the White House about $10,000 a year.

A Dutchess County, N. Y., neighbor of the president would be assessed $18,779 in federal income taxes and $5,550 in New York State income taxes on a salary of $75,000 a year. The president pays the $18,779. The same New Yorker receiving the $355,785 which is the actual Roosevelt emolument, would pay $194,288 in federal income taxes and $26,867 to New York —$221,155 in all. Dr. Roosevelt still pays $18,779. That makes the net annual cost of his act $337,006 in cash of the realm.

Are you quite sure he is worth it, Mr. Taxpayer?

SALES OF CHILEAN IODINE INCREASES

Sales of Chilean iodine throughout the world in 1936-37 were 18 per cent greater than in the preceding year, according to a review made public by the Chilean Nitrate Sales Corporation. In the past five years the increase has been 184 per cent.

"The supply of iodine as a by-product of Chilean nitrate is practically inexhaustible," the review states, "and its existance guarantees to the United States an abundant and easily available source of this essential element.

"More than 50 per cent of the iodine sold is used in general medicine as in the treatment of goitre, asthma, arthritis, syphilis, bronchial conditions and other diseases.

"In industry iodine is used in the manufacture of automobile tires, in the evaluation of vegetable oils, and in the making of ceramics, etc. It is also required in the manufacture of the new polarized lenses which are used in sun-glasses and which are of potential significance in eliminating the glare of automobile headlights.

"Its most important new use is its incorporation, in the form of potassium iodide, in live stock and poultry feeds. Iodized mixed feeds and iodized salts are now widely used for the raising of stronger, healthier farm animals and poultry."

Mr. Croell Williams, of near Pletcher, was in town Tuesday and called by the Banner office.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our friends and neighbors who were so kind and thoughtful during our recent sad bereavement. Not even the smallest courtesy has been overlooked, and our prayer is that the Lord may richly bless each and every one of you.—The Rollins Family.

P. M. MARTIN WRITES

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me a small space in the Banner to say a few things in regard to our coming election. The time is drawing near when we will go to the polls and vote for our choice of those candidates. Now, just think for a minute, all of these men have some fault. The Savior said, "Not One Perfect", so let's not throw a stone at someone for some little fault in life; for we might live in a glass house.

I think all of these fellows is good men for the place they are asking for. If we should not get the man that we think is best, just say, "I am with the majority in November", and we will elect a full Republican ticket.

There is always something strange happening around Union Grove. So, I have just got some news—"Believe It or Not". Jess Collum bought himself a mule, and had to keep him hid from the chickens to keep them from eating him up. That may seem strange, but Jess told me it was true. Of course, Jess is a "One Hundred Per Cent" on some things.

I guess times is getting better, I saw in the paper where there were 10,870,000 men out of work the first of February; and at the close of 1917, Uncle Sam had taken 71,733 homes from some poor farmer who could not meet his payments. If this should be doubted, I have the clipping from the office at Washington.

Well, I thank the many friends over the county who have ask me to run as a candidate for member of the School Board of Education. I have taken it in consideration, and I thought it best not to run at this time. But I am behind he ticket 100 per cent. Well, I will close for this time, hoping that the voters will think as never before.—P. M. Martin, Beat 12.

Mr. Leslie Hall of New York is the guest this week of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Waite. Mr. Hall will give a concert at the Clanton Methodist church Friday evening.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

Next Sunday at the Sunday school hour there will be a discussion by the teachers which will be worth your hearing. Attend your class and then hear the program at the general assembly at the end of the class periods. Let's have a big crowd at Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. next Sunday.

With the good attendance at Sunday school as a starter, let's see how full we can fill our church to hear another of our preacher's good sermons at 11 a.m. At the 7 o'clock preaching hour a group of Huntingdon College students will present a program. Let's give hem a dandy good audience.

At 5:45 p.m. Sunday, the young people's organization meets, and we hope for a record attendance and increase in membership. How about it, young people?

On Friday night, March 4, at 7:30 hear Mr. Hall at the organ in a concert during which there will be vocal solos by local soloists.

CLANTON GOSPEL TABERNACLE

The series of meetings conducted by Revs. J. J. Dubose and J. C. Thames of Elba, Ala., closed here Sunday night with a packed house. Rev. Dubose preached a wonderful sermon, which was enjoyed by all present.

Don't forget Sunday school next Sunday morning at 9:45. Come and bring the whole family. Christ's Ambassador class at 6 o'clock Sunday evening.

Watch next week's papers for ROCKETT'S Annual PLOW LINE SALE.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank the people of the community and especially our Poplar Springs church for their kindness and help during the recent illness of our wife and mother. She is now rapidly regaining her health. We also thank the Woodlawn hospital and the Doctors and nurses for their kindness.

It is really wonderful to be a member of a church where all the members and the pastor believe that "As Little as ye do Unto One of these, Ye also do Unto Me."

We wish each and every one the best of health and happiness.—J. F. Thornton and Children.

COST OF STATE GOVERNMENT

Montgomery, Mar. 1. — "During the fiscal year ending September 30, 1937. the services of the state government cost the taxpayers and residents of Alabama only $31,548,516.44, and not $38,334,820.88, the total spent by the state for such services."

This statement is based upon an analysis of the state's receipts and disbursements prepared by Dr. Paul E. Alyea, Assistant Professor of Economics, University of Alabama, and published in the February issue of the A. E. A. Education Bulletin.

From the above it will be noted that the gap between the total cost of state services and the total contribution of Alabama taxpayers amounted to $6,786,304.44.

This gap, Dr. Alyea says, was closed by grants-in-aid and gifts received from the federal government, and other donors, for financing highways, public health, welfare, and education.

The non-cost payments of the state government during the last fiscal year, as listed by Dr. Alyea, amount to $18,128,953.66. This amount is the total of the following items:

1. Revenues collected for counties—$7,633,682.76.

2. Revenues collected for cities — $141,301.26.

3. Payments into the Unemployment Trust Fund—$7,213,866.34.

4. Retirement of State Debt—$2,870,005.00.

5. Other non-cost payments—$270,098.30.

Thus, the Education Bulletin shows that the total cost and non-cost payments of the state government last year amounted to $56,463,774.54.

FAIRVIEW HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB

The Fairview Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. Alice Durbin on February 15, 1938.

There were 13 members present. Visitors were: Miss Mabel Nelson, Misses Laura and Nellie Sanders, Mrs. Zula Watts, Mrs. Minnie Nelson and Mrs. Lela Culp. The club enjoyed having these visitors and would welcome their membership and regular attendance.

The demonstration given by the leaders, Miss Inez McKee and Mrs. Eunice Henley, was on pies and pastries. A delicious lemon pie and coffee was served to the members and guests.

The kitchen contest was discussed more fully by Miss Grace. Members were encouraged to enter. The President appointed Mrs. Louise Keen, Mrs. Willie Keen and Mrs. Eunice Henley as a committee to score the kitchen that were to enter the contest.

The club will meet next time with Mrs. Lela Culp, on March 15th.

TIGERS TO ENTER DISTRICT MEET AT SELMA ON FRIDAY

Chilton County High's crack basketball quintet will be in the district tournament to be held at Selma next Friday and Saturday, March 4 and 5, as will other teams from Chilton County. According to last minute news, the Tigers will open against Isabella at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon.

The team has a record of 16 wins and one loss, that being to Sidney Lanier, whom they later trounced by the decisive score of 34 to 7.

GEOLOGICAL FREAK TO HOLD STATE SCIENTISTS' ATTENTION

"Pocosin" At Troy College Has Trees That Are Green All The Year Around

Troy, Ala., Mar. 1. — One of the highlights of the annual meeting of the Alabama Academy of Science, scheduled at State Teachers' College April 8 and 9, will be a visit to a "pocosin", geological freak, by the assembled members.

A "pocosin" is a natural rarity. It derives its name from the Indian, and a literal translation means "Swamp on a hill top". In the United States about six are known to exist, and the one at Troy is expected to be of considerable interest to the scientists.

Troy's "pocosin" is located a short distance from the college campus, is easily accessible, and has been visited by hundreds. It covers about 15 acres and there is almost a distinct line between it and the surrounding area.

The "pocosin" is characterized by a year-around green foliage on trees and bushes which normally turn brown in winter. Neither frost nor snow nor cold seems to affect them. The one at Troy is located on a slight plateau. The soil, far from being swampy, is sandy, and the oaks and other trees have bright green leaves. The "line" bordering the 15 acres is discernable through green-leafed trees within the "pocosin", and brown, winter-killed tree leaves nearby—just a few paces away.

Walter B. Jones, State Geologist, will conduct the tour. He already has been over the place, studied it, and pronounced it genuine. It's an interesting sight to see trees living in eternal summer, with year-around green foliage, surrounded by normal trees which bud, turn green, then fade to brown as winter comes.

An effort is under way, through the Troy civic clubs, to have the 15-acre "pocosin" made into a state park.

SHRUBBERY NEEDED

The project now under way at the Office Administration Building is being made into an out-door living room, where-by it can be used for summer socials, meetings and get togethers of an out-door nature. To complete this project shrubs of any and every sort is needed. If any one has any to spare in town and will call Miss Meta E. Grace, she will be glad to send the laborers over to get this shrub and dig them up if necessary This will certainly be appreciated.—Meta E. Grace.

President Of Ford Motor Company Will Talk On National Used Car Exchange Week

In connection with National Used Car Exchange Week it was anounced this week that Mr. Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor Company, will speak over the nation-wide network of the Columbia Broadcasting Company Thursday night, March 3, from 9:15 o 9:30 Central Standard Time. National Used Car Exchange Week, sponsored by the automobile dealers and manufacturers of the United States, will be observed throughout the nation from March 5 to March 12 in the biggest campaign ever undertaken in the automotive industry to impress upon car owners the many advantages of driving a better, safer car with the many modern improvements which have been made in the last several years by the manufacturers.

Another objective of the campaign is to start the wheels of business and industry moving again at normal speeds and help to bring the country out of the present business slump just as the automotive industry is credited with doing during the depression.

With business decreasing and unemployment increasing there isn't quite such a triumphant air to the query: "Do you want to go back to 1929?" Too many folks would answer the wrong way.—Lynchburg (Va.) News.

THE BUDGET

The budget submitted by Mr. Roosevelt confirms the fact that another deficit (the ninth in a row) is now anticipated by the treasury for the new fiscal year which begins next July. It also confirms the fact that once more (and for the sixth year in a row) federal expenditure will be in the neighborhood of seven billion dollars. Since this is a larger sum than the government has ever collected in the form of taxes in its whole history, it is difficult to avoid the conclusion that we are entering a new era and that henceforth the national budget will be balanced only occasionally, in the years of a great business boom, if expenditures are permitted to settle down permanently into a groove at this high figure.—New York Times.

AN EXCEPTION TO THE RULE

The discovery that many of the deserving Democrats who attended the $25-a-plate Jackson Day dinner in Detroit are bailing themselves out at the rate of a dollar a month is illuminating.

One thing it throws light upon is that the recession is like mercy and rain in that it falls upon the just and unjust alike, upon Republicans adherents to the creed of scarcity.

And another thing it shows up is that Mr. Roosevelt's disapproval of high powered salesmanship on the installment plan has its exceptions.

One of these is when there's a Democratic National Committee deficit to pay off.—Detroit Free Press.

In the old days someone used the jawbone of an ass to end a war with, but nowadays it's the jawbone of an ass that usually starts one.—Bogue (Kan.) Messenger.

Old Ike Buttonoff says that he doesn't know which interferes with farmin' the most—the weather or the politicians.—Augusta (Kan.) Gazette.

The General Motors plant is opening up a big new factory in Detroit for the mass production of new Diesel engines, and hopes to start a Diesel industry. This can hardly be called striking against the New Dealers because big business doesn't like 'em.

The PWA built a $300,000 school in Newtonville, Mass., a few weeks ago and the ceilings have just cracked. Here is one instance where the PWA didn't have enough overhead.

The Texas Railroad Commission has reduced the production of crude oil by one-seventh. The production of banana oil in this country could stand a much heavier cut than that.

The French government won in parliament by a vote of 520 to 1. That one vote accounts for Maine, but where was the fellow from Vermont?

The 5-months-old baby of New York who has been put on the Social Security rolls because of posing as a professional model, ought to accumulate a good bundle of government I. O. U.'s in her lifetime.—Kansas City Times.

IT'S WEIRD

In taking a stand against a general wage cut, President Roosevelt says: "Those who believe in the profit system must recognize that those who get the profits when business is good, must bear the losses when business is bad."

If Mr. Roosevelt feels this way, why did he insist upon a confiscatory undistributed profits tax which makes it practically impossible for business concerns to build up reserves with which to take care of losses when business is bad?

The president becomes instrumental in badly impairing the power of business to perform a service most modern business wants to perform, but which cannot be done without money.

Then he reads in a lecture on the assumption that it is reluctant to do what his own destructiveness has in many cases made all but impossible.

The thing just doesn't make sense.—Detroit Free Press.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

BY FRANK P. LITSCHERT

Recently exercises were held all over the nation commemorating the anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln. Some of the meetings were political, but this fact is without special significance so far as paying tribute to the memory of the great Emancipator is concerned. For Lincoln is now revered by men and women of all political parties. It may therefore be interesting to note that Lincoln said: "Teach economy. It is one of the first and highest virtues. It begins with saving money."

The advice comes to us from the great homely philosopher, yet in the light of recent events it appears to us today as the peak of philosophy in the horse and buggy age, and far too many of us seem to regard it as outmoded.

The time was when economy was taught in every home at every fireside. Youngsters were made to believe that saving was one of the first principles leading to a successful career. They were led to believe the way to get a "start in life" was to save money, invest it carefully and prudently. Security, they were told, depended on laying away something for the inevitable rainy day and for comfort in old age. It was instilled in the mind of every boy that he must first of all depend on himself for the working out of his own destiny. The man who had his cellar stocked with fuel and food at the beginning of the winter, and had lifted the mortgage from his roof, was regarded as really successful in life.

But now all this seems to have changed. We have entered a new era. The way to "prosperity" is now through the spending of money. The pump must be primed. Waiting for the working out of the natural laws of economy is too slow. It might easily lose an election. In fact, it has lost elections. A new automobile with a shining color and a half score unsatisfied payments is more to be desired than security for the winter. If we spend lavishly and help "prime the pump" while we are young the government will take care of us when we get old. Society owes security to the reckless and profligate even more than to the careful and the saving. In fact, the latter can be made to pay the bills for brothers who walk the primrose path.

Unfortunately, those who rely on the government's doing it, sometimes fail to see that after all the government is nothing more nor less than the people of the nation. What the government promises to do the people must do, and they cannot perform miracles without real money, which comes, not from the printing presses, but from the products of the farm, the mill and the factory.

Sooner or later, if the government relief is called on to take the place of old fashioned principles of economy, then the government is going to break down, because it can stand no more than its people can endure.

So it would seem time now to turn back to the homely teachings about economy and thrift. While we extoll Lincoln for his great liberal principles and his determination to save the Union at all costs, let us remember it is just as possible to destroy our country by the application of false economic doctrine as it is through armed rebellion.

JUST A YEAR AGO

According to the New York Times of February 4, just a year ago on that date the common stock of United States Steel, on its way merrily to a new post-depression high hit par —$100 a share. There was a great deal of cheering on the New York stock exchange. A year later on the same date in 1938 steel again approached its depression low—$50 a share. Stocks were slumping on all sides and there was no cheering on the New York stock exchange. If the holders of U. S. Steel common had followed a famous presidential suggestion and thought back 12 months to find out if they were better off than they were a year ago, there still would have been no cheering.

After having carefully read everything which transpired at the conference of the "little business men" in Washington we have come to the conclusion that the thing we need most of all is more customers.

One of the small business leaders who went to Washington to attend the president's conference said that the way for the government to help business was to let it alone. But that is contrary to New Deal human nature.

Someone explains that building up the navy is extravagant. But we would rather have a few new battleships around, flying the Stars and Stripes, than a Florida ship canal.

Business is said to be slumping now in Great Britain, too. Aha! So the capitalists are on a strike against the New Deal over there, too.

Really the joke seems to be on the descendants of those hardy pioneers who came to America from Europe to avoid the deadening influence of too much regimentation.

The deplorable situation of the Chinese is the best answer to those pacifists who say that the way to keep out of war is not to prepare for it. Lack of machine guns, airplanes and tanks has not saved the Chinese. In fact if they had a good navy the story might be different.

The president or the governor can start a new government utility operating by punching an electric switch, but unfortunately the taxpayers can't pay for it that way.

Scientists say they have doubled the length of life of the water flea by forcing it to diet. Wonder what a water flea eats when it is on a diet?

Other nations are never fair to us. We send missionaries to save their heathen and they do nothing at all for ours.—Buffalo News.

SUSPICIOUS

Will the drive against the monopolies now promised be in the direction of breaking up existing monopolies and preventing the creation of others, or will it be a camouflage for a drive for government fixing of all industrial prices, as it now is seeking to fix farm prices and wages in industry? The suspicion that, as often has happened during the last several years, the monopoly legislation proposed will profess one thing and aim at another, was not lessened by Assistant Attorney General Jackson's recent tirade.—Lynchburg (Va.) News.

TAXES AND BUYING POWER

A person does not have to be the president of a national bank to know that you can't borrow yourself rich; he does not have to be a great industrialist to know that things must be produced before they can be bought, sold or enjoyed; he does not have to be an expert economist to know that what the country pays for taxes it can't spend for things that workers make in factories or farmers grow on farms.—Morris (Minn.) COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

This is being written on the Sunset Limited train which runs over the Southern Pacific Railroad from New Orleans to San Francisco. I have been in the pullman for 48 hours. It has been a most restful journey. I have travelled by airplane, by automobile and I have crossed the ocean a number of times in modern ships, but there is no more comfortable or luxurious travel than an air-conditioned modern pullman sleeper. All of our luxuries and comforts cannot make men happy. Things never have and never will produce happiness. One of the most delightfully happy days of my life was a trip in a covered wagon drawn by two mules when I was a ten year old country boy. It was raining all day. I was dry and comfortable I dreamed my boyish dreams. We were not in a rush. We took it easy. My father and two or three friends were in the wagon. I listened to the grown-ups talk. Once in a while I asked a question. We had a good cold, home-prepared lunch. My mother was a good cook. Her food was good either cold or hot. We made life a little easier for our children and in so doing have probably done them great harm. I am positive that young people are not as happy as they were when I was a boy in the country. In magnifying comforts in our modern world we have been losing much of the true values.

I have just had an interesting visit with an Egyptian who is in America to take an agricultural course in a western university He speaks English fluently. He was gracious and courteous. I asked him if he were a Christian. He told me he was a Mohammedan. I gave him one of my little booklets, "Chapel Sayings," which he seemed delighted to recieve and promised to read. There is enough Gospel in the booklet to save a sinner. I saw to that when the booklet was published. "Italy will not take Egypt. Egypt is for England. In about two years from now England will be ready for business and will tell Mussolini what to do and he will do it," the cultured Egyptian said. "Why didn't England stop Mussolini when he ravished Ethiopia?" I inquired. "England does not get in a hurry. She waits until she is ready She is getting ready very fast", he replied. It sounds very good. Personally, I hope he is right. I think Mussolini is the most dangerous character in the world. But no man knows what is going to happen. The whole world is in a state of uncertainty. Sometime, somewhere things will come out right. This world belongs to God. He made it. When it wandered away He sent His Son to die on the cross and buy it back with His blood. Some day and probably soon, He will come back and take possession of His property.

Bird Day Set For March 22 This Year

Alabama, the first state in the nation to set aside a day for commemorating the beauty and usefulness of birds, will observe the occasion this year on Tuesday, March 22. A proclamation issued by the governor calls attention of all citizens to the day and suggests that it be observed in a fitting manner.

Bird Day will fall on the third day of National Wildlife Restoration Week, which has been set for March 20-27, and which has also been proclaimed by the governor of Alabama. Observance of this week will be sponsored by the Alabama Wildlife Federation, affiliated with the national federation.

School children annually observe Bird Day with exercises, programs, talks by faculty members and in other ways. The Yellowhammer, or Flicker, state bird of Alabama, will be prominently displayed and studied by the children. The State Conservation Department will ask all county superintendents of education to cooperate in observing the week and day set aside to emphasize the economic and aesthetic value of our bird and animal life.

Conservation Birthday

The Alabama Department of Conservation of Game, Fish and Seafoods was 31 years old on February 19. It was created by the legislature in an act approved February 19, 1907, and the first commissioner was Hon. John A. Wallace, who served from that time until 1922. He was succeeded by I. T. Quinn, who has been elected twice and appointed once since then. Therefore, the department has had only two commissioners in the 31 years of its existence.

In 1935 the legislature passed laws changing the name of the department from Game and Fisheries to Conservation, revising and strengthening the laws, and creating the Alabama Oyster Commission to regulate the seafood industry.

MALARIA IN ALABAMA

Montgomery, Mar. 1.—Malaria deaths in Alabama last year totaled only 228, as compared with 345 in 1936, according to provisional figures prepared by the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Department of Health.

Reported cases of this disease were also considerably fewer last year than in 1936, the 1937 total of 4,590 being 3,848 less than the 1936 total of 8,438.

The records show that malaria deaths in this state tend to rise gradually to peaks, and then to decline over a period of years.

OFFER HOME BEAUTIFICATION PRIZES FOR 4-H MEMBERS

Four-H clubs of the state are going in with new enthusiasm for beauty—and more than skin deep. It is planting and landscaping their home grounds.

Many fine examples of what club members can do may be seen throughout the country. They are guided in the work by plans and outlines supplied by the State Extension Service which are designed to give the most lasting and attractive effects. The outlines are distributed by County Agents and Local Leaders.

Over 150,000 boys and girls carried on such work last year, which is expected to be increased through incentives offered for the first time in the National 4-H Home Ground Beautification Contest.

IN MEMORY

On February 13th, at 1 o'clock a. m. the death angel saw fit to take the life of Henry Sandlin. Henry was a promising young man and was loved by everyone. He is missed in his home and community. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Sandlin.

He is survived by his mother and father, one sister—Mrs. Holly Franks; 7 brothers, Messrs. Kern, Charlie, Elbert, Asberry, Leonard and Woodrow, Jr., besides a great host of other relatives and friends.

He was laid to rest at Chestnut Creek cemetery February 14th. Pallbearers were: Smolen and Odell Thornton, Lamar and Herschel Hand, Jerry Miller and Kile Smith. Bro. J. W. Jones officiated, Martin directing.—A friend.

CANE CREEK

Our services Sunday were well attend. The interest is good. Our Sunday school is growing, and we are glad, but still there are several around who are not attending. We invite you to come to our church and worship with us.

We are glad for a new member who joined with us Sunday, Mrs. Duke. She is a good church worker, and that is the kind of people we need.

Sunday afternoon we had a practice singing, using the new Showalter song books, but the singing was good. Directors were Emmett Wilson, Floyd Little, Orene Wyatt, and Mrs. Leon Jones. Pianists were Mrs. Emmett Wilson and Lillie Mae Weldon. We will sing again on the fourth Sunday afternoon in March. Remember the time and be with us. We invite all quartets to come and sing with us.

Rev. A. C. McMinn will preach here the 3rd Sunday in March at 11 o'clock.

The W. M. U. was well attended Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Duke. We reorganized and hope to do some good work.

Come to Cane Creek and feel welcome.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks for the many deeds of kindness, and the comforting words we received during the illness and burial of our Christian wife and mother. We also wish to thank you for the beautiful floral offering.

May God's richest blessings be yours, is our prayer.—J. W. Hopper and family.

A SPEND-THE-DAY PARTY

On March 24th, Mrs. Wade Harris gave a spend-the-day at her home in Stanton. Such a delightful day and the most delicious dinner was served. Music was furnished after the noon hour by Mrs. Dick Lovelady and Mrs. Wade Harris. All the old favorites such as: "Red Wing", "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," In The Shade Of The Old Apple Tree", "Maggie", "Isle of Golden Dreams" and many more.

After this enjoyable hour of music everyone made pop corn on an open fire place. This was such a treat. Those enjoying Mrs. Harris's hospitality were: Mrs. A. Samples, Miss Gladys Samples, Mrs. Mary Hicks, Miss Ruth Hicks, Mrs. Dick Lovelady, little Ruth Ann Lovelady, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Baker and Mrs. Wade Harris.

PLEASANT HILL

We are glad to say that we had more out for Sunday school last Sunday. We hope they will be present every Sunday.

Several from here attended the singing at Center Hill last Sunday afternoon and reported a good singing.

Miss Datha Cleckler spent a while Sunday with Miss Layneal Downing of Union Grove.

Remember Sunday school every Sunday. New members and visitors are always welcome.

Knows Agriculture

B. P. LIVINGSTON

Candidate for Commissioner of Agriculture, subject to May, 1938, Democratic Primary. Thirteen years as Chief of Plant Industries, Alabama Department of Agriculture; two degrees in Agriculture from Alabama Polytechnic Institute (Auburn), and having been born on a Cherokee County farm, he seeks the office on his merits and ability to be of real service to the farmers of Alabama. He's a World War veteran, having seen more than a year of service in France.

MARS HILL

Saturday night and Sunday were our regular preaching dates. We all enjoyed two excellent sermons delivered by our pastor, Rev. J. N. Green. Our Sunday school is still moving along fairly good, but there is always room for improvement. So, let's all keep working and praying that we may have one among the best Sunday schools in the county. Everybody has a cordial welcome to come be with us.

We are sorry to report Mrs. Celia Ann Scott is no better. Although, we are glad to see Mrs. Hall Leach out again after having the flu.

Mrs. Kermit Gothard spent Sunday with Miss Leafie Smith.

Mrs. Blow was the Sunday dinner guest of Mrs. Sudie Smith.

Winfred Smith and Snook Driver spent the week end with their parents. They were transfered from New Augusta, Miss. to the CCC camp in, Selma, Ala.

There were several from here attended the singing at Center Hill Sunday afternoon. They report a good singing.

On the 3rd Sunday evening is our regular singing date and we invite everybody to come be with us.

CENTER HILL

One of the most successful afternoon singing's of the year was held here Sunday p. m. The new Stamps-Baxter and Showalter books were used an every one enjoyed hearing the new songs.

Directors were as follows: Messrs. B. L. Cobb, Marion Cofer, P. M. Cleckler, W. J. Jones, Cobern Cofer, Jessie Jones, Marion Easterling, O. L. Devaughn, E. L. Glasscock, Ralph Grant, Johnny Easterling and Mrs. J. D. Scott and Miss Berneydean Cobb.

Pianists were: Mrs. Howard Roper, Miss Ruby Smith, Mrs. R. B. Johnson, Mr. Ralph Grant and Mr. Marion Easterling.

A bass solo by Mr. Ralph Grant and several songs sung by a quartet, composed of Mrs. Howard Roper, Mr. Ralph Grant, Mr. Jessie Jones and Mr. W. J. Jones were enjoyed very much. We are always glad to have visitors at Center Hill and invite them back again.

Little Betty Parker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Parker is ill at her home.

Mr. Leo Cobb of Thorsby and Miss Mary Lane Cobb of Oak Grove spent a while with Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Cobb Sunday evening.

Mr. Euell Durbin and son, Alton, visited Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Rogers Sunday. Mrs. Durbin went to see her sister, Betty Parker, who is ill.

Little Bud Smith is greatly improved. A stalk cutter ran over him and cut his leg and bruised him up in general. He is able to be about now.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Cobb spent the week end here.

MINERAL SPRINGS

Mrs. Dolby Robinson is on the sick list at present, but is slowly improving. Also Mrs. W. W. Ashcraft is improving nicely after an operation.

Sunday school is improving some, and we hope it will keep on improving. We have prayer meeting every Sunday night and we invite everybody to come out and be with us. The meeting begins at 7 o'clock in the evening. You have a cordial invitation.

Rev. Wiley Davis will preach at our church next Sunday, March 5th, at 11 o'clock. We invite each and every one to attend.

A fat man bumped into a rather lean gentleman.

"From the looks of you," he said belligerently, "there must have been a famine."

"And from the looks of you," replied the lean gent, "you're the guy who caused it."

Main St., Dothan, Ala., giving time of arrival and whether a home is desired. Upon arrival go directly to Sunday school building of the First Baptist church for registration.

MRS. J. W. HOPPER

The funeral for Mrs. Lula Hopper, 61, of Mt. Creek, was held Wednesday afternoon from the Liberty Baptist church, with the Rev. J. E. Moore officiating, assisted by the Rev. J. D. Hopper, her son, and the Rev. W. A. Goss. It was at her request that the soon took part in the last rites.

Pallbearers were: Pinson Glenn, R. L. Duffey, Robert Yates, G. A. Colley, Nelson Abernathy and Jim Nation.

Survivors are: the husband, and the following children: The Rev. J. D. Hopper, Miss Viola Hopper, Miss Mattie Hopper, and Clyde Hopper, all of Mt. Creek; Mrs. J. A. Jernigan of Montgomery, and Mrs. A. C. Wingard, Mt. Creek; three brohers, J. M., W. L., and J. T. Carr.

SYPHILIS CLINIC GROWS

The weekly syphilis clinic conducted by the County Medical Society in the office of the county health department is undergoing a rapid increase in size according to a report by the county health officer. Organized in September, 1937, with only six patients, the clinic now is rendering anti-syphilitic treatment to a total of 44 persons. Of these there are 17 white and 27 colored. New cases are being discovered each week as a result of the health department's persistent efforts to do wasserman or blood tests for syphilis on persons admitted to its services.

"Eight of the clinic cases are negroes employed as servants in homes," said Dr. Sturkie. "There can be no doubt that these persons undergoing active treatment are much safer as far as transmitting syphilis to the family than the servant who has not received a wasserman test. Without our present clinic, these often unsuspected victims of syphilis would go untreated and spread the disease to others. In my opinion the clinic is one of the most valuable contributions to the public health made by the local medical profession and the county health department."

Street cleaners report cigar stubs are not nearly so short.

Spare tires are beginning to appear on tire racks.

It is safer to leave children's banks around the house.

People are saying, "Won't you stay to dinner?"—as if they meant it.

Men are getting haircuts almost regularly.

Women report a gradual improvement in the quality of bridge prizes, and nobody has won a Woolworth lamp shade in several weeks.

Mr. E. M. Duncan, of Birmingham, spent the week end with Mr. Harvey Armstrong.

STATE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Montgomery, Mar. 1. — From its organization, one of its chief objectives of the Alabama State Chamber of Commerce has been to encourage the erection of industrial plants suitable for the processing of the particular products and resources of each county in the state. Work along this line has been carried on steadily.

Some weeks ago, G. Arthur Cook, president of the West Boylston Manufacturing Company, of Montgomery, was selected to head a State Chamber Committee on Manufacturing and Industries. Mr. Cook is peculiarly adapted for the chairmanship, having been a successful manufacturer in another section, and having come to Alabama because he was thoroughly sold on the opportunity offered here. It was the desire of the Chamber that this most important committee be representative of every section of the state, and that members be carefully selected so that they might bring to this work the very best knowledge and experience available in the state.

Lesson for March 6

SERVING WITH WHAT WE HAVE

LESSON TEXT—Mark 6:1-13.
GOLDEN TEXT—Such as I have give I thee.—Acts 3:6.
PRIMARY TOPIC—When Jesus Went Home to Nazareth.
JUNIOR TOPIC—On a Journey for Jesus.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Serving With What We Have.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Serving With What We Have.

One of the difficulties we mortals face in dealing with spiritual things is that we interpret things in the realm of the spirit according to the principles and measurements of the physical world. We are quick to say "We cannot" on the basis of logical human reasoning, when an appreciation of the power of God operative on our behalf would enable us to say "We can," and having left God out of our thinking we find that indeed we cannot.

The lesson before us presents two pictures from our Lord's second visit to his home country, Nazareth. On His first visit they had tried to thrust Him over the precipice, and He in all the glory and poise of the Son of God had walked through their midst and gone His way. Now He comes again with His disciples. We then see how His home folk virtually made the power of the omnipotent God impotent because of their unbelief. On the other hand we see the weakness of men made mighty because of obedience to the command of God.

I. The Paralysis of Unbelief (vv. 1-6).

The world, the flesh, and the devil have brought forth a dark list of wicked things, but perhaps the most destructive and distressing of all is the foundation sin of unbelief. When we think back to the underlying reason for any sin or weakness in man it will be found that there is a failure to believe God. Men do not believe what He says about sin and its penalty, nor do they believe Him when He offers them grace and strength for victory.

At Nazareth the unbelief which limited the Son of God revealed itself in two questions—

1. "Whence hath this man these things?" (v. 2).

They could not deny His mighty works so they turn their attack on His person. "Is not this the carpenter?" (v. 3). Essentially this was envy, "the difficulty of acknowledging the superiority over themselves of one of their own number" . . . (Morgan).

We are ashamed of the attitude of the men of Nazareth, but we follow in their footsteps. Heavy among the burdens a Christian worker must bear is the unbelief and ridicule of his own people. Because a man has sold us groceries, or painted our house or driven a taxi in our town we cannot see how he could ever be a preacher or a missionary. Well, he can, and it is such folk that God often calls.

2. "What is this wisdom?" (v. 2).

The wisdom of Jesus was the wisdom of God (John 7:16). But how could they know that? How can we know? In John 7:17 Jesus gave the answer: "If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself." We see then that the reason for their unbelief was really an unwillingness to do the will of God. The controlling motive of their life was wrong. Had they been moved by a desire to do God's will, and a purpose to live in accordance therewith (even though there might have been failure in that earnest effort), they would have known that Jesus had His wisdom from God.

II. The Power of Divine Commission (vv. 7-13).

Just as unbelief hinders even the Son of God, so faith in God and obedience to His command makes of weak and poorly equipped men the mighty servants of God. In fact, their very dependence on Him for all things sets them free to devote themselves fully to the ministry of preaching and healing.

Note that they went "two by two." We have forgotten that divine plan, and often send men into remote and dangerous pioneer work —alone. Man needs fellowship; he needs counsel and control.

Consider also how they were to learn to trust God for their daily sustenance (vv. 8,9). They suffered no lack (see Luke 22:35). These rules for the life of religious workers were modified later (Luke 22: 36), but the principle remains the same—the man or woman who is not ready to depend on God for everything had better not set out to follow Him. It is a blessed and delightful life!

Resisting Interference

It is sometimes pretty hard to do something you feel is right against the interference of all the world and her little brother. Sometimes it's a good thing to say "right or wrong, that's my story, and I'm going to stick to it," no matter how many well-meaning friends may advise otherwise.—Ouise Vapel.

MOTOR VEHICLE DEPARTMENT OF STATE TAX COMMISSION

This department is responsible for the distribution of motor vehicle tags to the 67 counties, and all the printing in connection therewith. It keeps a record of each license plate issued in the state, by motor number, tag number, and name of owner. This information is furnished to the citizens of Alabama free of charge on request, and to out-of-state requests for 50 cents. This department issues all state, county, municipal, dealers and replacement tags from this office. It cooperates with counties, cities, states and federal government in locating stolen motor vehicles, and enters into reciprocal agreements with other states to the end that motorists may travel from one state ot another with the least trouble.

The registration of motor vehicles was begun in Alabama in the fall of 1913. In that year 9,108 vehicles were registered, from which the state received $52,029.79. The registration increased steadily from year to year until it reached 291,324 for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1929. That year the total receipts amounted to $2,914,376.30. From this peak there was a steady decline until the end of the fiscal year 1933, when the total registration was 201,993, and the revenue derived from that source was $2,120,089.23. This was the zero point. A steady gain is noted from year to year, and reached 308,849 the past year, with receipts of $3,549,513.15.

In the year 1933-1934 the income from this source was $2,377,064.54, and the following year was $2,623,987.90. The price of tags was reduced in 1935, but the receipts continued to mount. The year 1935-1936 shows that the state treasury received $2,740,943.57 from motor vehicle licenses. As stated above, $3,549,313.15 was received last year.

These amounts were net to the state after each county had deducted 20 per cent for its use. All monies are remitted by the Probate Judges to the State Comptroller, and after all expenses of manufacturing and distribution, cost of all printing and distribution, all salaries and expenses, is used to create a sinking fund for the payment of principal and interest on good road bonds issued in 1923—balance to be used by the highway department for construction and maintenance of state highways. There has been an increase of approximately 50 per cent in the past four years, despite the fact that the price of tags was reduced approximately 30 per cent by the 1935 legislature.

University News

Celebrating its annual "Religious Emphasis" week, the University of Alabama Wesley Foundation observed the Methodist Aldersgate Celebration Sunday and Monday, with Dr. W. A. Smart of Emory University as the main speaker.

Dr. Harvey C. Brown, Nashville, director of the Methodist Student Movement in the Board of Christian Education, accompanied Dr. Smart to the University.

The two speakers are participating in a series of 85 Southwide programs in connection with the Aldersgate commemoration sponsored by the College of Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

New entrance requirements that a student's pre-legal work must have been passed with a "C" average will go into effect immediately for the University of Alabama School of Law, Dr. Albert J. Farrah, dean of the law school has announced.

The new requirement was passed by the Association of American Law Schools at its recent meeting.

With the exception of "non-theory courses in military science, hygiene, domestic arts, physical education, vocal or instrumental music, or courses without intellectual content of substantial value", the average specification applies to all work undertaken by the student in his pre-law curriculum.

Sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary, the sixth Alabama conference on national defense will be held on the University of Alabama campus and in Tuscaloosa on March 2.

Delegates are exepcted from local auxiliary chapters and the state patriotic organizations.

Mrs. Malcolm Douglas of Seattle, Wash., national president of the auxiliary, is scheduled to speak on "National Defense" at 7:30 in Morgan Hall.

Dr. B. F. Austin of Birmingham, state commander of the American Legion, also will speak that night on "Subversive Influences In Our State and Nation". Dr. Richard C. Foster, University president, is scheduled to welcome the delegates.

Several officials representing the army, navy, aviation corps, and the marine corps also will speak.

Even the handicaps of crutches and leg braces do not keep Arthur Gaynor, University of Alabama student, from wielding golf clubs, because he "would rather play the game than eat".

Crippled when he was stricken with infantile paralysis at the age of 22 months, the spunky young man loves golf so well that he plays constantly. Balancing himself with the crutches, he drives with his right arm, averaging 150 to 200 yards a blow. He putts, however, with both hands.

Playing the par 70 Meadowbrook course in Tuscaloosa, Gaynor regularly shoots in the low 80's.

He says that he had rather play golf than eat, but adds with a smile that the water hazards and the "rough" cause him a little trouble.

Non-city high school debate teams are scheduled to come to the University of Alabama for their annual forensic tournament Thursday, March 3.

Forty-seven high schools are expected to be represented in the small town and rural group.

All schools will send two 2-person teams, one of which will take the affirmative side of the question and one the negative. Each team will engage in two debates on the first day of its division series, and all schools whose teams lose two or more debates on the first day are eliminated from further competition.

The debaters will be housed and entertained by the University.

Non-city teams are scheduled to be sent by Albertville; Andalusia; Ardmore, Clay County (Ashland); Athens; Attalla; Beatrice; Hueytown; Bessemer Public Schools, Jones Valley (Birmingham); Shades-Cahaba (Birmingham); Blue Springs; Snead Academy (Boaz); Boaz High; Collinsville; Douglas, Fayette County (Fayette); DeKalb County (Ft. Payne); Haleyville; Geneva County (Hartford); Lincoln High (Huntsville); Rison High (Huntsville); Riverton (Huntsville Route 2); Livingston; Luverne; Monroe County (Monroeville); Mortimer Jordan High (Morris); New Hope; Tuscaloosa County High (Northport); Reeltown (Notasulga Route 2); Blount County (Oneonta); Opelika; Calhoun County (Oxford); Dale County (Ozark); Pell City; Scottsboro; Springville; Sulligent; Felix High (Suttle); Talladega; Tallassee; Tanner; Union Springs; Warrior; Repton.

W. L. Sanders Writes Voters

To the Voters of Chilton County:

I am announcing my candidacy for the office of Representative in the Legislature of Alabama.

I wish to say that it is through solicitation that I decided to make the race. I don't expect to canvass each voter personally.

I think it unnecessary, as I have served the people six years as member of the County Board of Education.

My record as member of the County Board is open to the public. I always voted my conviction regardless as to how the other members voted, and I shall do the same if elected to the Legislature.

It has always been my policy to find out what the majority of the people wanted and then, as near as possible, comply with their wishes.

The greatest responsibility of any official is to first realize they are the servant of the people, and that they should support such measures as will secure equity and establish it among all the people.

It is my conviction that we have too many laws; what we need is fewer and more just laws.

The people of Alabama would be in a better financial condition if a great many of our laws were repealed.

Below I will give you an outline of the things I think we need:

1. Repeal of the law that provides for a road supervisor, and place the roads in the hands of the Commissioners, who are elected by and directly responsible to the people.

2. The enactment of a "recall law" for all officials. The recall law would place our government in the hands of the people because of their power to recall any official during his term of office if he fails to comply with his campaign pledges.

3. Repeal of all laws that provides for useless boards and officials, and discharge from the state's payroll an army of useless officials.

4. Repeal all laws that provide for extortion salaries of all state and county officials, and provide such salaries as are in proportion to he income of the majority of the taxpayers. All offisials should be paid according to the service they render.

5. Repeal the sales tax and establish a tax system based on ability to pay. The sales tax is not a just tax, because it collects from the poor blind beggar on his food and clothing just as much in proportion as it does from the rich man. The sales tax is unjust because it collects from those least able to pay. The sales tax is unjust because it forces every merchant to serve as tax collector without pay. It forces him into more complicated bookkeeping than it does the regular tax collector, who receives a salary of from five to ten thousand dollars per year. The history of the sales tax shows that it is the most vicious of all tax systems, and if elected to the legislature I shall register my opposition to it.

6. Education is the cornerstone on which civilization is built. It has brought to the people thousands of necessities, services and enjoyment that otherways would have been impossible. It is the state's obligation to provide educational opportunities to every boy and girl. The schools should and could stay open a full term each year if a little economy were practiced in the other departments of state. If elected to the legislature I shall support education in every way that is consistent. Education should receive nothing less than parity.

7. Health is the greatest asset of life and should be protected in every way possible. The state is not doing it's part in preserving the health of it's people. There is a large per cent of the school children that have some physical defect that causes them to finish school from one to three years later than they should. This costs the taxpayers money. There are thousands of men and women who suffer severe pain and finally lose their health, because they are unable to secure such medical or surgical treatment as they need. Those people with the proper treatment at the proper time could be made an asset to their state and county, but neglected they soon become a liability. I am for no health program that allows the dollar to stand between health and sickness, or life and death. Our present health program renders mostly "information." I stand for a health program that will render both service and information.

8. All highways should be maintained, but new ones should be constructed only when it does not jeopardize the health and education functions of the state. Schools should not be closed in order to construct new highways.

9. The license and tax paid for the use and ownership of cars and trucks are too high. Before a man can own a truck he must pay two per cent of it's value in sales tax. Before he can run his truck he must pay an extortionate price for a license tag, and a tax of about 30 per cent on his gas. And before he can haul for the public he must pay an extortionate carriage license. I am opposed to the legislature robbing the people in such manner. The Jesse James and Rube Burrows type robbed the people with the gun; the modern politicians rob the people with the law. The only difference, the latter robs the future generations. I am opposed to all extortionate license or taxes, and bitterly opposed to any tax or license that gives to any individual or corporation monopoly on any given commodities or service.

10. I am opposed to any legislator serving for the state for pay in any capacity other than his regular legislative duties.

11. I am opposed to our present parole racket. If a man commits a crime and is sentenced to the penitentiary by a jury of 12 men, I feel that he should serve the sentence imposed unless sufficient evidence is presented to the pardon or parole board to prove that he is innocent of the crime for which he was convicted. Pardons and paroles for political purposes is nothing more than dumping criminals back on society, only to cause more corruption and crime.

12. I am opposed to the state working convict labor in competition with free labor. Convicts should be used on public roads, highways, and other projects of interest to the public. According to the record, the convict department is not self-supporting, yet the lawmakers expect us to support our families together with our extravagant tax system. According to the report of some of the convicts, the penitentiary has become a place of recreation instead of a place of punishment. I believe the convicts of Chilton County with reasonable short terms should be worked on the roads of Chilton County. I favor such labor and punishment as will make the penitentiary an undesirable place to be.

The foregoing issues are such as I believe of interest to all supporters of equity and justice.

With my pledge to support the issues as stated above, I solicit your vote and influence. Yours for equity and justice,—W. L. Sanders.

NATIONAL USED CAR EXCHANGE WEEK SET

March 5 To 12 Is Time Set For Specials By All Dealers

"Buy a car now—while you have more to trade and less to pay." This is the slogan for National Used Car Exchange Week, March 5 to 12. All car dealers are displaying this sign. During this period, used cars are far below what they were selling at several months ago. There are many late models, backed by dealer guarantees. The Clanton dealers invite you to "Bring in your old car and drive out a better car on easy terms."

This exchange week is put on jointly by all of the leading automobile manufacturers of the country, and an enormous amount of money is being spent to advertise he event. This expense is born by the manufacturers, and is sponsored by the dealers and manufacturers. It might be worth your investigation.

I'm tired—oh so tired—of the whole New Deal,
Of the juggler's smile—the barker's spiel;
Of the mushy speech and the loud bassoon;
And tiredest of all of our "Leader's" croon.

Tired of taxes on my ham and eggs,
Tired of "pay-offs" to political yeggs,
Tired of Jim Farley's stamps on my mail,
Tired of my shirt with its tax-shortened tail.

I'm tired of the farmers goose-stepping to laws,
Of millions of itching job-holders' paws,
Of "fireside talks" over commandeered mikes,
Of passing more laws to stimulate strikes.

I'm tired of the hourly-increased debt,
Of millions of promises—still to be met,
Of eating and sleeping by government plan,
Of calmly forgetting "The Forgotten Man".

I'm tired of every new Brain Trust thought,
Of the Ship of State—now a pleasure yacht;
I'm tired of cheating the Court by stealth,
And horribly tired of sharing my wealth.

I'm tired of Eleanor on Page One,
Of royal "in-laws" and a favorite son;
I'm tired of "Sistie" and "Buzzie" Dall;
I'm simply—completely—fed up with it all.

Pete Jarman Candidate Again

To Chilton County Voters:

In announcing my candidacy to continue to represent you in congress, I desire to again express to the good people of our district my deep appreciation of your friendship and interest which resulted in my election two years ago. There is much more for a congressman to do than anyone who has not functioned in this capacity can possibly realize, and I have been thoroughly occupied in the performance of these very enjoyable duties. I shall continue so occupied, and you may be assured of my best efforts to make you a good Representative at all times, which I am naturally now more capable of doing than when I entered congress, because of these 14 months of valuable experience. This capability will increase with seniority.

The congress will doubtless be in session until the primary, and the desirability that I remain at my post of duty in Washington will most probably deny me the pleasure of seeing many of you in the meantime. Consequently, it will prove necessary for me to rely almost entirely on the interest of my friends for the overwhelming majority to which I hope and believe you will agree that I am entitled, and which will prove quite beneficial to our district. I am convinced that our people, realizing that I should continue to attend to our business in Washington, particularly under the present circumstances, will look after my interest in excellent fashion. Toward this end, I solicit not only your vote but your active interest.

I am very proud of the excellent vote with which I was favored in Chilton County two years ago when I lost only 243 votes in your excellent county. I urge each of you to exert every effort toward reducing this number on May 3rd.

It is scarcely necessary for me to say to those familiar with the pleasure I invariably derive from mingling with my friends that I would thoroughly enjoy being in our district from now until the election. Even though this enjoyment must be in large measure denied me, I look forward with pleasureable anticipation to visiting Chilton considerably this summer and fall, at which time I hope to see and talk with eac hof you. It is equally unnecessary that I call your attention to the fact that I yield to no man in my appreciation of your friendship in the past, the present, and the future.—Pete B. Jarman.

OLD PEOPLE'S SERVICE AT CHESTNUT CREEK CHURCH

There will be an old people's service at Chestnut Creek church next Sunday at 11 o'clock. All the old people of the community are cordially invited to attend this service. We will sing old hymns and conduct the service in the old-fashion-way. Flowers will be given to the oldest person present. We shall expect the young people to be present also.

Don't forget the prayer meeting at the church Thursday night at 7 o'clock—"Prayer Changes Things."—M. I. McLoed, Pastor.

MACEDONIA NO. 2

Sunday is our regular preaching day. We are inviting everybody to attend and hear Bro. McMinn preach. We especially urge all the members to be present Sunday.

CREAM SHIPPERS TAKE NOTICE

To all cream shippers and commercial milk producers:

I have just received the following letter from Mr. F. W. Burns, colaborator, Extension Animal Husbandman, Auburn, Alabama:

"As you probably know the State Department of Agriculture established cream grades in Alabama on January 1, 1937. Under this law each cream station operator is required to grade each patrons cream and a differential is generally paid for quality cream.

"The inspectors from the Department of Agriculture wish to acquaint all cream shippers with the new regulations and teach them the few fundamental things necessary to produce quality milk and cream. To do this it will be necessary to get the cream shippers together at various points over the state, preferably at or near the cream stations. We are requesting that you cooperate in this work by writing each cream shipper to attend the meetings scheduled in your county."

Mr. Wilkinson will attend this meeting and point out the essential steps in the production of clean milk. The County Agent will discuss feed production in relation to profitable dairying.

There will be two meetings held in Chilton County as listed below:

Verbena, Ala., at Deramus's Store, Thursday, March 3rd, at 2:30 p. m.; Clanton, Ala., at the City Hall, Friday, March 4th, at 10 a. m.

We hope that every person who is selling cream will make it convenient to attend one of these meetings. —J. W. Fant, County Agent.

RELIEF FIGURES RISE

2,000,000 On Federal Rolls With Many More Expected

Washington, Feb. 27. — Aubrey Williams, acting Works Progress Administrator, told President Roosevelt Saturday the number of persons on relief rolls had increased to mare than two million.

Williams said he went over the relief situation in detail with the president.

Anticipating the administration's $250,000,000 supplementary relief appropriation would be available by March 15, Williams predicted probably 500,000 others would be on the rolls by then.

The WPA administrator said latest federal reports indicated "some leveling off in unemployment," and explained the additions represented people who had exhausted their resources in recent months.

OLD MAID'S CLUB

There will be an "Old Maid's Club" at Verbena High school Friday night, March 4th, at 7:30 p. m. Admission will be 15 cents and 25 cents plus tax. Come and see Chilton County's old maids on parade.

All political candidates are especially invited.

B. T. U. MEETING

There will be a special associational B. T. U. meeting at the courthouse next Sunday at 2 p. m.

This meeting is being called for the selection of committees for the nomination of the associational officers fr next year. These new officers will take up their duty the 2nd Sunday in April at the regular meeting which will be held at Chestnut Creek.

There has been shown a great lack of interest in the associational work in the last few months. I hope all the pastors and directors will be present with a large representation.

Following the business meeting, thre will be a special program put on by members of different unions over the county.

We also invite all quartets to be present with several numbers.—Horace Kendrick.

MISSISSIPPI DRYS BAN LIQUOR SALE

Efforts To Legalize Whiskey Fail, And Prohi Laws Are Strengthened

Jackson, Miss., Feb. 27. — Efforts to legalize liquor in Mississippi, one of the four remaining dry states, apparently had the opposite effect.

"The drys are as mad as hornets," said one liberal in the state legislature after a local option liquor bill was overwhelmingly defeated.

Much like aroused hornets, temperance leaders rallied their forces to defeat the liquor bill, and while the fever had them, pushed over other legislatoin to put teeth in the prohibition and gambling laws.

DRYS WIN AGAIN

Third County Election On Liquor Is Blocked In Georgia

Nashville, Ga., Feb. 27. — A third county election on legalization of liquor was blocked by prohibitionists Saturday through a temporary restraining order against the Berrien County referendum scheduled for March 2.

As in two previous petitions which won injunctions against elections in Upson and Baker counties, the opponents charged the recent legislative act providing for the referenda was unconstitutional because there was no reference to the liquor question in Gov. E. D. Rivers' call for the special session of the General Assembly which enacted it.

SINGING AT MACEDONIA

There will be an all-day singing at Macedonia, Beat 14, on the third Sunday in April. All singers and lovers of music are invited. 3-3-8t

SPECIAL KIWANIS PROGRAM HELD ON LAST THURSDAY

Members of the Clanton Kiwanis Club were given an insight into the lives of two of the country's most outstanding men, Abraham Lincoln and George Washington, last Thursday at the regular meeting, when two Clanton young ladies spoke on the lives of these two men.

This special program was arranged for this meeting commemorating the birthdays of these two great Americans, both of which occurred in the month of February.

Miss Ann Ross and Miss Grace Ezell, both students of the Chilton County High School, took the leading parts on the program for the Kiwanians. Miss Ross spoke on the highlighst of the life of Abraham Lincoln, and was followed by Miss Ezell, who gave the highlights of the life of George Washington. Both young ladies gave the Club some most interesting data in their talks.

Kiwanians Luther Little and John Hollis spoke on their visits to the tombs of these great men, adding much color to the program.

The program for tonight for the Club will be along vocational lines, and will feature students in vocational guidance.

BERRY GROWERS MEETING CALLED FOR SATURDAY, 5th

All members of the Clanton Berry Growers Association are called to meet at Clanton on Saturday, March 5, at 9 a.m.

Please be sure and come, as several matters of special importance will be taken up at this meeting, such as securing a permanent home and loading warehouse for the Association, the kind of grading to be used, the discussion of practices to be approved in the handling of this crop, and the possibilities of other money crops. Come! —R. M. Roper, President; J. N. Dennis, Secretary.

INTERESTING PROGRAM AT LOCAL CHURCH SUNDAY

Dr. and Mrs. Stone from Huntingdon College will present a group of Huntingdon College students in an interesting worship program at the Clanton Methodist church next Sunday, March 6, at 7:00 p.m. To be present and hear this program will be well worth your time.

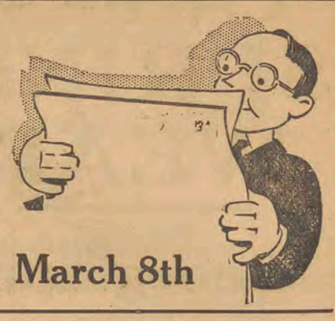
REVIVAL AT SUNSHINE

Notice is given that revival services will begin at Sunshine church on Monday night, March 7, and run for several days, the exact closing date not having been determined. Rev. Jimmy Dubose will be in charge of the services assisted by Sam Connell. Services will begin at 7 o'clock each night. You are invited.

SINGING AT ENTERPRISE

Next Sunday, March 5, is our regular singing date at this place. We will have a supply of new Showalter song books on hand. We are expecting the Prattville Quartet to be with us, as well as several visitors from other places. Everyone is invited, listeners as well as singers. The singing will begin promptly at 2 o'clock.

PLEDGES COOPERATION IN USED CAR CAMPAIGN



Complete Cooperation in local observance of National Used Car Exchange Week was pledged today by George C. Polk, Sales Manager of Polk Brothers Motor Co., of Clanton.

"We are confident that National Used Car Exchange Week will be an unqualified success here" he said. "Used car stocks on hand provide a wide range of the best values in the history of the industry and prices are at rock bottom."

"We have just completed our arrangements for the opening of the campaign. Stocks have been reconditioned. Our salesrooms and used car lot have been refurnished, banners hung. Our sales force has been augmented. We are ready for the biggest spring selling season we have experienced in several years."

WEST CHILTON MAN KILLED SELF SAT'Y

Bailey Green Eddings, age 43, died at Central Alabama Hospital at 8:45 last Saturday night. Burial was in Providence cemetery, near Jemison, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Surviving are several brothers and sisters.

Death was said to be a result of a self-inflicted wound in the chest with a .22 rifle. Eddings is said to have shot himself at the home of a friend eight miles west of Maplesville Saturday morning about 11:30 a. m. He had just been released from Veterans Hospital, Tuscaloosa, and was there to see his young son. Surviving are one son and several brothers and sisters.

J. RUSSELL PARRISH PRAISED IN RECENT MAGAZINE ARTICLE

The work of J. Russell Parrish as teacher of vocational agriculture at Red Level (Covington County), Ala., has received national recognition by Stanley High in his recent article, "A Kind Word For The South", which appeared in The Saturday Evening Post. The accomplishments of Mr. Parrish in teaching vocational agriculture in Alabama is said to be one of the "bright spots" in the southern agriculture picture.

J. Russell Parrish is a son of Prof. and Mrs. John M. Parrish, of Clanton Route 5. He is a graduate of Chilton County High School here, and of Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn.

COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION CONSIDER MATTER OF VACANCY

Inasmuch as Mr. J. P. Payne has been declared disqualified to hold public office in Chilton county, on account of a certain technicality, the County Board of Education, of which body Mr. Payne is a member, is making investigation as to what disposition should be made of the board's interest in the matter. Mr. S. J. M. Webb, chairman of the Board, and Prof. Luther E. Little, superintendent, have submitted the matter to the Attorney General for a ruling. Immediate action will be taken by the Board as soon as the proper course is determined.

"TOM - THUMB WEDDING" AT CONCORD SCHOOL

There will be a "Tom-Thumb Wedding" at Concord schoolhouse on Saturday night, March 19, beginning at 7 o'clock. Admission will be 10c and 15c. The proceeds will go for the benefit of the school.

The public is cordially invited to attend. We assure you a good evening's entertainment.

BURGLARS LOOT FILLING STATION SUNDAY NIGHT

Gulfpride Service Station, located at the junction of Selma and Birmingham highways, was entered by prowlers last Sunday night about midnight, and some money and articles taken. Besides $13.36 in cash, a quantity of cigars and cigarettes were taken, also some canned goods, and probably some oil. It is said that the station was not broken into, but rather was broken out of. It is thought that entrance was made through the front door, and a window was smashed out to make it appear that entrance was made that way. All together, about $40 worth of goods and money was taken.

BRONSON'S FAITHFUL DOG "BOB" KICKED THE BUCKET

Bronson Ruffin was pretty badly shot to pieces Tuesday morning, and further investigation revealed that the trouble was his trusted old canine friend "Bob" had closed his eyes and demised in endless sleep. So, Bronson, with tear-dimme deyes, got together his hammer and saw, built a crude coffin, and carried "Bob" off to the bone-yard. So ended the career of 17 years of a trusty canine named "Bob".

TIGERS TAKE 2ND PLACE AT SELMA

Yield To Selma In Final Game; Will Be In State Tourney This Week End

The district tournament at Selma has come and gone, finding the Chilton Tigers holding second honors. In the final game of the tournament, Selma tripped Chilton 35 to 28 in a game that found the Chilton team far from their usual fine form. The Tigers were not riding the backboards, and therein lies a great part of the story of their loss. Only on one occasion, in the third quarter, did they show any sign of the class of basketball which took them through a 16 to 1 season.

The final game started off with the Tigers matching the big Selma team point for point, but they soon fell behind, with a listless sort of play, and the half found them trailing on the short end of a 25 to 10 count. In the last half they outplayed the Selmians 18 to 10, but that first half let-down had them whipped.

According to district tournament rules, both first and second teams in district meets are entered in the state tournament at Tuscaloosa next Friday and Saturday. This gives our Tigers another new lease on life, and it may be that they can pull top honors out of the fire in that series of games. A complete reversal of the poor form this tournament caught them in would carr ythem far toward the top of the heap.

A large group of Tiger fans followed them to the Selma tournament, to see the final game especially. It wouldn't hurt their feelings any to see some friendly faces at Tuscaloosa this week end, either, when they tee off against some of the best in the state. Go with the boys to Tuscaloosa, if you can. You are sure to see some top grade basketball.

First and second all-tournament teams were picked by the judges in the Selma affair. In these selections, Chilton landed two men, Melton being placed on the first choice team, and George Chambers on the second.

SEYBORN JONES DIED

Seyborn Jones, age 69 years, died at his home near the Cotton Mill Tuesday night at 10:30 o'clock. Burial was Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock a Phovidence, Beat 16.

Surviving are his second wife, and two sisters—Mrs. Mary Johnson and Mrs. Lucinda Johnson.

SHERIFF ARRESTS

During the past week there have been nine arrests by Sheriff Hardy and his force of deputies. They were: violating prohibition law, 1; petit larcency, 1; assault and battery, 1; attempting to possess whiskey still, 2; reckless driving, 1; driving while intoxicated, 2; public drunkenness, 1.

"YOUNG AND BEAUTIFUL" MOVIE AT COLLINS CHAPEL MARCH 11th

PLAY AT COLLINS CHAPEL SCHOOL SATURDAY NIGHT, MARCH 19

The Liberty Hill B. Y. P. U. will put on a play at Collins Chapel schoolhouse Saturday night, March 19th, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. It is a 3-act comedy; there will be string music between the acts.

Admission will be 10c and 25c; proceeds to go to fund to paint Liberty Hill church. All are invited to attend.

W. M. U. MEETING

The Mulberry Baptist church W. M. U. is deeply grateful for the mission study course, "Fruits of the Years," held Monday, February 28, at the home of Mrs. O. Caffee. 20 members were present, and all greatly appreciate Mrs. McLeod coming to teach the book, and to Mrs. L. D. Griffin who accompanied her.

The March week of prayer was observd by an all-day program at the church Wednesday, March 2, with 25 members present, each making a contribution to the Annie W. Armstrong offering for home missions.

The program was directed by Mrs. Wiley Tucker, chairman program committee. Mrs. L. Wells, general president, presided over a short business session.

FOUR LOCAL FIRMS JOIN IN DRIVE FOR LOCAL BUSINESS

There is always a tendency for some people in any locality to be led to trade with wildcatters, fly - by - nighters and others more or less irresponsible so far as local pride and civic spirit are concerned, and for the purpose of allaying as much of this unwholesome practice as possible, four of the leading dry goods firms in Clanton have joined themselves together.

Levine Bros., Rockett, The Leader and Ben's Store have joined in the movement, and are saying so in a page adv. elsewhere in this issue of The Union-Banner. Turn to that big adv. right now, and read what they say. They are all legitimate business men who expect to live and do business in Clanton for years to come. They cannot afford to advertise anything they have not got or to make any misleading statements. They do not resort to such practices. Stand by this kind of business men when you have money to spend.

In a co-operative way, probably for several weeks to come, each of these separate stores will offer individual values in first-class merchandise. A sample of such values will be found in their joint adv. this week.

Three-fourths of the net receipts from the sales tax goes to the Educational Trust Fund, and one-fourth to the counties. The part the counties receive is earmarked for public welfare, public health, and for agricultural extension service.

SINGING AT SHILOH NEXT SUNDAY P. M.

The singing society meets at this place next Sunday afternoon. We are expecting the Prattville quartet and several other good singers from various places to be with us. Everyone has a special invitation to come and enjoy some good singing with us.

VIRGIL NEWTON UNDERWENT OPERATION OVER WEEK AGO

Virgil Newton, student at Chilton County High School, and son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Newton, of Mitchell Dam, underwent a serious operation at St. Margaret's Hospital in Montgomery over a week ago. Late reports from the young man say that he is satisfactorily improving.

ALABAMA POWER VOTES DIVIDENDS

Dividends on $6 and $7 preferred stock were made payable April 1 to stockholders of record March 15, 1938, and on the $5 issues payable May 2 to stockholders of record April 20, 1938.

WILLIE G. JOHNSON BURIED AT SYLACAUGA LAST SATURDAY P. M.

Appendicitis Fatal To Former Chilton County Boy; Was Well Known In And Around Clanton

Willie Garfield Johnson, former Chilton County boy, was buried at Sylacauga Saturday afternoon. Death came Friday at 9:45 a.m., after an illness of only three days. Stricken with appendicitis, he underwent an operation Tuesday morning; his condition was found to be far more serious than thought at first, and he never fully rallied from the operation.

Willie G. Johnson was born near Clanton on March 6, 1909, and would have been 29 years old, had he lived two days longer. He moved with his parents to Sylacauga about 1915. Some ten years ago he moved back to Chilton County, and farmed in the Temple community for a few years, afterward returning to Sylacauga, where he was employed by Avondale Mills ever since. He married Miss Virginia Aline Adcock about 11 or 12 years ago.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 from the Mignon Methodist church, with the Rev. Houldrich officiating. Interment was in the Marble City cemetery, Howard-Parker directing. The floral offerings were most profuse, and the enormous crowd of people attending the funeral services attested to the popularity of the young man, who was known, loved, admired and respected by everyone in the Sylacauga district, and by many in Chilton County around Clanton. Several from here attended the last rites. He had been the regular first string catcher for the crack Mignon Mills entry in the East Alabama Industrial Baseball League for several years, was widely known by his service with this team, nad was recognized as a catcher with quite some baseball talent.

He is survived by: his wife, and three daughters—Eunice 9, Fay 7, and Jimmie Sue 2; parents—Mr. and Mrs. James A. Johnson; three brothers—Elijah, John Henry, and Alton Johnson; three sisters—Mrs. Nora Heard, Mrs. Essie Charles Looney, and Mrs. Helen Persons, all of Sylacauga; as well as a multitude of other close relatives.

THE LEADER BEING REBUILT INSIDE

To Be Completely Renovated From One End To The Other; Will Present Much Improved Appearance; Work To Require Almost Month

The Union-Banner stated last week that something was fixing to happen at The Leader, one of the leading dry goods stores of the city, and we are prepared to say this week that it is actually happening now.

Workmen are busy day and night tearing out the old and installing the new on the inside of this store. When it is finished, the first difference noticed will be that the center posts have been removed. The next thing which will probably catch the observer's eye is that the display counters, show cases, etc., will all be brand new and arranged in a most attractive and accessible style. Then a glance upward will reveal that the old style ceiling has been replaced with the latest kind of sheet metal ceiling with pretty squares and mouldings. No wood will be showing in the ceiling.

It will require most of the remainder of this month for the work to be completed, and when it is done Mr. Lande says: "We are going to have the nicest place of business in central Alabama." And judging from the looks of things and all that is going on, we do not in the least doubt what Mr. Lande predicts.

The Leader has always been a progressive store, run on progressive methods, catered to progressive trade, and has filled a large space in the business life of Chilton county. It is keeping abreast of the times, and is now preparing to take even a broader row in the future. Mr. Lande conducts his business in a legitimate, friendly manner, and Clanton is proud to have such a business in its midst. We are glad to see it grow.

CLANTON MOTORS PARTICIPATES IN NATIONAL USED CAR EVENT

Taking a leading part in the national used car sales week is Clanton Motors, local Ford dealers. This firm is offering some used car values that should not escape the attention of anyone at all inclined to buy a used car. The prices are actually lower than similar cars have sold at ever before.

Messrs. Tom Littlejohn and Rip Burnett say that they really mean business in this used car clearance sale. They have gotten in the swim with the rest of the nation in a concertetd attempt to reduce the surplus of used cars on the yards.

Turn to Clanton Motors adv. elsewhere in this paper, and see if you can figure how they offer such car values.

ROCKETT PUSHING SALES AT TWO STORES IN CITY

Rockett Dry Goods Company and Clanton Building Supply Company are engaging in a trade-building campaign of rather large proportions this week. A large adv. elsewhere in this issue of The Banner tells all about what Messrs. Rockett are resorting to in order to make their proposition go over.

Especial mention should be made of the plow-line sale at the hardware store. Also baskets of groceries will be given away at both stores Saturday afternoon. Turn to the adv. and read all about it, and ask about the groceries.

W. M. DEVAUGHN WRITES FROM DALTON, GEORGIA

A letter to The Union-Banner written by Prof. W. M. Devaughn in Dalton, Ga., Monday, says that he is teach in gevery night and attending singings every Saturday night and Sunday. His quartet sang over the radio last Sunday morning during Rev. Goolsby's hour.

"I will teach here until the middle of April, and will be home for our county convention and for the Easter singing at my home church. We will then take up a school at Chattanooga, and then back to Dalton for another school.

"I am delighted to see the folks organizing societies back in Chilton County. That means more good singings for the coming summer months. I would like for my friends to write me in care of Showalter Music Co., Dalton, Ga."

Quartet Over Radio Sunday

The Showalter Quartet, composed of W. M. and Floy Devaughn, W. Lee Higgins and another man, will sing over Station WDOD, Chattanooga, Sunday morning, from 8:30 until 9:00 o'clock. This quartet will sing every Sunday morning at this time. Chilton County people are invited to tune in.

BERRY GROWERS HOPEFUL OF GOOD CROP THIS YEAR

Sweet Potatoes And Tomatoes Will Also Be Grown By Members This Season

According to Mr. Earl Diefenderfer, of Clanton Berry Growers Association, prospects look good for a nice berry crop this spring. People have worked their plants good this time, and plenty of fertilizer has been used; there are already some berries nearly grown, and some will be ripening in a few weeks if the weather warms up and the sun comes out. Mr. Diefenderfer said that it looks now like shipments will begin about the 10th of April.

The association is going to enter some into the raising of sweet potatoes this season; a new variety has been introduced here which it is believed will prove fine for this climate and soil.

Also the tomato business seems to be taking on new life. Many are raising their own plants this year, and others are arranging to buy plants.

An enthusiastic meeting of the association was held last Saturday morning, and plans were laid and discussed for this year's operations.

MISS GARDNER IS HOSPITAL HEAD

Given Superintendent's Place; Will Begin Training School In Near Future

At a meeting of the board of Directors of Central Alabama Hospital last Thursday afternoon, Miss Annie H. Gardner was placed in charge as Superintendent of the hospital. Miss Gardner has been working temporarily for the past several weeks, but she has now been made permanent superintendent.

The training school for nurses will be instituted again in the near future by Miss Gardner and Dr. Gragg. This will mean quite a bit to the hospital.

Quite a bit of reparing on the building is now under way, and more will be underaken when this is finished. The Board of Directors authorized the hospital officials to finish up the basement floor as now planned, put new linoleumm on the main floor and make other needed improvements.

When this is finished, the hospital building will be in such repair as to be good for many years to come.

People in this vicinity know about Miss Gardner, and know that she will operate the hospital's business in a satisfactory manner. It is hoped that the people here will stand by her and help make the hospital a worth-while institution for Chilton county and Central Alabama. We need the hospital, and it needs our help and support. Let us all do what we can toward making it go.

OLD FOLKS MEETING HELD AT CHESTNUT CREEK SUNDAY

A meeting especially for old folks was held at Chestnut Creek, Coopers, last Sunday. A sermon was preached at 11 o'clock by the pastor, Rev. M. I. McLeod.

Flowers were awarded the oldest person present, that being Mrs. G. S. Eiland of North Clanton.

Mrs. Eiland asks The Union-Banner to express her sincere thanks to the people of Chestnut Creek for the beautiful flowers.

NEW FARM BILL EXPLAINED TO FARMERS HERE TUESDAY NIGHT

More than 400 farmers gathered at the court house in Clanton Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock to hear County Agent Fant discuss the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938. This was the last of a series of 24 meetings which drew a total of over 2,500 farmers.

Mr. Fant explained the new farm bill in detail. Particulars regarding provisions of the bill, as well as penalties, etc., will be found on another page of this paper under farm agent's notes.

The Co. Agent further stated that the attitude of the 2,500 farmers attending the meetings was the best it had ever been toward any program the farmers have had so far.

WATER SYSTEM OF CITY IS NOW SURE

Work To Begin In Annexed City Area Within A Few Days, Says Mayor

"The water extension into the new area of Clanton, which we have been talking about and working on for the past several months, is now a certainty," said Mayor C. Fenn Jones, as he with much pleasure and elation displayed a telegram from Washington Monday afternoon. The telegram was from Congressman Pete B. Jarman, and bore the assurance that the matter has been okehed by all authorities from the President on down, and that Clanton folks need no longer feel anxious about it.

The project is comprised of extension of the six-inch mains into all of the thickly populated spots of the new city raea. These centers will have fire protection, just the same as there is in the main parts of the city. Some four-inch mains will be used where the same is sufficient; then smaller lines will be run into the places where there is a scarcity of houses. This project does not include sewerage.

This announcement will be welcome news to many people in the outer edges of the city. Mayor Jones is to be commended for his persistent efforts in accomplishing this aid from the government. Such a matter requires much time and effort in getting it passed by all of the government agencies, Etc.

We must also thank Senator Bankhead, Senator Hill, and Congressman Jarman for the noble work they have done in getting this project through. They have stood by Mayor Jones all the way through the working of the project.

All of the work will be done with WPA local labor, and the government will pay for a great portion of the material. It will not be such a great expense to the city. Actual work will begin within a short time.

A most beautiful phase about the whole thing, points out Mayor Jones, is that there will be no assessment against the property affected or any other property in the city. This is practically a free gift from our Uncle Sam, even if it has required months of persistent work to get them to turn it loose.

FARMERS UNION TO MEET AT ROBINSON SPRINGS MARCH 12

The Chilton County Farmers Union will meet at Robinson Springs Saturday, March 12, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. All locals please send delegates, with proper credentials. We have several new locals in the county, and we would like for all of them to be present. — Newt Gresham Smith, county secretary.

W. A. REYNOLDS HOPES TO BE ABLE TO RETURN HOME SOON

Hospital attaches and friends and relatives of Mr. W. A. Reynolds are hopeful that he will be able to return home within a week. Mr. Reynolds has been in St. Margaret's Hospital, Montgomery, for several weeks, following an automobile accident down below Montgomery. The many friends of Mr. Reynolds again wish for him a speedy and complete recovery.

LEGION MEETING MONDAY NIGHT

State Officials Of Legion To Address Ex-Service Men Of County

A special meeting of the local post American Legion will be held at the courthouse in Clanton on Monday night of next week, March 14th, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. Speakers will be State Commander Austin and Adjutant Jones.

All white ex-service men of the county are urged to attend this meeting, as important business is to be attended to.

SINGING AT MAPLE SPRINGS NEXT SUNDAY AFTERNOON

There will be singing at Maple Springs next Sunday afternoon, March 13, beginning at 2 o'clock. The public is cordially invited to attend. There will be a supply of the new song books.

NATIONAL WILDLIFE RESTORATION WEEK

J. B. Atkinson, Clanton, and John L. Hollis, Verbena, have been appointed county chairmen of National Wildlife Restoration Week, March 20-26, for Chilton county, by Dr. Walter B. Jones, Tuscaloosa, president of the Alabama Wildlife Federation and vice-president of the National Wildlife Federation.

"Wildlife Week," Dr. Jones stated in his announcement, is an effort to arouse the people of the nation to an appreciation of the pleasure and economic value which wildlife and natural resources afford us. Both are in dire distress, due to man's careless handling of this heritage given us by nature. If we are to pass on to future generations the enjoyment contact with nature has provided us, then we must do something now to stop this wanton waste.

Birds Wage War On Destroyers Of Fruit

An Alabama woodpecker is worth $20 in cash. A chickadee or a nuthatch is worth from $5 to $10 each. Insects destroy frcits and fruit products worth one hundred million dollars annually in the United States, and man's natural allies in fighting these pests are the birds. The amount of insects consumed is enormous, and in view of the known value of our trees the above figures are considered fair cash values for the birds named.

After a four-year study of insectivorous birds a western scientist said: "Without prejudice I have reached the conclusion that if we had no insectivorous birds, at the end of stven years insects would cover the earth to a depth of two feet." Another scientist says that after five years without insectivorous birds it would be impossible to rave any form of vegetation—no flowers, lawns, crops, or trees.

Alabama birds—326 different kinds—are to receive proper recognition for their benefits to humanity during Wildlife Restoration Week, March 20-26, and on Bird Day, March 22, both by proclamation of Gov. Graves. The Alabama Wildlife Federation, comprising conservation groups in all of the 67 counties, is sponsoring the wildlife week observance. Schools, civic clubs, fraternal groups, and other organizations will pause to honor the birds on Tuesday, March 22.

County Clubs Are Busy

One hundred members of the Marshall County Sportsmen's Club attended a recent banquet at the Boaz community center, with Col. H. G. Bailey as toastmaster. The Colbert County Sportsmen's Association has signed up 10,000 acres to be set aside as a refuge for quail. J. C. Sawyer, of Anniston, is the newly elected president of the Calhoun County Sportsmen's Club. Ten Alabama Junior Chamber of Commerce units are cooperating with county conservation councils in wildlife restoration work.

State Capitol News

Closing of almshouses in all but a few counties in Alabama, and the granting of old age pensions or other assistance to the unfortunate inmates has been an outstanding accomplishment of the State Deportment of Public Welfare an dGov. Bibb Graves during the past 18 months.

Through the aid of federal and state social security, hundreds of aged men and women have left the "poorhouse" to reside with relatives and friends, Gov. Graves explained.

Completion of an exhaustive three-months industrial survey extending throughout Alabama and Georgia preparatory to those states' formal bid to make navigable the Coosa River from Rome, Ga., to Mobile, was revealed this week by Gov. Graves.

The plan calls for an expenditure by the federal government of approximately $39,000,000 to provide a 9-foot channel over the long course of the Coosa and Alabama rivers.

Gov. Graves has played a prominent part in reviving the Coosa development project which was first agitated in congress more than 80 years ago.

Each county's share in the gasoline tax fund collected by the State Tax Commission during February on January sales and withdrawals amounted to $7,548.26, according to figures releaed last week from the office of Hehry S. Long, chairman of the State Tax Commission. This compares with $6,888.44 for the same month last year, and $5,523.26 collected in February of 1935.

HAD GOOD SINGING AT ENTERPRISE

The singing society met at this place last Sunday afternoon. We had a large crowd present, and we really had some good singing. The society was called to order at 2 o'clock by the chairman, I. D. Huett, who sang the opening number. This was followed with prayer by Rev. Bonnett.

We had several visitors from various places. We appreciate your presence and wish to urge you to meet with us each first Sunday afternoon.

There were several quartets rendered that were thoroughly enjoyed by all. Even though the books were new to most of us, the singing was real good. Again we wish to urge each and everyone to meet with us next first Sunday aftrnoon.

JOEL FULMER DIED

Joel Fulmer, age 72, died at the home of his sister, Mrs. W. J. Calloway, in Clanton last Saturday night at 9 o'clock. Services were held at the home Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by Dr. S. J. Ezell. Burial was at Popular Springs. Pallbearers were: Lewis and Ed Driver, J. O. and Elbert Fulmer, K. B. Partridge and Frank Muir. Surviving is one sister—Mrs. W. J. Calloway, and a number of nephews and nieces.

Joel Fulmer was a quiet sort of fellow, friendly to everybody, and he never did anybody any harm. He was well known and well liked by most everybody in the eastern part of Chilton County. He was a native of Coosa county, but spent most of his life on this side of the river The Union-Banner deplores the death of Joel Fulmer. He was a friend to the editor of this paper, and has been a friend of the family for all these many years.

The State Commission of Forestry says that here were 17,027 forest fires in Alabama last year covering an area of 732,437 acres and resulting in damages amounting to $472,309. The number of fires the area covered and the amount of damage was the lowest in the history of the state.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

NEW FARM BILL HAS SPECIAL PROVISIONS FOR SMALL FARMS

Auburn, Mar. 7. — The new farm program contains special provisions for small farmers, including increases in all soil conservation payments less than $200, and exemptions from penalty on all farms where the total production is 1,000 pounds of lint or less.

For a scaling upward of payments on small farms, the act provides a system of increasing payments to all farmers who would earn less than $200 under the regular rates. The following scale will be used: When payment (at regular rates) is not more than $20 the total payments will be increased 40 per cent; payments of $20 to $40 will be increased $8, plus 20 per cent of amount over $20; payments of $40 to $60 will be increased $12, plus 10 per cent of the amount over $40; payments of $60 to $186 will be increased $14, and payments of $186 to $200 will be increased to $200.

The penalty of 2 cents per pound does not apply to cotton produced on any farm which produces 1,000 pounds of lint cotton or less, provided the farm has an acreage allotment. To get an acreage allotment a work sheet must be filled out on the farm.

Each farmer who has not planted as much as 5 acres of cotton in any of the past three years will receive as his allotment the largest number of acres planted and diverted either of the three years. Also, there will be small increases to farmers receiving 5 to 15 acre allotments.

NEW FARM PROGRAM BEST EVER WRITTEN, BELIEVES P. O. DAVIS

Auburn, Mar. 7. — "Without doubt the Agricultural Act of 1938 is a sound foundation for better and more profitable farming," says P. O. Davis, director, Alabama Extension Service, in expressing belief "that it is the best agricultural law ever written."

"I hope that we will take advantage of the new farm program to make fundamental adjustment in our farming," he says in a statement to Alabama farmers. "Benefit checks are great, but a safe and sound farming system on each farm is much more important.

"I hope that every farmer who grew cotton in 1937 will vote in the referendum on March 12. If more than one-third vote "no" the price of cotton is destined to go lower—yes, distressingly low—and we will have all the 'hard times' that go with low priced cotton. If two-thirds vote 'yes' the yay will be prepared for a cotton adjustment program which should bring to cotton growers higher income, better balanced farming, and other assets which accompany these conditions."

Mr. Davis believes that Alabama farmers now have an opportunity to:

1. Produce their fair share of the nation's cotton crop.

2. Add livestock, poultry and other crops to cotton.

3. Make Alabama farms as nearly self sustaining as possible by producing as much of our food and feed as feasible.

Farmers in 64 Alabama counties planted 11,591,911 pounds of winter legume seed in 1937, reports J. C. Lowery, agronomist, Alabama Extension Service. Of this amount 4,286,943 pounds were hairy vetch, 5,804,899 pounds Austrian winter peas, 1,452,519 pounds crimson clover, 41,850 pounds bur clover, and 5,700 pounds Hungarian vetch. These seed were planted on 463,676 acres.

PRODUCERS MAY SELL ALL COTTON PRODUCED ON ALLOTTED ACREAGE

Auburn, March 7. — Under the marketing quota provision of the new farm bill, a farmer may sell, without penalty, all the cotton he produces on his allotted acres, regardless of amount.

"This means that a farmer with an allotment of 10 acres may sell all the cotton he produces on those 10 acres, regardless of how much it may be," says Walter L. Randolph, administrative officer in charge of AAA program in Alabama.

On the other hand, a non-cooperating farmer who knowingly exceeds his acreage allotment will be subject to a penalty of two cents per pound on the cotton produced on the acreage over his allotment, if marketing quotas are approved in the referendum on March 12. He will also forfeit payments due him under the conservation program, as well as the cotton price adjustment payments on his 1937 cotton crop.

THERE WILL BE NO LOANS IF THE COTTON QUOTAS ARE REJECTED

Auburn, March 7. — There will be no cotton loans on the 1938 cotton crop if more than one-third of the farmers vote against the cotton marketing quotas on Saturday, March 12.

If two-thirds or more of the farmers voting favor marketing quotas, loans will be made available when the average price of cotton on August 1 is below 52 per cent of parity (at present, parity is about 16 cents per pound) or if the August crop estimate is greater than a normal year's domestic consumption and exports. The rate of the loans to cooperators will not be less than 52 per cent nor more than 75 per cent of the parity price at the beginning of the marketing year on August 1.

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

Many farmers in the erosion control area near Clanton are planning to develop border strips along their field and woodland edges this spring to provide food and cover for wildlife on the farm, according to Mr. Wood.

Such borders usually represent unproductive areas which are especially subject to erosion, Mr. Wood said. A narrow strip of lespedeza servicea, shrubs, and other plants along these field and woodland edges will control erosion and at the same time favor the development of desirable species of birds and animals.

The clean cultivation of large areas of farm land has been an important factor in the depletion of wildlife, and thus favored the increase of insect pests which native birds and animals on the farm tend to keep under control.

From a wildlife standpoint, the development of border strips of protective vegetation is more desirable than the same area of vegetation in a compact block, he said. Such strips provide travel lanes for birds and small animals and afford more extensive range into adjoining field and woodlands.

Gullies and other severely eroded areas also provide ideal sites for the use of plants and shrubs that will serve the dual purpose of controlling erosion and improving wildlife environment on the farm. Shrubs which can be obtained locally for such plantings include elderberry, American beauty berry, blackberry, privet, and coralberry, Mr. Wood said.

Soil Conservation Service workers in the Clanton area will be glad to discuss this phase of the erosion control program with interested farmers. A new farmer's bulletin, "Wildlife Conservation Through Erosion Control In The Piedmont", is available from the Superintendent of Documents, in Washington, D. C., at five cents a copy, Mr. Wood said.

ISABELLA F. H. A.

On Wednesday, February 23, the Isabella chapter of the F. H. A. rendered a very interesting program. The program committee based the program on the kitchen, since that is the most important part of the house.

The meeting was called to order by the president; roll call and reading of the minutes by the secretary; devotional by Carlos Bell. "The Plan for the Kitchen"—Evelyn Veasey; "Built in Devices for the Kitchen"—Velma Conway; "Equipment and Arrangement of the Kitchen"—Adell Scott"; Care of the Kitchen"—Gladys Sansom".

The club appointed a social committee to serve this second semester. The members of the committee are as follows: Carlos Bell, Willie Mae Wells and Frances Kendrick. There was also other business to come before the meeting.

It seemed that all the members of the club enjoyed the program and received some benefits from it.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks and appreciation to each and every one of you for your kindness shown us during the burial of our son and brother, G. W. Hayes. Especially do we thank those who contributed the beautiful floral offerings. We thank E. B. Tucker and J. S. Kelley for their comforting words, and Mr. Martin for his kindness. May God's richest blessings be with each of you, is our prayer.—Mrs. H. K. Hayes and family.

Lesson for March 13

FEEDING THE HUNGRY

LESSON TEXT—Mark 6:30-44.
GOLDEN TEXT—Give ye them to eat. Mark 6:37.
PRIMARY TOPIC—When Jesus Fed a Hungry Crowd.
JUNIOR TOPIC—A Boy's Part in a Great Miracle.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Sharing What We Have.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Providing for the Needs of All.

"My God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus" (Phil. 4:19). Such is the assurance of God's Word. Countless Christians have proved it to be true that they may trust God to supply every need—temporal or spiritual.

The lesson for today first presents the disciples as they had come back from their preaching expedition and presented to the Lord Jesus a report of their stewardship in ministering the bread of life to the spiritually needy. He invites them to a place apart from the busy walks of daily life for a time of communion and rest. The multitude would not be denied, however, and follow our Lord to the desert place. Having taught them, Jesus has opportunity to instruct His disciples in the important ministry of supplying for those in need the bread for their bodies.

I. The Ministry of the Bread of Life.

Reports of accomplishments in the field of Christian work (although sometimes an earnest accounting of stewardship of service and money) are all too often prepared for the purpose of impressing men and seeking their financial assistance. The real report is the one which disciples make to their Lord. It concerns two vital points.

1. "What they had done" (v. 30). One of the temptations which face the preacher and teacher of Christian truth is to avoid unpleasant and difficult problems by simply proclaiming the truth and doing nothing about the outworking of that truth in daily living. It sounds very pious to say that we will present the Word and let it do its own work, but the Christian worker who evades his duty to deal at close grips with sin and disorder in the church and community has not discharged his responsibility to Christ.

2. "What they had taught" (v. 30). The second temptation of the preacher is to follow the specious reasoning of the modernist who says that it does not matter what a man believes, it is what he does that counts. The foundation of Christian character is Christian doctrine, therefore the disciple of Christ must know what to teach, and give account to the Lord for his teaching. Teaching and doing the commandments of God go hand in hand.

II. The Ministry of Daily Bread.

Jesus found no rest, for the multitudes followed Him to the other side of the lake. Ere long the evening approaches, and the disciples begin to be concerned about how this great multitude is to be fed. They follow the inclinations of the flesh and decide to solve the problem by asking Jesus to

1. "Send them away" (v. 36). The church has followed their example in dealing with the social problems of the people down through the years. The result is that being denied fellowship, comfort, and help by a church which was too busy building up a vast organization or a beautiful order of worship, the common people have responded to the appeal of political leaders who have provided a substitute for what the church should have given them.

Serious thoughts are these. It will not do for us to "send them away" from the church empty hearted and empty handed. Our Lord says—

2. "Give ye them to eat" (v. 37). Reckoning hastily on what a small boy had brought for his lunch (trust an alert boy to be ready!), the disciples soon demonstrate that it is impossible to feed this great throng. Logic is such a devastating thing when it operates apart from faith in God. They were absolutely right in their reasoning and in their calculations, but they had forgotten the one factor that really counted. Jesus was there, and Jesus is God, and God is omnipotent.

3. "He commanded . . . and they did all eat" (vv. 39, 42). When God speaks all the limitations of the finite disappear, and the needs of men are fully met—with "twelve baskets full of fragments" left over!

Let those who labor in difficult places with limited resources take heart—and trust God.

Wisdom

Wisdom allows nothing to be good that will not be so forever; no man to be happy but he that needs no other happiness than what he has within himself; no man to be great or powerful that is not master of himself.—Seneca.

Longings

Every longing should become an active impulse in the soul. Our longing should lead us into all paths of Christly service and all heroic duty.

D. S. Smith Writes Voters

Editor Union-Banner:

Please give me space in one of your columns to speak to the voters of Chilton County.

Election year is here again and all candidates have made their announcements. For the next 60 days you voters will be making up your minds as to whom you will support on election day. The right to vote for the officials who will serve us is a sacred right—a right for which our forefathers bled and died and we should cherish this right by trying to vote intelligently.

It seems to me that we voters of this county have made some awful blunders in selecting some of our officials in the past. I'm afraid too many of us have been careless in the selection of our most important officials. There is quite a difference as to the importance of the various officials.

The election of Tax Collector and Assessor this year will cause as much, if not more, excitement than the election of any other official. We realize these officials are important but they are far from being as important as some of the others. The Assessor's and Collector's duties are routine, they assess and collect our taxes as prescribed by the law, and about all we can say after the election is over is that we worked hard to give some one a good job with a fat salary.

We have two commissioners, two County Board members, Tax Collector, Tax Assessor, Sheriff, County Superintendent and Representative to elect this year and, in my opinion, the Representative should be given more consideration than any of the rest. The Representatives in the past made the laws by which the rest of the officials are governed. Not only did these Representatives make laws to govern the officials, but to govern every individual.

I realize that we must have laws, but the important question is, "What Kind of Laws?" Everybody should be a law-abiding citizen, but the enactment of unjust legislation causes disrespect for the law, and when it reaches it's climax violence usually follows. Every time the Legislature meets the law makers are passing new laws, creating new offices and new jobs, and this costs more money. The Representatives begin to seek more revenue, which means a heavier tax burden.

I feel that our tax burden has gone beyond reason and that it is time it were stopped. Only through the election of the right kind of Representatives can we hope to bring a halt to increased taxation; only through the election of the right kind of Representatives can we hope to regain and retain our freedom. It is time we common people should begin to use our heads for something other than a "hat-rack." As long as we elect men to represent us in the Legislative halls, who make their living sitting down and know nothing about an honest day's work, we need not expect any more than we have received in the past.

The kind of Representative we do need is one with a little common sense and a great deal of courage. We need a man who knows what it is to earn a dollar on the farm or in any other form of manual labor. We have tried the swivel chair type of Representatives and they have been found wanting. They have brought us to the poverty stage and will keep us there as long as we elect them to office.

Now, my fellow citizen, let us wake up in the selection of our most important official, the Representative, and not spend all of our time trying to elect some friend to office whose work is routine.—Yours for a Representative from among the common people, D. S. Smith.

ROLLER SKATING DERBY

With all Alabama talking about the newest and fastest growing sport in the country, the Roller Derby, many local citizens are planning on attending the Transcontinental Roller Derby now in progress at the city auditorium in Birmingham.

The Roller Derby, which thrilled packed audiences for three weeks each first at Miami and then at Tampa, Fla., has moved into Birmingham on a trip that will carry many of the same contestants from one end of the continent to the other.

In fact, this is the objective of the Roller Derby, to cover a set distance from one city to another until the entire country has been imaginatively transversed. Points will be awarded the various contestants, consisting of 10 teams of men and women, with penalties curtailing the progress.

The Roller Derby is a combination of several sports: skating, bicycle racing, football and soccer. Everything, except blocking with the arms, is allowed, and skaters are guarded from injury as much as possible. However, a half dozen crack skaters are on the injured list right now, and will be for months, due to serious spills.

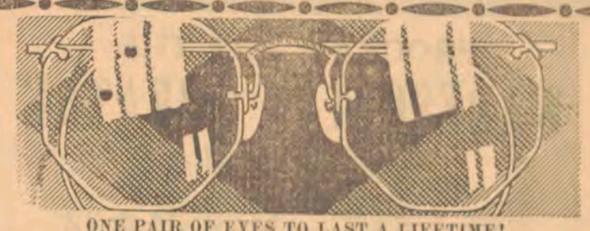
An idea of how the Roller Derby is sweeping the country may be seen in various news reels that are being shown in leading theatres, or on 25,000 post cards being sent out with pictures from Tampa derby.

The most unique sports team in the world—that of mother and son—is competing in the Birmingham derby, which lasts for 20 days, with Ma and Bill Bogash being in the thick of the battle so far. She is 43 and he is 21, but they have been in 18 derbies so far.

In an effort to increase and improve their livestock, farmers in 57 Alabama counties are conducting 2,080 pasture demonstrations. During 1937 these growers seeded 24,941 acres and fertilized 23,065 acres; 6,778 tons of basic slag and 1,915 tons of superphosphate were used.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste



Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength.

Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder may be burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

J. P. (POPE) PAYNE THANKS HIS FRIENDS FOR SUPPORT

To my Friends and Voters:

I am very, very sorry, and am embarrassed to advise you that I have been forced out of the race as a candidate for Tax Assessor of our county through a very minor thing, I think—my failing to reregister in this county. I registered in Chilton County in 1915, left the county for five years, registered in another county and paid poll tax five years in that county, and on returning to this county in 1921 did not reregister. The law provides that a person registering in one county or state, and going into another and registering there, on returning to the original registration place must reregister to become a qualified voter.

As it is impossible for me to see you in person, I am taking this means of thanking my good friends for their support and the many nice things that has come to me from you.

I wish to say to the voters in behalf of Mr. A. D. Martin and Mr. W. Z. Hodges, the other two candidates in the race for Tax Assessor, that I hold no ill will toward them. Mr. Martin and Mr. Hodges are two high class men, and I can say that they have conducted themselves in a gentleman-like manner until I was forced out of the race.

As I feel now, I shall seek this office or some other in our county four years from now, and I trust that I may have the same loyal support that I have received this time.

The voters of the county will have on May 3 a goodly number of local candidates, as well as state candidates, to choose from, and on casting your vote it is more serious than a good many of us term it to be. But before you make your decision, check your candidate's record thoroughly to see if he will make the official you should have in office.

Again thanking my good friends and supporters, I am, yours very truly,—J. P. (Pope) Payne.

PLEASANT HILL

Our Stnday school was very well attended last Sonday, but it could be made better. Everybody come to Sunday school next Sunday.

Rev. Mackmen will preach for us next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

Sunday afternoon is our regular singing day, and we invite all singers out to help us—we need it.

Several from here attended the singing at Oak Grove last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Harless and Mr. J. R. Henley of Birmingham, spent the week with Mrs. Mims and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Robinson and little son, of Clanton, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Arledge.

We are glad to say that we have a new lamp for our church.

There will be a union speaking at Pleasant Hill church on Monday night, March 14.

NEW SALEM

Sunday was our regular preaching day. We had a very large crowd out, but I believe we could have had more. Our pastor, Bro. Carroll, delivered two wonderful sermons, and brought out some interesting points. Our preaching days are the first and third Sundays.

Our Sunday school is still doing fine. The red side won over the white side Sunday. There are only three more Sundays in this quarter, so the whites had better get to work or they will have to entertain the reds.

Our B. Y. P. U. is doing fine now. The seniors put over a good program last Sunday night. We had several visitors with us, and we invite them back at anytime. We are urging that all members of Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. attend regular and help us out.

The ladies of this community are going to meet at the church Thursday afternoon, March 10th, (today) for the purpose of cleaning off the church yard. They would like to have all ladies out to help them.

BOYS 4-H CLUB WORK

I have just received a letter from the National Committee on 4-H Club work, and they are going to ship me 300 4-H club caps. All boys that haven't already placed their order with me may bring 15 cents to the rally with you and secure a cap.—B. N. Ivey, Assistant County Agent.

Mr. H. Pinkerson of the Dollar Store was in Mobile the first of last week attending Mardi Gras and the wedding of a friend, also visiting with relatives and friends in the Bay City.

THORSBY JUNIOR HIGH WINS TOP HONORS IN CALERA TOURNEY

Union Grove Took Second Place, With Calera Coming Up Third

Coach R. B. Johnson's scrappy little squad of basketball players at Thorsby Junior High School took top honors in the Gold Medal Tournament for junior high schools held at Calera last Saturday. Six Chilton County teams were entered, along with three Shelby County teams. Union Grove took second honors, and Calera third.

The six Chilton County teams entered were Mt. Pleasant, Concord, Union Grove, Collins Chapel, Enterprise and Thorsby; those from Shelby, Calera, Helena and Chelsea.

The order of elimination was as follows: Mt. Pleasant beat Collins Chapel out, 30 to 19. The next game was an upset, when Union-Grove put on a thrilling drive to beat Enterprise 21 to 20. Helena then beat Coach Ed Glasscock's small but hustling team from Concord in another close one, 30 to 28.

Calera easily romped over Chelsea. In one of the most exciting games of the day, Mt. Pleasant lost to the Thorsby team by an 18 to 16 count, after a scrap in which the lead changed several times. Union Grove defeated Helena 39 to 22. Thorsby easily defeated Calera 29 to 18. Chelsea lost to Helena next (score not given).

In the night session Mt. Pleasant defeated the Helena squad to take fourth place. The final game was between Thorsby and Union Grove, with Thorsby taking Coach Shaw's boys by an easy 46 to 15 score.

For their labors, the teams and individual players received the following awards and honors: Thorsby took the gold trophy, Union Grove took the second place silver trophy, and Calera was awarded the third place bronze trophy. Mt. Pleasant's players received individual medals in recognition of their fourth place position. After this, individual awards were made to outstanding players.

The judges selected the following players as an all-tournament first team: Blankenship, Calera; Johnson, Mt. Pleasant; Jackson, Collins Chapel; Neeley, Enterprise; Hays, Thorsby.

The following three players were selected as most outstanding in the tournament: Hays, Thorsby; Blankenship, Calera; Brasher, Union Grove. Their names will be sent in to Gold Medal tournament headquarters, where they have a chance of being recognized as All-American Junior High School performers.

A number of other awards were made various individuals for different features.

This Gold Medal Tournament was said to be one of the best yet held in central Alabama, replete with thrills, and offering to spectators a day of real sport.

Chilton County teams extend to Prof. Allen and Coach Watters, of Calera, their gratitude for the invitation to play in the tournament, and appreciation of their efforts in sponsoring it.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

Just wondering what the good workers and promoters of attendance to our Sunday school are doing these days. Just wndering where have been our absent members lately. Our Sunday school attendance is falling, friends. Let's not allow that to continue. Let's be present and see that our class rooms are as nearly filled as possible with members, new members and visitors next Sunday morning at 9:45.

At 11 a. m. and 7 p. m., hear our pastor. Let's give him the audience he deserves—a full house.

Young people, we hear you're doing fine. Keep it up. Attend your organization at 6:15 p. m. next Sunday.

We are beginning work on programs for Church School Day, April 3rd, and for Easter Sunday, April 17. Begin now to make plans not to miss these programs. If our hopes, plans and efforts materialize, these programs will be good.

Y. W. A. STUDIES SHEAVES

The Y. W. A. met at the home of Misses Margaret and Janie Beth Johnston late Monday evening at 7 o'clock.

Margaret Johnston had charge of the prgram. Those having prepared talks were: Janie Beth Johnston, Mary Francis Duke, Hazel Gray, Ruth Esco and Tillie Kelly.

Circle No. 3 of the Clanton Baptist church served refreshments to the following: Mabel Harris, Gertie Fiquette, Ruth Horton, Martha Jule Blackshear, Judy McDaniel, Lois Foshee, Mary Francis Duke, Euna Powell, Mary Charles Larrimore, Hazel Gray, Mary Nell Jones, Christnia Bosworth, Gladys Roper, Ruth Esco, Tillie Kelly, Mrs. W. M. Billingsley, Mrs. D. Y. Johnston and the hostess.

LETTER FROM J. N. SCOTT ABOUT COTTON PROGRAM

Editor Union-Banner:

I am yet on the sick list, but here I come again. I see that the "Big Boys" at Washington are going to let the farmers vote on the cotton, corn, wheat and oats proposition March 12th. I want to say, Mr. Farmer, that you have a chance to hold on to your enherited birth rights—to be free to farm your land as you choose to, without a Boss or Dictator to tell you just what you can plant and how much to plant. Remember, the bill that they want to impose on us farmers includes more than cotton, it includes corn, wheat, rice and tobacco. Also, I want to say, don't be misled, the bunch of men handling this proposition are all officers or on the government payrolls or big land owners, who rent their land to the government and then turn around and cultivate the same land with hired labor to keep from dividing up the rent money with the renter.

Nobody can tell me that this bunch of men that want this law enforcement put on the farmers of this country are our friends, or have any love, sympathy or respect for the farmers of this great U. S. of ours, if they did, they would stay out of the farmers' business and quit worrying us. We are still raising enough to feed and cloth the people of the U. S. and have some things to spare.

Mr. Roosevelt and his bunch at Washington say that we are raising too much cotton, too much corn, too much wheat, tobacco and rice, and not enough feedstuff. I wonder if any of them have ever once gone out to the farm districts and looked into any of the farmers' barns to see whether they have any feedstuff or not. If they need any up at Washington, I would be glad to send them some. I believe we people of Chilton county could send a few carloads of bailed oats, pea vines, fodder, corn and shucks. Oh, they say all of this is selling to cheap. All of us farmers admit, according to wages we are paying them at Washington and elsewhere, that we are being under paid. I have heard a great deal from Washington that they wanted see us farmers and laboring men have a standard living. I have wondered just how much I should be making to have a standard living, I suppose it would be somewhere between $10,000 a year to $75,000 and all traveling expenses. That is what we are paying them at Washington, and they haven't said they were getting over a standard living or that they were willing to divide up with us poor farmers who have fed them and clothed them all these years, but want us to vote for them to give us a committee or a board of so many men to take charge of our business and be our dictators.

Brother farmers, I know there are not many of you that wants to give up your free rights and privileges to your property to be bossed around, and that is what it means if we vote yes on this proposition. Its another NRA in a disguise, a little different wording, and can't become a law unless we vote a two-thirds majority or more for it. Who asked for this mess? Not the farmers, but the farm barons who are made up of County and State administrators and their helpers. There are none of them that want to be fair, they want to drive and scare people into doing things. Yes, they are telling as they go around that if we don't vote in their dictators we won't get our parity payment promise on our last year's cotton. This has nothing to do with last year's crop. Why do they want to have a round-about just to try to make the people vote for a boss to be put over them? I want to say, if it be so, it can go. I don't love money enough to sell out my inherited rights and freedom.

I hope the people of Chilton county will turn out Saturday, March 12, their minds made up to vote no, which will mean that I don't want a dictator to tell me how to farm on my land. If cotton goes to 4 cents a pound, we will live. I saw it that low during Cleveland's administration, and nobody starved, and we won't now if we keep the drones out of the bees way so he can work. So I will ring off by saying good night at 1:30.—J. N. Scott.

4-H Club Meets

Last Friday the Enterprise 4-H club girls met with Miss Grace. The club sang several songs, then Miss Grace discussed diseases with us. We learned certain foods which build up the system and keep down certain diseases.

The majority of the girls from this club are looking forward to getting their certificates at the rally in April.

Elvie Devaughn was elected from this club to ride on the float that will lead the parade through town on the day of the rally.

The club enjoyed a delightful tea party after everything else was finished.

Although next month is our last meeting of this season, let's carry on our 4-H club work all during the summer.

CLANTON CHAPTER FHA MET

The Clanton chapter of FHA met Friday, March 4, in the Home Economics building. The meeting was called to order by the president, Annie Pearl Honeycutt. The roll was called by the secretary, Mildred Maddox. A short business meeting followed. A report was given by the treasurer, Hilda Smith. Plans were then made concerning future meetings, and a committee was appointed to begin working on the club's scrapbook. After several business matters were discussed, the meeting adjourned.—Ola Mae Parrish, Reporter.

HOUSTON COUNTY MAN SAYS THE MONTGOMERY ADVERTISER LIED

Says Montgomery Paper's Statements False Regarding Dry Campaign Waged There Recently

Dothan, Ala., Mar. 7, 1938.

To the Press of Alabama:

On the morning of March 5th I forwarded the following "Day Letter" to The Montgomery Advertiser. The Advertiser has not printed this "Day Letter". At the time, a copy was furnished to Nat C. Faulk, Dothan, Ala., Associated Press correspondent:

POSTAL TELEGRAPH CABLE CO.

Telegram

Dothan, Ala., March 5, 1938.

Editor The Montgomery Advertiser,
Montgomery, Ala.

Sunday's Advertiser, February 27, carried following headlines at top of sixth column on first page: "Ten Thousand dollars sent into Houston to dry it up. That is to sway votes in election tomorrow against state stores. Prohibitionists find allies in Florida liquor people and hungry bottleggers." The statement contained in this headline was false. Atticus Mullin knew it was false when he wrote it, and the statement was printed by The Advertiser knowing it was false, or with reckless disregard and without investigation as to its truth or falsity. Not one cent of money was sent into Houston County by the Anti Saloon League and Florida liquor dealers to dry up Houston County. The article referred to contained the following statement: "Thousands have been spent by prohis in Houston County in the last few weeks. Speakers coming in galore". The above quoted statement was false in its entirety. Less than $500 was spent in Houston County by the Houston County Temperance Alliance and the prohibitionists from the time of the call for the organization meeting to put out dry petitions up to and including the day of the election and expenses since the election. I speak of money raised and spent in the recent Houston County liquor referendum by the Houston County Temperance Alliance and the prohibitionists. I raised this money myself, and practically all of it was raised by public subscription in open meeting with Nat C. Faulk, reporter for the Dothan Eagle, present; and I superintended the spending of this money, which was spent for stamps, radio advertisement and newspaper advertising. Thirty seven dollars and fifty cents was paid for two sound trucks. Eight dollars was paid for painting banners, and the balance was spent for telephone calls, telegrams, and small miscellaneous items. Only three out-of-the-county speakers came into the county. They were R. J. Haskew, Hartford, Ala., a voter and taxpayer in Houston County; Judge J. A. Carnley, Elba, Ala.; and Earl Hotalen, Birmingham, Ala. All of these speakers paid their own personal expenses. Not one dollar was used by us corruptly or illegally. The liquor forces in this county bought votes like hogs and cattle. I make the foregoing charge and I stand behind it and I am financially solvent. Bootleggers and formerly convicted bootleggers in this county spent money and dispensed liquor bought from the state liquor store to influence votes for legalization of liquor. At least one employee of the state liquor store in Dothan spent the morning of the election day in two beats outside of Dothan hauling voters to the polls by automobile. I demand that you publish this telegram, and this demand is compelled to be made by me on account of the false statements published by you February 27. I mail you confirmation of this telegram.—Oscar L. Tompkins.

In the interest of truth and common decency I am mailing this letter to every newspaper in Alabama. No money was spent for and on behalf of prohibitionists in the Houston County referendum, either by prohibitionists or anybody else except as stated in the above day letter.—Oscar L. Tompkins.

MRS. SELIA ANN SCOTT

On Monday, February 28, the death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Foshee and gently wafted the spirit of Aunt Selia Ann Scott to the realms of rest.

Mrs. Scott and her husband, the late Andrew J. Scott, were pioneer citizens of Mars Hill community, and were for many years identified with church and school activities in this community.

The large crowd at the funeral, the many sad faces, and many expressions of sorrow were sufficient evidence of the high esteem which this entire section held for this dear old lady.

May God bless the bereaved ones, and give them comfort.

Mrs. Scott leaves three sons and three daughters, 45 grandchildren, 16 great-grandchildren, with a host of other relatives and friends in whose hearts her place can not be filled.

ALPINE COMMUNTY NEWS

Friends and relatives are glad to hear that Miss Lorene Walker is back home from Selma Baptist hospital, and mproving steadily.

Miss Arrie B. Jones, a teacher at Thorsby, spent the week end at home with her parents at Plantersville.

Messrs. Warren G., Jack, J. W., Doc, nd Misses Octavia, Elsie Mae, and Viola Walker attended the singing at Enterprise Sunday afternoon. They eported a good singing and a large rowd.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Brown gave a birthday entertainment last Saturday night i nhonor of Miss Annie V. Moore nd Mr. Dewey Harrison.

Mr. Woodfin Littlejohn of Stanton pent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Mitchell.

WELFARE DEPARTMENT OPEN TUESDAYS AND FRIDAYS

It is the aim of the Department of Public Welfare to be accessible to those persons in need of assistance at all times. However, due to the very large number of applications filed with the department and the small administrative staff, it has been impossible to make investigations as speedily as they should be made. In order that we may render more efficient and effective service to the public at large, we are asking that all applicants for assistance plan to come to the Department of Public Welfare office on Tuesday or Friday.

By restricting the taking of applications to these two days, each week, the director and visitor will have more time to spend in the field making investigations, which are necessary, before any applicant can be certified for any kind of public assistance. We feel that this plan will enable us to speed up clearance of the many applications now pending, and reach new applicants with a minimum of delay. We earnestly solicit the cooperation of the public in carrying out this plan, which we feel is the only way in which we can facilitate the handling of the volume of applications being placed with the department from day to day.—Nolan Meroney, Director Chilton County Welfare Office.

JAZZ PIG GROWING CONTEST

The annual $600 Jazz pig growing contest will open a month earlier this year, on April 15, with $50 in prizes being offered in this section for the Jazz fed pig that gains most pounds in 180 days.

The first prize will be $25, second prize $15, and third prize $10. The state is divided into districts for which a total of $600 is offered in prizes, but you will compete only with your own neighbors in this district for the $50 in prizes offered locally.

Application blanks for entering your pig in the contest may be obtained from the local Jazz dealer or from the Cosby-Hodges Milling Co., manufacturers of Jazz feeds. It is necessary that htese application blanks be filled out and filed with Cosby-Hodges Milling Co., before the contest opens April 15. All rules and regulations governing the contest appear on these free application blanks.

Thtre are no fees nor any cost whatever in entering your pig in the Jazz pig growing contest. You stand as good chance as any one of your neighbors to win one of these three cash prizes. The contest closes October 12 and the prizes will be awarded as soon as possible after that date. Tre judging will be done by a local committee to be named as the contest nears the close. You may enter one pig or as many more as you wish.

Get further particulars from your local Jazz feed dealer, or direct from Cosby-Hodges Milling Co., Birmingham, Ala.

MT CARMEL

The W. M. U. met last Friday with ten members present to observe the week of prayer. We had a good service, and are glad to have had Rev. and Mrs. Nix, the ladies from Pates Chapel and several men with us. A nice dinner was spread at the noon hour, and a plate was filled and sent to the sick ones of this community.

Rev. Nix brought some good sermons the past Saturday and Sunday. Several matters were taken up during conference Saturday night. Mrs. Bill Foshee was elected church treasurer.

Mrs. Nix called a meeting Sunday afternoon and plans were made to organize a "Sunbeam Band, R. A. and G. A."

Miss Ruby Mae Higgins of Clanton was a visitor here over the week end.

Mrs. Odis Sewell and baby of Clanton visited relatives here over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Jodie Mims of the Highland community were at church last Sunday.

Mrs. Hugh Davenport spent part of last week in Birmingham.

POPLAR SPRINGS

Sunday school was not so well attended last Sunday, but we hope to see everyone back next Sunday; and bring someone with you.

Rev. W. P. Lowery will preach for us next Sunday and Sunday night. Let's all show him that we welcome him back again. There will be preaching every night the following week by someone, probably a different preacher every night.

Mr. Joel Fulmer was buried here Sunday afternoon. May God's richest blessings rest upon his relatives and friends.

The announcement was made in the paper last week of a series of services at this place the week of March 13.

The program of these services will be as follows:

Sunday and Sunday night — Rev. W. P. Lowery.

Monday night — Rev. G. G. Williams.

Tuesday night — Rev. Maurice Hodgens.

Wednesday night — Rev. M. Lockhart.

Thursday night — Rev. H. D. Durbin.

Friday night — left open for visitors.

Saturday, Sunday and Sunday night, March 19 and 20, the pastor, Rev. W. E. Robinson, will be in charge.

The day services will begin at 11 o'clock, and the night services at 7. Everybody welcome. Come, let us worship together. — Reporter.

JUVENILE MUSIC CLUB

The Juvenile Music Club held its regular monthly meeting with Jean Waite on Tuesday afternoon, March 8. The study for the afternoon was "Alabama Composers". Piano solos were played as follows:

"Minuet in G" (Beethoven), Inez Wyatt.

"The Return" (Bergmuller), Lois Rockett.

"Second Valse" (Godard), Jean Waite.—Inez Wyatt, reporter.

BAPTIST MISSION CONFERENCE AT MONTGOMERY MARCH 10TH

Announcement is made by the Baptist State Executive Board that a Mission Conference will be held in Montgomery at the First Baptist Church on Thursday, March 10. There will be two speakings in the morning, beginning at 10 a.m.; there will be two speeches in the afternoon.

BARBECUE AT BILLINGSLEY

Plans are being made for a barbecue, to be sponsored by Billingsley P.-T. A., April 23rd. All candidates are specially invited. Further announcements of the day's program will be made later.

ANTIOCH

The past week was a boon to our community. On Saturday, February 26, a good message at 11 a.m., by Rev. T. J. Deramus, using as a text: "Without Controversy, Great Is The Mystery Of Godliness".

12 O'clock — lunch; enough for everyone present and some to spare.

In the afternoon the best quarterly conference that Chilton Circuit has had in a long time.

Sunday, February 27 — at 10:30 a fine Sunday school; 11 a.m., a good sermno by Rev. N. H. Culp, pointing out that when David was old, he saw quite different compared with his young life. 6:30 p.m. — Christian Endeavor. 7:30 p.m. — an excellent sermon by Rev. J. D. Hopper, using as a text: "Tekel".

Monday, February 28 — 7:30 p.m., a fine sermon by J. W. Gibson, using for a text: "I will arise and go to my father"; Joe quoted a lot of poetry.

Tuesday, March 1 — 7:30, a good sermon by Rev. J. W. Enfinger, using for his theme: "As it was in the days of Noah, so will it be in the coming of Christ".

Wednesday, March 2 — 6:30, a fine prayer meeting. 7:30 — a good sermon by Rev. Fuller, using as his text: "Thou fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee".

Thursday, March 3 — Another great message by Rev. J. W. Enfinger, taking as the subject: "Namon's cure for leprosy".

Sunday, March 5 — at 10:30 a.m., another good Sunday school. 11:00 — a good sermon by a newly called preacher, Rev. C. C. Headley. 6:30 — a good Christian Endeavor program, submitted by Miss Willie Pearl Roseberry.

There was much visiting during the week.

Come back to see us again, good preachers. — Pauline Stillwell, reporter.

MAPLE SPRINGS

Sunday school was well attended last Sunday, but let's improve on it each Sunday.

Next Sunday and Sunday night are our regular preaching dates, so let's everybody come out and enjoy the services.

There will be singing at Maple Springs next Sunday afternoon, March 13. All singers and lovers of music are urged to attend. Singing will begin at 2 o'clock.

Mr. T. J. Ratliff visited friends and relatives out near Pool's Cross Roads Sunday.

Misses Mary and Thelma Wilson of Pool's Cross Roads spent the week end in this community visiting relatives and friends.

CARD OF THANKS

I take this means of expressing to the New Cedron Baptist church my appreciation for the nice quilt sent to me some days ago.

Also thank the Refuge church for the nice quilts which they quilted and gave to us. We cannot find words to express our deep appreciation to everyone who had a part in this work. We will read the names on the stars of each quilt with much interest. — Mrs. M. Lockhart.

The bloodiest and cruelest wars in history have been the civil wars, which cannot be prevented by international agreement. The present struggle in Spain is a good example.

WHAT WE NEED

We need now exactly what was needed four months ago—recognition by the administration that certain policies of the government are ruinous to business and that steps should be taken at once to remedy the situation. Confiscatory taxes should be repealed; wasteful spending should be checked at once; unfair government competition with investor-owned industry should be definitely stopped; dependable assurance should be given that business may safely expand and increase employment.—American Federation of Investors.

TRIED TO PUNISH THRIFT

With the most lavish expenditures any nation has ever seen, Franklin D. Roosevelt discovered that he could not spend his way to economic recovery. He has since been trying to experiment his way to a return of prosperity. And the recession gets worse instead of better.

At this stage he presents a lamentable spectacle of a would-be leader befogged and traveling in circles. A few weeks ago he told industrialists that what was needed was increases in pay and decreases in the prices of products to pull the country out of the hole. How payrolls were to be met never concerned him. A few weeks later he told newspaper men at a press conference that prices are too low and should go up. So his mind whirls around like a weather vane with each varying puff of the wind.

A great noise was made over his announcement of a modification of the "gold sterilization" process, but this announcement is of practically no importance. It is true it throws more money into the banks and less gold into the government vaults in Kentucky. But the extra money means nothing, for the banks were already heavy with money and they were anxious to loan, but business was making few demands for loans.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

BY FRANK P. LITSCHERT

With the nazification of Austria, Hitler's speech, and the resignation of Sir Anthony Eden, Great Britain's Sir Galahad, an impression seemed to sweep over the United States that Britain had cracked and was going to pieces, surrendering all before the fascist dictators of Central Europe. This is what might be termed "the bunk." Great Britain is not going to pieces. Her diplomats are not hysterical. They know exactly where they are going. It is a notable fact that in getting a vote of confidenct from the British House of Commons, Mr. Chamberlain received the support of practically all of the statesmen who usially are not moved by hysteria nor disposed toward cloud chasing.

As a matter of fact, England is not surrendering to the dictators. She is adopting, temporarily, a change of policy. The old stopgaps against war are breaking down. It is the League of Nations which has cracked, not Great Britain. The United States has very properly refused to be drawn into the European mess . Russia has executed most of her skilled military leaders and doesn't want to fight. France is torn by civil dissensions. Nobody is paying any attention to Geneva. Great Britain is not prepared to fight—yet. And so Mr. Chamberlain executed another stroke of characteristic English diplomacy, and British diplomacy has been sane, cold and calculating for a thousand years.

If Mr. Chamberlain succeeds in coming to an agreement with Mussolini, and if Hitler can be satisfied without too much expense, then war in Europe will have been postponed —at least until Great Britain is prepared to fight and has enough allies to insure victory. Great Britain is not greatly concerned with what happens in Central or Eastern Europe. Since there seems to be no danger Germany will again attack France and so threaten the English Channel, her chief problem in Europe is to get the Mediterranean area straightened out with Italy. Then there is the puzzle of China. Britain's interests there are far more vital than those in the Balkans. If Hitler and Mussolini are placated for the time being, England will be in better shape to deal with Japan—probably not with battleships—unless we can be coaxed into the fight—but with diplomacy.

In weighing the European situation at this time, all of these things—and many more—must be taken into consideration. Mr. Chamberlain disclosed the trend of British diplomacy when he sensibly said that the League is bankrupt so far as political influence is concerned, and that it must be rebuilt on a practical basis if it is to be of any weight in world affairs. Anthony Eden, the visionary young secretary who clings to the hope Uncle Sam will come into the League and that Geneva can handle everything, naturally left the cabinet when the change of policy could no longer be averted. Incidentally it may be said that Eden would have resigned whether Hitler had made his speech or not. The storm over Italy had been brewing in the British government for some time.

The League of Nations idealists in Britain are still strong and they are reinforced by the left wing laborites who look to Moscow for inspiration. Eden is personally popular and attractive and it is likely they are on the verge of a long and heated political campaign in England. Just what the outcome will be no one can foretell. Much depends on Mussolini. If he is reasonable and comes to terms with Chamberlain he will assure for the latter a big victory among the home folks. If, however, the negotiations between Italy and England break down Eden will get a new lease on life. The future of Europe is in the hands of the gods. In the meantime, let us stay at home.

"MOVING SLOWLY"

A dispatch from Washington said that congress was moving "slowly" toward a critical test of administration leadership in connection with the new revenue bill. The word "slowly" describes the situation with peculiar accuracy.

When the special session of congress met on November 15 the air was filled with talk about tax revision, and all the responsible leaders from Sen. Harrison on down rushed forward to promise that a tax bill would be passed in very short order to aid and encourage business. Those promises have not been redeemed. It is more than ten weeks since the special session began. February is gone, and the tax bill which was to give assurance to business enterprises beset by the forces of recession is still not out of the Ways and Means Committee. The steam seems to have gone completely out of the tax revision drive, and the whole procedure is going along as if congress had the rest of the year in which to attend to this business which in November and December seemed so urgent.

Big business and little business alike have asked for the elimination of the undistributed profits tax and for other revisions in the revenue laws. Congress and the administration profess to a desire to cooperate with business. But the cooperation is very slow in taking shape in this as in other fields—Baltimore Sun.

Parliament in London received a petition signed by 804,000 housewives requesting that all taxes affecting consumers be removed. What a real job that would be!

When the president's reorganization bill comes up for action by the congress and its real purpose is made known it will be fought as bitterly as his scheme to pack the courts. BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

A prominent religious leader, who is supposed to know a great deal about the moral conditions of America, said recently that there are more women drunkards in this country than men drunkards. I go into all sections of this nation. This editorial is being written in a Los Angeles hotel. I have just crossed this continent aboard a modern railroad train. I noticed in the luxurious lounge car that while there were more men than women traveling, there were more women than men ordering alcoholic drinks. From what I have observed, I am convinced that this religious leader is correct in his statement. No nation ever went to hell until the women of the nation deteriorated morally. In the sight of God sin is sin, whether it is committed by man or woman. As far as world consequences are concerned, it is worse for women to drink than it is for men. What can you expect of a generation when mothers in the laboratory of their bodies mix cocktails with the milk which nourishes their babies, and while the baby is in the arms of the mother ashes are dropped from the mother's cigaret into the baby's face? No wonder the nation is becoming bankrupt morally! Women cannot live on the same plane with men. They are always better or worse than men. Woman was last at the cross and first at the open sepulchre. But it is probably historically true that the form of death by crucifixion was first hatched out in the brain of a degenerate woman. Back to God, American women! Back to old time womanly decency!

I am looking out of my hotel window at the chowded streets of the lovely city of Los Angeles. It is lovely —I mean the climate, I mean the clear sky and the bright sunshine. There are lovely people here, too. I suppose there are more orthodox Christians in this city than there are in any city of the same size in America. I am now preaching in a church that has 3,000 people who worship there every Sunday. I refer to the Church of the Open Door. Dr. Louis Talbot is the pastor. He is one of the most successful pastors and Bible teachers I have ever known. A few months ago I had the honor of conducting evangelistic services in Bob Shuler's church. He has a membership of almost 5,000. What a courageous servant of Christ he has been! No minister on the Pacific Coast weilds a greater influence politically or religiously than Shuler. He has been in many battles. He has enemies. All strong characters have enemies. But no mortal man has ever been able to smear the good name of Bob Shuler. What a tragedy of horrors it is for religious leaders to stand before the public when people generally know that they are not right morally! Thank God for men like Talbot and Shuler. We are not only indebted to these men because we are Christians, but unconverted men who love their country are under obligation to these servants of Christ. Our conditions are bad. Immorality is rampant and scandol is everywhere in this section. But there is one thing true about Los Angeles—there are many citizens here who will fight for the right. There is always hope as long as leaders have moral conviction. God give us grace to see that wickedness is black and righteousness is white. It is when black wickedness and white righteousness become a dull gray in the estimation of the public, that the doom of the nation is sealed.

MARINELAND IS INTERESTING

The only porpoise alive in captivity was captured last week by Wallace Caswell with the assistance of Herbert and Paul Capo, and Ray Hall, all of Marineland, St. Augustine, Fla. Weighing approximately 150 pounds, it was taken to Marineland and lowered into one of the large aquaria, which will not be formally opened until late spring or early summer.

Five penguins, two California sea lions, and two loggerhead turtles are also newcomers to Marine Studios' aquaria. Both the penguins, four of which came from Robbins Island, near the Cape of Good Hope, South Africa, and the other from off the Chilean coast of South Amercia, and the sea lions, are believed to be the only representatives of their species in the southeastern part of the United States. The loggerhead turtles, both weighing over 200 pounds, came from the Cayman Islands in the Carribean Sea.

Earlier in the week, excitement at Marineland reached its heighths when the female ground shark, which Bob Sabate, one of Marine Studios' workmen, had brought to the aquarium in the back seat of his car, gabe birth to nine offspring. Man has seldom, if ever before, been able to observe a shark give birth to its young under such normal conditions.

"Scientists and the average visitor," said Dr. Charles M. Breder, acting director of the New York aquarium, who was visiting officials of Marine Studios when the porpoise arrived, "should have a fine opportunity here at Marineland to study and record much valuable scientific data about sea life. For instance, I saw here at Marineland for the first time in my life a porpoise under water, and now have a far better idea how such mammals propel themselves than ever before."

Visitor: "What nice buttons you are sewing on your little boy's suit. My husband once had some like that on his suit."

Pastor's Wife: "Yes. I get all my buttons from the collection plate."

Prosperity must be returning:

IN MEMORY

On February 24, 1938, about 5:00 o'clock, Mrs. Sallie Rollins of Clanton, took her own life with a shotgun. She did it on account of ill health. Mrs. Rollins has been in ill health for several weeks, but she is resting with Jesus and His angels now.

She has many friends and relatives who hope to meet her up there some day. Mrs. Rollins has been living in this community for some time, and all who knew her, loved her.

She left a vacant place which no one can fill.

She leaves to mourn her death—her husband, A. M. Rollins and three children—Mrs. Tom Kemp of Clanton, Miss Nellie Rollins of Clanton, and Mr John Rollins of Thorsby; two sisters, Mrs. Maggie Foshee of Thorsby, and Mrs. Mattie Oats of Birmingham; three grand children and a host of friends and other relatives.

She was laid to rest in Liberty Hill cemetery. The funeral was conducted by Rev. Wm. E. Robinson, with Spigener in charge.

PROVIDENCE— BEAT 13

Next Sunday evening is our regular singing evening. We wish to give a special invitation to all singers and listeners.

Some of the people from this community attended the singing at Oak Grove Sunday evening. A fine singing was reported.

NOTICE TO NON-RESIDENT

The State of Alabama, Chilton County. Circuit Court in Equity. No. 1494. February, 1938. James Loomis Kelley, Complainant, vs. Helen Kelley, Defendant.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of Raymond Mims that the Defendant is a non-resident, and that her place of residence and post office address is unknown, and that such address cannot be ascertained after reasonable effort; and, further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the Defendant is of the age of twenty-one years:

It is therefore, ordered by the Register that publication be made in the Union-Banner, a newspaper published in the County of Chilton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring her, the said Helen Kelley, to plead, answer, or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 14th day of March, 1938, or, in thirty days thereafter, a degree pro confesso may be taken against her.

Done at office in Clanton, this 8th day of February, 1938.—SALLYE JOHNSON ROBERTS, Register. 2-10-4t-ch.

Reports from over Alabama indicate that the majority of the more than 250,000 farmers who produced cotton in 1937 will vote in the cotton referendum next Saturday. They will vote at about 1,500 voting places in the state. Farmers, themselves, will be in charge.

NEW OUTBREAK OF MEASLES REPORTED

There have been 35 new cases of measles reported to the county health department during last week, according to the latest news release from that source. This most recent outbreak occurred among the pupils of Oak Grove school north of Jemison. Practically all of the children enrolled who had never had measles were stricken last week after a case had developed in a new pupil recently moved from Birmingham, it was declared by Dr. S. D. Sturkie. It is feared, he said, that many cases might develop at Jemison school when it was learned that one of the cases had ridden the school bus to Jemison.

"Every possible precaution", he stated, "is being taken to prevent spread of this outbreak. All homes in which measles have been found have been placarded and all susceptible school children are being excluded from the school for a period of two weeks. Parents are being urged to consult their family physicians for immunization of small children who have been exposed. Usually, if either whole blood from the parents, or serum from a convalescent person, or immune globulin, which may be purchased from drug houses, is given during the first five days after exposure, the child may be temporarily protected from measles for a period of several weeks. If these agents are given on the 6th or 7th day, the child will have a modified, rather mild form of measles. The danger of bronchial pneumonia and inflammation of the ears, which occurs frequently in young children following measles, makes it highly desirable to postpone this childhood malady until the child is past 5 years of age."

AMERICAN LEGION POSTS

Indianapolis, Ind., March 7. — Unbeknown to a large part of the public, there exist today in thousands of communities in the United States, highly trained and marvelously efficient civilian organizations for emergency relief in time of disaster. They are the American Legion posts.

Thousands of Legion posts everywhere are organized to spring to action when a public calamity strikes. Whether it be an earthquake, a big fire, a tornado, a hurricane or flood, the American Legion's "minute men of peace" are ready for instant duty.

Every post organized for disaster relief has members who have advance instructions as to their duties, and who rush to their posts when the call of catastrophe comes. There are rescue units which are detailed to perform necessary life saving operations; transportation units which mobilize vehicles to carry rescuers to scenes of disasters and victims to hospitals; medical units which render first aid; and supply units whose job it is to prepare and distribute food for victims and relief workers, and to look after housing of victims. The post commander is in charge of the entire emergency relief organization.

Much Detailed Work

It requires detailed work to organize such a disaster relief service and keep it primed constantly in readiness for sudden summons. Every member's telephone number must be registered. Lists of automobile owners who are willing to donate the use of their cars must be prepared and kept up to date. Lists of truck owners must be available. Volunteer physicians and nurses must be registered. Sources of supplies must be listed. Camp sites must be projected. Mobilization must be held for all men from time to time.

I. W. Duggan has been appointed director of the Southern Division, AAA, and will direct the administration of the new farm program in the South. He is a native of Georgia, and knows agricultural conditions in the South.

METHODIST MISSIONARY CIRCLE HAD ITS MONTHLY MEETING

The Methodist Missionary Circle held its monthly business meeting at the parsonage Monday afternoon. The work of Methodist Missionary Circles in their home communities, was the topic of the program which had been well planned by Mrs. Ernest Grant. She opened the meeting with a meditation. The Scripture was read by Mrs. Davis. Mrs. Ira Smith read an artirle telling the fine work being done in the Bethsalem settlement. Mrs. Foss and Mrs. Diefenderfer gave a dialogue, "A Discussion in a Beauty Parlor."

Mrs. Arant's illustration of the social service work being done in the different states by our missionary circle was an inspiration and a challenge to all present. Some of the projects are negro clinics: "A Day Nursery for Colored Children," "Work Done in Cooperation with the W. P. A.," "The Aiding of County Nurses," "The Establishment of Juvenile Courts."

Mrs. Arant is chairman of our Social Service Committee and is planning a community project for the circles. If other circles can accomplish such fine onstructive work, we cannot afford to overlook the many opportunities in our own town to follow their example.

After a prayer by Mrs. Gore, the meeting was turned over to the president, Mrs. Sophia Jones, who called for reports from the different communities.

The committee in charge of the making of a chart for the checking of points earned by the individual circles explained the excellent chart they had made. Here is a copy:

Activities, attendance, 1 point per member, per meeting.

Zone meeting, 10 points per member.

Program, 5 points per member.

Pledges, conference, parsonage, Circle, 1 point per member.

Octagon wrappers per 100, 5 points per member.

World Outlook, 5 points per member.

New members, 1 point per member.

Mission Study, 10 points per member.

Social Service, 10 points per member.

Flowers in Church, 5 points per member.

Publicity in Circles, 5 points per member.

The circle having the most points at the end of the quarter will win $1, to be given by the losing circles.

The parsonage committee wish to thank every one who contributed shrubbery for landscaping the parsonage. They asked that we all save papers and magazines, tie them and deliver them to the church.

Alred Drug Company has offered to give us all their old magazines each week. Mrs. Arant was appointed as our delegate to the Alabama Methodist Conference to be held at De Funiak Springs, Fla., from March 29, to April 1st.

Circle No. 1 reported that they are giving a "White Elephant Party" on March 18th at the home of Mrs. Diefenderfer. Each person brings one article well wrapped and is expected to buy one of the "White Elephants." There are to be a program and refreshments.

Circle No. 2 reported that they are working on the cooking school. Circle No. 1 and 2 are serving the Pilot Club in March to earn money for the church.

The Clara Mullins Circle reported that Mrs. Clara Mullins had given them a crocheted spread, on which they are selling chances.

The three circles are to serve the Pilot Club in April to earn money to buy new glassware and dishes needed by the church.

It was voted to discontinue the programs at these business meetings as they make the meetings so long. The same programs are to be given on the second Monday at each circle meeting.

Mrs. Gore, Mrs. White and Mrs. Lawrence form a committee to plan a barbecue for the 4th of July.

There were four members present from the Clara Mullins circle, 11 from Circle No. 1 and ten from Circle No. 2.—Mrs. John W. Powers, Jr., Publicity Chairman.

CEDAR GROVE SOCIAL CLUB

The Cedar Grove Social Club met at the home of Mrs. Dewey Collins on February 12. We had a grand meeting, and some good eats, too.

Our next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. B. C. Thomas on March 12 at 2 o'clock. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.—Oma Lee Pounds, reporter.

Important vegetables to plant in Alabama during March are: bush beans, onions, radishes, beets, cabbage, tendergreens, New Zealand spinach, carrots, tomatoes, mustard, lettuce, sweet corn, peppers, English peas, potatoes, egg plants, and pole beans.

Has President Dropped His Plans For Reforms?

New Deal's Fifth Birthday Finds It In Retreat On Many Fronts

Washington, March 7. — President Roosevelt observed the fifth anniversary of his inauguration today with the New Deal in retreat.

Recovery is considered the vital political and economic necessity now and reform appears to be in temporary eclipse.

The steepest decline in business activity in the nation's history took place last Autumn.

Congress has broken the President's grip on legislation and is balking at reforms promised by Mr. Roosevelt in the 1936 campaign.

Year's Highlights

Notable in the fifth year of Roosevelt were:

1. Congressional rebellion against wage and hours legislation and defeat of the Administration's judiciary reorganization bill.

2. A trial balloon test of sentiment on entangling foreign alliances undertaken in a Chicago speech in which Mr. Roosevelt suggested that outlaw nations should be quarantined.

3. Nomination of Senator Hugo L. Black (D., Ala.), a former member of the Ku Klux Klan, to the Supreme Court and the beginning of New Deal peace with the high tribunal.

4. The depression-recession.

5. Mr. Roosevelt's call for congressional approval of a $1,000,000,000 emergency national defense fund.

6. A special Autumn session of Congress which refused to enact Mr. Roosevelt's program.

National Income Soars

Vital New Deal statistics dealing with Government finance and business activity in five years reveal a tremendous increase in the national income under Roosevelt policies but no progress toward permanent solution of the problem of the unemployed.

Outstanding in record of New Deal years are:

1. National income, the net profit on all productive activity, increased from $39,545,000,000 in 1932 to approximately $69,000,000,000 in 1937.

2. Up to March 1, Government expenditures under Mr. Roosevelt exceeded Government revenue by approximately $15,000,000,000 and the national debt increased from $22,538,000,000 to $37,685,000,000.

3. Unemployment, estimated at 15,000,000 persons when Mr. Roosevelt took office, fell to 7,500,000 last September but probably exceeds 10,000,000 today.

Party Front Weakened

The New Deal Democratic Party which returned Mr. Roosevelt to office in 1936 with the electoral votes of all but two states is an infirm structure today although there is no demonstratable proof that Mr. Roosevelt has become a minority leader.

Some observers believe now that one of the greatest factors of Roosevelt political strength is that no compellingly attractive individual has appeared from within the ranks of his own party or elsewhere to lead the potential opposition.

It is known that Mr. Roosevelt is receiving conflicting advice. Some of his congressional leaders believe reform has been abandoned for the time being and that Mr. Roosevelt will not insist that his Congress enact even the wage and hour bill.

Reform Abandoned?

It would be hazardous to assert that reform had been abandoned, because Mr. Roosevelt's prior tactics with Congress have had a large admixture of surprise.

But the President's willingness to permit Congress to revise his corporation surplus and capital gains taxes and the certainty that he must be satisfied, at most, with a much modified version of wage-hours legislation is sufficient evidence that the New Deal is retreating for the time being and hoping that the economic skies will clear.

SAFE DRIVER AWARD

The majority of insured motorists in Clanton and Chilton County are expected to earn the Safe Driver Award of 15 per cent of a year's liability premium, amounting to $6.75 on a standard limits policy, according to a survey made by the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters.

Since rates are the same as last year, the rewards will mean an actual reduction of $6.75 in cost of insurance for safe drivers.

If national averages hold in this territory, the survey pointed out, 88 out of 100 insured motorists will make these savings.

"For many years there has been a great need for a direct, individual appeal to the motorist to drive safely and we believe that the Safe Driver Reward Plan has that appeal," said William Leslie, general manager of the National Bureau.

PUBLIC DEBT REACHES ANOTHER NEW RECORD

Washington, March 7.—The public debt touched a new record high February 25, the Treasury statement disclosed today.

On that day, the Government's indebtedness touched $37,632,120,451. In his January budget, President Roosevelt estimated that the public debt would approximate $37,603,646,918 at the end of the 1938 fiscal year, which terminates June 30.

The debt has been moving upward during the last several weeks because of baby bond sales and transfers to special trust accounts such as the old age reserve and railroad retirement funds, which necessitates the issuance of special Treasury obligations.

Miss Mildred Simon, home demonstration agent of Macon County, has been named nutritionist of the Alabama Extension Service to work with county home demonstration agents all over Alabama. She succeeds Helen Kennedy, resigned.

TAXPAYERS ASSOCIATION

Birmingham, Ala., Mar. 7.—The Consumers Taxpayers Association of Alabama has announced that questionaires calling on candidates to state just exactly where they stand on certain pertinent issues in the campaign, have been mailed to all candidates who have qualified for state offices. The association states that signed questionnaires are rapidly coming in from candidates in all the counties.

The association, in the questionnaire, called upon candidates to state their position on such questions as an adequate report on the part of public officials with reference to salaries, expense account expenditures and money received, consolidation of state, county and municipal offices "where practical", continuation of the consumers sales tax after its expiration, parity for schools, elimination of the spoils system and the pernicious parole system, reduction of automobile license tags and similar issues.

One pertinent question asked:

"What do you consider your qualifications for office? This association would appreciate any information as to your personal history that would be informative as to your ability as a public servant."

The association requests candidates to return their signed questionnaires to the Birmingham association headquarters and to their respective county taxpayers committees before March 15 in order that the county groups may meet and discuss the qualifications of candidates for the legislature and other state offices.

A statewide meeting for the purpose of discussing the qualifications of all candidates for state offices including governor, lieutenant-governor and the legislature, will be held on March 24 at which time committees from each of the 67 counties will be present.

Over 700 candidates have qualified for the various state offices.

VETERAN REGISTRATION FOR EMPLOYMENT

A concerted effort is being made to have all unemployed veterans seeking employment, register with the nearest office of the U. S. Employment Service or State Employment Service during March, 1938. Such registration carries no promise of a job but assures the veteran of assistance in securing employment. The Veterans Administration desires to fully cooperate with this program, and through the means of this notice seeks your cooperation in advising known unemployed veterans to register. Field offices of the Veterans Administration and the local posts of any ex-service organization can furnish information as to the location of the nearest public unemployment office. If any veteran is unemployed, it will be to his advantage to register.—Administrator of Veterans Affairs.

SINGING AT CHESTNUT CREEK CHURCH LAST SUNDAY P. M.

The singing at Chestnut Creek last Sunday was a grand success. The weather was good; we had directors from almost all parts of the county. We also had a house full of listeners who seemed to enjoy the singing very much. The books were new but the people did some good singing anyway.

Mr. A. O. Boswell sung the opening song, followed by prayer by D. S. Robinson. Mr. A. O. Boswell was elected chairman for the evening with the following directors: O. L. Devaughn, T. E. Wyatt, Marion Easterling, Archie Devaughn, L. T. Grant, Jessie Jones, Emmett Wilson, Lee J. Grant, Ralph D. Grant, Audie Brown. M. Lockhart, L. D. Hughes, Duell Jones and Orene Wyatt.

We were favored with a piano solo by Mr. J. Leslie Hall, of New York, which everybody enjoyed immensely. There were also three quartets and one octet.

Pianists for the afternoon were: Mr. Ralph D. Grant, Lee J. Grant and Marion Easterling. The closing song were sung by A. O. Boswell, followed by prayer by M.Lockhart.

USED CAR EXCHANGE WEEK

The entire force of the Chevrolet dealers in the Clanton area has been mustered to make the National Used Car Exchange Week a success, W. E. Holler, general sales manager, announced in Detroit as the campaign was launched by the automobile manufacturers and dealers of the nation.

"Tangible results of far reaching consequence will be achieved by the drive to attract the attention of buyers to the transportation values in the used car market," said Holler.

"It will help to get the unsafe cars of old vintage off the streets where they are a hindrance to orderly traffic and a menace to safety. Many of the owners of worn out cars will see that they can buy a good used car at bargain prices and free themselves from the fear of bad brakes, deteriorated electric systems that make night driving a hazard, worn steering apparatus that has no place upon the traffic lanes of city or country and poor mechanical performance that annoys the owner and jeopardizes the safety of both pedestrians and other drivers.

"National Used Car Week will stimulate the automobile business for it is a foregone conclusion that thousands of used cars will be sold by the dealers and this will lessen the jam that has been halting the manufacture and sale of new cars. It is eviomatic that if a dealer has too many used cars he cannot adequately handle the new car business."

The cooperation of public officials, safety organization leaders and newspapers in supporting the National Used Car Exchange Week was characterized by Holler as an expression of civic spirit of a high order that will help both dealers and manufacturers in their efforts to return the automobile industry to a more normal field of employment and purchasing.

FLYING CADET EXAMINATION

Honorable Pete Jarman, United States Representative from the Sixth District of Alabama, announced in Washington March 9, 1938, that flying cadet examinations will be given during March, April and May, to qualify candidates for the Army's Flying School.

The Army Corps has enough vacancies to accept every young man who can meet the requirements. All expenses to and from the flying school are paid by the Government. While undergoing training, each candidate receives his clothes, food, room and $75 per month.

Representative Jarman encourages every young man in Alabama, particularly those who reside in the Sixth Congressional District, who can meet these requirements and desires to have his application considered to write to Major James M. Garrett, Jr., F. A., Montgomery, Ala.

YES, that's what we like to call ourselves because it's just eighty-eight years ago that we moved in. We bought some property then, laid some rails, and did some building here, and since that time we've seen a lot of changes—seen a lot of new faces come to town. In fact, we brought a lot of them in ourselves.

We feel proud that we've played an important part in the development here. We've paid our taxes every year . . . over $7,000,000 last year, much of this to help maintain schools, highways and governmental activities. We furnished employment to 27,000 people, whose wages totaled up to $45,000,000. And every year we've been providing "Old Reliable" friendly freight and passenger service.

It would be nice to stay and chat awhile over old times, neighbor. We'd have a lot to talk about. But there isn't time. You're busy and so are we . . . on our second eighty-eight years.

Hear the actual sound of the Pan-American. Tune in WSM, 650 kilocycles, 5:08 P. M. every week day.

Mrs. Omar Reynolds Entertains Wednesday Card Club—

Members of the Wednesday Card Club were delightfully entertained last week by Mrs. Omar L. Reynolds at 2:30 o'clock.

The spacious living room in which the bridge tables were arranged was effectively decorated with flowers of the season.

After a series of bridge games high score prize was awarded Mrs. John Deramus.

A delicious salad plate with hot coffee was served at a late hour to the following guests: Mesdames Grady Reynolds, John Armstrong, John Deramus, Jim Wood, Arthur Johnson, J. C. Burnett, Hugh Simpson, N. S. Johnson, J. Lee Smith, Frank Scott, J. C. Page, Claudie Pipes; and Miss Mary Heard.

Clanton Study Club Accomplished Many Objectives In 1937-1938—

At the March meeting of the Clanton Study Club the annual report was read by Mrs. Willie Higgins Reynolds. This report summarized the accomplishments of the Club, among which were the following objectives: Establishment of a public library, help for underprivileged children, the crepe myrtle trail, bird protection, sale of blind made goods, commemoration of Constitution Day, observance of Alabama Day, and others, all of which are of more than passing interest to the general public.

Mrs. J. Watts Moore Hostess To Clanton Study Club—

Mrs. J. Watts Moore entertained members of the Clanton Study Club at her home on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Beautiful baskets and vases of spring flowers added to the attractiveness of the home.

The meeting was called ot order by the president, Mrs. Joe Mullins. During the business meeting a most interesting report on the year's work was given by Mrs. Omar L. Reynolds.

The nominating committee presented the following names, which were elected by the Club to serve as officials for 1938-1939: Mrs. Horton Walker, president; Mrs. J. W. Hayes, vice president; Mrs. J. P. Hayes, secretary; Mrs. Grady Heflin, secretary.

An interesting program on "The 150th Anniversary of the Constitution" was enjoyed.

At a late hour the hostess, assisted by her sister, Mrs. John Deramus, served a tempting salad plate with hot coffee to the following members and guests: Mesdames J. E. Gowan, J. P. Hayes, Grady Heflin, N. S. Johnson, M. F. Jones, Joe Mullins, John Mullins, Renfro Mullins, Omar Reynolds, Barney Roberts, L. C. Ross, Horton Walker, Horsley White, Frank Scott, John Deramus.

Miss Lucile Sherwood spent the week end at her home in Brundidge.

Mr. and Mrs. John McSwean and little son, Johnny, spent the week end in Glenwood and Brantley with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. John Mullins spent the week end in Mobile.

Mr. G. D. Broadhead and son, Hal, of Montgomery, were business visitors here Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Reynolds spent Sunday as the guests of their sons, Grady, Jr., and Morgan, who are students at the University of Alabama. Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds were dinner guests at the SAE fraternity house.

Mrs. John McSwean, Mrs. Hugh Jones, Mrs. Dubb Huddleston, Helen Hayes, and Johnny McSwean spent Saturday in Montgomery.

Mrs. George McCain returned last week from St. Margaret's hospital in Montgomery, where she was confined for several weeks. She is improving rapidly since returning to her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Osmond Middleton of Montgomery spent Sunday here with friends and relatives.

Miss Ruth Sessions spent the week end with friends in Sylacauga.

Mr. and Mrs. Horsley White motored to Montgomery and spent Sunday afternoon with friends.

Mr. Alex Hayes, a student at the University of Alabama, spent the week end at Hayes camp on Coosa River. He had as his guests for the week end: Jesse Frank Foshee, Mr. Stallworth, Coach Hal Drew, and Prof. Smitz, all of the University of Alabama.

Miss Nell Kennedy of Opelika was the week end guest of Miss Margaret Floyd.

Mrs. Horsley White, Mrs. George Rasberry, Mrs. Charles Rasberry, Mrs. Buster Sexton. and Miss Essie White spent last Monday in Montgomery.

Mr. James Wade left this week for a few days in Ft. Myers, Fla. He will be accompanied home by Mrs. Wade and Mrs. Hance Alred, who have been spending several weeks in Ft. Myers with Mr. and Mrs. J. Q. Wade and friends.

Among the Clanton spectators who enjoyed the basket ball game in Selma Saturday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Searcy, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mims, Dutch Nivens, Wash Jones, Sie Foshee, Dick Hayes, Earl Reeves, Luther Foshee, J. E. Easterling, Doodle Gore, Durwood Robinson, and Raymond Mims.

Mr. Lee Dodson of Montgomery was in Clanton on business Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. Pierson of Montgomery spent Thursday in Clanton.

Miss Nolen Meroney was a business visitor in Birmingham Tuesday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Hart and little son, Eric, Jr., of Greenville, were the week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Varnell.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Mullins and Sue and Clifford, Jr., of Tuscaloosa, were the week end guests of friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hollis and daughters, Dean nad Bettye, spent the week end in Gadsden.

Mr. J. W. Hayes spent last Monday in Greenville on business.

Mr. Jesse Hall Colley of Howard College spent the week end here as teh guest of Mr. and Mrs. Reese Mullins.

Mt. Pleasant "Jackets" Had Successful Year

Curlee's Team Has Met All Comers; Won 16, Lost 1; 32 Point Game Average

Coach Burt Curlee and his hustling Yellow Jackets from Mt. Pleasant Junior High School can, with the closing of the 1938 basketball season, hang up their uniforms, and look back upon another most satisfactory year's record. The boys have had basketball drilled into their very bones—they eat and sleep with it on their minds—and the season's record of 16 victories and 1 lone defeat (that by a 2-point margin) — this is mute evidence of the result Coach Curlee's system has achieved.

In winning 16 out of 17 this season, the Jackets have hit the net for 545 points, an average of 32 per game, while holding all opponents to a total of 184, or 11 per game.

Leading the parade has been Johnson with 133 points, Jones with 108, and Daniel with 87. Luke ("Speedy") Chambers, midget substitute, has scored 61 points—not bad for a sub.

Shifting to the opposite side of the Jacket record sheet, we find that during the play in the recent tournament, the Jacket guards were in there doing yeoman duty. Collins allowed only 2 points scored on him, and they were from foul shots, with no sign of field goal against his record on defense; Price, his running mate, allowed only 7 points scored on him. That's guard work any coach can be satisfied with and proud to boast of.

Jones made several spectacular shots during the tournament. As has been the Jacket custom during the whole season, they rode the backboards like bronco busters, and therein lies a great part of the reason for their enviable season's record. Those Jackets shoot, follow in, get the ball and shoot again—they keep that up until the goal is made—seldom do they carry the ball in and lose it without a counter to show for it.

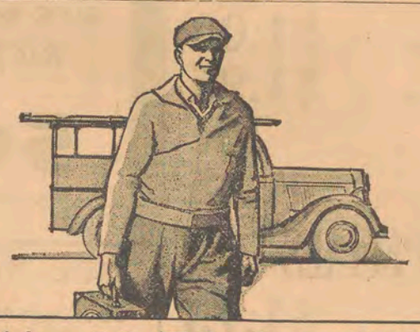
Their defense has been tight, as the record shows; 22 points is the top score against them in any one game, while they scored 47 points on two occasions.

Jake Chambers took scoring honors among the Jackets in the tournament with 14 points during one half's play, against Concord. The team scored 143 points in 4 games in the tournament, against 41 for their apponents.

Coach Curlee's 1937 team won 25 straight, with this year's smaller team keeping the slate clean but for one blot, to give Burt a two-season record of 41 out of 42—a good record in any company.

This year the Jackets have won from Thorsby 3 times while losing 1, have beaten Baker 2, Concord 4, Vermont 2, Collins Chapel 3, Montevallo 1, and Enterprise 1.

We believe Chilton County has one of the best junior high basketball loops to be found anywhere. True, there are some teams which are much stronger than others, for various reasons. Some schools may not be blessed with as good coaches as others; in that case, they are due much praise for even a moderately good record. In some cases, no doubt, the material at some of the schools has been better than at others. Another thing, injuries may have hurt what otherwise would have been grand chances for some of the teams. But fans understand all those things, and they like to see the little ones in there trying, even while losing, fully as much as they do the winners.



So, we salute the fine teams that go to make up the Chilton loop. We respect and admire those little fellows who stay in and fight back, sometimes in the face of sure defeat. Basketball instills into those boys a will to fight their obstacles, which will prove valuable in years to come, when their more serious obstacles in life befall them. Everyone loves a fighter, and while it is only human nature to want to win, yet it will not hurt the boys one whit if they lose once in a while. That is training of another kind, too—training they will need badly. Those boys are to be the men of tomorrow, and the trials and pitfalls they experience and conquer now is training for them when that day shall come, and basketball will have had its part in the worthy undertaking of "making" men.

FOR COTTON PROGRAM

Editor Union-Banner:

I notice the farmers in Alabama will vote either for or against the new farm bill next Saturday, March 12. I hope that every farmer in the county will vote for this bill. In fact, it seems to me that it is he best thing for the farmers in our state. If one-third of the farmers vote "no", I would ask you what would you have to regulate the farm business for 1938? We have 25 million bales of cotton on hand now—enough to supply our demands for two years—and the above farm bill is the only means we have to regulate our production for 1938.—Respectfully, L. H. Reynolds.

Mail franked by members of congress last year cost the government $645,000, and that mailed free by the departments other than the post office department, would have cost $10,402,000.

HIS Aim IS TO Serve YOU

As a telephone installer and repairman, he knows that the less you need him, the more satisfaction you get from your dependable telephone service.

He wages a battle with sleet, rain and wind, as well as with lesser troubles, such as carelessness in leaving the receiver off the hook which may require a personal visit by him.

He is winning his battles, too, for back of him in the constant effort to make your service more and more free from imperfections, errors and delays are the scientists in the Bell Telephone Laboratories who contribute the research; the Western Electric Company, which makes and distributes high quality, standardized equipment; and the training activities of his own group, which helps him to be more expert and efficient on the job.

It is a man-sized job. There were 1,079,692 Southern Bell telephones in service at the end of 1937. But they didn't all "stay put," for installers connected 236,788, disconnected 159,284, and moved 106,512, this latter step requiring both a "connect" and "disconnect" operation.

Learning to do a constantly improving job is the aim of the installer and repairman, which is in harmony with the Bell System's desire to give the most telephone service and the best, at the least cost consistent with financial safety.

NATIONAL USED CAR EXCHANGE WEEK SET

March 5 To 12 Is Time Set For Specials By All Dealers

"Buy a car now—while you have more to trade and less to pay." This is the slogan for National Used Car Exchange Week, March 5 to 12. All car dealers are displaying this sign. During this period, used cars are far below what they were selling at several months ago. There are many late models, backed by dealer guarantees. The Clanton dealers invite you to "Bring in your old car and drive out a better car on easy terms."

This exchange week is put on jointly by all of the leading automobile manufacturers of the country, and an enormous amount of money is being spent to advertise he event. This expense is born by the manufacturers, and is sponsored by the dealers and manufacturers. It might be worth your investigation.

SCHOOL MEETING TO BE HELD AT FAIRVIEW FRIDAY NIGHT

Movement On To Consolidate With Popwell, Shiloh, And Culp Schools

There will be a school meeting at Fairview schoolhouse on Friday night of this week, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

The purpose of the meeting is to discuss the advisability of consolidating this school with Popwell, Shiloh and Culp schools, and the erection of a new, modern building. The principal speaker for the occasion will be Prof. Luther E. Little, county superintendent of education.

The trustees of the different communities are expected to attend; all who are interested are invited.

WORLD COTTON SITUATION DESCRIBED BY RANDOLPH

Auburn, Ala. — Facts on the present world cotton situation are extremely important to the cotton producers of Alabama in view of the marketing quota provisions of the 1938 farm adjustment act, according to Walter L. Randolph, state administrative officer of the Triple-A.

Marketing quotas will apply to the 1938 cotton crop if approved by two-thirds of the producers voting in a referendum on March 12. The national allotment in connection with quotas would be about 26,300,000 acres, which, at normal yields, would prduce a crop of about 10,730,000 bales.

"The 1937-38 world supply of cotton is more than 50 million bales, the largest on record," Mr. Randolph said. "The 1937 American crop of 18,700,000 bales was the largest on record. The current year's supply of American cotton has been exceeded only twice before, and even if the 1938 crop should be 4 million bales less than last year's crop, the 1938-39 supply of American cotton would be the greatest in history.

"These facts indicate the pressing need for acreage adjustment in 1938 in order to bring the amount of cotton on hand down to a more reasonable level."

Pointing out six ways in which the new farm act affects cotton producers, Mr. Randolph said:

"First, the new adjustment act gives farmers an opportunity to vote in a referendum on cotton marketing quotas on March 12.

"Second, each cotton farm will have a cotton acreage allotment.

"Third, if cotton marketing quotas are approved, the quota will be the actual or normal production on the acreage allotment, whichever is the greater, and growers may sell without penalty all the cotton produced on the allotted acres.

"Fourth, producers will continue to receive payments for compliance with the Agricultural Conservation Program.

'Fifth, planting within their acreage allottment will qualify farmers for cotton price adjustment payments on the eligible part of their 1937 cotton.

"Sixth, if marketing quotas are approved and the producer plants within his acreage allotment, he may receive any loans that may be authorized on the 1938 crop."

TON LITTER HOG SHOW AND SALE

The annual hog show and sale is to be held in Montgomery again this year, September 15 and 16.

The only ones eligible to take part in this show and sale are: all farmers in Alabama, all 4-H Club members, and all F. F. A. members.

The purpose of the show and sale is to promote the proper feeding and management of hogs on the farm and for the market.

The main purpose of the state show is to provide a market for the litters at prices in line with their value. The packers have given their cooperation and are promising to give Chicago market prices for all hogs that qualify on the day of the sale.

What one has to do to qualify:

1. Notify B. N. Ivey, Assistant County Agent, or J. W. Fant, County Agent, or either of the three vocational teachers, as follows: Mr. Jackson, Clanton, Ala.; Mr. Denson, Jemison; or Mr. Holmes, R 1, Maplesville. At this time you will be given a blank to fill out.

2. Litters must be farrowed after February 15.

3. Feed records must be kept on the sow and pigs until weaning date, and on the pigs until date of sale.

4. Litters to qualify must weigh a minimum of 1,200 pounds.

Those who enter and fill out application blanks will receive instructions on feeding and management, and will be visited by one of the above named people.

For further information call at the county agent's office, or on your vocational teacher.—B. N. Ivey, Assistant County Agent in 4-H Club Work.

NEGRO P.-T. A. TO MEET

The Chilton County colored P.-T. A. will hold its annual session at the County Training School Friday, March 18. The public is invited. — Leila C. Wood, president; Mattie B. Wilson, secretary.

OUR MISSIONARY IN THE FAR EAST

It was the teaching of Jesus that the kingdom must be preached to all the world and to all nations. We are thankful that Chilton County and the Southern Baptists are to some extent complying with this command of the Savior. We are glad that we have a man who is willing to leave his family and friends and go thousands of miles into the war-torn world to preach the tidings of Christianity; we are speaking of our good friend and Chilton County product, Dr. J. Toy Williams. We are all proud of the sacrifices he is making and of the great work that he is engaged in.

It fills our hearts with joy to know that we have a part in sending the Gospel to the dark corners of the world and that Chilton County is so nobly represented there. We are praying, and asking others to pray for our own beloved missionary to China.—H. F. McCary.

"LINDY LOU"

On Friday night, April 1, 1938, the Junior Class of Verbena High School will present "Lindy Lou" in the high school auditorium.

Your interest will be held during the entire play as you watch Lawrence Howard as Timothy Tweedsome. Having made his millions in the tobacco fields of the South, he decides to spend it on the shores of Long Island. Helen Patterson as Lindy Lou Evans, his lovely niece from the dear old Southland; Herman Connell as Wick Barry—all-American quarterback at Pennsylvania, but not backward in love, and other members of the class in this thrilling drama.

COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION HERE SECOND SUNDAY APRIL

Prof. W. M. Devaughn, chairman, and T. E. Wyatt, secretary, announce that the spring session of the Chilton County Singing Convention will be held at the courthouse in Clanton the second Sunday in April, and Saturday night before. All singers everywhere are asked to make note of the date and arrange to attend. There will be further announcement later.

YOUNG MEN JAILED FOR COW RUSTLING

Beef Peddlers Aroused Suspicion; Being Held Pending Further Investigation

Three young men, Grady Mauldin, Huey Willis and J. W. Driver, ages about 20 years, all of Clanton, are in jail here, held as suspects of stealing a yearling, butchering it and trying to peddle it as beef last Monday morning.

The sheriff's office here was notified from Maplesville that three young men were out there trying to sell beef, and that it was believed it was stolen. Officers responded and arrested the young men at Thorsby. The boys told the officers that they got the yearling at a certain place in West Chilton or Bibb county, but investigation revealed that to be misleading.

The boys were driving a Ford Model A roadster, supposed to belong to the Mauldin boy. The boys told the officers that they bought the yearling near Randolph and that they skinned it 12 miles above Jemison.

There had been a total of 13 arrests made by officers here up to Monday morning of this week. They were: grand larceny, 2, colored; burglary, 1, white; driving while intoxicated, 1 colored and 3 whites; public drunkenness, 1 colored and 2 whites; violating prohibition law, 2 whites; improper tag, 1 white.

IMPROVED COTTON SEED MAKES AN EXCELLENT TURN-OUT

The Delta and Pine Land Company, of Scott, Miss., is said to be the world's largest producers of cotton. Plant breeders on this great farm are ever striving to improve D. P. L. cotton, and their marvelous success is shown by improvements made during the last ten years.

The D. P. L. No. 8, which was grown ten years ago, was a good yielder, with one-inch staple, and required 1,400 pounds of seed cotton to yield a 500-pound bale.

D. P. L. No. 11-A, which is the latest development, is a good yielder with one-inch staple. This new development requires but 1,150 to 1,200 pounds of seed cotton to yield a bale. Such a turn-out was derived by farmers in Chilton County last year. Seed may be purchased from H. S. Shaw, Clanton, Ala.

TO OPEN NEW GROCERY STORE HERE IN NEAR FUTURE

Clanton is to have a brand new grocery store and market in the near future. The owner of the new business is to be Mr. Clyde Mims, and the location is the place just vacated by Western Auto Supply Company. It will be called Clyde Mims Grocery Company.

In announcing that he will be open for business the first of next week, Mr. Mims says that he is going to operate a first class grocery store and complete market. The latter will be in charge of Mr. Willie L. Mims, who is well experienced in that line of work. Mostly fancy western meats will be handled. A complete line of "Happy" feeds will be carried in the new store, Mr. Mims announces.

Although the place will be open for business the first of next week, the formal opening date has been set at Saturday, April 2nd. The personnel of the business has not been determined completely as yet.

NATIONAL AIR MAIL WEEK

Second Assistant Postmaster General Harllee Branch announced this week that he Post Office Department will celebrate the 20th anniversary of the inauguration of regular air mail service by observing the first National Air Mail Week from May 15 to May 21, 1938. Postmaster General James A. Farley will be honorary chairman of the committee which will arrange for fitting observation. Paul R. Younts, postmaster at Charlotte, N. C., will be active chairman of the campaign.

W. Cooper Green, postmaster at Birmingham, will be state chairman for Alabama.

An official cachet will be authorized at Kitty Hawk, N. C., the birthplace of aviation, to honor the Wright Brothers. Every other post office in the United States, of which there are over 45,000, will be authorized to arrange for its own local cachet.

Thousands of privately licensed pilots will be given the opportunity of becoming air mail pilots for a day to fly the mail from interior offices to air mail stop points.

MRS. REBECCA ANN WYATT DIED TUESDAY AFTERNOON

Mrs. Rebecca Ann Wyatt, age 78, died at her home in Clanton Tuesday afternoon at 4:45 o'clock, following an illness of several weeks. Burial was at Concord Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, services conducted by Dr. S. J. Ezell; Martin & Sons directed.

Surviving are two brothers—E. H. Parrish and Tom Parrish; three sisters—Mrs. Mahala Robinson, Mrs. Matt Mims, and Mrs. Mary Powell of Blocton, Ala. There are five sons—Monroe, Will H., Ruben E., George A., and J. Mack. There are two daughters—Mrs. Dorenda Armstrong and Mrs. Mahala Cox.

NOTICE UNITY - CHILTON ASSOCIATIONAL LEADERS

Drs. Gwaltney and Colley wish to meet the leaders of the two associations at a banquet to be held at the Clanton Baptist church next Tuesday night a 7 o'clock. The plate is free to all who attend, and who send in their names to S. J. Ezell, Clanton, by Monday, March 21st, so that a plate may be prepared for each one who attends.

The following are asked to attend: All pastors, Sunday school superintendents, associational superintendents, missionary society superintendents, moderators, and orphanage representatives of each church and association. All pastors will please see that their above mentioned parties atend, and send me the number from your church at your earliest convenience. Do not fail to drop me a postal card if you can attend whether you see your pastor or not.—S. J. Ezell.

DIXIE CAFE HAS CHANGED HANDS

We are advised that the well known Dixie Cafe has changed hands again, this time back to L. D. (DeWitt) Easterling, who has managed the Dixie in the past. Heretofore ownership has been a partnership between DeWitt Easterling and Adolphus Moatts. The dissolution of partnership came on February 28, when Mr. Easterling purchased the Moatts interest and became sole owner of the Dixie.

The Dixie Cafe is well known to travelers all over the state, and even beyond Alabama, and carries an enviable reputation, built up over a number of years by providing courteous service of good food at moderate price.

HOMEMAKERS CLASS TO MEET

The Homemakers Class of Clanton Baptist Sunday school will meet in regular monthly session at the home of Mrs. Mary Burnett Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Co-hostesses are: Mary Heflin, Grace Littlejohn, Mattie Calloway, Sarah Cox Jones, and Rita Arant.

The program committee is: Essie Walker, Mayme Parrish, Gertrude Nivens, and Myrtle Williams.

The quilt which has been made by the class will be awarded at this meeting.

BILLINGSLEY STORE TO HOLD OPENING

Dealers In Kelvinator, Maytag, Electrolux Appliances; Full Firestone Line

Billingsley Service Store, Clanton's newest business, will formally open their appliance department on March 24, 25 and 26. Billingsley has been appointed exclusive dealers for the world famous Kelvinator line of appliances that covers every electric appliance for the home.

Also, Billingsley Service Store will handle all Firestone tires and automobile supplies, Maytag washing machines, and Servel Electrolux oil-burning refrigerators.

During the opening, Mrs. Erline Hubbard, Kelvinator home economist, will come here from Detroit to demonstrate the new 1938 Kelvinator refrigerators, ranges and hot water heaters. Mrs. Hubbard will also be glad to discuss the problems of the home with any of the local users of electric appliances and advise them of the many ways that they can save with electricity.

During the opening, refreshments will be served to all who visit the show rooms, and special demonstrations in cooking will be held.

Billingsley Service Store is the only complete electric appliance store in Chilton County, and in obtaining the Kelvinator line have placed themselves in position to offer the citizens of the county the oldest electric appliances in the industry, as well as the leaders; there are more Kelvinators in use in Clanton and Alabama than any other electric refrigerator.

During the opening, Mr. Billingsley will also have several officials of the Kelvinator factory on hand, as well as representatives of McDavid & Co., Birmingham, state distributors, Mr. J. B. Johnson, district manager for Kelvinator, J. W. Whatley of McDavid & Co., and B. C. McCoy of the same company.

Everyone is invited to visit this display during these three days and see for themselves the modern things in appliances.

STRAWBERRIES

Conditions reported to the Bureau of Agricultural Economics from the early States (Alabama, Florida, Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas) on March 1 indicate a good crop of strawberries this year, with an average yield per acre above both that of last year and the 10-year average (1923-32) yield. With an increase of 10 per cent in acreage, and the higher indicated yield per acre, production is expected to be about 16 per cent larger than it was in 1937, or 2,764,000 crates (24 quarts) compared with 2,388,000 crates last year.

NOTE, METHODIST PROTESTANTS!

To all auxiliaries in Clanton, Chilton and Verbena circuits of the Methodist Protestant church:

The last district meeting before the branch meeting will be held at Walnut Creek church next Sunday, March 20, at 1:30. Please attend.

NEW DEAL HAS SEEN ITS BEST DAYS!

[AN EDITORIAL]

"The New Deal is not dead. It has seen its best days, but it is not dead."—Montgomery Advertiser.

No one could scarcely deduct that The Union-Banner has ever been a New Deal advocate, although we have seen some good things and some good intentions materialize out of it. There have been plenty of good intentions, but not many of them have turned out to be good. The farm relief programs constitute, we believe, one good intention of the administration. This was started before Mr. Roosevelt took charge, and has been punched at constantly ever ince; but, we ask you, are the farmers any better off than they were before the pencil, pen, typewriter, and shorthand book were introduced to the humble tillers of the soil? Sometimes a general good rubbing will relieve pain, then at other times it will only aggravate the pain and make it worse. The latter has evidently been the case with government manipulation of farming.

It was certainly a fine intention when the New Deal set out to put 10,000,000 unemployed back to work in 1933; but, after 21 billion dollars has been added to the national indebtedness and the tax rate has been redoubled many times, there are right at this moment 10,500,000 people seeking employment in the country. These are actual figures just released by the different governmental agencies, and are undisputable.

"The New Deal has seen its best days." Well, when old Grandma retreats, you may rest assured the rest of the army has already surrendered. We can now sit down and have a breathing spell, because it is all over.

THE GATES OF HELL SHALL NOT PREVAIL AGAINST IT!

We believe that the above words were spoken on an occasion in Biblical times when the endurance of religion or the church was being discussed. Well, no one doubts the truthfulness of the passage, and it is a great consolation to us.

But it looks as though the adage is going to be put to a severe test — in fact, we believe the test is now well under way. The Rev. Dr. John W. Langdale, New York clergyman, a day or so ago said: "Religion is naturally concerned about the ominous menace." The doctor was talking about the inevitable determination of Communism and Fascism to destroy Christianity. Aren't you hearing a lot about Hitler and Nazi doctrines here of late? Well, you can take it from us—those powers in Moscow, Berlin and Rome are on their tip-toes.

Somebody asked what the word Nazi means. Well, one word that covers Naziism, Communism and Fascism, in plain English, is "Godless", or atheism. The Jews are being persecuted, and so are the Catholics and Lutherans. Priests and nuns are being murdered in cold blood and churches are being set fire to coming and going. Preachers are being fined and imprisoned for reading and teaching the Bible.

We repeat: The gates of hell shall not prevail against Christianity, but as sure as you are born, the churches of God throughout the world stand today at Armageddon, and the Communist, Nazi and Fascist camps, the sons of darkness, are to be battled. There is little telling where and when the end will be.

THE GUNTER MACHINE IS BEHIND DIXON FOR GOV.

Montgomery, Ala., Mar. 15.—The rise to power of the capital city political machine headed by Mayor William A. Gunter has been unequaled in the history of Alabama. Dominating Montgomery city and county politics completely the Gunter machine is now preparing to take its most important flyer into state politics and if it is successful its influence will extend into every county in Alabama.

Control of the machine over Montgomery politics is so complete that in the May primaries only one of the Gunter candidates for the many offices which are at stake will have opposition. Candidates seeking positions in Montgomery County now must obtain Gunter's approval. With that approval primaries and elections become mere matters of form in almost every case.

The result may mean, according to political observers, if Dixon is successful, that Gunter will find himself as dominant a figure in State politics as he is in Montgomery County politics.

RECITAL AT HIGH SCHOOL

Mrs. Barney Roberts will present pupils, from her piano class, in recital Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons, March 22 and 23, at 3:30 o'clock, at the high school auditorium. The public is invited to attend these recitals.

WANTS A NAME FOR BEAUTY SHOPPE

Mrs. Bessie Fiquette, proprietor of what was formerly Goodman Beauty Shoppe, wants to select a permanent name for her shoppe. She is undecided, and wants her friends to help her make the decision. In order to make this selection interesting, Mrs. Fiquette is asking her friends and customers to suggest a name for the shoppe and write a short letter of not over fifty words telling why such a name would be best. The letter must be brought in to the shoppe in person. The winner will be given free one $5.00 permanent wave. Turn to Mrs. Fiquette's adv. in this paper and read all about it and also note the specials she is offering.

NOTICE — ENTERPRISE PEOPLE

Some time ago I left a set of well curb tiling forms at my place in Enterprise community. I am needing the forms for work now, and find that one of the form rings has been misplaced. This ring is made of 1-inch square steel stock, and is about 30 inches in diameter. I need this article, which is necessary before the rest of the forms can be used, and will appreciate the favor very much if anyone who has seen the ring or knows of its whereabouts will notify me.—J. W. Cagle, Clanton.

Tiffin Furniture Company Is Offering Fine, New Pieces

More Octagon Premiums Carried Now Than Heretofore

Tiffin Furniture Company has just received two solid carloads of brand new living room suites, bed room suites, kitchen cabinets, refrigerators and ranges. They were bought at old-time low prices, says Messrs. Tiffin, and the benefits will be passed on to the customers. You should read the large adv. in this week's Union-Banner, and then visit Tiffin Furniture Company and see this beautiful furniture.

The Octagon coupon department has allowed Tiffin a higher classification, which means they now carry 35 to 50 premiums, where heretofore they only had 8 to 10. Folders will be mailed out from time to time, showing an illustration of premiums carried and coupon values. This classification puts Tiffin Furniture Company one of only ten or twelve such stores in the State. They will be glad to make any explanation desired.

UNIQUE OPEN-AIR AUTO SHOW TO BE AT CLANTON MOTORS

Free Motion Pictures and Other Features Monday and Tuesday

Something new, instructive and entertaining is coming to Clanton Motors Monday and Tuesday of next week, March 21 and 22. All during each day there will be a cut-away chassis, electrically driven, so as to put in plain view all the moving and working parts. Every kind of truck and car will be on display in the showrooms, and information on each.

Free motion pictures will be shown out in the open air each night at 7:30 o'clock. They will be interesting pictures, presented in such a way as to be most entertaining and beneficial. Clanton Motors respectfully invite you to be their guest during these two days. Do not fail to come to see them. Everything is absolutely free.

POISONED ON SEED POTATOES

Three people in Beat 16 were poisoned last Sunday night from eating Irish potatoes from which the eyes had been cut for planting. The doctor was called for Mrs. Balzora Bates, Mrs. Odell Payton and baby; all three were severely sick. It is supposed that the potatoes had been treated with something to keep them from rotting which rendered them unfit to eat. Mrs. Bates was still confined to her bed Tuesday on account of the illness.

"THIS IS THE LIFE"

"This Is The Life", a modern comedy in three acts, by Robert Ray, is to be presented by the Senior II class at Isabella High School on March 18 at 7:30 p.m.

If you like a good hearty laugh, if you enjoy an evening of excitement and breath taking suspense, then be at Isabella promptly on time to see "This Is The Life". Admission, 10c and 20c.

MAN BITTEN BY DIAMOND BACK RATTLER MONDAY

A man was brought in to Dr. N. S. Johnson's office Monday afternoon about 5 o'clock, who had been bitten an hour before by a diamondback rattler. He was Mr. Corbin Smith log-cutter, of near Maplesville.

Mr. Smith was in the woods cutting logs for Fuqua Lumber Company; he stuck his hand into a bed of the rattlers. The one biting him was said to have had five rattles and a button.

The man, who was sufferng intense pain, was given one serum by Dr. Johnson. He remained in the doctor's office until Tuesday morning, when he was released to go home.

The above should serve as warning to all who have occasion to be out in the woods much; and too, in case one is bitten, he or she should be rushed to a doctor who can administer this serum at the earliest possible moment.

OLD TIME SINGING AT ARCHER'S CHAPEL APRIL 10

There will be an old time singing at Archer's Chapel, northeast of Jemison, on Sunday, April 10. All are invited; we expect to have a really good time, and we want you to share in the festivities. Bring your old books. —J. W. (Stumps Hills Johnnie) Hayes.

FAIR OFFICIALS HOLD MEETING

More Details Arranged For Big Exhibition To Be Held September 20-24

A meeting of the officers and Board of Directors of Chilton County Fair Association was held in Clanton Tuesday of this week, and general arrangements for the Fair this fall were effected. The date has already been set as September 20 to 24th, inclusive, and it is almost a certainty that it will be held out at Gragg Field this time. By holding it out there, there will be no occasion for lack of space; there will be ample room at the airport.

The officials were assured by the Board of County Commissioners that as much assistance would be lent by them as could be arranged for. The sponsors are beginning work in plenty of time this year, so that we ought to have a real fair in September. Chilton county deserves a real fair; it is able to have a good one; in fact, it cannot afford to not have a good fair and one that we can all be proud of.

A fair catalog will be printed this year. This will aid materially in getting it well advertised this time.

SHOES MADE IN CLANTON

Pretty often you hear of a fellow calling himself a shoemaker; but it is seldom that one actually makes a pair of shoes. But there is a pair of shoes here now that was completely made here in Clanton. They were made by John Schmith and Dolphus Payton at Chilton County Shoe Rebuilders Company. The shoes are on display, and are not bad looking shoes at all. Drop by Mr. Schmith's place and see what they look like. You may want to order you a pair tailor made; if you do, Schmith and Payton can foot the bill.

CHILTON TIGERS LOST IN STATE CAGE MEET

Chilton County High Tigers, by way of their second place in the district tournament at Selma two weeks ago, were entered in the state tournament at Tuscaloosa last Friday and Saturday, but lost to Lexington High, of Lauderdale County, 23 to 22.

As the score indicates, it was one of the hottest games of the entire state tourney. The score was tied seven times during the game, and at no time was there more than three points between the two.

The Tiger team drew the admiration of tourney attendants by their speed and fighting spirit, and were mentioned as one of the fastest teams to show on the court, although one of the very smallest. Hampered by the heighth of their opponents, the fighting Tigers time and again drew rounds of applause from the crowd as they fought back their larger opponents.

NEW PHONE SYSTEM IS NOW IN MAKING

Work On New Building Will Begin Next Month, Says Company Official

You have not heard much about the new telephone system for Clanton lately, but that does no mean nothing is being done about it. Late word to Mayor C. Fenn Jones of Clanton from Mr. T. E. Harris, district manager of Southern Bell in Montgomery, says that actual work will begin on the building early next month. The site will be selected within a short time.

A complete map of the city has been made by the company, so that future developments may be taken care of. In other words, a system will be built here which will take care of Clanton's needs when it has become a city twice its present size.

Mr. Harris says that it will require about four months for all the work to be completed. Several lots are being considered, but no selection has been made as yet. It will be about August when it is all in working condition.

CHESTER WINGARD CLEARED IN DAMAGE SUIT MONDAY

In the case of Kanie Lowery against Chester Wingard, damages, which came up and was tried in Circuit court here Monday, the jury and verdict were in favor of Mr. Wingard, the latter being declared clear of the charges preferred by the claimant. The jury deliberated several hours before returning their verdict.

The remainder of this week and all of next week has been set aside for the trial of civil cases.

AMERICAN LEGION HAD A GOOD MEETING MON. NIGHT

The Chilton County post of the American Legion held a meeting at the courthouse Monday night of this week. The attendance was good, and much interest in the work of the post was manifest on all sides.

Two prominent speakers were present, State Commander, Dr. Austin, and State Adjutant Trotter Jones. Both these gentlemen spoke most interestingly for several minutes. Following the speaking, sound pictures of the big national convention in New York last year were produced with a complete portable outfit brought here by the State officials.

String music was furnished by Armon Mims and his accompanists. Cold drinks were furnshed the gathering by R. W. Lowe, and cigars were furnished by Mr. Joe Calloway J. W. Fant, local commander, presided, and Percy M. Pitts was master of ceremonies.

Indications are that the local post of the Legion is going to do good work this year. A special drive is now being put on for membership, and intensive efforts will be applied toward making the work in the county really effective this coming year.

If you are an ex-service man, you can and should be a member of the American Legion; you need the Legion and the Legion needs you. The buddies are urged to think over the matter, and see if you do not agree that you should become a full-fledged member at an early date.

CLANTON LAUNDRY PROVIDES NEW SERVICE FOR CUSTOMERS

Mr. Leo Thompson, energetic and enterprising manager of the Clanton Laundry and Cleaning Co., continues to keep step with everything that is new and worth while in his line of work. If some kind of new machinery comes out which Leo thinks will improve his laundry service, he always takes it on. He has followed this method until he can boast of one of the best equipped plants to be found anywhere for the size of town and the amount of work he must turn out.

The latest addition to the equipment of Clanton Laundry is a curtain stretcher and dryer. Mr. Thompson is something of a designer and builder himself, and he designed his curtain machine, modeling it from the larger machines with which larger plants are equipped.

This machine will take any size curtain used in the home. It leaves all corners absolutely square, and there are no pin marks along the edges, nor are there any unsightly puckered sags. When cleaned, then stretched and dried on this machine, your curtains come back to you in exactly the same finished condition they had when you first bought them.

Too, Mr. Thompson says that he has ordered a fluter to be attached to his new machine, to take care of that style of curtain.

He invites you to try this new service, assuring you of absolute satisfaction, and that the price will be moderate and in line with the usual low rates provided by the Clanton Laundry and Cleaning Co., for all of its many different services.

GLENN MESSER TO BE HERE TO DISCUSS FLYING CLUB FRIDAY

We are informed that Glenn Messer, of Municipal Airport, Birmingham, will be at the office of J. Mell Martin Friday night at 7:30, for the purpose of discussing the organization of a local flying club. If you are interested in the organization of such a club, you are invited to attend.

Stands Out Head and Shoulder Above Ordinary Starting Feeds!

AND JUST LIKE the feed they get, your Purina Startena chicks will stand head and shoulders above ordinary chicks.

They ought to. Whenever you choose 14 of the best ingredients that money can buy . . . then take exactly the right amount of each one . . . and then mix them together, over and over again, 950 times—

Well, doesn't that sound like a chick starter that'll do the job?

Stop by and see us the next time you're in town.

Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure.

When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.

Frequent, scanty or burning passages may be further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.

The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

Game & Fish News

Use Of Fish Basket

Requests for information about the use of fish baskets in Alabama waters have been received by the Conservation Department. It is a violation of the law to place any fishing device, including nets or traps, in any artificially impounded waters for the purpose of taking fish of any description. Where waters are not thus impounded by dams, locks, dykes or otherwise, a person may use a basket or hoopnet in the run of a stream to take non-game fish, only after securing the written permission from the landowner through whose land the stream passes. If the stream is a boundary line of one or more landowners, it is then necessary to get written permits from each one owning land abutting the stream at the point where the basket is to be placed. Such a basket may be used for taking non-game fish only, including catfish, drum, buffalo and suckers. It is a violation to use any trammel net, gill net or similar device at any time.

Martins Arrive

The martins, considered by many as true harbingers of Spring, started their northward flight through Alabama the latter part of February and early March. At Daphne in Baldwin County the birds came as early as February 20, left and then returned March 4. Other points in Baldwin and Mobile Counties saw them February 28 and March 2. In Houston County they arrived March 3. Montgomery reported martins on March 2, and in Birmingham at George Ward's "Vestavia" they arrived the morning of March 5.

Landowners Protect Fish

Landowners on Pea River in Dale County have joined together in a cooperative effort to restock this stream with fish and then protect it over a period of three years. Property owners on both sides of the river have agreed to refrain from fishing the stream during that period, and to assist authorities in breaking up seining and dynamiting, meanwhile restocking the river with fish.

WASHINGTON TRIP PLANS TAKING SHAPE

These Who Desire May Visit New York And Return by Water via Jacksonville

The Alabama Press Association's trip to Washington has been set for June 19th and plans for entertainment are going forward.

Because of the desire of many to spend a short time in New York and also enjoy an ocean voyage, arrangements have been completed whereby those who desire this may spend two days of sightseeing in New York and return by way of one of the largest of the coastwise vessels to Jacksonville, and from there home by train. Only a slight additional cost for this will be charged, and will include hotel and sightseeing in New York, as well as all transportation costs.

There is much to see and do at Washington. The Alabama Society will give a dinner to the party, at which the speakers will include either a member of the cabinet or some other national or international figure. And afterwards a dance at the Hotel Williard. Another evening will have an equally as interesting program planned.

The days in Washington will be one continual round of sight-seeing, with the Capitol, the White House, the government buildings, the National Cathedral and many other points of interest. Then there will be side trips to Mount Vernon, Arlington and other places.

Thursday we leave Washington by special motor bus for a visit to the Franciscan Monastery and on to Annapolis for a trip through the Naval Academy, and on to Baltimore with sight-seeing there. In the late afternoon we board a steamer for the overnight trip to Norfolk down Chesapeake Bay.

After a sightseeing tour of Norfolk the party will be taken for one of its most interesting days of the trip on a visit to Yorktown, Jamestown and Williamsburg, possibly the most talked of place in America today. In the early evening of this day we will board the train for home.

Only a group such as this will be can crowd so much entertainment and sightseeing into such a short time, and it is the belief of the members of the Press Association that many Alabamians will be glad to be included in such a tremendously interesting trip.

Those who want to include the visit to New York and the ocean trip home will leave the remainder of the party after spending three days in Washington and will proceed to New York for a most interesting experience. Sightseeing, hotel accommodations and night club entertainment will be the part of the New York end of the trip, and then aboard one of the largest coastwise vessels for a wonderful trip down the Atlantic Sea-board to Jacksonville, and thence home.

Complete information and reservation blanks will be found at this office.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks, and appreciation to each and every one for their kindness shown during the death and burial of our dear mother.—M. L. Williams and family.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Little of Gowan Addition was buried at Samaria last Sunday afternoon. The little child was a twin, and was one year old. Rev. J. J. DuBose was in charge of funeral services, with Martin directing.

MIDWIVES APPLY FOR LICENSE RENEWALS

A total of 26 Chilton County midwives have applied for renewal of their licenses, it is revealed in a report from the county health department. There were in addition 2 new applicants for permits. Each midwife is given a thorough physical examination to determine her physical fitness, and is studied from the standpoint of tht amount of education, mental alertness, personal neatness, and freedom from communicable diseases before a permit is granted. This is in accordance with Section 1064 of the Code of 1923, it was pointed out by Dr. S. D. Sturkie, county health officer.

"The midwife program", he stated, "constitutes one of the most important phases of our maternity program. Its aim is to eliminate the illiterate, meddlesome midwife and to supply to those mothers who, because of the remoteness of their places of residence, or bcause of their lack of money, cannot have a doctor, a midwife, clean, intelligent, and properly supervised by the health department. A formal course of instruction is given each licensed midwife at so-called midwife meetings. Standard equipment and practice of a standard technique outlined b our state health department is required of each midwife, whose failure to cooperate will result in her license being revoked. Much emphasis is placed on the midwife sending her prospective cases to a doctor for prenatal care, reporting to the county nurse, and obtaining a doctor during the delivery if any abnormalities develop. The giving of teas or other medication, and performances of examination by midwives are strictly forbidden.

"In its entirety", he concluded, "this program is one of great significance and benefit in Chilton County, since 30 per cent of our deliveries last year were by midwives. Anyone engaging a midwife should always ascertain if she is licensed, and avoid the unlicensed midwife. The patient should aso be sure that the birth is properly recorded with the local registrar."

Rev. L. B. Headley, Methodist Protestant minister at Georgiana, Ala., was in the county a few days last week. Rev. Headley is a native of this county, having grown up in Fairview community. We are always glad for our native sons to come home and see us once in a while.

ENDURANCE RUN AT 10,000 MILES

Detroit, March 10. — Further impressive evidence of economy and durability was on record in favor of Chevrolet trucks today, following receipt from Washington of official AAA figures covering the first 10,102 miles of the Chevrolet long distance safety and dependability truck run which Harry Hartz, well known former race pilot, is conducting.

Hartz left Ottowa, Can., on January 14, in a stock 1½-ton Chevrolet truck with a "pay load" of 4,590 pounds of steel. He was accompanied by Stanley Reed, official AAA observor, whose certified reports are the basis of the bulletin just received.

After covering the distance to Mexico City in less than 100 hours driving time, the truck turned back into the states, skirted the Gulf to Florida, and went south to the latter's very tip. The 10,000 mile mark was passed near Miami, after 325 hours and 35 minutes of actual driving time. Daily mileage averaged, 266, and speed averaged, 30.72 miles an hour, over the entire distance.

BOB GOODE CANDIDATING FOR GOVERNOR OF ALABAMA

R. J. (Bob) Goode, present Commissioner of Agriculture, is in the race for Democratic nominee for Governor. To say the least of it, Mr. Goode is making folks sit up and take notice of his candidacy. Mr. Goode says: "My commitments will be made publicly to all the people. I promise no office. I have no hostilities to carry on. I harbor no bitterness. . . . . I would have the confidence of our people—all classes and interests.

R. J. (BOB) GOODE

Mr. Goode is a native of Wilcox county, was educated at Marion, served four terms as Representative. Helped enact the first general road law for Alabama; helped organize the present State department of Agriculture, the experiment station and experiment set-up.

Other points advocated by Mr Goode are:

"Activities and study in connection with protecting our people against the disastrous competition of foreign fats and oils, which costs our cotton growers many millions of dollars on cottonseed last season; protection against continued unwarranted losses caused by the foreign jute interests; discriminatory freight rates; and other economic policies directly affecting the welfare of all Alabamians, have provided an understanding of the problems which will be pursued as your Chief Executive with more and further beneficial results.

"My public and official record has been clear of the acceptance or use of political patronage for myself or my family. I believe in and have practiced economy and efficiency; I believe in honesty and intregrity in the conduct of the State's business as in private affairs. Consequently, I pledge myself to all economies and efficiencies looking toward a progressive, fair and just administration in the interest of all our people.

"While I admit and realize that I have made mistakes of omission and commission, I have sincerely given my best efforts to the service of the State in the positions which I have occupied, and it is my hope that I may go forth, as the faithful servant in the Parable of The Talents, and make good in the larger and more important field to which I aspire at your hands."

On Sunday, March 13h, a large crowd met at the home of Mr. T. W. Billingsley to celebrate his 54th birthday.

Those present were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Billingsley and children, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Billingsley and children, of Prattville; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Billingsley and sons, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Coe and family, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Traywick and family, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Kilpatrick and daughter, Dorothy, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Ingram and children, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Trice, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Cook and son, Horace, of Prattville.

At the lunch hour there was a bouniful dinner spread. After dinner the Prattville quartet sung a few selections, after which every left to attend the singing at Shiloh church. We all wish Mr. Billingsley many, many more happy birthdays.

PLEASANT HILL

Our Sunday school is doing better, but we want to keep making it still better by urging everybody to come and bring someone with you.

Rev. McMinn preached for us after Sunday school last Sunday, and everybody seemed to enjoy the sermon very much. Sunday was our regular singing afternoon. We had singers from several different places, and we invite them to come back again next 2nd Sunday afternoon.

Next Saturday night, Sunday and Sunday night are our regular preaching dates. The preaching will be done by our pastor, Rev. Cost. Everybody is invited out to hear him.

LITTLE BUDDY MOORE

The death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Moore last Tuesday sight and took from them their baby, little Buddy. He was 13 months old.

KEEPING THE BODY STRONG

LESSON TEXT—Mark 6:53-56; Judg. 13: 12-14; I Cor. 3:16, 17; Rom. 12:1, 2.

GOLDEN TEXT—Now therefore beware, I pray thee, and drink not wine nor strong drink, and eat not any unclean thing.—Judg. 13:4.

PRIMARY TOPIC—The Body God Gave Us.

JUNIOR TOPIC—For Jesus' Sake.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Liquor, Drugs, and Tobacco Do to Health.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—How Intemperance Affects Health.

The universe of God is perfectly organized in every respect. Beings that function in the spirit realm are spirit beings, not subject to the limitations of the physical world. We who dwell and serve in the physical world are equipped with physical bodies which are ideal instruments for our present existence.

With all their shortcomings and frailties, our bodies are indeed marvelous machines, intricate and delicate, yet unbelievably hardy and durable. They are a gift from God, and it is our express responsibility to glorify God in our bodies (I Cor. 6:20).

I. How to Have a Strong Body.

It is obvious that not every one has equal physical strength and health. In some measure this is by divine providence or at least by God's permissive will, and those of us who find ourselves thus limited do well to count on His grace for patience to use what we have for His glory. But not one of us wants to yield hopelessly to our inability. Rather we will do our best to overcome it. We want to know

1. How to cure weakness (Mark 6:53-56).

God alone can heal the sick. Even in our day when science has made such strides in the healing art, we note that the most successful remedy or system of treatment is the one that clears the way for what men call nature, but we know to be God, to work. Jesus healed the multitudes in the land of Gennesaret; He heals in America.

2. How to prevent weakness (Judg. 13:12-14).

The mother of Samson, who was to be a Nazarite, was to drink no wine and to observe careful dietary regulations before he was born.

Note also that if it is bad for a man to have such poisons in his veins before he is born, surely it is poor judgment to put them in after he comes to the age where he controls his own life. We need to watch our diets, and we have much valuable help on that point. We also need to give serious attention to the use of narcotics. It may surprise some to know that the term narcotics includes not only drugs and alcoholic beverages, but also tobacco, and such common things as tea and coffee.

Other abuse of the body, such as overwork, neglect of rest, etc., may well be mentioned. The besetting sin of some Christian workers is the destruction of their bodies, the very temple of the Holy Ghost, by overwork.

II. How to Use a Strong Body.

Unfortunate as it is to observe that some who would serve the Lord have to struggle with the weakness of the body, it is far sadder to note that all too often those who have strong bodies forget to use that strength for God. Our Scripture portions give us two excellent guiding principles. Our bodies should be

1. Kept for God (I Cor. 3:16, 17).

These verses refer to the body of the Christian, for only of him can it be said that his body is the temple of the Holy Ghost.

The Holy Spirit is a person, the third person of the blessed Trinity. He comes to dwell within the soul of the Christian immediately upon his being regenerated, thus making his body the temple of the Holy Ghost. A clear grasp of that truth solves the problem of what we should do with and for our bodies. We must keep them well and clean. We dare not defile them in any way. The body of the Christian is kept for God.

2. Yielded to God (Rom. 12:1, 2).

It is a high and noble sacrifice to die for Christ.

But our call just now is to be a "living sacrifice." There are times when that may seem harder than to be a martyr. We do know that it is not always easy to live through the drab, difficult, and sometimes dreadful days, with a clear and shining testimony for Christ. But it can be done and is always to His glory. It is by the transforming grace of God that we are enabled to live such a life.

Meditation

It is the mark of a superior man that, left to himself, he is able endlessly to amuse, interest and entertain himself out of his personal stock of meditations, ideas, criticisms, memories, philosophy, humor and what not.—George Nathan.

Like Unto Him

"There should be no greater comfort to Christian persons than to be made like unto Christ by suffering patiently adversities, troubles, and sickness.

AAA ANNOUNCES PROCEDURE ON PRICE ADJUSTMENT PAYMENTS ON LOAN COTTON

Cotton producers who have placed cotton in the 1937 Commodity Credit Corporation cotton loan should familiarize themselves with the provisions of the new farm act as it affects these loans and their cotton price adjustment payments as originally authorized in August, 1937, the Agricultural Adjustment Administration announced this week.

Numerous reports have been received that producers are being urged to sell their equity or interest in their loan cotton in order to be eligible for a cotton price adjustment payment on loan cotton. The sale or transfer of the producer-borrower's equity or interest is not necessary for such a purpose, since the new farm act provides that cotton otherwise eligible for payment which is in the loan on June 30, 1938, will be eligible for a payment on the amount by which the price of cotton on the 10 spot cotton markets is below 12 cents per pound on that day. Furthermore, the new act directs that the maturity date on all cotton loan notes be extended to July 31, 1939. The maturity date was originally July 31, 1938. The only way cotton which has been placed under the loan can be sold so as to be counted as eligible for a cotton price adjustment payment is for the producer to pay the loan in full before selling the cotton. Any sale attempted while the cotton is subject to the loan would not be a sale of the cotton but only a sale of the right to benefit in whatever proceeds might remain after the loan had been paid in full with all carrying charges. Persons who have been buying such so-called equities cannot obtain any benefit therefrom since the loan agreement provides that any holder of the note is bound to turn over to the producer-borrower any amount realized on the sale of the coton covered by the note remaining after paying the loan and all interest and carrying charges.

Producers desiring to transfer the title to their cotton to the Commodity Credit Corporation in accordance with the provisions of Section 381(b) of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938 should give careful consideration to the manner in which their interests will be affected before actually making such transfers.

This section of the farm bill provides that before July 1, 1938, any producer may transfer his right, title and interest in loan cotton to the Commodity Credit Corporation, and directs the Corporation to accept it and to assume all obligations of the producer with respect to the loan on the cotton transferred. The Corporation is then directed to notify the Secretary of Agriculture of the cotton so transferred to it, and the Secretary of Agriculture is directed to pay to producers a sum equal to 2 cents per pound on the cotton they transferred to the Corporation; the amount so paid to be deducted from any price adjustment payment to which they are entitled. Since no appropriation has been provided out of which these payments can be made directly, it follows necessarily that a cotton producer who transfers his loan cotton Corporation pursuant to this provision cannot receive the 2-cent payment unless he is entitled to a cotton price adjustment payment pursuant to the provisions of the Third Deficiency Appropriation, fiscal year of 1937, as amended by Section 381(a) of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938. These provisions require a producer to comply with the 1938 cotton program in order to obtain a cotton price adjustment payment. It will, therefore, be impossible for a producer to obtain any cotton price adjustment payment to which he is entitled at an earlier date by surrendering title to his loan cotton and receiving the equivalent of 2 cents per pound on the amount of loan cotton so transferred; nor will a producer be able to obtain any larger payment than he will otherwise receive without such a transfer of the title to his cotton. On the other hand, producers who transfer the title to their cotton to the Commodity Credit Corporation will lose all opportunity to benefit from an advance in the price of cotton above the loan rate. Furthermore, they will lose any premiums which might otherwise accrue to them by reason of the fact that their cotton may grade out at a higher basis than that established as a basis for loans. Since the cotton loans are made without recourse against the producer if he complies with the provisions of the 1937 loan agreement, a producer will not incur any obligations to the government by reason of his failure to transfer title to loan cotton to the Commodity Credit Corporation.

Had Play At Thorsby Institute

The people of Thorsby and vicinity had the pleasure of attending on March 11,in the Institute auditorium, one of the best home talent plays ever produced here. The members of the cast entered into their parts so well that the audience laughed and cried in sympathy with the plight of the actors.

Those who saw the play will not soon forget "Bobbie", Miss Lois Townsley; grandpa, Mr. B. C. Blickensderfer; Walter Conred, "Bobbie's" brother, Mr. Jack Pettrrsen; and Dr. Jimmie Reed, with ambition, Mr. W. C. Kelley. A touch of the tragic was brough into the play with the entrance of Robert Post, the visitor, Mr. L. L. Stanley. Other important members of the cast were Flo Gray, "Bobbie's" flapperish cousin, played by Miss Willie Littlejohn; grandma, who proposed to grandpa, played by Miss Mildred Littlejohn; and Lutie, a neighbor, played by Miss Ruth Higgins. The two negro characters, Zuzu, and Zuzu's choice, Salamander Alexander John Henry Jones, played by Mrs. Karl Christansen and Mr. Rascoe Maddox, were well portrayed and caused much merriment.

The play, "The Path Across the Hill" was presented by the truth seeker's class of the Congregational Sunday school. The class is sending the proceeds of the play to Miss Ella Frances Thompson, who is a missionary teacher at Silliman University in the Philippine Islands.

Miss Kathryn Foss of Thorsby Institute, has been asked to sing a solo next Sunday a. m., at the First Baptist church, Montgomery, and at night at 7:30 p. m. the Thorsby Institute Girls' Glee Club under her direction, will sing several numbers at the same church.

The next and last open meeting of the Helen Keller Literary Society will be held on Friday, April 8. Miss Foss is planning this program.

Christian Endeavor News

The Christian Endeavor met in the fellowship room Saturday night, March 13. A program entitled "When a Person Should Join the Cchurch" was led by Martha Green. red Blankenship, Oleita Nowell and Elizabeth Battles took part. Following this, the society expressed their ideas on the subject. It was an interesting program and enjoyed by all.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

Our Sunday school thrives when we give it our support with work, thought and prayer.

We have the best of song worship when every member of our choir is interested and able to attend church and the choir.

To listen to a good sermon is always one's privilege at our church at the preaching hours.

Sunday, April 3, is church school day and the program will be presented by Mr. Ira Smith's class.

You, whether you are a member of our church and Sunday school, a visitor to our town, a newcomer to Clanton, or an all-time resident, are invited and urged to attend our Sunday school at 9:45 a.m., and our preaching services at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m each Sunday.

Our Easter program is being directed by Misses Green and Polk.

Tom Taylor Writes To Voters Of Co.

Has Been A Taxpayer Longer Than He Has Been A Voter; Held No Office Before

To The Voters of Chilton County:

In presenting myself to you as a candidate for the office of Tax Collector of your county, it is my opinion that you would like to know something of the history of the candidates. In this connection, I would like to give you my history.

I was born in Chilton County October 7, 1891, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Taylor. My parents were citizens of Chilton County all their lives, just as I have been. My father was also a merchant in Clanton for a number of years, and is well known all over the county.

I began working for myself at the age of 18, at which time I became a taxpayer, and have paid taxes ever since before I could even vote. Not one year since that time have I failed to pay taxes.

At the age of 19, on December 20, 1910, I was married to Miss Alla Askins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Askins, of Maple Springs community. After our marriage we farmed for six years; as a sample of the way we worked for a start in life, we made 15 bales of cotton one year, with one mule.

In 1916 I went into business with a brother, Lonza Taylor, where we bought chickens, eggs, and other produce direct from farmers. So far as I know, we were the first in Chilton county to open such a business, and for four years we were the main outlet for the surplus produce raised by the farmers of Chilton County.

Since 1920, my duties have been varied, and I will be glad for anyone who does not know me personally to ask anyone who does know me, as to what degree of success has been mine.

I opened a small grocery store in 1921, in connection with my produce business. I took a fling at the sawmill business in 1922. In 1923 (the first year of Littlejohn's term) I was a deputy sheriff; this kind of work didn't suit, however, and I began looking for some other work. I took a place in Elmore's Chicago Sales Company, which I held during 1924 and most of 1925. In the latter part of 1925 I bought an interest in the dry goods firm of Chicago Sales Company, later buying full interest. I bought an interest in the Downs Wholesale Grocery Company in 1926, and was a partner in that firm until 1933, when I purchased the whole business. Since this time I have been employed in this business, which was changed to Taylor Wholesale Grocery Company; and I own and operate this business today.

In my various work and connections I have been called upon to lend aid to many people and on many occasions, and never once have I failed to respond where it was possible for me to do so.

As said before, I have been a Chilton County taxpayer since long before I was allowed to vote, yet I have never once asked the voters of Chilton County for public office until this time. I believe I have had my share in the business development of Clanton, Chilton County and surrounding territory, and am proud of this and the measure of success that has attended my efforts.

I am fully capable of performing the duties of the office I seek, as you may know if you will inquire among the people who have known me for a number of years. I will be glad to have you question anyone who knows me, regarding my candidacy in any way.

I have followed my family tradition of remaining in the Republican fold all these years. And so, thanking you for any consideration you may have shown me to date, and assuring you of my appreciation for your vote and influence in the coming elections, and pledging my full support and cooperation in the coming general elections, I remain,

Yours Very Truly,
TOM TAYLOR.

RECESSION TAKES BIG TOLL IN JOBS

4,300,000 Thrown Out Of Work In Last Four Months

Washington—The Roosevelt Panic has taken a toll of 4,300,000 jobs in the last four months, federal economists estimated today, bringing the nation's unemployed to a total of about 10,450,000.

That total, based on a revision of figures prepared for the president's committee on economic security, is the highest in three years.

After reaching a peak of 15,071,000 in March, 1933, the country's unemployed dwindled to a minimum of 6,132,000 in July, 1937, just before the current recession began.

Regardless of business trends, the federal statistician expect the coming of Spring weather will stimulate seasonal outdoor work sufficiently to offset any new increases in industrial unemployment in the next few months.

The growth of unemployment so far has been reflected only partially in relief figures, WPA rolls having grown from about 1,100,000 last Summer to approximately 2,000,000.

To care for anticipated additions to relief rolls in March and to carry a larger number of aid recipients until June 30, congress recently appropriated an extra $250,000,000. This brought WPA's allotment for the fiscal year to $1,750,000,000.

MAPLE SPRINGS

Sunday school was well attended last Sunday. Let's everybody come back next Sunday with a well prepared lesson.

The singing held at Maple Springs Sunday afternoon was enjoyed by a large crowd.

Mr. W. F. Glenn visited friends and relatives in Coosa County Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Deloney and family of Montgomery were in this community the past week end.

"LINDY LOU"

On Friday night, April 1, 1938, the Junior Class of Verbena High School will present "Lindy Lou" in the high school auditorium.

Your interest will be held during the entire play as you watch Lawrence Howard as Timothy Tweedsome. Having made his millions in the tobacco fields of the South, he decides to spend it on the shores of Long Island. Helen Patterson as Lindy Lou Evans, his lovely niece from the dear old Southland; Herman Connell as Wick Barry—all-American quarterback at Pennsylvania, but not backward in love, and other members of the class in this thrilling drama.

WEST CHILTON

People over here are discussing candidates and fertilizer these lovely spring days.

Jack Cofer has been seriously ill with pneumonia, but is now to the joy of his friends convalescent.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Mims of Clanton, were welcome visitors in West Chilton Sunday afternoon.

Farmers over here are rapidly pushing their work. But some tell us we produce too much, hence, the program of scarcity to raise prices, while the great multitude remain unemployed and cannot buy the surplus at high prices. So we can get no where. About the time of President McKinley's inauguration a great cry was going up for free silver led by Mr. Bryan. While Mr. McKinley's slogan was, "Open the Mills Instead of the Mints." He did that, and prosperity followed.

Mr. J. D. Wright of Ashby, visited here Sunday. Mr. Wright is a young man of unusual ability and thought.

Two new rooms have been added to the church at Macedonia, and Sunday was the appointed time for the holy sacrament of the Lord's Supper.

We have a fine crop of spring candidates out just now.

Mr. Clifford Manning of Isabella, was here last week. He is a brilliant young man, able, moral, and worthy of our support. It is a foregone conclusion that he will get the young ladies' vote, and that may turn the tide and land him safely. Who knows?

The writer and several other West Chiltonites were at Robinson Springs Saturday afternoon at the F. E. and C. U. of America. It is always with a thrill we start to Robinson Springs, the place, and the people of that locality appeal to us. Hence, it is a pleasure to visit there.

Hon. W. L. Sanders was here last week. He is an able, zealous young man, and no "quitter," a tireless worker, a man of the great common people, who feels their woes and needs, honest to the core, with a burning zeal to lift up his fellow man—his platform is excellent.

Then, there is Sam Mims, another able young business man, no doubt, quite worthy, loyal and true.

Paul C. Mims, the well known "Man in the Moon," his platform is good. He is of the common people, he knows their needs, no doubt of his loyalty. His political opposers cannot stand before him. His plan seems to be, "Be sure you are right, and then go ahead."

A late editorial in The Banner alludes to President Hoover serving his country without pay. So, we recall what a relative of the writer living in one of the northern states said of Mr. Hoover, that Mr. Hoover would go down in history as one of our greatest Presidents. The prediction seems to be coming true.

University News

After the University of Alabama's football team swept through its 1937 schedule to win the Southeastern Conference Championship, athletics at the Capstone went into a slump as the Alabama boxing and basketball outfits experienced unsuccessful seasons.

Although the Tide boxers were among the favored groups to win the conference tourney, they failed to place a fighter in the final bouts.

The Tide basketball team was eliminated from the ranks of the Southeastern conference championship hopefuls when it was defeated in a first-round game in the recent tourney held in Baton Rouge, La.

With the coming of baseball season, however, Crimson Tide stock is expected to again soar upward. Prospects are bright for a title-winning diamond outfit at the Capstone.

Winner of the conference championship three times in the past four years, Alabama returns a group of seasoned baseball players for every position on the Tide nine except first base, third base and one of the outfield berths.

Veterans Perron Shoemaker and Alvin Davis are on hand for the backstopping job. John Starnes and Joe Kilgrow are competing for the initial sack job, while Heinie Lauric and Blackie Zesiger, short stop and second base, respectively, have been tabbed to patrol the keystone territory.

Gus Soffriti, a newcomer to the squad, is expected to step into the third-base position, and Vic Bradford and Johnny Roberts, both experienced men, will work two of the garden positions, the other one being left open to dark horse competition.

The Alabama mound staff will be one of the strongest in the school's history, with four veterans, Hugh Kirkland, Buddy Teague, Hugh Bedient and Slim McLendon returning. The mound corps will be strengthened by three sophomores, Simmy Nix, Charles Davis and Francis Lee.

Collecting all kinds of superlatives, "-ests" and "only-s" is the hobby of a certain University of Alabama instructor.

Among his findings, which he quotes to his classes from time to time, are:

Highest jail in the world—Miami, Fla.

Deepest grave—Floyd Collins', near Mammoth, Ky., 264 feet.

Longest street within one city—Western Avenue, Chicago, 53 miles.

Widest street—Woodward avenue, Detroit, 201 feet.

Biggest hospital—under construction in New Orleans, 20 stories high, 400 by 500 feet.

Largest single building—Merchandise Mart, Chicago, 4,000,000 square feet of floor space.

Only rattlesnake canning plant in the world—Tampa, la.

Only rubber sidewalk—Chicago.

Largest piece of granite ever quarried—Marks the grave of John D. Rockefeller in Lakeview, which is on the highest spot of ground in Cleveland.

Highest tower over a man's grave—the carillon over the grave of Edward Bek, Lake Wales, Fla.

First fire engine to be imported to North America—in Wachovia museum, Winston-Salem, N. C.

According to figures released by the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Alabama, business in the state slumped badly from the first month in 1937 to the first in 1938.

Declines are shown in 15 of the 17 activities listed in the bureau's Business News, from January, 1937, to January, 1938.

Two activities showed comparatively slight gains, coke production going up 0.2 per cent to 332,543 net tons and gasoline sales up 10.1 per cent to 17,007,000.

Miss Margherita Swift, University of Alabama senior, Atmore, led the St. Pat's ball with Jake Nolen, Tuscaloosa, in the gymnasium at the University Monday night.

In celebraing St. Pat's day, students in the College of Engineering chose Miss Swift as queen of their annual program and elected the following women students to serve as her court.

Misses Margaret Ella Finnell, Tuscaloosa; Carol Stickney, Livingston; Ernestine Addison, Jasper; Martha Hargrove, Birmingham; Renie Knight Clapp, Monroeville, and Rugh Brooks, Camilla, Ga.

BAPTIST UNIONS MEET APRIL 5 & 6

Several hundred Training Union officers and workers from 73 Baptist district associations of Alabama will meet in the First Baptist Church, Mobile, on Tuesday and Wednesday, April 5-6, for reports, conferences, addresses, and fellowship. This meeting, the third of its kind to be held in connection with the Five-Year Promotional Program of Southern Baptists during the past three years, is to perfect plans for reaching every Baptist church in the state with a fully graded training program of work.

Outstanding speakers and conference leaders on the program will include: Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lambdin, W. A. Harrell, C. Aubrey Hearn, Dr. Clay I. Hudson, Dr. Frank H. Leavell, Dr. John L. Hill, B. B. McKinney, all of the Baptist Sunday School Board of Nashville, Tenn., E. E. Lee, southwide field secretary of Dallas, Texas; Mrs. Aurora Shumate of Birmingham; Mrs. Hattie Potts Rogers of Knoxville; Rev. S. C. Reeves, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Florence; Dr. Chas. F. Leek, pastor Highland Avenue Baptist Church, Montgomery; Dr. F. M. Barnes, executive secretary of the Alabama Convention, Montgomery; Mrs. J. O. Williams of Nashville, Tenn.; Chester L. Quarles and Miss Martha Sconyers, Training Union secretary and associate of the state, Montomery.

The Training Union associational officers from each association, which includes the director, associate director, secretary-treasurer, chorister, pianist, pastor-adviser, Story Hour, Junior, Intermediate, Senior, and Adult leaders and group directors should attend this meeting. In order to reach these workers the Baptist Sunday School Board is financing the transportation of one, two, or three automobiles from each association to bring these workers. Entertainment will be provided by the host church at Mobile.

There will be a morning session at ten o'clock, an afternoon and an evening session on Tuesday with the adjournment at noon on Wednesday.

TO CORRESPONDENTS:

We like to get the letters from the different neighborhoods, and people like to read them. We wish, however, to make a few suggestions to writers:

See that your letters get to this office by Tuesday.

Do not write about visits made by nearby neighbors. When anyone comes from a distance or goes off on a visit, that's news.

Do not write about the little love affairs of the boys and girls.

Never write anything that will hurt or annoy anyone.

Pay especial attention to school and church matters.

Don't write about the weather—it's practically the same all over the county.

If the general health of your community is good, knock on wood, but don't send a report of it in to be published; if someone is seriously ill, that makes news.

Write your copy plainly, especially proper names. Write on only one side of your paper. If you use a typewriter, double space between the lines.

Always sign your articles. If you want name omitted, say so, but we must have name of writer.

Please take notice, and be governed accordingly, or you may be disappointed when your article appears in print.

COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION HERE SECOND SUNDAY APRIL

SCHOLARSHIP COMMITTEE ANNOUNCES THE WINNER

At the county council meeting held at the home agent's office March 3, Mrs. H. F. Virgin, chairman of the scholarship committee, announced and introduced Miss Martha Kennedy as being winner of the scholarship given by the county council. Martha started to school Monday, March 7, and reports a fine beginning.

Other reports given in the council meeting were those of the subs in the kitchen contest. The majority of the kitchen committees are now scoring the kitchens. If your club committee has not done this, please do so at once.

A report was given by Meta E. Grace on the improvement and changes in this office which has been enlarged and remodeled. Cabinets have been made, and closets for coats, hats, and also brooms, mops and kindling have been added; now a kitchenette is being installed.

The report was given on the outdoor living room which is being built adjoining the home agent's office, to be used this summer for socials and outdoor meetings; the room was visited. We are anxious to make this a lovely place of meeting for you, and are asking that if you have any rose bushes, flower plants or shrubs that you can contribute, we will certainly appreciate it if you will bring or send us some when you can. Clubs already sending in contributions are Baker, Verbena, Thorsby and Mt. Creek. There is to be a small rose garden added at the back of the lviing room, therefore we would like some good monthly roses.

The probate judge and board of commissioners were guests at this meeting and gave encouraging remarks as to the program of home demonstration work. They were also well pleased with the developed plans in the agent's office and suggested that they be allowed to contribute toward the garden, and stated they would soon add the covering to the agent's office and kitchen.

ISABELLA OLD GRADUATES CLUB

The Isabella Old Graduates Club met Thursday night, March 10. The club was called to order by Mr. Curtis Matthews. He gave an interesting talk pertaining to the club, and every member decided he would receive from the club according to what he put into it.

The permanent officers were elected as follows: A. D. Headley, president; Robert Calfee, vice president; Maxine Oden, secretary-treasurer.

The program for the next meeting will be discussions on three of our present day problems: The T. V. A., by Gladys Turner and Sara White; the AAA program, by Robert Calfee and Andrew Jones; the armament race, by Charles Griffin and Harry Fox.

We request that all graduates of Isabella be present at our next meeting on Thursday night, March 24, at 7:30 in the school building.

All Set for Wildlife Week

Alabama is ready. Gov. Bibb Graves (left) talked over plans for the celebration of National Wildlife Restoration Week with Dr. Walter B. Jones (right) of the University of Alabama, who is state director in charge of Wildlife Week. "We are proud of our state's progress in conservation," said Dr. Jones, "and the General Wildlife Federation will be proud of the showing of Alabama affiliates during the week of March 20." Fred Jordan (insert) director of National Wildlife Restoration Week, with headquarters at 400 Madison Avenue, New York City, reports that organization for Wildlife Week is practically complete in every county in the United States. "Receipts from local fund raising activities during Wildlife Week," says Mr. Jordan, "will remain entirely with the state organizations taking part. Money from Wildlife Stamp sales will be divided between the local organizations and the General Wildlife Federation."

Payment Due On Certain Cotton Certificates--Fant

An announcement received by County Agent J. W. Fant, from the Cotton Producers' Pool, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, states that five (5) persons in Chilton County are holders of Form C-5-D Participation Trust Certificates on which they are entitled to receive the second distribution of 2 cents per pound, less carrying charges, or $7.60 per bale, and a new certificate form C-5-I.

The list of certificate holders in ton County follows:

Ed Jones, R 5, Clanton; George Hardy, R 2, Verbena; Will M. Coffee, R 2, Verbena; Deason Jones, R 2, Verbena, John A. Jacks, R 5, Clanton.

"In order to secure the second distribution on your certificate, it is necessary to fill out an application form and attach it to the C-5-D certificate and mail to D. F. Mallette, Room 301, Old Post Office Building, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.", County Agent J. W. Fant said. "In cases where the C-5-D certificate has been lost, an affidavit form should be executed, attached to the application and mailed to Mr. Mallette. Application and affidavit forms can be obtained at the county agent's office or by writing to Mr. Malette at the above address.

"It will be appreciated if relatives or friends of the above named presons will pass on this information to those who have moved from the above listed addresses," Mr. Fant said.

Necessary forms to accompany C-5-I certificates will be sent to the county agent as soon as they are available, so they may advise and assist the certificate holders in properly submitting their certificates to the manager of the pool. It is reuested that all persons hold their C-5-I certificates until they have secured the proper forms from their county agents.

What Is A Trifle—

A loose thread, a lost minute, a penny more or less? Any of these things may lead to unexpected but important consequences.

Just how important is the penny? The ads in this paper give you a good illustration.

The pennies you save, multiplied by the minutes you gain, will become savings that mount into the dollars. These are trifles worth while.

NATIONAL USED CAR EXCHANGE WEEK HAD A DOUBLE PURPOSE

Detroit, Mar. 12. — Values in safety constitute one of the most important phases of National Used Car Exchange Week, said W. E. Holler, general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor Division, as all automobile dealers of the Clanton area continued the campaign to attract the attention of motorists to the bargains they are displaying in used cars.

The drive to present good used car bargains started Saturday, March 5, and lasted for a week, being sponsored by the entire automobile industry. Public officials, safety organization leaders, and newspapers have given active support to the campaign that had the double goal of removing the unsafe cars from traffic lanes and breaking the jam in used cars that has slowed down the automobile factories.

An Unknown Quantity

Algebra would be easy if "x" were not the "unknown quantity."

You know what quality is, you know what value is . . . but you puzzle over what comes between them and price. The "x" in that problem is indirect distribution: lack of control of production.

There is no algebra in shopping from the ads in this newspaper. Quality offered is a known quantity. It is so plain that you see it. It is so tangible that you keep it.

Back of Every ATLAS SAFETY TIRE

●Whatever you buy when you buy a tire—BUY SAFETY. Don't take safety for granted. Insist on it.

●That is an unselfish suggestion. There should be nothing so important to you as SAFETY. That is why we have specialized on ATLAS Tires. They are safe.

●We KNOW they are safe. Our experience with them proves it. Every modern, scientific safeguard is built into them. They're tested—torture-tested. They stand up in service.

●Tread is deeper—tougher. Grip-safe! Cords are dipped in pure rubber latex, to prevent internal friction and heat. Quality of materials is highest. Nothing can be better.

●Buy ATLAS. Safety is the BIG factor in every Atlas tire.

You need not have full cash in hand to buy Atlas tires—reasonable as the price is. Pay as you ride. Easy terms.

With their farms nearly all terraced, the 136 cooperators in the erosion control demonstration area near Greenville, Ala., are developing a new system of strip cropping to prevent their soils from washing away, reports G. E. McWhorter, project manager. The farmers have made definite plans to shift 360 acres of the steepest and most severely eroded parts of their fields to permanent hay crops and have agreed to adopt a system of strip rotation on 1,000 additional acres.

Silk Boycott Proposal An Economic Fallacy

Cost of Silk is Only Eight to Twelve Percent of Stocking Price

Dear to the hearts of American women of all ages are their silk stockings. To give them up means serious harm to American industry. An American worker weaving the raw silk into fabric. Japan breeds the silkworms and sends us the raw silk from the cocoons. Our workers, manufacturers and sellers do the rest.

By LATTIMER SHAW

WHEN an American woman "boycotts" a $1.00 pair of silk stockings she does 92 cents worth of economic damage to the United States in order to do perhaps 8 cents worth of damage to Japan, China and Italy.

A few minutes of research spent in verifying this important fact will reveal graphically that any widespread boycott of silk because we do not like the antics of certain members of the Japanese army would be a boomerang bringing calamity to 120,000 workers in the American silk hosiery industry.

Here's the way it is summed up by George Urlaub, executive director of the Throwsters' Research Institute, concerning the silk used in making silk stockings in this country: "Thirty million pounds of raw silk worth about $50,000,000 produce approximately 37,000,000 dozen pairs of silk hosiery having a retail value of around $330,000,000 which represents about $275,000,000 in wages, taxes, materials and earnings to American industry and its workers".

The whole thing is a matter of simple arithmetic. The spot price of raw silk, only about 90 percent of which comes from Japan, paid by our manufacturers of stockings, underwear, shirts, dresses and scarfs, is from $1.50 to $2.00 per pound. One pound of silk is sufficient to make from one to two dozen pairs of silk stockings. Silk stockings of the better grades range from 75 cents to $2.00 per pair. The average retail price is around $1.00. Therefore, at the highest price of silk, the silk in a dollar pair of stockings represents only about 8 to 15 cents. The rest is paid for workers' wages, administrative salaries, factory equipment and overhead, distribution, advertising, selling expense, wholesale and retail profits and, sometimes, an occasional dividend for stock holders. And practically the same story is true about silk underwear.

Lisle stockings cost about the same as those gleaned from the silkworm cocoons and they are made mostly of British long fiber cotton from Egypt. Silk substitutes are not suitable for stockings. They lack the necessary flexibility to return to shape when bulged by knees, calves and ankles.

There is another important item in this boycott proposition. Japan buys from us about one and a half times as much as we buy from her in dollar value. In 1937 this amounted to about $290,000,000 a valuable piece of business in this "recession" or whatever the present lull in industry is.

Viewed from any angle, there seems to be no economic sense whatever in a boycott of Japanese silk and American women should go right on enhancing the beauty of their shapely legs with silk stockings in the meantime, perhaps, giving their thought to other and more practical methods of stopping the cruel slaughter in China and other countries. They can do much for the peace of the world but not through giving up their beloved silk stockings or undies. A boycott is a sure step toward war.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

NEW YORK.—Many years ago, in South America, this writer was always hearing somebody mutter "Perros!" (dogs), as he passed by. It expressed dislike of all North Americans. Upon Sinclair's book, "The Jungle," about the Chicago packing houses, had been carefully mistranslated, in a widely circulated version, which made multitudes of South Americans believe all North Americans ate dogs. Even in remote jungle towns, I found European trade scouts and salesmen making diligent use of the book. It was the neatest trade propaganda trick of the century.

Propaganda Trick Hurt U. S. Trade

The one-sided battle has continued through the decades. Late reports are that South American radio stations are belting Uncle Sam with everything at hand, and, to the same degree, apostrophizing Italy, Germany and Japan.

For this reason, there appears to be more than meets the eye in the printed story of our new airwave rearmament, and the assignment of a new short-wave channel for broadcasts to South America.

With Secretary Hull, Dr. L. S. Rowe, director general of the Pan-American union, pleads for "stronger cultural ties" in the first broadcast. Spanish translations follow the English version.

Radio Aids in Fighting U. S. Smear

While all this is in the name of "peace and good-will," and official announcements carry no hint of a defensive propaganda war, it appears to be the answer—perhaps the only possible reply—to the widespread smearing campaign against the U. S. A. in Latin American countries.

The sixty-six-year-old Dr. Rowe is a happy choice to head America's "cultural," if not propaganda, outreach in this direction. He has become widely known and decidedly persona grata in South America in his 32 years of pleading and proselyting for solidarity, friendship and understanding in the Americas.

He has fraternized with South Americans more than any other northerner, lecturing, writing, evangelizing and expounding his doctrines of friendly co-operation—always on the high plane of cultural and intellectual intercourse. He has been head of the Pan-American union since 1920, succeeding John Barrett.

LIFE begins at forty for Gracie Fields, English Music Hall actress, who curtsies to the king and becomes a commander of the Order of the British Empire. It is another Jane Alger story, this tale of the Lancashire mill girl who became the highest-paid entertainer in the world.

Jane Alger Career of Stage Star

Her earnings from her 5,000,000 gramophone records, and from the stage and cinema have reached $750,000 a year. Her film, "Mr. Tower of London," ran seven years.

She lives simply with her mother, who manages her affairs, and never has anything more than pocket money. Every so often she visits Rochdale, the mill town where she sang for pennies at the age of seven, and has a rollicking time, singing for her old friends.

She was a "half-timer" in the cotton mills, half the day in school and half at work.

In 1930, she made a brief appearance at the Palace theater in New York. It wasn't much of a success. She explained afterward that she had been warned in England that entire audiences in America chewed gum together and in time, with dreadful facial contortions. This frightened her and spoiled her act, although, she admitted, there was only one observable gum-chewer.

Act Spoiled by Fear of Gum-Chewers

She was glad to land safely in England, where she is widely beloved and known as "Good Old Gracie."

Just a few days before her fortieth birthday, she returned home from a party at four o'clock in the morning. The milkman, the policeman on the beat and a street-sweeper ceremoniously handed her a morning paper with her name in the king's honor list. She is tall, blonde and merry.

Oilcloth in the Making

Oilcloth is a thick canvas coated on both sides with thick oil paint. First the canvas is passed through liquid glue, etc., pressed by heavy rollers, dried, and rubbed with pumice-stone. The paint is applied in several coats, the final coat being in a pattern. The quality of the oilcloth is governed by the number of coats of paint.

CARDINALS WIN IN GOLD MEDAL MEET

Tiffin Stars As Cards Take Cage Crown For Second Straight Year. Beat Columbus, Ga., Team.

The Mitchell Dam Cardinals successfully defended their basketball crown at Montgomery last week end, and are again champs of the Y. M. C. A. annual basketball tournament held at Montgomery. To hold the title, the Cards defeated the Columbus Manufacturing Company team in the final game Saturday night, 55 to 50.

Before the final, Mitchell Dam had polished off Nunn's Battery five and the Maxwell Field team. Columbus disposed of Nich's and Rubin's crack teams, of Montgomery, to get into the final.

The Blue Devils from Columbus led the big red team from Mitchell Dam by a few points all through the first half. The second half, however, found James ("Gabby") Tiffin as hot as a firecracker, and the chubby Cardinal forward fired 21 points to lead both teams in scoring, and to cinch the game for the Cards. Tiffin got a big hand from the crowd as he broke through the Columbus defense time after time by sheer speed to slip under the basket for easy crip shots. But Tiffin was getting lots of help, too. Dutch Baker got 10, Cobb 4, Tiny Mayfield 6, Ellison 2, and Cecil Jones 12. However, when the Cards found Tiffin was out for a big night, they were content to feed the ball to him—just so the points were scored.

Saturday night's victory gave the Cards the championship in the Y. M. C. A. Gold Medal Tournament for the second year in a row, although they were rated the under-dog as the game got under way, judging from the exceedingly smooth and convincing manner in which Columbus had put away its opponents in former games. Besides winning the championship trophy as a team, several members of this Card team were awarded various medals and honors, as follows:

Each member of the Card team received a miniature gold basketball charm.

Tiny Mayfield and Dutch Baker were picked by the judges as members of the all-tournament first team, and each received a gold honor medal for this.

Gabby Tiffin received a bronze honor medal for placing on the second all-tournament team.

Tiny Mayfield and Dutch Baker were picked as members of the Sportsmanship Team of the tournament, and each received a gold sportsmanship medal for this.

Three outstanding players of the tournament were picked, Fred (Tiny) Mayfield being one of these, for which he received a gold United States Federation honor award medal; in receiving this award, he was placed on the list of candidates for a place on the 1938 Gold Medal All-American team.

Manager A. B. (Steve) Stanley received a beautiful gold medal award as manager of the championship team.

Mitchell Dam has had a most successful season, fittingly climaxed by their victory in the Montgomery tournament. All of the boys are in there every minute of the game, giving all they have, and they have results to show for it. They have not won all of their games, but in those they lost, they made the going exceedingly hard for their opponents; they have not been push-overs for anybody. And, while the above named members of this team brought back most of the hardware from the big meet, a big share of the fine season's honor should be accorded Cobb, Ellison, Cecil Jones, and Dock Baker, and is accorded them by their team mates. They all, together, constitute a grand team, clean sports, and a fine bunch of fellows to know—champions in every sense the term can convey.

Most persons agree with Gov. Huxman's statement that "we probably will never realize what we owe the pioneers". The thing that causes the most worry, however, is how to get money to pay what we owe their descendants.—Topeka State Journal.

COMMON INTERESTS

The current agitation in Rhode Island to develop a critical attitude toward the proposed Anglo-American trade treaty, at least insofar as it adversely affects this state's industries, is happily enlisting the cooperation of both capital and labor. Obviously enough, the proposed preferential treatment of various British imports would injure both employers and employees. And hence the task of opposing the proposition is a joint of responsibility.

This is not the only instance where management and labor have of late established a common interest in public problems. The recent resolution of the American Federation of Labor condemning the federal taxes on corporate surplus and capital gains is another case in point. Here, too, it is recognized that the injury which these levies do to capital is likewise felt by labor. Whatever tends to retard or stop the wheels of industry is as much the concern of workers as it is of owners.—Providence Journal.

ANOTHER GRAB FOR POWER

The government reorganization bill is in its own way no less objectionable than was the measure by which the president last year sought to reorganize the Supreme Court. In both there is an undisguised grab for power on the part of the executive. Both would deprive congress of the voice in national affairs to which it is entitled by tradition as well as the Constitution.

Perhaps it is too much to expect that public opinion can be made to assert itself so soon after its successful battle in the judiciary controversy. Yet the present effort to reform and realign the agencies of government offers as serious a threat to the welfare of the people. It gives the president an authority which might be used to establish a fascist state. It makes a partisan joke of civil service. It destroys the safeguards which custom and common sense have thrown around the expenditure of federal funds.

The greatest defect of the bill is contained in the provision which abolishes the office of comptroller general and thus would make impossible the pre-audit of accounts which has proved so useful an instrument for the saving of public money. Opposing especially this feature of the plan, Sen. Byrd has declared:

"All of the authority and tools for the prevention of illegal, irregular or inaccurate contracting and expenditure by executive agents of the government would be transferred from the present independent agent, who is responsible only to the executive, who is the head of a political party."

If this bill passes, not only will every department, bureau and agency be made directly responsible to Mr. Roosevelt but the White House will be virtually given the key to the United States treasury.—Boston Transcript.

The president doesn't want the present hard times to be konwn as the Roosevelt recession. He wants us to know we are still suffering from the Hoover depression. We have a faint memory of hearing over the radio back in 1936 that we had pulled out of the latter. Were we misinformed—or not?

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

BY FRANK P. LITSCHERT

According to press dispatches, President Roosevelt the other day, after having examined the report on several hundred "little business men" on ending the "recession", gently chided the little fellows by quoting from a letter by Secretary of Commerce Roper, written when the report on the letters was transmitted by him to the White House. After examining the 1,900 suggestions Mr. Roper wrote that "it is an interesting thing that self help seems to be well nigh lacking from the analysis thus far made of their suggestions."

Again he wrote:

"I am impressed, as I believe you will be, by the fact that these business men require more definite study of methods of coordinating their views into national visions of the importance of conditions and also a more definite knowledge of operations and responsibilities of government as related to them."

When the "little business men" met in Washington, there was no unanimity of opinion on the subject of government aid. Indeed the resolutions adopted by the conference embodied ideas not far different from those more frequently suggested by the so-called "big business men". The exclamation was frequently made by the visiting business men that what we want is not a "loan" but "to be let alone".

Be that as it may, however, if Mr. Roper gathered the impression from the 1,900 suggestions forwarded him by mail from "little business men" that these folks were relying on the government rather than self help, to pull them out of their difficulties, there can be small wonder about this. It's the fashion.

The time used to be when we were taught that the Lord helps those who help themselves. The boy being trained for the future was told by his parents and his other teachers that he must rely for success on his own merits and the amount of ability and intelligence he put into his efforts to reach the top of the ladder. With the coming of the New Deal, however, a subtle change crept over our individual philosophy. It perhaps is unfair to blame this all on to the new prophets of economic order. It has been growing on us for several years. The coming of the New Deal seemed to hasten its fruition.

At any rate the impression got abroad, some of it subtly spread for political reasons, that the "economic royalists" were responsible for the misfortunes which came upon us in 1929. It was therefore up to the government to curb the "royalists" and to pull us out of the slough of depression. The doctrine became a popular one. It is human nature not to chastise ourselves for any of the follies which bring destruction upon us. It is always easier and more comfortable to blame it all on to someone else. It is pleasant, also, to sit back in the harness and wait for Uncle Sam to push us into the high road to prosperity.

This new view of social responsibility was made all the more attractive by the promise of the New Deal to reform society and the expenditure of billions in all sorts of relief plans and social experiments added to the glamor. Relief by the government grew into a permanent institution. At present its requirements are growing instead of deflating. Nearly everyone in need now looks to the government for help. The expectation for state aid has come generally from farmers and city workers who have been misplaced or crippled in their earning power by economic readjustment. There is no reason therefore to be surprised if business slips into the same groove. It is fashionable now to depend on Uncle Sam's rather than old fashioned pluck and enterprise. Perhaps if these two last named qualities were revived and we should recall the old saying that the Lord helps those who help themselves, so much aid from Uncle Sam—which after all is only taking money from one of our pockets ond putting it in another—would become less essential to our national well being.

"DEMOCRACY" PROPAGANDA

Secretary Ickes, who is never truly happy except when he is making speeches, staged a radio yawp recently in which he urged "the democracies of the world to stick together".

That word "democracy" is taking a terrible beating these days. New Dealers use it quite as if such a thing as a "democracy" really existed.

The fact is that, away from the jungle tribes in interior Africa and along the Amazon, there isn't a single "democracy" in existence anywhere on earth.

Mr. Roosevelt, in his more expansive moods, sometimes speaks of the American union of states as a "democracy".

It isn't, of course. Our form of government is a representative republic.

In a true demcoracy, everything would be decided by a popular vote, and all powers and privileges would rest with the majority. Minorities would have no rights whatsoever.

There would be no constitution, no courts, no legislatures, no checks and no balances.

The majority would in all things be supreme.

Mr. Roosevelt and his merry little brain trusters wouldn't survive a week in a pure democracy. And they know it.

But they like the sonorous roll of the term. They like for the illiterate and half-illiterate masses to think that it means something. And each time they use it, they endeavor to have it mean something else.

Secretary Ickes' conception of "democracies sticking together" means an American army and navy ready, when called, to go overseas and fight Great Britain's battles for the retention of her colonial empire.—Philadelphia Sunday Dispatch.

FEAR SLOWS RECOVERY

According to the Alexander Hamilton Institute, the year 1937 ended with the rate of manufacuring activity in December extending its downward plunge to tht lowest point since November, 1934, when activity was not far abovt the bottom of hte severe 1929-1932 recesson. The index of factory output was 75 in December as compared with 124 at the peak of the recovery movement in April, a decrease of 39.5 per cent. This was a much more prtcipitous drop than tht decline of 27.3 per cent during the latter part of 1929. The decline last year erased 71.0 per cent of the recovery from July, 1932, to April, 1937.

The Institute adds: "It is apparent that the value of factory output in December was close to a sufficiently low level to provide the basis, under normal conditions, for some recovery in the not distant future. Such a recovery, however, may be characterized by a lack of vigor because of the hampering effect of last year's over-expansion."

It must also be taken into account that in previous periods of economic recovery after a ropid drop in production and consumption the element of fear and uncertainty of possible government interference in business, federal competition with business, and a threat of inflation was absent. There is such fear and uncertainty abroad now that it may well defeat recovery unless it is dissipated. What business now needs more than regimentation or loans is the assurance that it can go ahead into a normal season of expansion without the deterrents mentioned above. Here is something worth thinking about.

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

I have recently read "Return To Religion", by Link. The author is a great psychologist. He does not know much about theology, but his philosophy is all right. For the last few years, we have heard much from the psychologists about the danger of suppressed desires. Young people have been taught that what they want they have a right to have. Parents have taken the bridle off youth. Modern education has said, "Do as you please". The world has waked up to find itself in the middle of a bad fix. It is refreshing to find an outstanding psychologist come back to the old time Christian philosophy which says "Deny yourself. Do what you ought to do whether you feel like it or not. Think of the other fellow. Learn obedience." Link even accepts the old orthodox position of human depravity. He admits that man is really a fallen creature. He agrees with the fundamentalist that sin is really sin. "Return To Religion" is very comforting to some of us old time parents who reared our children under the old time methods of discipline and self control. I do not agree with the author in all he says, but his philosophy is so good that I have an idea he will eventually get his theology straight. I hope so. Hurrah for the old time philosophy and for the "old time religion"!

The man who rejects the Bible doctrine of human depravity can find no explanation for world conditions. "Why do people do as they do?" The Bible has an answer: "In Adam all died". Like it or not, we were born in sin. Man in himself is helpless. He cannot even think right. He knows that the world is headed toward war. He does not want war. He knows that the next world conflict will practically eliminate the race and wreck civilization. But he does not know what to do about it. Personally, I believe in a big army and navy. If the race were "born again" Christians, then we could afford to be pacific in our ideas. But the race is not Christian. The pacifists are endeavoring to apply the teachings of Christ to nations that in their hearts are rejecting Christ. "My peace I give unto you". That is what Jesus said to His own. He never said, "I give my peace unto the world". He said in substance that the world had no peace to give to anyone. Christians should and can live together in peace. But what is a Christian? He is a person who has been born a second time. He has personally accepted Christ and is trusting His atoning blood for salvation. Just being a church member does not make a person a Christian. Spiritually speaking, it nauseates one when a group of young people say that they will not fight for their country even to defend it in time of war. How did these young people become so marvelously good in these loose days? That type talking is no indication of spirituality or deep thinking. It is an indication of superficial thinking and deterioration of character. It is also a reflection on the greatest Christians who ever lived. As I remember, there were some pretty good soldiers in th Bible, and God was with them. Personally, I am in favor of the United tates staying out of foreign alliances. I am in favor of our attending to our own business. I do not want war. As a private citizen and as a Christian I will do all I can to keep our nation out of war. But if war comes I have a duty to my country. Duties never conflict. "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's and to God the things that are God's". Jesus encouraged the paying of taxes. Some of the tax money was used to support military machines. What do young superficial dreamers think about that There will be wars until Jesus comes. America, build a big navy and a big army! Do not be deceived. Man is not a divine being. He is a fallen creature. He needs to be restrained. Prisons, policemen, and armed force are necssary to hold in subjection an unregenrate race.

ISABELLA F. H. A.

On last Wednesday, March 9th, the Isabella chapter of the F. H. A. met in the home economics department. The program rendered was of much interest to all the members. It was based on the "Dining Room."

The meeting was called to order by the president. Roll call and reading of the minutes by the secretary; devotional by Willie Mae Wells.

"Floor Covering for the Dining Room," Madge Williams; "Other Furnishing for the Dining Room," Mildred Oden; Table Linen and its Care," Bonnie Pearl Mitchell; "Jokes," Gladys Oden.

Miss Callen talked to the girls about the objectives of the club. everyone enjoyed this talk very much and seemed to get some benefit from it.

Hen eggs weighing between 23 and 25 ounces to the dozen hatch best, reports John E. Ivey, poultryman of the Alabama Extension Service, in advocating that farmers and poultrymen use good eggs for hatching purposes.

Farmers are getting higher prices for their chickens than they did last spring, and the Bureau of Agricultural Economics predicts that they will continue to get higher prices during the first half of the year, but that the price likely will be lower during the last half of the year.

The Bureau of Public Roads says that two-thirds of Alabama's roads are surfaced. What it means by "surfaced" is not indocated by the report.

"LIVINGSTON BREAKFAST"

Livingston, Ala., Mar. 14. — The regular "Livingston Breakfast" given during the meeting of the Alabama Education Association will be held in the Terrace Room of the Tutwiler Hotel at 8 o'clock Friday morning, March 25, according to Dr. N. F. Greenhill, president of Livingston State Teachers College.

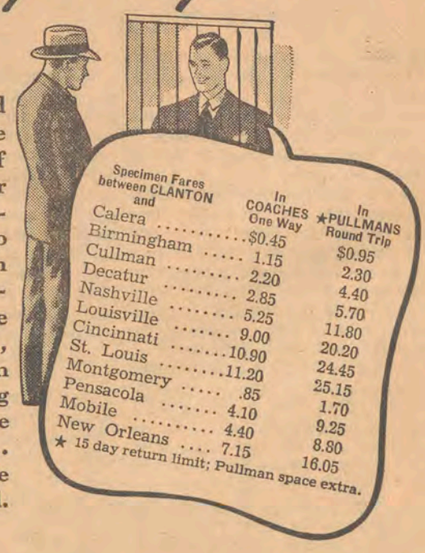
Tickets for the breakfast will be on sale in the Municipal Auditorium all day Thursday at 60 cents each.

This breakfast is a regular feature held every year during the meeting of the Alabama Education Association. All former students of Livingston State Teachers College attending A. E. A. are urged to attend. A larger crowd is expected to attend this year than has ever attended before.

Those receiving invitations from Chilton County are: Tina Hyman, Loyce Baker, Zane E. Turner, Pat Maples, Grace Meigs, Herman Lecroy, Mrs. Herman Lecroy, Elsie Conway, Jewel Taylor, Lorene Lecroy, W. F. Stone, Woodfin Littlejohn, Alma Fitts, Marjorie Wallace, Mollie Belle Ousley, Dorothy Manning, Mrs. Ruth Calfee, Evelyn Cooper, Lena Maye Deloach, E. L. Smith, Geraldine Ratcliff.

Alabama has more railroad mileage than five of the six New England states combined.

A GOOD SCHOOL RECORD



Tonie Jr., Connell, age 9 years, of Friendship community, most reluctantly missed school one day last week, which was his first day to miss since he began going three years ago. The young fellow did his best to cram down his breakfast so that his dad would let him go, but that old "flu" had him, and he could not shake it off.

We commend you for the fine spirit, Junior.

Highway Officials Say Vote Right Or Get Out

Ultimatum To Road Employees Sees Administration Move Backing The Candidacy Of Riddle

Montgomery, Mar. 12. — The Machiavellian dictate that state employees have been fearing—"Vote like we tell you, or get out"—sounded last week in the department of Highway Commissioner Gaston Scott, who is leading the administration's fight in behalf of Hardy Riddle, just as Matt Murphy is doing in behalf of Bob Goode.

And while men and women with no other means of livelihood pondered, some of the women tearfully, whether to surrender their jobs or the inherent right of every American citizen to vote as he or she pleases, the authority of Scott to discharge an employee without consulting other members of the commission was challenged.

Several employees were called into his office last week and given ultimatums to "get right". One of the engineers, refusing to get right, was told to turn in his resignation. But he decided not to resign, preferring instead to be discharged.

The highway commission is a three-man body and can act only when at least two members concur. Thus, if Scott discharges anyone for not voting as he instructs, it will have to be with the concurrence of Commissioner L. L. Herzberg or H. D. Burnum if it is regular.

This was the situation, further strengthening the belief that the Graves administration and "pie eating" will be the paramount issue in the forthcoming gubernatorial campaign, that existed as Chauncey Sparks prepared to lead off the race with an opening address at Clayton, in his home county of Barbour, at 2 p.m., Wednesday. The pie-eating army is expected to receive the full force of Sparks' speech.

Scott, who has busied himself several months in trying to figure out a way to use public funds for building a bridge to aid the development of privately-owned Dauphin Island has recently taken time out to lend his genius to many things political.

Among the Graves leaders supporting Bob Goode for governor, the most active and most ardent is Matt Murphy. Murphy is assuring, or rather attempting to assure, persons and employees connected with the state's liquor store system that Goode is the man. One of his liquor store supervisors is rendering him yeoman service in their campaign, and the word is being passed down to store employees.

Murphy is not only the man most interested in Goode for governor. He is the Graves man most interested in who is governor. Of all those at the pie counter, Murphy feeds the fattest, not even excepting Horace Wilkinson.

A check of the records in Comptroller Lee's office for the last six months of 1937 shows that Murphy was paid by the state fees totaling more than $20,000, which does not include one cent of the $10 a day salary and $10 a day expenses paid him as a member of the liquor board. Neither does it include all of the money paid him on his contract calling for 40 per cent of his collections of delinquent gasoline taxes.

These payments of more than $20,000 for a six months' period were made from five different funds—$9,611.40 being paid him from the public road and bridge fund, $5,611.40 from the gasoline tax fund, $3,336.86 from tax commission salaries, and $1,772.11 from tax commission general fund encumbrances.

And so Matt Murphy, who failed to carry a single county in Alabama as a handpicker candidate against National Committeeman Leon McCord, is captain of the Graves forces seeking to elect Bob Goode governor.

NEW YORK.—A bequest of $1,000,000, left to Harvard university by Mrs. Agnes Wahl Nieman, will make it possible for newspaper men to go to school at Harvard. It might be better if they would go to school to John Stewart Bryan, handsome, fluent, and erudite head of the committee which will pick the candidates for the Harvard sabbatical years.

Scribes Get Free Course at Harvard

Mr. Bryan is publisher of the Richmond News-Leader and president of the College of William and Mary. He talks rapidly and interestingly on poetry, politics, history, philosophy, the classics and humanities. If Mrs. Nieman had engaged him to do $1,000,000 worth of traveling and talking to newspaper men, instead of giving the money to Harvard, the light shed in the dark caverns of journalistic minds surely would have matched any possible Harvard effulgence. And, like Erasmus, Mr. Bryan loves to travel and talk.

The glow in Mr. Bryan's own mind was imparted partly by Harvard and partly by the University of Virginia. Of the southern aristoi, he practiced law in Richmond and then engaged with his father, the late Joseph Bryan, in energetic co-management of the family newspaper, then the Richmond Times. The elder Mr. Bryan had established a tradition of independence which his son has maintained.

With the passing of such free-swinging journalists as Halstead, Greeley, Watterson, and, more recently, Fremont Older, Mr. Bryan remains one of the few distinguished exemplars of that kind of spark-plug newspapering.

Example of Spark Plug Journalist

He was president of the American Newspaper Publishers' association from 1926 to 1928.

Sixty-six years old, he still keeps up with his horsemanship, taking all the jumps until a few years ago.

He is caught up in an incredible whirl of directorates, public and civic posts, clubs, philanthropies and social and political activities—always with time to talk. And now he'll have to measure copy-readers and reporters for a college workout.

MME. PAUL DUPUY, whose French chateau is now occupied by the duke and duchess of Windsor, was the first publisher to introduce American comic strips in France. The French liked the comics, but they wouldn't take the columnists. Mme. Dupuy found they liked to do their own interpreting and shied away from omniscience in all forms.

Mme. Dupuy Gave French the Funnies

She is the American-born widow of Paul Dupuy. When M. Dupuy died in 1927, he left in her hands the biggest string of newspapers and magazines in France.

In the French tradition, in which the widow quietly assumes command of the cafe or shop, she picked up the vast publishing business, managing it at first from a sickbed, as she was convalescing from a long illness.

The publications included the Daily Petit Parisien, with a circulation of 1,800,000; Dimanche Illustre, a Sunday newspaper in which Mme. Dupuy introduced the first Sunday supplement in France; La Science et la Vie, comparable to the Scientific American; Omnia, an automobile journal; Le Republicain des Hautes - Pyrenees, a provincial daily; Nos Loisirs, a women's magazine; Agriculture Nouvelle, a weekly, and several others.

Mme. Dupuy was Helen Browne, blonde and beautiful daughter of William H. and Mary C. Browne of New York. She attended the Anne Browne school for young ladies at 715 Fifth avenue, New York. Studying in Paris, she met M. Dupuy, son of the founder of the Petit Parisien.

Met Editor as Student in Paris

They were married in 1907 and have two sons and a daughter, the Princess de Polignac. For many years, their marriage has been cited as one ideal international romance—a bit of background which is, no doubt, of interest to the duke and duchess as they move into her charming old Chateau de la Maye, near Versailles.

Invented Knitting Machine

Watching his wife slowly knitting woolen stockings, Rev. William Lee, a Nottingham clergyman, hit upon the idea of making a mechine do this work. In time he succeeded, and knitted upon his crude machine the first silk stockings. A victim of prejudice, Lee died a poor man. That was more than 300 years ago. In 1864, William Cotton, of Loughborough, brought out a machine on Lee's principle, and soon it was adopted all over the world.

COLLEGE IS ON SECURE FINANCIAL FOUNDATION

Montgomery, Ala., Mar. 14—Dr. Hubert Searcy, president-elect of Huntingdon College, today announced the opening of a $250,000 forward movement "to place the college upon a permanently secure financial foundation and to insure its continuance as a fully accredited institution."

The movement is the first step in a comprehensive program of development promulgated by Dr. Searcy, who will assume office in June, in collaboration with the retiring president, Dr. Walter D. Agnew. With a group of 11 comparatively new buildings adequate to the needs of the college for some years to come, emphasis in the immediate future will be placed upon the building of endowment and the strengthening of the academic position, Dr. Searcy announced.

Mr. Virgil Newton of Mitchell Dam is improving at St. Margaret's hospital in Montgomery.

Citizens Of Enterprise Favor Ralph D. Grant

Editor Union-Banner:

We, the undersigned citizens and school patrons of Enterprise community, Beat 6, ask for a space in your paper in which to address our friends and the citizens in general all over Chilton county.

We notice that Prof. Ralph D. Grant has entered the race for Superintendent of Education in our county. We wish to lend our endorsement to Prof. Grant's candidacy. He has served as principal of our school at Enterprise for the past two and one-half years, and we have had opportunity to observe him both as a teacher and as a man. We feel that he is a thoroughly competent teacher and a man whose Christian character is above reproach. We believe he is thoroughly competent and qualified to serve as County Superintendent of Education, and we unqualifiedly recommend him to the voters of Chilton County:

J. W. Devaughn, Whit Moore, W. B. Williams, J. H. Jacks, E. G. Langston, R. C. Morris, S. D. Deloach, Melton Moore, J. H. Burkhalter, I. D. Huett, W. A. Moore, G. L. Griffin, C. B. Huett, E. E. WILLIAM WILSON DIED

William (John Henry) Wilson, age 20, died at his home at Isabella Monday night, following a brief illness. Funeral services were held Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock; Spigener directing.

Surviving are the mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. N. O. Roebuck; three half sisters—Glory, Betty and Gayle Roebuck; one half brother, Alfred Roebuck; grandmother, Mrs. Emma Sweet.

Pallbearers were: Jim Traywick, Bill Traywick, Jimmie Ware, Harry Fox, Hardin Terry, and Preston Culp.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Oliver Kachelhofer and daughter, Margaret, of Bessemer, were the week end visitors of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Freeman.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this means of expressing our thanks and appreciation to the people of this community and elsewhere for the kindness and help shown us during our recent sad bereavement. We especially wish to thank the doctors for their untiring services, and the church and people for the many nice flowers.—W. N. Thomas and Family.

REMAINS OF MRS. THOMAS BURIED AT CENTER HILL

Mrs. Dennis Corley Thomas, age about 55 years, died at the home near Jemison last Sunday morning at 3:15 o'clock. Burial was at Center Hill Sunday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock. Services were conducted by Revs. Littleton and Cost.

Surviving are: the husband, W. N. Thomas; three sons—L. B. of Jemison, P. G. and B. M. of New Jersey; two grand daughters and two grand sons; father, three sisters, and a host of other relatives and friends.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Several of Miss Myrtle McKinnon's friends gathered at her home Saturday, March 12, in order to celebrate her 13th birthday by a nice social. Those present were: Mary Sam Vinson, Katherine Wyatt, little Miss Bobbie Gray, Pauline Scarbough, little Miss Frances Collins, Eugene Baker, Johnnie and A. J. McKinnon, Percy and Irvin Crew, Warren Scarbough, Bobbie Vinson and William Popwell.

Everyone seemed to have enjoyed themselves. Many games were played and prizes were given to the winners of various events and contests. Many nice and useful gifts were given to the hostess by the ones attending the events. After many games were played the hostess served refreshments to her many friends.

PATES CHAPEL

Sunday school was quite small last Sunday, but everyobdy come back next Sunday with a well prepared lesson.

There will be a weiner roast at Pates Chapel Friday night, March 18. Every man or boy is supposed to bring a pound of weiners. We are expecting to have some music. So, everybody come and enjoy the fun.

All G. A. girls are urged to meet next Saturday at Pates Chapel, and all other new comers are invited also.

UNIT COURSE OFFERS COLLEGE CREDITS IN SIX WEEKS' TIME

Troy, Ala., Mar. 14.—Troy State Teachers College, beginning April 25, will offer something new in additional study for teachers whose work is ending as the state's seven-month schools come to a close.

A teacher whose school closes in mid-April may enjoy a short vacation, register for the special unit course to begin April 25—take a three-hour subject unit course to nceht rarodwo subject in which her certificate is lacking—and by doubling classroom hours, complete the course in six weeks.

With more and more counties requiring Summer study in order that teacher certificates may be raised in standard, the college inaugurated these courses. Heretofore a short curse gave only 1½ units for the six weeks. Under this plan 3 full units can be acquired in the same period.

Courses included regular subjects of study with special emphasis on latest treatments in Education, Practical Arts, Psychlogy and Physical Education for men and women. In this the men's course includes recreational leadership and that for the women embodies supervision of School Health Programs.

BURIED AT CEDAR GROVE

Mrs. Mary Price, age 75 years, died at her home on Thorsby Route 1 last Saturday night, following a lingering illness. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Cedar Grove, Rev. J. W. Enfinger officiating; Spigener directing.

Pallbearers were: J. S. Massey, C. E. Wells, R. E. Scott, S. E. Liveoak, Ralph Williams, and Frank Price.

Surviving are: two daughters—Mrs. R. M. Foshee, and Mrs. J. M. Littlejohn; three sons—Lonnie, J. D., and J. C. Price, all of Thorsby; two brothers—Lee and Steve Pate of Thorsby; one sister—Mrs. Phil Childress; twenty-four grandchildren and eighteen great-grandchildren.

PLAY AT JEMISON FRIDAY NIGHT, 18

"The Wild Oats Boy," is the name of a play to be put on at Jemison Friday night of this week, March 18th. Sponsors are the ladies of Jemison W. M. U. It is a three-act cmedy and promises lots of fun. Admission 10c and 20c, benefit Baptist church. All are urged to come.

IN MEMORY OF OUR BABY

On March 12th the death angel took away our darling baby, 15 months old. He was ill for only a short while. Naturally, we are sorely grieved at the little one's going, but God knows best.

We thank each and everyone who lent a helping hand during the illness and death; especially do we thank the doctors for what they did; also Mrs. Jimmie Hunter and Mrs. Girthie Snow.—Mother and Father, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Little.

A drive to promote new uses and increased consumption of cotton was organized recently at Atlanta at a conference of governmental and business executives. Harry D. Wilson, Louisiana Commissioner of Agriculture, was elected chairman of a committee of eight to promote this work.

INSIST ON GENUINE BAYER ASPIRIN

C. L. Wilkins Writes

Will you please allow me to say a few words to the voters of Chilton County through your paper?

Ladies and gentlement, who are citizens and voters of our home county, which we think is the best in the Union, and which we want always to be, I am at all times ready to do anything to hold up our standard of morals and honesty to the principles that this, our United States was founded upon.

Now, I have not forgotten the vote you gave me about five years ago. At that time I felt that I was due you my entire life so far as possible and honorable for me to do. I would like for you to still know that I would be glad to help you if possible, and that I still appreciate you and your votes. I am hoping that I have been some help to someone at least. I have done the very best I knew under all circumstances. I have tried to be honest and fair and true to all.

There have been some things happened that were discouraging, but there were some which I am proud of. I would like for you to remember just a few things.

First, to you who are patrons of Enterprise school: When I became a patron of Enterprise school, and we had the first part of the building, there was a debt of about $4,200 on it. As some of you will remember, I did all I could, and finally it was paid. Also, since that time we have added still more than the first building. I have done my best. I was at the singing recently; you sang and played the piano for which the good women (my wife being one of them) are responsible. May we stay together?

Since I have been a member of the board of education you have had to pay school fees, which was a lot of trouble. You don't have these to pay any more. You can think, also, of some new buildings in the county—at Enterprise, Thomas Jr., Cooper, Collins Chapel, Isabella, Vermont, and other repair work. All of this cost money. Many people are being furnished trucks at their doors.

If I am not mistaken, when I became a member of the board it was in debt. Today the board of education does not owe any debt. The teachers get their money when due, and the truck drivers get their money on time.

I am proud of this, and I think you are. Please don't think that I have any desire for any honor, or that I would have you look up to me for any of this. I wish I could see every home out of debt. I believe in cash business. All that I have done, I have felt was my duty.

I guess there will not be any more candidates to announce. As you know, I am at your hands again. If, after you have thought of all of us, and you can see fit to vote for me, I will appreciate it and will do my very best for you again. I feel that I could do a better part for you now, because I am better acquainted with the work. But if you wish to try some other candidate and do not care to vote for me, it will be all right. But I would like for you to think of this place being a very important one. Did you ever stop to think how necessary it is that we have good Christian men and women to teach our children? They are to be the future of this old world, and if we fail to do our duty, what is going to happen?

Now, I will close, and if for any reason you would like to ask me any question, please feel free to do so. I will do my best to answer honestly.—C. L. WILKINS.

REFUGE

Sunday school was very well attended last Sunday, although there is always room for improvement. We are hoping that God will bless and help those who are unconcerned about their own souls and help them to realize what Sunday school would mean to them.

Rev. Lockhart delivered one of the best messages Sunday night that he has ever given at Refuge. The house was filled to capacity; there were several visitors, whom we are always glad to have, and invite them back at any and all times.

Next Sunday and Sunday night are our regular preaching dates. Let's all come out next Sunday to preaching; and to Sunday school, with a well prepared lesson.—Mrs. J. S. Easterling.

STORE TAX DIVISION OF THE STATE TAX COMMISSION

The chief clerk of the store tax division of the State Tax Commission is charged with both executive and judicial functions. It is his duty to supervise and superintend the collection of the chain store taxes. In this connection he must compare the returns of previous years with those of the present year. He must check the corporate records for the indications of new business enterprises, with the end in view of subjecting them to the tax should they fail, either through neglect or wilfully, to make their returns as required by law. He must carefully supervise the issuance of the store licenses, to the end that the proper number of license be issued each individual or concern.

In his judicial capacity as the chief clerk of the store tax department he must advise the taxpayers of the law as applied to the numerous complicated situations which arise in connection with the administration of the chain store act. In this connection the chief clerk must necessarily work in close harmony with his field men, keeping in constant touch with their problems and advising them of the proper procedure as the occasion arises.

The store tax becomes due and payable from and after the first day of January of each year, and the act provides that it shall be unlawful to engage in business after such date without having first obtained such a license. All licenses issued expire on December 31, of each calendar year. A party failing to procure a license by March 1, may be cited as delinquent. The license is paid directly to the state tax commission. The proceeds from such license is covered into the state treasury to the credit of the Educational Trust Fund.

The collection for store licenses has increased steadily from year to year. The total collections for the last three fiscal years are as follows:

1935	$104,502.89
1936	117,239.01
1937	118,695.41

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

SPECIAL SPRAY CONTROLS VARIOUS PECAN DISEASES

Auburn, Mar. 14. — Alabama pecan producers are delighted that a special bordeaux spray, containing smaller amounts of hydrated lime than the regular bordeaux formula, have been found an effective control for pecan scab. It also controls many foliage diseases such as downy spot, vein spot, liver spot, and blotch.

"Three years of testing the special bordeaux formula by specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture at Albany, Ga., and Shreveport, La., have shown that the fungous diseases may be brought under control without injury to the tree," reports W. A. Ruffin, entomologist, Alabama Extension Service.

The formula for the special spray includes 2 pounds of copper sulphate, ½-pound of hydrated lime, and 50 gallons of water. The first spray of this material should be applied when the first leaves are one-half to two-thirds grown. This controls scab, downy spot, and vein spot.

Before this special bordeaux spray was developed, many growers attempted to control scab with the regular bordeaux formula containing 3 pounds of copper sulphate, 3 pounds of hydrated lime, and 50 gallons of water. They found that this contained too much lime, and in many cases, especially during dry weather, caused complete defoliation of the trees and a loss of the nut crop. The new special spray does not cause this damage to the trees and the nut crop.

The records show that there were 725 more retail stores in Alabama in 1935 than there were in 1929. But the sales were less by $189,884,000.

OTOOTAN SOYBEANS MAKE EXCELLENT HOG GRAZING

Auburn, Mar. 14. — With the approach of planting time, more and more Alabama farmers are making plans for growing Otootan soybeans for hog grazing and seed production this year. Both can be successfully done in many sections of the state.

J. P. Wilson, manager of the Wiregrass sub-experiment station at Headland, has found that pork can be produced at 3 cents per pound by letting hogs graze oats, Otootan soybeans, peanuts, and permanent pastures from the day they are born until they are sold or killed for meat.

Mr. Wilson grows crops so that the sows are on pasture from April to July and on oats from November to April.

The spring litter of pigs is farrowed in the pasture in May and is allowed to stay on the pasture through June. It is then on soybeans during July and August and on runner peanuts from September until sold in February.

The fall litter is farrowed in November and is on oats from November to December; on hogged-off peanut fields from January to April; on pasture from April to July; on soybeans from July to August 15; on Spanish peanuts from August 15 to September 15; and on runner peanuts from September 15 until sold in October.

Each year since 1930, many Alabama farmers have successfully produced Otootan soybeans for planting purposes.

BAKER CLUB NEWS

The Baker home demonstration club met at the lovely home of Mrs. Earle Thomas on Tuesday, March 8, at 2:00 o'clock, with nine members present. Mrs. J. A. Marcus, the president, called the meeting to order, and Mrs. D. G. Baker read a chapter in the Bible. This was followed by the roll call, and the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting by the secretary. Mrs. Horace Popwell gave a most interesting talk on her trip to California, which was greatly enjoyed by all. Miss Grace then made a few remarks on the kitchen contest meeting which was held at the court house Saturday to get the men interested in improving their wives' kitchens. A poem "Smile" was given by Mrs. J. A. Marcus. After the business of the club was disposed of, the members were served cheese biscuits, waffles and coffee by the hostess. At a late hour the club dismissed to meet Tuesday, April 12, at the home of Mrs. J. A. Marcus.

COOPER 4-H CLUB

On March 4 the Cooper 4-H club met. We had a lovely tea which had been planned at the last meeting. All members enjoyed it very much. Miss Grace asked the questions to see if the girls were A-1 students. We closed with our pledge. We are all looking forward to the next meeting.

VERBENA DEMONSTRATION CLUB

Members of the Verbena home demonstration club spent a very enjoyable day last Wednesday, February 16, with Mrs. H. T. Williams, Jr., getting their quilt ready to show the public.

The morning was spent in quilting, and at noon a bountiful lunch was served to Mesdames Joe Gaines, J. E. Barrett, V. B. Champion, W. B. Strock, J. G. Dansby, M. H. Adams, G. C. Adams, Merle Burkhalter, Miss Bessie Gilmore, and the hostess. After lunch Mrs. M. W. Mims, Mrs. R. B. Cathey, and Mrs. J. G. Thrailkill joined the others and finished the quilt. It will be on display at some public place and chances will be sold by the ladies of the Verbena club.

The Verbena club met Monday, February 14, at the home of Mrs. Joe Gaines. After the meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. W. B. Strock, the club sang "Dixie" and "Swing Low Sweet Chariot". The secretary called the roll and read the minutes of the last meeting. During a short business session it was recidd to meet on Wednesday, February 16, to quilt the club quilt. Miss Grace explained the plans of the kitchen contest to the club, and almost every member plans to enter the contest. Mrs. W. B. Strock, Mrs. H. T. Williams, Jr., and Mrs. V. B. Champion were elcted to score the kitchens at the beginning and end of the contest.

Miss Irma Thrailkill gave an interesting talk on "How to make our work more interesting" Mrs. Gaines invited the club into the kichen to see the demonstration. Mrs. H. T. Williams, Jr., made the pastry. The members were served delicious lemon pie and coffee. Those present were Mesdames W. B. Strock, M. H. Adams, V. B. Champion, L. S. Jones, Joe Gaines, H. T. Williams, Jr., G. C. Adams, Judson Strock, J. G. Thrailkill, W. T. Murray, John Mitchell, C. N. Mitchell, Mollie Gaines; Misses Irma Thrailkill, Bessie Gilmore, Merle Burkhalter, and our home demonstration agent, Miss Meta E. Grace.

ALPINE-PLETCHER CLUB

Our meeting for February was postponed on account of sickness. We are planning a very active year. All members are very much interested in our club work. We hope to be a first class club by the end of the year. Our club will put on a play to try to show the advantages of buying household needs in large quantities. Miss Grace will be with us to put on a very interesting demonstration. We want all club members and their families present. Place and date will be announced later. Our motto at each meeting is to make the next one better and more interesting.—Mrs. Lester Walker, reporter.

SINGING AT SHILOH

The singing society met at this place last Sunday. We had a real good singing in the old-fashioned way. Every one seemed to enjoy the singing very much. The Burkhalter and Prattville quartets were with us, and we invite them back every time they can come.

The directors for the afternoon were: Carlos Owen, C. M. Billingsley, John Devaughn, Sam Burkhalter, Huff Burkhalter, I. D. Huett, Clark Burkhalter, L. E. Kilpatrick, Marshall Burkhalter, Orvid Devaughn, C. C. Kilpatrick, F. I. Popwell, Sam Henley, Miss Linnia Litaker, Mrs. J. E. Trice, Mr. Headley and Miss Gladys Popwell. The pianists were: C. M. Billingsley, Linnia Litaker, Gladys Popwell, F. I. Popwell and Mrs. C. M. Billingsley.

We will not have the singing on the 2nd Sunday in April, on account of the convention in Clanton, but every one remember the second Sunday in May and be present.

N. O. STROUD WRITES

To The Voters Of Chilton County:

I want to say in behalf of Mr. S. D. Deloach, who is a candidate for member of the Board of Education, that I have known him all of my life, even back when he lived in Coosa county. I have lived in the community with him for the past 25 years and I feel like I am fully acquainted with Mr. Deloach.

Mr. Deloach is a man of the highest respect, a man of good judgment, a man that has made a success of his occupation—farming; a man that will try to serve the people of Chilton county, a man that is fully competent and will deal justice and right to all for the office which he now seeks. If you see fit to vote for him I am sure he will appreciate it, and I don't believe you will ever regret it.

So, come on folks and let's nominate him in the primary in May.—N. O. Stroud.

(Paid Political Adv.)

EXTRA SUPPLY OF CUCUMBERS

Will the club women please plant an extra supply of cucumbers. In May we are to have a special demonstration on "Pickling and Brining Cucumbers", and we want each woman to have a supply of at least 5 gallons of cucumbers when she ferments hers back home. Mr. Ruffin, of the Extension Department, suggests you plant one-half ounce of White Spine, Kirby Stay Green or Long Green cucumbers. —Meta E. Grace.

The total disbursements of the State Highway Department last year were $15,337,829.22, including interest and sinking funds on two bond issues and other fixed charges. More roads were built than were ever built in one year in the past, and more roads were maintained. The construction included many miles of pavement.

Alabama farmers saved 1,342,183 pounds of home grown winter legume seed in the spring of 1937. These seed included 1,231,741 pounds of crimson clover, 61,065 pounds of hairy vetch, 28,340 pounds of bur clover, and 21,037 pounds of Austrian winter peas.

STATE DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH

Montgomery, Mar. 16.—Although 48 cases of smallpox were reported to the Bureau of Preventable Diseases of the State Department of Health last year, not a single death from this disease was reported to the Health Department's Bureau of Vital Statistics last year or for any year since 1932, according to the records of that Bureau.

Only five smallpox deaths occurred in the State during the ten-year period beginning January 1, 1938, 3 of these having occurred in 1928 and two in 1932.

A LOT OF CAR for a VERY LOW PRICE

The Standard Tudor Sedan

The Ford effort to make your dollars buy a constantly better car is well illustrated in the Standard Ford V-8.

It has all the basic Ford advantages. It is built on the same chassis as the De Luxe Ford V-8. It gives you a choice of smooth 85-horsepower or 60-horsepower V-8 engines. But it sells at low prices, and includes bumpers, spare tire, cigar lighter, twin horns and other equipment that make it a still bigger bargain.

With the thrifty 60-horsepower engine, the Standard Ford V-8 is priced especially low and gives the greatest gas mileage in Ford history. Hundreds of owners report averages of 22 to 27 miles a gallon — or even more.

Your pocketbook will approve of the Standard Ford in every way. And so will you when you drive it!

Co. Farmers OK Cotton Program

Farmers Of County Show Interest By Fairly Large Vote In Last Saturday's Balloting

Saturday's voting returns showed that Chilton County farmers had followed the lead of the state and the South in giving the "go ahead" sign on the marketing quotas proposed by the AAA relative to cotton.

The heavy vote in favor of quotas showed beyond doubt that excellent results had been obtained by the action of local farm department in "turning on the heat" during the last few weeks to put the program over. The main factor contributing to the large vote for the measure was that farmers are so much in dire need of some kind of relief in their farming programs. It is significant, however, that balloting was controlled entirely by farm department officials and those strongly favoring the measure.

National agriculture department officials, jubilant over results of Saturday's referendum among farmers, prepared this week to put marketnig provisions of the new farm law into operation to limit sales of three 1938 crops.

Authority to impose marketing quotas on all growers of cotton and fluecured and dark types of tobacco was granted by top-heavy majorities of farmers who voted in elections conducted under terms of the new act.

Federal control of sales will start when the 1938 crops start to market in August. Farmers marketing in excess of their federally allotted shares of the national quotas will be subject ot heavy penalty taxes.

Unofficial but nearly complete returns from the three referenda:

Cotton — for marketing quotas, 1,181,611; against, 95,678. These returns were from 778 of approximately 1,050 cotton producing counties in 20 states. The total number of growers eligible to vote was estimated at 2,360,000. Of those voting, the percentage in favor was 92.5. Most of the counties from which returns were delayed had only a small number of growers.

Officials were pleased particularly by the overwhelming majorities in favor of cotton quotas. Returns indicated more than half of all farmers who grow the staple approved invocation of the sales restrictions.

Officials said that as soon as an official tabulation was completed, Secretary Wallace would proclaim the results and start agriculture department machinery moving to limit marketings of cotton to 10,000,000 bales.

Incomplete returns showed: for the state, for the marketing quotas, 200,161; against, 8,563. For Chilton County the vote was: for, 3,118; against, 162.

FLAVORING READY FOR SALE

Club women, don't forget the flavoring is ready for the clubs selling. Each bottle sold means half the price to the club, and in this way you may add money to your club treasury.—Meta E. Grace.

A VERY PROFITABLE MEETING

The meeting held by both club women and their husbands at the courthouse Saturday was both interesting and profitable. Mr. J. S. Browder was present and presented information on various water systems that would fit the rural people's needs. Mr. Ivey spoke on what the men folks could do toward the convenience of the home. Mrs. Hans Karl Christiansen explained the kitchen improvement contest, now under way, and Meta E. Grace stressed cooperation of the men working with their wives on improving the kitchen, and urged the men to go home and score their kitchens and see if it scores high or low. If your husband did not attend this meeting, by all means have him read your kitchen bulletins, or you read them to him so that you both can have a general understanding of some of the things that can be done. Don't forget—these are fancy prizes the merchants are giving and each of you stand a good chance of winning them. Just remember to keep a list of everything you do and the cost of what you do.

A. E. A. MEETS IN BIRMINGHAM

Montgomery, Ala., Mar. 14. — The 57th annual convention of the Alabama Education Association convenes in Birmingham, on Thursday afternoon, March 24. From all indications a record attendance of teachers from every part of state will be recorded.

The first general session, scheduled for Thursday afternoon, will be featured by addresses by Lorine Barnes, president of the Association; A. H. Collins, state superintendent of education; and P. C. Rogers, secretary of the Louisiana State Retirement Fund.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The young people's organization of the Clanton Methodist church will have charge of the service at 7 p.m. next Sunday, March 20. The offering given at this service will go to the work and pledges of the young people's department of our church.

Let's give these young people a good audience. Let them know we are as proud of them as we are. Come!

Play At High School Friday Night, 18th

At 8 o'clock Friday night, March 18, the curtain will rise on a very laughable, rollicking comedy which will be given by the Senior III class of the Chilton County High School.

Rehearsals have been very enthusiastic this week, and the play promises to be one of the best presented this year.

Members of the cast are: Margaret Allen, Marshall Lee Ware, Raybon Crew, Mildred Popwell, Orvid Hughes, Myra Taylor, Guy McKee, Julia Reynolds, Geraldine Hollis, Guy Alred, James Jones, and Nina Roos.

Guy Alred is very convincing in the role of Sappington Tuppy, who hates Tabitha Todd, Geraldine Hollis. Dean gives a fine performance as the hypnotized statue, and will bring many laughs.

Nina Roos is a fire-eating senorita who is loved by Prof. Payton, the professional hypnotist — and can James Jones hypnotize! Although James takes a shot at Guy McKee because he catches Guy flirting with Rosita, Guy comes out unharmed.

There are numbers of interesting and laughable characters and situations. If you want to laugh, be on hand when the curtain goes up at 8 o'clock sharp!

BANQUET FOR ROAD BUILDERS

Montgomery, Mar. 14. — All candidates for governor have been invited and will attend the annual banquet of the Alabama Road Builders Association to be held in Montgomery's new city hall auditorium at 6 p.m., March 28.

In addition to the gubernatorial candidates, the association has also invited candidates for the Senate and House of Representatives and newspaper editors of the state with the view of acquainting them with Alabama's highway progress and problem.

Guest speakers at this year's banquet will include Congressmen Wilbur Cartwright of Oklahoma, chairman of the House Committee on post offices and roads; Tom McDonald, chief of the Bureau of Public Roads; and Col. Willard T. Chevalier, of New York, vice president of McGrew-Hill Publishing Company, and president of the American Road Builders Association.

BURGLARS RAIDED GROCERY COMPANY

Large Quantity Of Cigarettes And Tobacco Taken Last Friday Night, Mar. 18

By boring 80 one-inch holes in the big sliding door at the west side of Clanton Wholesale Grocery Company Friday night, burglars knocked out a large square of the planks and entered the building, helping themselves to the cigarettes and smoking tobacco. About $400 worth of this stuff was taken; it seems that nothing was bothered except the cigarettes and tobacco.

It must have required at least an hour for the burglars to gain entrance to the building in this manner, and the moon must have been shining brightly while the work was going on, furnishing them plenty of light to work by.

Mr. R. W. Taylor, proprietor of the company, offers a liberal reward for information leading to the arrests and conviction of the burglars. Some of the cigarettes and some of the tobacco bore Alabama revenue stamps, No. 94; some of each was not stamped. If people will look out for packages bearing stamps with this number, there might be a clue to the guilty parties.
